Oil Burner Fire

COBOURG, April 14 (ENS) — A stubborn fire caused by an oil burner kept firemen busy for several hours Saturday night. The blaze started in the basement of a building used as a paint shop beside Thomas' Garage. Not equipped with suitable smoke respirators firemen were handicapped and had to fight the fire from a comparatively distant position. Due to paring down of the fire committee's estimates, the needed smoke respirators were not ordered this year.

Titanic Sinking Recalled By Ex-Wireless Operator

MONTREAL, April 14 (CP). — Vivid memories of this date 40 years ago come to W. J. Gray — memories of one of the greatest passenger-ship disasters of all time.

On April 14, 1912, Gray was officer-in-charge at the Cape Race wireless station when the distress signal came from the proud liner Titanic, which struck an iceberg on her maiden voyage, and sank with a loss of 1,500 lives.

Gray worked four days without rest. From his little station on Newfoundland's southeast coast he helped in directing rescue ships and telling the world about what had happened.

When Gray took up the life of wireless operator at the turn of the century there were no more than 20 wireless operators in the world. As early as 1904 he proved the value of wireless. His ship, headed for Britain through days and nights of fog, became trapped in a bay. Dead reckoning couldn't establish the ship's location. Through the strength of a wireless station's signals, Gray figured out the location and got his ship back on course.

Forty years ago today Gray chatted, via wireless, with chief radio officer Phillips aboard the Titanic. Phillips told him about the big crowd aboard and the happy time all were having. Then Gray closed out his Cape Race set.

Before going to bed, Gray decided to check his equipment. While he was doing this his assistant came running to tell him the Titanic was sending out a distress call.

Gray called the Titanic. Phillips messaged: "We are sinking by the head. Putting women and children off in boats. Weather clear and calm."

Signals remained good for more than two hours. There was one last, weak distress signal.

Meanwhile, Gray was sending out calls for ships he knew were closest and relaying messages. The Carparthia reached the scene first, rescuing persons from small boats and the sea.

From the Carpathia Gray got names and addresses of survivors and flashed these out to the world. This work took days and nights. Finally, after 96 hours, Gray was able to take off his earphones and go to bed.

Today Gray lives in retirement at suburban Lakeside. His last official duty before retiring from the Marconi Company of Canada was to represent Canada, in 1948 at London, on a commission studying safety of life at sea.

Easter Wetness Deals Blow To Paraders

COBOURG, April 14 (ENS) — The rain rained and the wind blew but not half as blue as the faces of the fair sex who had to leave Easter finery at home and go to church in the pelting rain Sunday. All day it rained with no glimmer of sunlight to lighten the drab Easter Sunday. There was the occasional new hat here and there but on the whole Easter fashions were absent. Church services, nevertheless, were well-attended.

Sign of Summer?

MACLEOD, Alta. (CP). — The season's first prairie fire burned 30 acres of grassland near here at the end of March. The blaze was in a strip near the R.C.A.F. training field south of Macleod.

WET LANDING—Commander James Plomer, of Saint John, N.B., and Victoria, B.C., commanding officer of H.M.C.S. Cayuga and Canadian destroyer commander in the Far East, drains his boots after wading ashore on a United Nations-held island on the west coast of Korea. He was headed for a conference with United States army and air force officers.

Prayers For Peace Featured Easter Throughout World

By The Associated Press.

Easter Sunday, with its prayers far peace and its spring parades of joy, came Sunday for Christians in a modern world of continuing wars and changing values.

There were religious services to hail the resurrection of Christ. And millions paraded in their new spring finery along the world's avenues.

But there was no peace in many places, and some of the tradition was gone from the annual fashion promenades.

Millions throughout the free world prayed for peace this Easter Sunday. They massed in Rome to receive blessings from the Pope at St. Peter's Basilica. Allied soldiers in Korea knelt in prayer on the battlefield. Americans went to mountains, parks and churches for the outdoor sunrise worship. Pilgrims thronged to Jerusalem.

The Pope was cheered by 300,000 in St Peter's Square as he called for "great phalanxes of apostles" to arise in a new Christian crusade "to save the world from threatened ruin."

Old-fashioned Religion

A message from President Truman for the opening of Sunday School Week, starting today, urged that "a revival of the spirit of old-fashioned religion" is needed for the United States. The President's message was sent to New York to the Laymen's National Committee sponsoring the week.

Gen. James A. Van Fleet, U.S. Eighth Army commander in war-torn Korea, asked his troops to remember that God is with them in their "righteous mission against the Communist evil."

A bloody revolt left Bolivia calm over the holiday, but the air was tense as the victorious revolutionaries waited for the return of their exiled leader, Victor Paz Estenssoro.

Nor was peace the mood of the day in Belgrade, Yugoslavia, where 300 armed boy and girl students paraded through the streets in a demonstration against Italian claims to Trieste.

Warm Temperatures

Western Europe had warm temperatures to make the holiday a fine time to show off new clothes and bright hats. But in parts of the eastern United States, umbrellas and raincoats hid the fashions.

New York City's Fifth Avenue was clogged by 500,000 paraders, but the big town's big show had little of the traditional fashion and less of society.

It was a reflection of 1952 commercialism with professional models dressed to promote such things as hair lotion or an amusement park.

Behind the iron curtain, millions of faithful sought to carry on the Christian tradition which their Communist rulers are trying to wipe out. They crowded churches and sported their best clothes.

Slippery Political Tricks

A redistribution of seats in the House of Commons must be made after each ten-year census. That is a constitutional requirement, so that the principle of representation by population will continue to be maintained, in theory at least. A parliamentary committee has been set up to deal with the matter of redistribution. It is always a prickly problem, and always one in which party politics show their worst face and play hob with parliamentary propriety and constitutional principles. The redistribution this year is likely to be as bitter, bloodthirsty and crafty a business as redistributions in other decades. It may be worse than usual political dealing, because of the great increase in population and the need to revise constituencies drastically.

* * *

Gross inequalities existed even from the redistribution following the 1941 census. In general, rural districts had over-representation, urban districts were under-represented. People in Prince Edward Island, Saskatchewan, rural Ontario and other country constituencies across the land had votes worth sometimes twice as much as people in Toronto. Parties in power have always had a bias in favour of rural ridings, and at the cost of urban constituencies. We need not expect a change from the new redistribution. City voters will continue to be rated, as far as the value of their vote goes, as second class citizens, even though Canada is now primarily an industrial and urban society.

* * *

Although this matter will be hushed up, noisy squalls are pending. The Bureau of Statistics has with commendable speed already issued the final figures on the population by constituencies. These show such radical changes that the most stick-in-the-mud members of the parliamentary committee on redistribution cannot overlook them. It is obviously unfair that there should be 71,974 people in the constituency of Carelton (suburban Ottawa) with one member, 90,819 in Edmonton West, 83,651 in Vancouver South; but in Hastings-Peterborough 26,324, Lake Centre (Saskatchewan) 35,940, and Kings (Prince Edward Island) 17,943 people, also having one member. Big constituencies must be split, small ones wiped out or their boundaries extended. There will be unholy political ructions as these changes are being made.

* * *

The biggest noises of all are being muffled by connivance of the three chief political parties. The Dominion has grown, but Saskatchewan has become smaller in population, from 895,992 in 1941 to 831,728 in 1951. Saskatchewan should lose, according to the principle of representation by population, five of its twenty seats. But Saskatchewan is primarily rural, and is therefore bound to get special consideration. Further, the Minister of Agriculture the Rt. Hon. James Gardiner, sits for a Saskatchewan constituency. He is a power in the Liberal Party, and gets much of his power from the prairie vote. He would not willingly see that cut down. He has sponsored a proposal that whatever else happens, Saskatchewan's representation be not reduced by more than fifteen per cent. This is likely to be accepted. Mr. Gardiner's power and seat would be safeguarded. The Conservatives will acquiesce, since one of their chiefs, Mr. John G. Diefenbaker, a Saskatchewan member also, might lose his seat otherwise. So might another prominent Saskatchewan member, Mr. M. J. Coldwell, leader of the C.C.F. party. So the politicians are nesting together in Ottawa, and to protect their nest, it is proposed to increase the size of the House of Commons from 262 to 265 members. This would also take care of a ticklish situation in P.E.I.—where again the rural vote predominates. According to census figures, P.E.I. should lose two of its four seats, even though an amendment to the B.N.A. Act would be necessary to do it.

* * *

So we see a typical political saw-off. The House of Commons has no more need of enlargement that a man has of a double set of wisdom teeth. In neither case does wisdom accrue; in both, the available space is cluttered by useless members, sometimes painful, usually nuisances.

Joan Crawford, at the age of 42, has just received a special award for her beauty, which proves that there is progress. A century ago a woman of that age would have lost half her teeth, all of her figure, and would be cultivating rheumatics.

Dark Horses In U.S. Elections

Few peoples seem to enjoy political complications and speculation more than our neighbours across the border, and one of their favourite speculations is about the possibility of a "dark horse". The current campaigning for Presidential nominations has these features, and there has even been mention of Vice-President Alben Barkley as the possible next tenant of the White House, although Mr. Barkley, until recently at least, has shown no interest whatever in becoming a candidate.

This interest in a dark horse is quite natural in American politics. Six times an almost unknown entrant in a Presidential race has crossed the finish line first—all in the classification of political "accidents", none to be elected a second time. The first was James Polk, in 1844; although active in Tennessee politics, he had attracted little attention nationally, and never proved a popular President.

Franklin Pierce was the first Presidential candidate to be called a dark horse, and he won in 1852, on the Democratic ticket, when the plans of that party went sadly astray. The strongest and most logical Democratic candidate, James Buchanan, decided to release all his votes but those of three states, to prove that neither Lewis Cass, William A. March nor Stephen A. Douglas—his foremost opponents—could win even then. Mr. Buchanan figured he would then win easily, but it backfired. Pierce was pushed forward, nominated and elected.

Rutherford B. Hayes won the Republican nomination but was defeated by Samuel J. Tilden by a quarter of a million votes in 1876. But there were charges of corrupt voting practices, tampering with the Negro vote, shenanigans in the Electoral College and elsewhere, and when it was all over, Mr. Hayes was President. The election became known as the "Fraud of 1876". The next dark horse was James A. Garfield, campaign manager for Republican John Sherman in 1880. The convention began to vote for manager instead of candidate, and Mr. Garfield was elected. He had no opportunity to show what he could do, for he was assassinated four months after is inauguration.

Benjamin Harrison was nominated in 1888 and became President, and after an undistinguished term in office, the run of dark horses fell off for about thirty years. Then the "smoke-filled room" became an ominious thing in United States politics, at the Republican convention where General Leonard Wood and Frank Lowden, prominent and able men, were fighting for the nomination. Harry M. Daugherty, a most able but an unscrupulous politician, engineered a coup that gave the nomination to Warren Gamaliel Harding, who went to the White House to begin the most scandalous administrative term in American history up to that time.

There appears to be little likelihood of a dark horse in the present campaign. It seems virtually certain that one of the men now prominently mentioned in each of the two major parties will be nominated—but that virtual certainty will not discourage speculation.

P.C.V.S. Band In The Capital

Every citizen of Peterborough will congratulate the boys and girls of the P.C.V.S. band, and Mr. Albert Croasdale, their leader, on the success of their visit to Ottawa recently. The band has won high praise in the local Kiwanis Music Festival, but the visit to Ottawa was its first appearance outside the city. We believe that it gave the Ottawa audience an agreeable surprise, and covered itself with glory.

Anything which puts the name of Peterborough in a favourable light, and makes this city known to the rest of Canada is to be encouraged. We do not suggest that Peterborough should seek publicity of a shoddy kind, and we do not think that there is any need to do so; but we are convinced that there is much more in Peterborough to command the attention of other Canadian cities than is commonly supposed, and we are always delighted when a Peterborough group wins distinction abroad.

The high school band has not merely given a good account of itself in Ottawa, but has brought favourable attention to the fine school which is its home, and the city in which it originates. It has shown excellence in music, which is perhaps the most uniting and the least contentious of the arts. Although it is not possible for a school band to jaunt about the countryside too much we hope that it will be possible for the P.C.V.S. band to make at least one visit to another city each year, for the band is an excellent ambassador for Peterborough.

NOTES AND COMMENT

A Detroit school teacher has bitten a traffic cop. The question now is which one should be given the anti-venom antidote?

Some schools are now trying the experiment of teaching history without textbooks. The next step is to do it without using any history.

The wages of sin may be death but it is surprising how many sinners collect a good deal of ordinary currency before the final accounting.

Musical Notes

by PETER PIPER

A SOVIET journalist who recently visited Canada has published a blighting criticism of the state of culture in Canada. The saddest thing about it is the fact that a good deal of what he says is quite true. The Massey Report, which could hardly be described as Red propaganda, was concerned over many of the features mentioned by the Russian. We are certainly very backward in many respects culturally, especially when compared with the general high standard of living, as far as material comforts are concerned. It is not, however, true to say, as this Soviet journalist alleged, that the Canadian government, "which spends colossal amounts of money on armaments at the orders of Washington, is not at all bothered about the cultural needs of the country". If this were the case it is strange that they bothered to appoint a Royal Commission to investigate the situation. But commissions in themselves are of little use unless action is taken on their recommendations, and it must be admitted that the government is slow in taking action.

◇ ◇ ◇

SOME MAY question the propriety of the government stepping in as a patron of the Arts, though they see nothing wrong in the government stabilizing the butter market by artificial means. It is not sufficiently realized how precarious is the livelihood of our musicians, painters, sculptors and poets, especially if they choose to remain in Canada. Young Harry Somers, for example, whose work shows rather more promise than compromise, drives a taxi in Toronto for a living, while a distinguished Czech musician, a descendant of Anton Dvorak, works with pick and shovel on a hydro-electric project. I do not suggest that the government should immediately grant a handsome annuity to every promising youngster that comes along, but this sad waste of talent that should bring distinction and lustre to the country should be stopped. An Arts Council or a Ministry of the Fine Arts is needed in a modern democracy to take the place of private patronage. One of the tasks of such a body in this country would be to enhance the prestige of the capital city in the eyes of foreign visitors and diplomatic representatives by the eventual establishment of a national opera house and a national orchestra. What must be the impression of Canadian culture gleaned by a diplomatist fresh from Paris, of Moscow, or even Stockholm or Dublin?

◇ ◇ ◇

IT HAS been said with some truth that of all peoples the French are the most insular, though the Americans might run them pretty close. Certainly there is something very self-contained in the French way of life. Influences from without are submitted to critical scrutiny, and even when they are accepted they are so transmuted that they appear as French as the hour of the aperitif. This is as true of the fine arts as it is of other arts, such as living, which the French consider as the greatest art of all. During the nineteenth century they resisted the onslaught of German music, typified by Wagner and Brahms, with somewhat greater success than they had against German arms in 1870. After a short period, when Wagner seemed to triumph, they reacted violently against him, while Brahms has never to this very day been accepted in France as one of the immortals. This imperviousness to foreign influence is due largely to the fact that the French look for other qualities in a work of art than do the Germans or the English-speaking countries. Music to them should give pleasure of the mind or of the senses. They reject the idea that it should be sublime, or that it should convey some "message". They are not impressed by mere size; in fact they are more at home in the exquisitely chiselled miniature than in the colossal. There are, of course, some French musicians who tried to bring French music more into line with the Teutonic tradition. Vincent d'Indy and his school introduced a note of greater earnestness of purpose, but they remained outside the main stream and provoked a reaction against sententiousness.

◇ ◇ ◇

I FEEL that we could learn a good deal from the healthy realism of the French in matters of art. We have erected a fence between so-called popular and classical music, a false antithesis if there ever was one. Our musical intellectuals shy at music that gives them pleasure, as though there were something lowering and shameful in it. They are only really happy when they are mystified or bored. On the other hand the ordinary fellow who does not pretend to know very much about music is puzzled by the intellectual approach to music and sees there is something spurious in it. He admits with a slight air of superiority that he "can't understand" Bach or Britten, whoever it may be, and falls back on musical enjoyment at the lowest and most obvious level. If instead of telling him that he is lacking in the intellectual equipment necessary to "understand" great music we were to bring it home to him that great music can give him pleasure of a deeper and more enduring nature than the latest hit there is a chance that he may be inspired to use both his ears in an attempt to find that enjoyment.

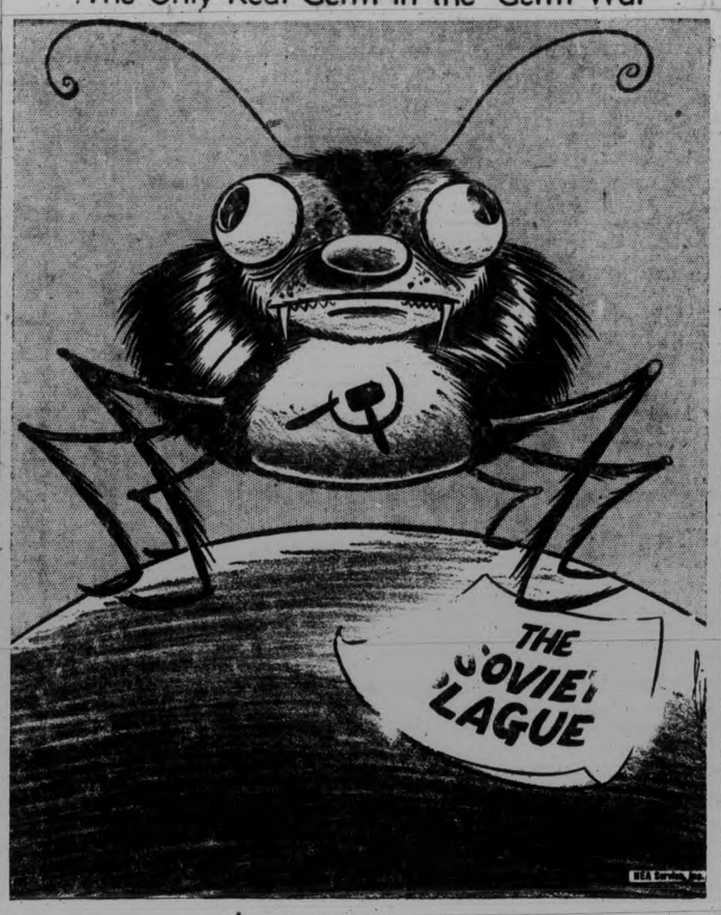
◇ ◇ ◇

I WAS glad to hear that my remarks on the importance of sight-reading were appreciated by some of my readers. I might add that sight-singing is of equal importance. An enormous amount of time is taken up at choral rehearsals in teaching the notes. Admittedly sight-singing is in some ways rather more difficult than playing the piano at sight. There are less notes to worry about, and there is never more than one note at a time, but it demands more innate musicianship to pitch the intervals correctly without any mechanical aid. Anybody can play a perfect middle C on the piano (providing the tuner has been around recently), whereas there are scores of singers who seem incapable of attacking a lead gently but firmly, without scooping or hesitation.

◇ ◇ ◇

THERE IS one danger connected with sight-reading, and this should not be overlooked, although it applies only to a small minority. Exceptional fluency in sight-reading can sometimes lead to a superficial acquaintance with a large repertoire. The student who finds it easy to romp through almost anything that is placed in front of him is apt to shirk the work entailed in finishing and polishing a prepared piece. He should remember the fable of the hare and the tortoise.

The Only Real Germ in the 'Germ War'



Cancer Society Appeals For Help

(KINGSTON WHIG-STANDARD)

One of the major advances in the long-fought campaign against cancer came in this country with the formation of the Canadian Cancer Society. This society's work is made possible by public contributions, and once a year it appeals to the people of Canada to help it in its five-fold campaign in their service. Actually, the society is only asking Canadians to give what they can afford in order to help protect themselves against one of the greatest killers attacking mankind.

The Society's work is carefully planned to be as effective as possible in assisting to provide such protection: It may be summarized as follows:

Research: Research into the cause and cure of cancer has brought new knowledge, new weapons with which to treat cancer patients and the hope of victory within our time. There are more than eighty research projects being carried on in Canada, the majority of these being located in Ontario.

Diagnosis and Treatment: Part of the money raised during April will be given to the Ontario Cancer Treatment and Research Foundation to extend and maintain the nine cancer clinics in the Province of Ontario.

Professional Education: Thousands of Canadian doctors are being kept abreast of current progress in cancer diagnosis and treatment through various media of professional education. Funds of the Society have made possible post-graduate training and refresher courses for a number of Canadian doctors and technicians.

Education: The Canadian Cancer Society carries on a year-round educational program. If the public is taught the danger signals of cancer and learns that in many cases the disease can be checked when caught in time, the first important step towards cancer control has been made. Four cancer information centres known as 'The Little Red Doors' have been opened in Ontario within the last two years. Other centres are planned.

Services: The service program of the Society, which is made possible by public contribution, is designed to ease the suffering of the cancer patient by providing free cancer dressing, local transportation services, sick room supplies, rehabilitation, occupational therapy and many other services. Through local cancer units in Ontario more than 500,000 cancer dressings were distributed in this Province last year to patients being cared for in their own homes. Assistance is provided to visiting nursing groups and other services are carried out according to the needs of the community.

The Canadian Cancer Society has made great progress with this program during the few years it has been in existence. The intelligence and generosity of Canadians generally has helped to make this possible—and the people of this city and district have never failed to respond to the Society's appeal. We urge them to make this year's appeal another success by giving as much as they can spare to one of the worthiest organizations appealing to the public in this country.

Progress

(The New York Times)

Have you been hearing any good books lately? For some time now Charles Laughton has been dashing about the country, reading the Gettysburg Address and fragments of famous novels and plays. With three equally distinguished colleagues — Charles Boyer, Cedric Hardwicke and Agnes Moorehead—he has been reading, or pretending to read, Shaw's "Don Juan in Hell". Not long ago Emlyn Williams settled down, solo, in a Broadway theatre as a reader of Dicken's works. And John Carradine is acquainting the somewhat startled patrons of a Greenwich Village night club with the Bible and Shakespeare.

The thing is developing into a craze. Wherever an actor hangs out a shingle and staggers through a stage door under a load of books people happily flock to the playhouse and buy tickets at a $4.80 top. Four dollars and eighty cents, including federal tax, to hear a man, or even three men and a gal, read Dickens, Shaw or Shakespeare, just as father used to do under the living-room lamp years ago, when we were children!

What has got into us? Is there something wrong with the television set? No, it's in fine running order and the turning of a knob, as usual, brings a complete play, full cast, scenery, costumes and all, into the house free of perceptible charge. Could we, perchance, be getting just a wee bit tired of mechanical wonders? Are things growing a little too miraculous for comfort and do we long to return to the cosy imperfections of the Victorian Age? Will the time come when itinerant balladeers, warbling the day's events in limping jingles, off the key, will appear at the corners of our streets?

We think not. We hope not. Still, a trend is a trend and will bear watching.

DODGERS

Dodgin had recently been appointed foreman at the works, but his name was not known to all the men. One day, while on his rounds, he came across a couple of men sitting in a quiet corner having a smoke.

"Who are you?" asked one of the men.

"I'm Dodgin, the new foreman," he answered.

"So are we. Sit down and have a smoke."

APRIL 14

1922 Captain Wilbert Harris makes the first trip of the season from Rice Lake to Peterborough with steamer Geneva.

Nurse Hanna Dalby, who helped organize the Nicholls Hospital staff many years ago, dies in Elora.

Eddie Dugan and Alex Armstrong represent the P.A.A.A. at the Ontario boxing championships.

1932 The Rev. J. H. Dudgeon of London, formerly of Peterborough, speaks at the men's banquet of St. James Church.

E. Bruce Fowler is elected president of the West Peterborough Liberal Association.

Alex Elliott, first president of the local Kinsmen Club, is appointed district governor.

There are 25 patients in Queen Mary Hospital now, eight of them scarlet fever cases.

The 44-team C.G.E. Bowling League ends the season with a banquet and distribution of $1,000 in prize money.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Wherewith shall I come before the Lord, and bow myself before the high God? shall I come before him with burnt offerings, with calves of a year old? Will the Lord be pleased with thousands of rams, or with ten thousands of rivers of oil? shall I give my firstborn for my transgression, the fruit of my body for the sin of my soul?

He hath shewed thee, O man, what is good; and what doth the Lord require of thee, but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God? (Mic. 6: 6-8.)

Know ye not, that so many of us as were baptized into Jesus Christ were baptized into his death? . . . For in that he died, he died unto sin once: but in that he liveth, he liveth unto God.

Likewise reckon ye also yourselves to be dead indeed unto sin, but alive unto God through Jesus Christ our Lord . . . For sin shall not have dominion over you: for ye are not under the law, but under grace. (Rom. 6: 3, 10, 11, 14.)

For the law made nothing perfect, but the bringing in of a better hope did; by the which we draw nigh unto God. Heb. 7: 19.)

Letter To The Editor

THE POSITION OF INDIANS

Sir: In reference to C. Gledhill's letter of the 28th, which suggested that Canada's behaviour towards her Indians, was similar to the atrocious treatment of the natives of South Africa, I would like to point out that there is absolutely no comparison. While the Canadian Indian has full citizenship, and all the rights that go with it, the South African natives have an absolute minimum of rights, in fact a large number of them are forced to work in the diamond mines, where they are treated like cattle, being forced to wear masks while they work, so that they cannot swallow any of the stones, during this time they are obliged to live in special compounds, which they are not allowed to leave.

Judging by his letter, Mr. Gledhill appears to be entirely ignorant of these facts, and should therefore refrain from marring the pages of an otherwise intelligent paper with such rubbish.

Yours,
HENRY SCOTT.

Shoe Laces

(The Hamilton Spectator)

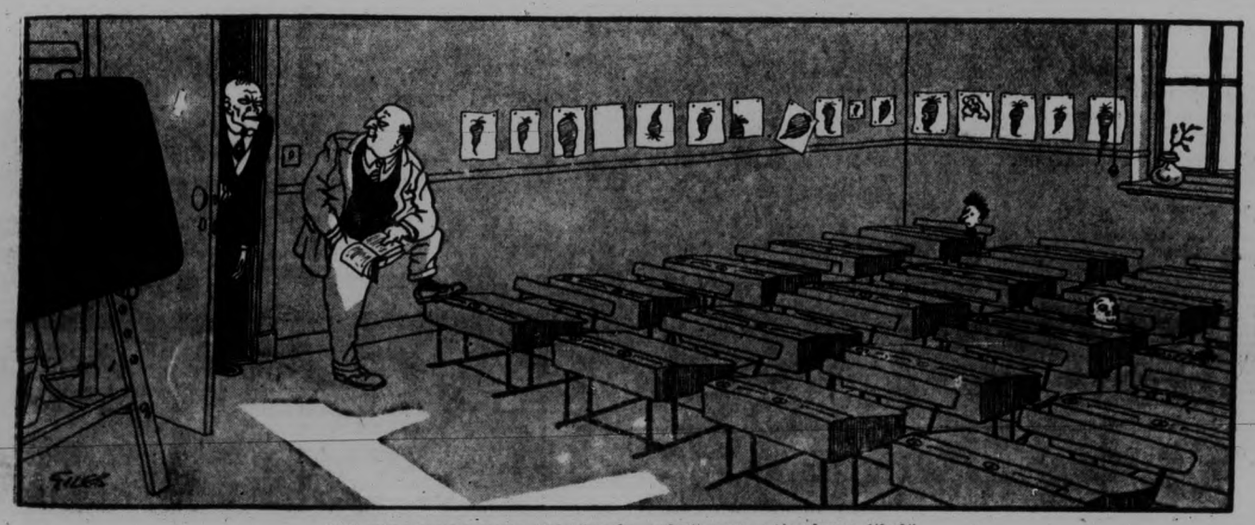
Not many persons among the slim and agile would likely have bothered to read the item had they seen it—only four or five lines and tucked away at the bottom of an advertisement on an inside page. But it was mighty interesting news for those males with an equatorial bulge.

The news from London read this way: The British Institution has now established standards for shoe laces, specifying that the minimum breaking point should be 45 pounds—equivalent to a "very bad-tempered tug."

Now, there is what the corpulent would agree is major intelligence; a dispatch which signifies progress of the first order. The mental and physical havoc that has been caused by weak shoe laces is beyond all computing—the lost poise, the alarming rise in blood pressure, the buttons that fail, the threat to dignity. One could go on and on with the distressing recital.

It wasn't so bad in the horse-and-buggy days. Your lace broke, but there was always a wheel-hub handy at the curb, or a carriage step to offer refuge of a sort from the mob's titters. The earlier days of the motor age weren't too bleak either; running-boards were convenient enough and not too low for the Falstaffian breed in trouble. But these modern streamlined vehicles have neither running-boards nor fenders where a supplicating foot may tarry for a moment.

Yes, sir. That item from Great Britain about stronger laces is important news. They should make 'em of twisted wire like cables.



"All mine have gone to the Lincoln—what's your attendance like?"

Pope Advocates Big Crusade In Easter Messa e To World

By FRANK BRUTTO

VATICAN CITY, April 14. — (AP)—In an impassioned and powerful Easter speech that was partly a prayer, the Pope urged Christians Sunday to spread the word of the risen Christ throughout the world.

At least 300,000 pilgrims, Italians and tourists filled St. Peter's Square.

The throng was the biggest of any here since the 1950 Holy Year. It gave a roaring, clapping, cheering ovation to the Pope.

"Romans, Easter guests of the Eternal City, beloved sons and daughters of the whole world," the Pope began.

"Once again, jubilant and triumphant, the announcement of the Angel of Easter, which invites souls to a holy joy has resounded over the earth: Surrexit! Jesus is Risen! Alleluia!

"We would like that, in this square, from thousands and thousands of hearts there would rise the solemn cry: 'We wish to make our brothers also live: Wherever we should encounter death, we wish to bring life'."

Calls For Crusade

The Pope called for a vast Christian crusade both by the clergy and laymen.

"We would like," he said, "that great phalanxes of apostles should arise like to those which the church knew in its early days.

"Let the priests preach from the pulpits, in the streets and squares, wherever there is a soul to be saved; and alongside the priests, let the lay-people, who have learned to penetrate minds and hearts with their words and love, also speak."

The Pope lifted his eyes to the sky and folded his hands in prayer.

"O Jesus," he prayed, "risen gloriously alive in Thy humanity, we give Thee thanks for the gift of life, which through Thy resurrection Thou has communicated to our souls and to Thy church."

His only indirect reference to Iron Curtain countries was in this prayer, in which he prayed Jesus to [illegible] Thy church and dry the tears of its members who are suffering, and sorrowing, straitened and persecuted for truth and justice."

"And," the Pope concluded, "may the salute which Thou, risen, addressed to Thy disciples find a sincere echo in all men: Pax vobis! peace be to you. So be it."

Intones Blessing

An instant of silence deepened to a solemn hush as the pontiff spread wide his arms to intone his apostolic blessing, "urbi et orbi" —to the city and the world."

The thousands knelt on the cement and stone of the square. When the Pope finished, they rose and gave him another roaring ovation.

The pontiff, a tiny figure in white high above the square, moved his arms, again and again, in greeting. Then he withdrew.

In a second radio broadcast, the Pope spoke to the people of Japan.

"We have long desired," he told them, "to give public expression to the sentiments of deep and sincere affection we cherish for you . . . We wish the Japanese nation every blessing, well-being and prosperity."

Percy Buys Gravel For Roads

WARKWORTH, April 14 (ENS) —The Percy municipal council met on Tuesday in the town hall with all members of the council present, Reeve George Broadworth presiding and other members present Cecil Grills, deputy reeve, and Eric Merrill William Johnston and J. S. Atkinson, councillors.

It was voted that the council build a concrete structure at Lot 1 Concession 7 in Percy township and the municipal engineer be requested to prepare plans.

It was decided that the council accept the tender of R. A. Blyth Co. for crushing 5,000 cubic yards of gravel to pass a ¾" square opening and to deliver the same to the roads as directed up to a distance of six miles from the pit, at 99 cents per cubic yard, plus 8 cents per cubic yard per mile for each mile or fraction thereof beyond the six-mile limit. The price in bin to be 60 cents per cubic yard and crushing to be done not later than August 1, subject to the approval of the district municipal engineer.

It was also voted to grant the Music Festival committee $100.

Bury The Hatchet

TORONTO, April 14 — (CP)— A broadax, symbol of Ottawa's early lumbering days, reached Mayor Allan Lamport Saturday as a gift from Mayor Charlotte Whitton of Ottawa. Mayor Lamport, who recently engaged in a friendly verbal tiff with Mayor Whitton, said he accepted it as a sign they have buried the hatchet.

THE MISSOURI RUNS WILD—Streets of Pierre, capital city of South Dakota, resemble dirty canals as a 25-foot crest of the flooding Missouri River burst through dikes and swept into the centre of 5,700 inhabitants in the worst Missouri flood in "modern history." The "Big Muddy" spilled onto about 100 blocks of Pierre, and all over Fort Pierre across the river. More than 1,600 residents of the twin cities are homeless.

Bulk Of Work Left Untouched

OTTAWA, April 14 — (CP) — Parliament adjourned for the Easter recess with the bulk of its work for the session untouched.

In the 39 sitting days since the session opened Feb. 28, the Commons accomplished little in a legislative sense, but it did conclude several major debates. The Commons returns to work Monday, April 21, and the Senate, Tuesday, April 29.

When the Commons returns, it will launch almost immediately into a debate on Finance Minister's Abbott's 1952-53 budget.

A lengthy debate is shaping up on redistribution of representation in the Commons on the basis of the 1951 census.

Legislation providing for new five-year taxation agreements with the provinces will be submitted for approval. The Criminal Code and the Combines Investigation Act may be amended.

Members hope to conclude their work by the end of June, but some now feel it may overflow into July.

AP Enters Field Of Television News

NEW YORK, April 14—(AP)— The Associated Press Sunday announced its entry into the field of television news-on-film.

Frank J. Starzel, general manager, announced that a complete film news service now is at the disposal of member television stations. The service is a finished product. All the camera work, sound, commentary and editing are incorporated into individual television programs and delivered speedily to stations.

Winnipeg To Decide On Public Ownership Of Hydro

By WILFRED CHISLETT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WINNIPEG, April 14 (CP) — Manitoba faces a showdown on a provincials government move to take over the hydro-electric industry.

The move, known as "plan C" of the Hogg report, will be presented to Winnipeg's 163,000 electors April 16 in a city referendum. Residents of adjoining suburbs like St. Vital, St. James, East Kildonan have no vote although they are served by the same power and transit utilities.

Winnipeg voters will approve or discard five years of power negotiations, started when officials of Winnipeg's two private utilities asked the province for aid.

Debate has been waged off and on since 1947 on the same issue, under which the province would buy out the privately owned Winnipeg Electric Company and the City Hydro Utility owned by Winnipeg. The province also would undertake to supply all Manitoba's hydro needs.

Premier Douglas Campbell has promised immediate start on another $20,000,000 power project if the vote is "yes."

The plan to bring the hydro-electric industry under provincial ownership has sparked controversy in the two Winnipeg papers, at government and public meetings, and in radio broadcasts.

Favoring the plan are the Manitoba government, all but one member of Winnipeg city council, and the Winnipeg Tribune.

Opposing are a newly-formed body known as the citizens' volunteer committee, Alderman H. B. Scott and the Winnipeg Free Press.

Future Needs

D. M. Stephens, chairman of the Manitoba Hydro-Electric Board, estimates 700,000 horsepower must be produced in the next 10 years at a cost of betwen $210,000,000 and $280,000,000 if power consumption continues at its present rate.

Arguments against "Plan C" are based chiefly on financial grounds. Opponents regard it as a threat to private enterprise.

The re-organization project is modelled after Ontario Hydro.

In 1947 Winnipeg Electric and city hydro reported they could not keep up with rapidly growing power demands and forecast a shortage.

A Commission headed by Dr. T. H. Hogg, Toronto consulting engineer and former chairman of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission, reported a power shortage was inevitable and recommended re-organization of the industry along four possible plans —A, B, C and D. All but "Plan C" have been discarded.

Cost of buying the two private utilities has been set by a city-appointed auditor at $90,000,000. A municipal commission would be set up to purchase and manage all power, transit and gas distribution within greater Winnipeg.

The deal would include Winnipeg's transit system comprising modern trolley and motor buses and old street-cars.

A sequel to the Hogg report, the Manitoba Hydro-Electric Act of 1949, permits the province to develop power. A start was made on a 114,000-horsepower plant at Pine Falls on the Winnipeg River. The plant, part of which now is operating, will cost close to $24,000,000 to complete.

Ald. Scott charges that the Manitoba Power Commission which services rural areas, seeks profits of city hydro and Winnipeg electric to offset losses from the Pine Falls plant. He says money to buy out existing plants should be used to build new ones.

Financing Problem

"Plan C" backers say both city hydro and Winnipeg Electric are unable to raise funds to build new power dams and the government must gain control of existing plants to mix high and low-cost power.

Ald. Scott says if "Plan C" is approved, taxpayers must spend millions without getting more or cheaper power in return and rates will go up.

Winnipeg would also lose $1,000,000 a year in taxes from the Winnipeg Electric, another $1,000,000 a year in city hydro profits, and would need more than $11,000,000 to modernise the transit system.

The alderman says an auditor's report shows if Winnipeggers got the transit system for nothing, "they would be paying too much."

He also charges the government has offered $22,000,000 for city hydro although it is shown as worth $41,000,000.

"Plan C" promoters say power rates will go up no matter what action is taken.

They claimcity taxes under the plan would be reduced by about $220,000 a year, but city hydro profits lost to the city would be replaced by $927,590 yearly in revenues from Winnipeg's paid-up investment in the Greater Winnipeg Commission.

Cost of power would not include corporation income tax paid the federal government. Plan backers say this saving would help keep rates down. Last year Winnipeg Electric paid an estimated $1,500,000.

Grenade Explodes Youth Disfigured

ST. JEROME, Que., April 14—(CP)—Louis Bellerose, 16, was badly disfigured and suffered severe wounds to his hands when a grenade he found exploded Sunday.

Bellerose and three companions were on a sugaring party when they found the grenade, thought to have been lost during the war. Bellerose was handling it when it went off accidentally.

St. Jerome is some 25 miles north of Montreal.

Arn Dugan Led The Petes During Playoffs

The most potent puncher for the Petes in their senior "B" playoffs was Arn Dugan. In the 14 semi-final and final group playoffs the team player and the provincial quarter-finals, Dugan scored 13 goals and assisted on 13 more for 25 points, nearly two points a game. The Petes ousted Belleville in four straight in group semi-finals and took Kingston in four in the finals. They lost four games to two in O.H.A. quarter-finals to Stouffville.

Gus Leonard, voted most valuable senior player here this year, was next to Dugan with 21 points made up of 10 tallies and 11 assists in the full 14 games. Junior West was good for 19 points, Freddy Garvey 17, George Steele 16 and (in just nine games) Curly Mason 13. The juniors, Robinson and Stewart, did well, and so did the local defencemen in scoring. The play-off results:

	P.	G.	A.	Pts.
Dugan	14	13	13	26
G. Leonard	14	10	11	21
West	14	10	9	19
Garvey	12	10	7	17
Steele	13	7	9	16
Mason	9	9	4	13
Floyd	13	6	6	12
Robinson	9	3	7	10
Stewart	12	4	5	9
Peters	13	1	8	9
E. Leonard	14	1	8	9
Collins	8	4	4	8
Wade	14	3	5	8
Fryia	7	3	2	5
Jopling	14	2	3	5

LED THE PETES — Arn Dugan proved effective in sniping for the Petes during their 14 playoff senior "B" games from the time the schedule ended until they lost out to Stouffville. Dugan counted 26 points for the Ellis squad in that period, five more than Gus Leonard.

Scott's Corners Win

SPRINGVILLE, April 14 (ENS) —The final game to determine the winners of boys' hockey of the city and rural areas was played Saturday at Civic Arena. This game was under the auspices of the Boys' Work Book of the United Church. George Street United Church played against Scott's Corners midget team, resulting in a score of 3-0 in favor of the latter.

Players from Scott's Corners were Mel Stevens (captain), Jerry Blodgett, Gerald Minnie, Bryce Larke, Lionel Chretien, George Fair, Howard Johnston, Gerald Chretien, Gerry Carr and Jim Seymour (goalie).

Goals were scored by Gary Carr, Bryce Larke, Jerry Blodgett.

Chicago Excited About Fight

CHICAGO, April 14 (AP). — Champion Ray Robinson and Rocky Graziano, each boasting he'll win by a knockout, have ended heavy drills for their middleweight title brawl in Chicago Stadium Wednesday.

Chicago fans are more steamed up for this scrap than at any time since 1947, when Graziano belted out Tony Zale in the sixth round to win the 160-pound crown. That Chicago Stadium fight drew a gate of $422,000, an all-time high for indoor boxing. The figure cannot be matched Wednesday night for the house is scaled at $260,885 for a complete sell-out of 19,740.

The crowd may well be more than 17,000.

Graziano's shot at Robinson is the climax of his comeback and their first meeting. Most ring critics believe Rocky has looked sharper and has been more serious in his training than at any time since his battle with Zale.

Rocky has never gone 15 rounds and there is little reason to believe Wednesday's affair will go the distance Robinson, who has lost only two out of 139 fights, has never been counted out.

Sugar Ray rules a solid 3-to-1 favorite. It will be his second middleweight title defence since regaining the crown from Randy Turpin in New York last September.

Bush League Champs Given Turkey Dinner

MILLBROOK, April 14 (ENS) —A turkey dinner was given for the members of the fourth line of Cavan township hockey team who were victorious in the Bush League, winning the Gray Trophy. The dinner was given by people living on the fourth line and was held on Thursday evening in the waiting room in Millbrook. To it, as well as the members of the team, were invited the hockey players' parents, and all boys living in the fourth line.

Mr. and Mrs. William Armstrong, grandparents of Edwin and Herbert Fallis, were also present. Delbert Olan, reeve of Cavan township, acted as chairman. Other guests were: Henry Gray who donated the Bush League Trophy, and Mrs. Gray; Dr. J. W. Wright, reeve of Millbrook, who has been of great assistance to injured players and Mrs. Wright; Percy Hamilton, president of the hockey association, and Mrs Hamilton; Arnold Armstrong who has acted as press agent throughout the season, and John Coulter, hockey association treasurer

The toast to the team was proposed by Arnold Armstrong and replied to by Dick Hutchison. Mrs. W. W. Kennedy proposed the toast to Henry Gray to which he replied. A vote of thanks was moved to Dr. Wright by Mr. M. McDowell.

Mr. Hamilton congratulated the team and thanked those responsible for the turkey dinner. He also showed a number of films.

Members of the team present included: Ed Hutchison, Dick Hutchison, Wally Agnew, Ted MacDowell, Albert Olan, Earl Hutchison, Alan Hutchison, Edwin Fallis, Herbert Fallis, Ronald Greenley, Gerald Hubbeard, Russell Kennedy, Arnold Brackenridge, Arthur Inchley, Bob Walling, and Morris Lord. George Lord, who has assisted the team all season, was also present.

A successful dance held for the benefit of hockey players injured in the Bush League series was held on Thursday evening in the Cavan hall. The draw on the radio was won by Clifford Hall.

Mr. Ed Winslow of Gladstone, Manitoba, is visiting his cousin, Fred Winslow, and other relatives in the district. Mr. Winslow left Millbrook in 1888 as a boy in his teens and this is his first visit back sinee he left.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Annual O.L.A. meeting is in Toronto next Saturday, and the senior "A" clubs will hold an early huddle to draw up their eight-team schedule. Petes' Timbermen expect to start practises at Miller Bowl within two weeks, depending on the weather. Paul Irwin's committee of the executive met Saturday and decided to sell 600 season's reserved seats at a reasonable rate in advance to get the necessary funds to start the squad off properly. Some 300 requests received already for these handy ducats which permit fans to arrive at the last minute and still have a first-class spot waiting for them. The Bowl holds about 3,500, so the reserved seats won't take up too big a piece.

* * * * * *

Tooling up and down a few columns of clippings of Petes' puck playoff summaries, we note where Arn Dugan led the locals in group and provincial playoffs. In the 14 games the Petes played since the schedule ended and till Stouffville ousted 'em, Dugan banged in 13 goals and aided on 13 more for 26 points, nearly two a game. Gus Leonard was next with 21, while Junior West, Freddy Garvey and George Steele were others with a point or more a game. Mason did well in nine tilts, as did the Petes' defencemen and two juniors, Robinson and Stewart. Some of the others didn't see too much action at that time, owing to injuries.

Toronto Teams at Civic

Stouffville Clippers play Toronto Lyndhursts at 8.30 tonight in Civic Arena in O.H.A. senior "B" semi-finals. They'll also meet here Friday p.m. Fans know most of the bingo Bangays, speedy Watsons, etc., of Clippers, and here's the names and numbers of the Lyndhursts: Ervine (1), Campbell (2), Deans (3), Bob Robertson (4), Russ Robertson (6), Gray (7), Scott (9), Finlayson (10) Clements (11), Couch (14), Munroe (16), Kewley (17), Galand (18) and Haughton (19). Some of 'em are former Markham players, the team ousted Kingston last year in playdowns.

* * * * * *

Kingston Sacs recently billed the O.H.A. for $75 for ads and other out-of-pocket expenses incurred when Eagles didn't play them that last game in the Limestone City. O.H.A. sent the bill on to the Eagles. Latter club twice sent in their protest fee on the K's use of Goalie Sonny MacDonald but twice the O.H.A. has returned it with word that the club is under suspension. Unofficially, we hear that the club president and secretary drew an automatic one-year suspension by the O.H.A. for the club's failure to play in Kingston when ordered. This suspension does not apply to players, it seems. Anyway, we have asked the O.H.A. secretary for a report on the matter and hope to hear from him sometime today.

Running True to Form

Stanley Cup finals, like the semi-finals, are running true to form this year, and it looks like four straight for the Wings. They had to hustle plenty for the 2-1 win Saturday in Montreal before 17,000 fans but Gord Howe finally hit his scoring form Sunday before 15,000 Detroit customers as they rolled to a 3-0 victory. Ted Lindsay has been hot right along and, of course, Terry Sawchuk is brilliant in their goal. A powerful puck machine this year and it should be good for a few more seasons yet. Fourth and possibly final game is in Detroit's Olympia on the morrow.

Ace Pitchers Lead Off In Ball Openers

NEW YORK, April 14 (AP). — Major league ball clubs will lead with their pitching aces Tuesday when the 1952 baseball season gets underway but the lineups otherwise will be dotted with new faces.

In New York, Sal Maglie (23-6), Giants' ace, will oppose Robin Roberts (21-15), Philadelphia's best. The Giants, however, will present a couple of new faces in second baseman Davey Williams, and left fielder Bob Elliott. Williams succeeds the scrappy Eddie Stanky. Elliott was obtained from the Braves as an 11th-hour fill-in for the injured Monte Irvin.

The Phillies' newcomers will be Connie Ryan, acquired during the winter to plug the second base gap, and catcher Smoky Burgess, who came along in the same deal.

Boston fans will see a flock of newcomers in the lineup when the Braves face the Brooklyn Dodgers' Pretcher Roe (22-3). Second baseman Billy Reed, shortstop Jack Cusick and third baseman Ed Mathews will appear in starting roles.

Then there is Sheldon Jones, the righthander obtained from the Giants, who may be used in relief should starter Warren Spahn (22-14) need help.

Field Same Team

The Dodgers will field the same team that lost the pennant in a playoff with the Giants last year.

St. Louis Cardinals may use rookie Steve Bilko at first against Pittsburgh when Gerry Staley (19-13) takes the mound against the Pirates' Murry Dickson (20-16). The Bucs will counter with some rookies of their own in infielders Dick Hall and Jimmy Merson and outfielder Bobby Del Greco.

Veteran righthanders Bob Rush (11-12) of the Cubs and Herm Wehmeier (7-10) of the Reds will be the opposing pitchers in the Chicago-Cincinnati game which may feature the debut of outfielder Wally Post of the Reds and catcher Toby Atwell of the Cubs.

Jim Fridley, hard-hitting young outfielder, may be in the Cleveland lineup when the Indians, with Early Wynn (20-13) on the mound, tackle the Chicago White Sox. Lefty Billy Pierce (15-14) will pitch for the Sox, who will show their hometown fans new faces in third baseman Hec Rodriguez and catcher Sherman Lollar.

Lou Boudreau, confronted with the loss of Ted Williams, is grooming a couple of young hard-hitting outfielders and may start newcomers Faye Throneberry and Gene Stephens when Boston faces the Senators in Washington. Mel Parnell (18-11) will hurl against the Nats' Bob Porterfield (9-8). Washington will field a veteran lineup.

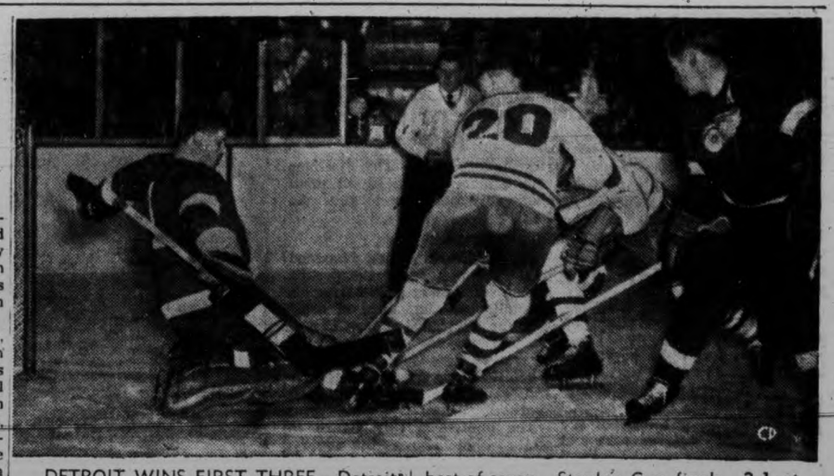
Browns Have New Faces

The Browns will top them all when it comes to presenting new profiles. Manager Rogers Hornsby, back at the managerial helm, will feature a new team except for pitcher Ned Garver (20-12) when the Browns oppose Dizzy Trout (9-14) and the Tigers in Detroit.

Catcher Clint Courtney, outfielders Jim Rivera, Bob Bieman and George Schmees and infielders Marty Marion, Leo Thomas and Gordon Goldsberry are just some of the newcomers. The Tigers figure to play outfielder Cliff Mapes, catcher Matt Batts and Ben Taylor, obtained from the Browns.

Jack Jensen will be in centrefield for the Yankees in Philadelphia when Vic Raschi (21-10) tries to continue his jinx over the Athletics. He has beaten them 20 times in 22 decisions.

Jimmy Dykes will start southpaw Alex Kellner (11-14) backed by a veteran team. But he has some new faces in outfielder Kite Thomas; infielders Skeets Kell, Scotty Hamilton and Johnny Litrell and pitchers Ed Burtschy and Harry Byrd. Third baseman Andy Carey and pitchers Bill Miller and Harry Schaeffer are the best of a host of Yankee newcomers.



DETROIT WINS FIRST THREE—Detroit Red Wings' starry net-minder Terry Sawchuk smothers a close-in shot from Montreal Canadiens' forward Paul Meger (20) as Detroit wins the opening game of the best-of-seven Stanley Cup finals 3-1 at Montreal. Detroit defenceman Red Kelly stands ready to help while, in the background, referee Bill Chadwick looks on. The Montreal player immediately in front of Meger is unidentified.

Suspension of six members of the Kingston Nylon Hockey Club has been back-dated four months to allow participation in summer sports, the Ontario Hockey Association executive ruled Saturday. The change is also available to other suspended members of the club.

The suspensions were imposed Oct. 10, 1951, when the O.H.A. decided that the Nylons had "thrown" a series to enter the Senior B playoffs in preference to Allan Cup competition. One-year suspension imposed on Douglas Patterson, Walt Gerow, Glen Udall and Jack Stone will end May 1. Two-year suspensions of R. Aiken and E. Plum will end May 1, 1953. The players requested the change.

The Ontario Sports Federation had upheld the O.H.A. suspensions, thus prohibiting those involved from going into other organized sports.

St. Catharines won the Ontario Midget Hockey Association championship Saturday by defeating Toronto Marlboros 6-3 in the second game of a two-game, total-goals series. The victory, coming after an initial 8-4 win, gave them the round 14-7. Pete Saliken and Chester Lukasik each counted twice for the victors.

Eight Kentucky Derby hopefuls left behind Saturday by G. S. Smith's Handsome Teddy, which won the Chesapeake Stakes at the Laurel, Md., track. Immediately behind were three candidates for the May 3 classic: Max Kahlbaum's Jampol, J. L. Friedman's Orco and J. J. Amiel's Count Flame. Handsome Teddy now will be entered in the May 17 Preakness at Pimlico.

E. G. Jennens, owner of Jencraft, North America's only racing shell builders, said Saturday he hopes to make the May 15 deadline granted by the Canadian Olympic Committee following a fire which swept his plant at Kelowna, B. C., Tuesday with unstated damage. Two shells being built for the committee were badly damaged. The company has orders for five eights from Eastern Canada rowing clubs.

The favored Blue Man came from far behind Saturday to catch the leaders in the stretch and win the $28,000 Experimental Handicap No. 2 at Jamaica race track before a chilled crowd of 44,910. Second was Master Fiddle and third Sky Ship.

Edmonton Pats downed Fort Frances Canadiens 4-2 at Calgary Saturday night to even at one game each the best-of-seven Allan Cup series. The Forts won one game 8-5 and another was tied.

Badminton Juniors Stage Tournament

Carol Hughson won from Janet Hughson, while John Donoghue defeated Bucky Madden in the "A" class finals of the local junior badminton tournament here Saturday afternoon. In the "B" class, Elaine Grant won the girls' final over Bonnie Elmsley, as Robbie Elmsley took the boys' final from Barry Godson. These players range in age from eight to 14 years and have been coached by Joe Elmsley and Marg. Baker, who also supply them with birds and racquets.

Following the semi-finals, a lunch was served the young competitors with sandwiches and ice cream supplied. Cups were presented to the winners and club crests to the runners-up.

Try To Even Series

FORT WILLIAM, April 14 — (CP)—Regina Pats meet Fort William Hurricanes on Regina ice Tuesday night, trying to wipe out a one-game deficit in their best-of-seven series in the Western Canada Memorial Cup hockey tinal. Remaining games shifted from the lakehead after Hurricanes' temper-tossed 2-1 victory Saturday night in the third encounter. The win, coming from two goals in less than two minutes in the third period, gave Fort William a 2-1 lead in the series.

WINDSOR WINS

Windsor A.K.O.'s took a one-game lead in the Canadian junior men's basketball finals at Winnipeg Saturday night by edging Winnipeg Light Infantry 63-60. Windsor leads the best-of-five series 2-1.

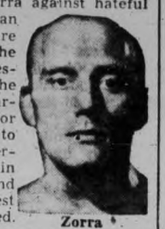
Speedy Zorra To Test Herman



Zorra

It will be the speedy and peppery Zorra against hateful Hans Herman in the feature bout at the Brock Tuesday night. The French Tarzan asked for a chance to get the German alone in the ring and his request was granted. Hermann is more than pleased with this arrangement, claiming Hi Lee handicapped his style last week. He openly boasted of the going-over he will give the Frenchman.

Zorra had little to say, claiming action speaks louder than words and he'll do his stuff in the ring Tuesday night. It shapes up a hard tussle between these top matmen.

The semi-final also holds a lot of interest for the customers, bringing together the popular Warren Bockwinkle against Strangler Bob Wagner. Bockwinkle has proved to the fans in his last couple of engagements that he is one of the cleverest grapplers in the game. It is a treat to see him in action, and will be doubly so against Strangler Wagner.

A newcomer, Herb Larson, meets Bill Stack in the opener.

Red Wings One Game Away From Stanley Cup, Blank Montreal By 3-0

By JACK SULLIVAN

DETROIT, April 14. (CP)—Detroit Red Wings, who won the National Hockey League title in a cakewalk, are having things their own way in this post-season Stanley Cup playoff series. The Wings showed 14,018 yelling fans at Olympia Stadium Sunday night just why they are prohibitive favorites to add the cup to their league championship this year. They defeated Montreal Canadiens 3-0, following up 3-1 and 2-1 victories at Montreal last Thursday and Saturday, and the way they are clicking they should wrap up the best-of-seven final series Tuesday night.

More than that, a Tuesday night win for the Tommy Ivan-coached team would make modern-day playoff history. Detroit whipped Toronto Maple Leafs four straight in the semi-finals and a clean sheet over Canadiens would make them the only club to take the cup in the minimum number of games since the best-of-seven system was inaugurated 13 years ago.

Howe In Fine Form

A cheering note for Red Wings fans is the return to form of Goalie Howe, the N.H.L.'s leading goal-scorer who almost single-handedly broke Canadiens hearts Sunday night as he pumped two goals past Montreal goalkeeper Gerry McNeil. They were the first in seven games for Howe and both were masterpieces.

The big right-winger from Floral, Sask., opened and closed the scoring for the Wings, the second Detroit goal coming off the stick of line-mate Ted Lindsay, a 65-foot blooper that took a crazy hop in front of the Montreal goalkeeper and bounced past him high up in the nets.

Saturday night the Red Wings made a goal by Lindsay stand up for 39 minutes and 17 seconds to give them two straight games on Montreal ice.

Steady, relentless checking in a tight-knit defence plus Sawchuk's fine work halted the Montrealers.

Both teams scored late in the opening period, Detroit cashing in when Marty Pavelich saw Tony Leswick filch the puck in a Montreal corner and sprinted for the goal crease to grab Leswick's passout and drove the puck into the net. Two minutes later Elmer Lach tipped in a shot by Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion to tie the score.

Harvey was sitting out a Montreal penalty when Lindsay scored unassisted from a scramble in front of McNeil. Lindsay's shot rebounded off McNeil's pads. In the milling about, the puck struck defenceman Butch Bouchard's chest as Bouchard was falling and he and the puck both fell into the net.

Gray, with two goals. Earl Clements and Bob Finlayson had the others.

A crowd of 1,000 watched the opener.

FORMER CHAMP WITH SCOTT

Earl (Skater) Reynolds, 84, world speed-skating match champion 50 years ago, Saturday put on his skates for the first time in 27 years and did an ice dance at Indianapolis with Ottawa's Barbara Ann Scott. The occasion was his visit to his granddaughter, a member of Miss Scott's Hollywood Ice Revue.

Expect Roth To Rejoin Team

STRATFORD, April 14 (CP)—Allan Cup-happy Stratford fans had cheering news today in the word that Mickey Roth's injured shoulder has improved.

The shifty forward is expected to give Stratford Indians' No. 1 line added punch when the Indians take on Pembroke Lumber Kings tonight in the third game of the best-of-seven seres for the eastern Canada hockey title.

Stratford leads the series 2-0.

Pembroke boasts a giant ice squad, one of the largest individually ever to lace on skates, veteran sports observers here say. The Kings are liberally sprinkled with ex-pros like the Giesbrecht brothers, Roy, Bruce and Fred, and the Simons, Cully and Thain.

One thing Indians have shown in the first two games is that they have the better skating legs, which offsets the greater experience of the Pembroke crew.

With Roth able to operate better, now that his shoulder injury is on the mend, playing coach Pat Wilson looks for more zing from the Roth-Billy Flick-Dinny Flanagan line.

Clippers Edge Lyndhursts 5-4

STOUFFVILLE, April 14. — Stouffville Clippers Saturday night opened the O.H.A. Senior "B" best-of-seven semi-final with a 5-4 win over Toronto Lyndhursts of the East York Major Commercial League.

Second game of the series goes at Peterborough tonight at 8:30. The teams return here Wednesday.

Clippers were behind 4-3 with less than three minutes to go but they poured five forwards into the Toronto zone and picked up goals by Hal Gibson and Bud Watson.

The teams, tied 2-2, over the first two periods, with each holding a one-goal lead once. Then Lyndhursts scored twice and Clippers once during the third's first 13 minutes.

Watson scored twice and Jack Rumney, George Stark and Gibson once each for the winners. Lyndhursts' best man was Norm

Providence Trips Hornets 5-1

By The Canadian Press

Providence Reds got a new lease on life in the American Hockey League playoffs from a 5-1 decision Sunday night over Pittsburgh Hornets.

The victory was Providence's first in the best-of-seven Calder Cup playoff. Pittsburgh leads 2-1 in the series which resumes at Providence Tuesday night.

Three first-period goals did the trick.

Twelve penalties, including three majors, were called during the first two periods. Andy Barbe of the Hornets suffered a broken nose when hit by defenceman Pat Egan during the rough second period.

Paul Gladu and Ray Laplante scored the first two Providence goals while the Hornets were short-handed. Barry Sullivan made it 3-0 on a pass from Ray Powell.

Bob Solinger blasted home a 40-foot shot for Pittsburgh's goal at 6:42 in the second period. This one was matched by Joe Lund, who scored for the Reds on a pass from Art Michaluk at 17:03.

Jean Paul Denis netted a 20-footer for the only third-period goal.

Softball Association To Standardize Rules

LONDON, Ont., April 14 (CP)—The Canadian Softball Association decided at its third annual meeting here Saturday to form a committee for standardizing softball rules in Canada.

Lloyd Alguire of St. Catharines was named chairman of the rules committee and he will work with John Brewe, London, M. E. Cottle, Montreal and Andy Anderson, Regina.

The C.S.A. also named its officers for the 1952 season. Vern McIlwraith, Guelph, was named honorary president; Doug Smith, Toronto, president; Clare Hollingsworth, Edmonton, first vice-president; Raymond Wray, Montreal, second vice-president; J. C. Anderson, Regina, third vice-president and Frank Feaver, Hamilton, secretary-treasurer.

The meeting officially recognized Edmonton Bordens as the 1951 Canadian women's softball champions, and Toronto Peoples as the 1951 men's champs.

PITCHERS TO JOIN ROYALS

Montreal Royals of the International Baseball League today announced that pitchers John Podres and Mal Mallette, in training with the parent Brooklyn Dodgers, will join the club for the opening game in Montreal April 16.

Guelph Whip Canadiens 7-2 Only Game Away From Title

TORONTO, April 14 (CP). — Guelph Biltmores stand only one victory away from representing the east in the Memorial Cup final.

They'll go after that win Tuesday night in Montreal when they'll try to take the Eastern Canada junior hockey championship in five games from Montreal Canadiens.

The Biltmores took a 3-1 lead in games in the best-of-seven series when they whipped the Canadiens 7-2 Sunday at Maple Leaf Gardens. A crowd of 13,624 —the largest for any of the games so far—watched as the Bilts came up with their best effort of the series.

The victory was the most decisive win in the series, which the Biltmores now are overwhelming favorites to take for the right to meet either Regina Pats or Fort William Hurricanes in the Memorial Cup final, to be played in the east this year.

Take No Chances

The Bilts, who won the first game 4-3, and the third 7-6 after going under 7-5 in the second engagement, left nothing to chance Sunday.

The Quebec champions got the count up to 4-2 with a goal at 8:46 of the third period but the Bilts refused to be shaken. Less than five minutes later they scored twice within eight seconds to make it 6-2 and for good measure Ron Stewart counted their final tally with goalie Charlie Hodge out of the Canadiens' net for an extra forward with less than a minute to play.

That was Stewart's second goal of the game and his fifth and sixth of the series, making his appearance in the Guelph line-up all the more unhappy for the Canadiens. They have protested his eligibility with the Biltmores. He was with Toronto Marlboros during the regular season, but the Bilts were granted permission by the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association to use him when one of their players was called up to pro ranks.

Dean Prentice, free-wheeling left winger on the Bilts' second line, also bagged two goals. The Bilts' other markers were scored by Harry Howell, Billy McCready and Jim Connelly.

Hodge had little chance on any of the Guelph goals. He kicked out many shots and got little aid from the weak Canadiens' defence. The Bilts poured 21 shots at him in the first period and he continued his brilliant play after he was struck in the knee by the puck early in the second period and had to go off for treatment.

Bill Sinnett and Connie Broden accounted for the Canadiens' goals.

Last English Feudal Farm Bows To Nationalization

By MICHAEL NEWMARCH

LAXTON, England, April 14 — (AP)—The last corner of feudal Britain is heading for nationalization.

The Lord of the Manor of Laxton; 71-year-old Earl Manvers, is selling out to the State which presented this piece of rolling English countryside to its first feudal overlord nearly 900 years ago.

Laxton, a prosperous-looking, brick-built Nottinghamshire village of some 300 inhabitants, is the only place in England where the open field system of farming still goes on.

Each farmer's land is divided into small strips scattered over huge, unfenced fields. That was the farming method when the Normans came in 1066. William the Conqueror claimed all the land for himself, and distributed the villages with their open fields to feudal overlords—who thus became the lords of the manors.

That setup died out nearly everywhere in England hundreds of years ago, but for reasons no one has been able to discover, many of the changes passed Laxton by. The villagers still are dealing with a Lord of the Manor—as they've been dealing ever since they got their first Norman overlord, Geoffrey Alselin, in 1086.

Grow Simple Crops

They still are growing the same simple crops by rotation in the 300-acre fields surrounding the village—just as they have been doing for hundreds of years.

Some 25 farmers rent strips of land from Earl Manvers in the big fields.

The strips vary in size, averaging about three acres. Each man's strips are scattered so that he has some good land and some of the poor. Everyone grows the same crops—autumn wheat in one field, pulse in the second. The remaining field is left fallow, so that each big field gets a rest every three years.

The Dovecote, the village pub, is the scene of the annual Court Leet, a mediaeval survival. The Court Leet, out of which trial by jury in the English-speaking world developed, has the job of seeing that the open fields are farmed properly.

The 13-man jury is summoned from among the villagers by the bailiff, 63-year-old Elmer John Rose.

"As soon as I get to know all the wheat is sown, I fix jury day," Rose said.

On jury day the jury of 13, plus a steward representing the lord of the manor, walk over the huge field, noting the names of anyone who has taken in a piece of land not belonging to him or otherwise threatened the welfare of the open field by bad farming.

Villagers Puzzled

Gervas Evelyn Pierrepoint, sixth Earl Manvers, became the 35th lord of the manor in 1940. The way things look now, he will be the last.

In Laxton the projected sale is a chief topic of conversation:

"We don't know why it is, but Earl Manvers is elderly, and there is no son. It may be a question of preserving the estate," Vicar W. H. Snow speculated.

The villagers don't know how to view the prospect of a change.

"We're not very settled now," Rose said, "and don't know how we stand. I just couldn't say whether it will be better or worse if a ministry in London takes over. We've got a very good lord of the manor."

In London, a spokesman of the Ministry of Agriculture said the villagers need not worry too much:

"We are about to purchase the land at Laxton because of its historical interest. It is our intention that when we become landlord the present system of farming will continue."

Greatest Fear

TORONTO, April 14 — (CP) — Jaroslav Stetzko, one-time prime minister of the Ukraine, said Sunday night that Russia's greatest fear is not any super-bomb in the hands of the West, but the growing unrest and desire for national independence among the peoples she dominates. Stetzko addressed a meeting sponsored by the Anti-Bolshevik Bloc of Nations, a pseudo-political union of patriots from 24 countries working to undermine Russia. Stetzko is president.

First To Reach Port

MONTREAL, April 14—(CP)—The British freighter Manchester Merchant Sunday was the first ship to reach the port of Montreal and officially open local navigation. Her veteran skipper, Capt. E. W. Raper, will receive a gold-headed cane.

JUMBLED NAME CONTEST

RULES OF THE CONTEST

Each week in the centre space of this heading, the name of some advertiser on this page will be shown with the letters jumbled. Contestants' task is to unscramble them, and show correct name on entry form at right. To qualify for the contest, a receipt must be attached to each entry as proof of purchase made this week from any firm co-operating in this feature. Contestants can make as many entries as desired so long as a purchase receipt is attached to each one. Awarding of prizes from all correct and eligible solutions received during the week fifteen will be drawn and prizes awarded accordingly. Send entries to Jumble Letter Contest Editor, c/o this paper, to be received not later than Friday.

15 Valuable Prizes Every Week 15

PETERBOROUGH EXAMINER

VOL. CIV No. 88 MONDAY, APRIL 14, 1952

MAIN STREET TOPICS

WAS ROADMASTER HERE

C.N.R. roadmaster at Peterborough 1914-1919, George T. Yarrow died suddenly at his home in Belleville Friday night. He retired from the railway in 1949 after 51 years service.

MINOR INJURY

Garth Braund suffered a bruised hand in a traffic accident near Buffalo at the weekend. An X-ray examination disclosed that there was no fracture. Mr. and Mrs. Braund continued their trip home by car with Mr. and Mrs. Al Winslow who were about twenty minutes behind them.

ATTENDS O.E.A.

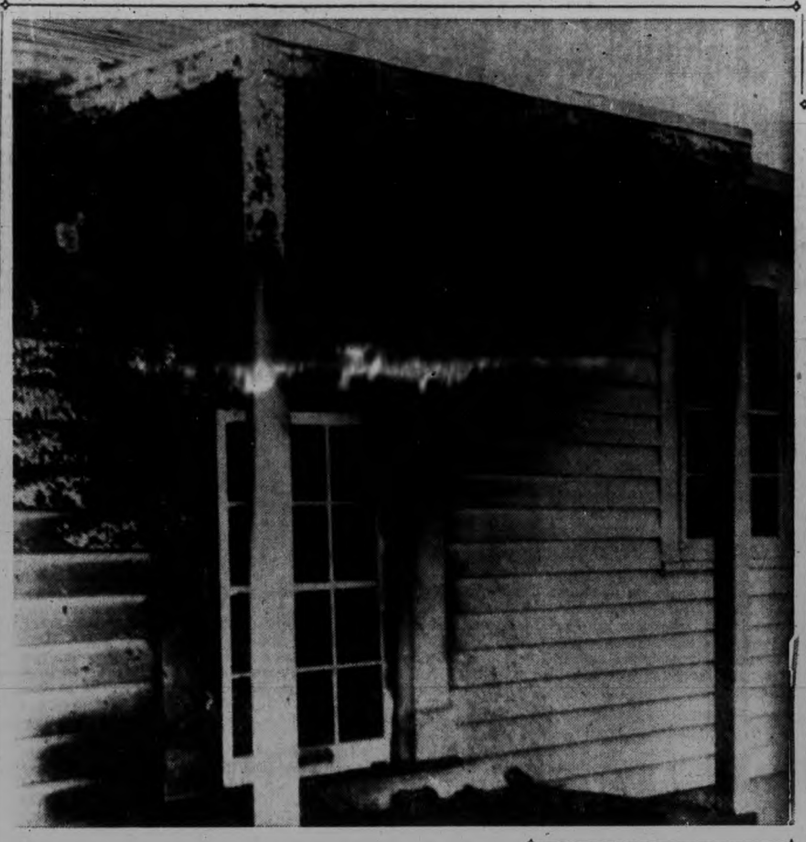
Melville H. Johnston, former reeve of North Monaghan township, is today attending the 92nd annual convention of the Ontario Education Association beginning a three-day session in Toronto. He is representing the Peterborough County Council. Some 9,000 delegates are expected to attend this year's convention.

DISCUSS HOUSING

The problem of accommodating residents who have until December to get out of the Wartime Housing section in the west end of the city will be discussed when the Peterborough and District Labor Council (C.C.L.) meet again tonight. Last month the labor council condemned the removal of the 125 houses on the Hatton property, and they passed the resolution along to city council.

ROWING HOME

Remaking of the highway east from Bobcaygean last fall has had unusual spring effects. At the north edge of the village on both sides of the road which is now much higher than the surrounding land are new good-sized lakes. The high road bank stops the usual run-off of spring water. Several houses are almost surrounded by water; and one is completely cut off. The household is keeping a boat tethered to their front door, to get from the house to the street without swimming for it.



PLAYING WITH MATCHES, children started a fire Saturday night which gutted the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Edwards, 658 Monaghan Road, leaving four people homeless. Damage is estimated between $3,500 and $4,000. The fire swept through the living room, kitchen and dinette, also smoking two bedrooms. The exterior was scorched in places, especially at the front door (left photo), where the fire started in the small hallway. The children were believed to have found the matches on a coffee table which is shown (right) with the burnt chesterfield and corner tables.—(Examiner Staff Photos).

Playing With Matches Children Start Fire Sweeps Monaghan Rd. Home

Children playing with matches Saturday night started a fire which gutted the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Edwards, 658 Monaghan Road, leaving four people homeless. Shortly after 9 p.m. Mr. and Mrs. Edwards were playing cards in a small dinette with Mr. and Mrs. William Ayotte, River Road, when the Ayotte's daughter, Ann, three, told them there was a fire in the living room. The three small children and another daughter, Jill, 18, sick in bed with the flu, were hustled outside.

The Ayotte children, Donald, four, and Ann had been playing in the living room with four-year-old Roger Edwards. They had been playing with toys until one of them found a box of matches on the coffee table. Shortly after that the fire started.

Mr. Edwards rushed into the living room and saw the box of Christmas toys flaming in the front door archway. He grabbed the burning box and threw it outside.

Caught Clothes

But the fire had a head start. Flames had leaped from the box to the winter coats and suits hanging in the small hallway and from there had spread quickly into the woodwork.

"I took water from the taps in an effort to stop the fire from spreading, but the taps wouldn't flow fast enough," said Mr. Edwards. "I then ran over to McCormick's and called the fire department."

Two cars, owned by the Ayottes and the Edwards', were in the laneway. Fearing that the fire would spread, sweeping the house and the cars, the men moved the automobiles. Ayotte's was driven out but Edwards' had to be pushed, the keys were in the burning home.

Once the fire swept into the living room and kitchen, they tried to rescue some of the furniture. A large window was broken at the back of the building in one of the bedrooms. Through it a large cedar chest was carried out as well as clothing.

After the men had made several trips into the house, the smoke became so thick that it choked anyone who entered. Efforts to save other belongings were abandoned.

The fire department had the fire out at midnight, but not before it had swept through the living room, a small kitchen, the dinette and smoked the back two bedrooms. At the front of the house the fire had broken through the small attic into the insulation. Contents in the three rooms were destroyed.

Some Insurance

Mr. Edwards said Sunday that they had $2,000 insurance covering the contests but added that it wasn't enough to cover the damage done. They are buying the house from the Central Mortgage and Housing.

Mr. Edwards estimated the full damage to house and contents at more than $3,500.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwards showed signs of the fire today. Mr. Edwards with blisters on his hands while both had their hair singed carrying the chest and clothes from the house.

Today the Edwards' are staying with neighbors while the children are with relatives.

Stolen Truck Soon Recovered

Just 34 minutes after city police informed O.P.P. district 8 headquarters that a light truck had been stolen Saturday night, O.P.P. constables Arthur Watson and Jack McKendry, patrolling near Bowmanville, stopped the truck.

Bernard Walton, 17, 35 Lindsay St., Toronto, a sailor in the Royal Canadian Navy, attached to H.M.C.S. York was arrested and later charged with car theft.

He was released Sunday on $200 bail.

The half ton pick-up truck, owned by Arnold Murray of Bridgenorth was reported stolen from Parkhill and George Sts., at 6:15 in the evening.

Wind, Rain Spoil Show Of Finery Easter Sunday

Easter Sunday's windy, rainy weather fouled up the colorful parade of spring ensembles along Peterborough's main street but it didn't drown out the joyous Easter hymns in all churches.

Met by a chilly blast and a cold sheet of rain, citizens filled churches from the early morning masses to the evening services in most cases church attendances exceeded any to date this year.

Easter suits and hats blended in with the early spring flowers which decorated the churches. In contrast overcoats and raincoats were worn to protect the new clothes.

The dull day was brightened by the Easter hymns which announced Christ's resurrection. Hymns such as Hallelujah by Handel, Alleduia by Mozart, Christ the Lord is Risen Again by Tillman, and Easter Morning by Kountz were sung.

Special Music

In some churches special music was arranged. At Trinity United Church Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. Christie of London, Ontario, were guest soloists while at Murray St. Baptist Church the combined choirs of Park St. Baptist and Murray St. churches presented the Easter cantata, "From Cross to Crown."

Dedication services were held during special programs. At All Saints' Anglican church the children of all Sunday school departments attended a service where lenten boxes were dedicated and flowers placed on the Cross. Guest speaker there was Marwood Patterson.

The dedication of new robes for the junior choir of Knox United church and the unveiling of a plaque honoring the original building committee highlighted the morning service there.

At St. John's Anglican, the service was marked by the dedication of a processional cross in memory of Arthur Stevenson, and at all other city churches, special music and sermons based on the message of Easter were heard.

Gasoline, Water Lead Police To Suspect's Home

CAMPBELLFORD, April 14 (ENS)—With a trail of grease, gasoline, water and damage left by his car, 22-year-old Donald White of Campbellford was arrested early Sunday morning. White is alleged to have been driving his car when it missed a turn and flattened a metal light standard, missed a second turn and rolled completely over, doing $600 damage to the car.

Saw Accident

A passerby saw a car hit the lamp standard and drive on. He notified Chief Constable George Hardy, who with O.P.P. Constable Donald Erskine, followed the trail of grease, gas, oil and water to the garage at White's home.

White faces a charge of failing to report an accident, and police say other charges are pending. Damage to the light standard is estimated at $135.

Buttermilk Falls Scene For Movie?

Buttermilk Falls as the scene of a Hollywood Movie? Residents are all for it.

The possibility, slight enough, arose in the legislature after W. L. Houck, Liberal member for Niagara Falls, said he wasn't happy that a proposed movie to use the famous falls as a background is to be a murder melodrama.

Premier Leslie Frost suggested in that case, maybe the moviemakers would move to Buttermilk Falls, in his riding (Victoria-Haliburton).

For the two families living at Buttermilk Falls, it was the most exciting thing that has happened since the dance hall burned down last December.

Charles Watson, who owned the dance hall, said: "A movie would be the making of Buttermilk Falls."

Reeve C. P. Rogers of Stanhope township, added: "It looks nice in summer and those people from Hollywood would enjoy themselves".

Buttermilk Falls, unfortunately, isn't a falls in the same sense as Niagara. The falls is a series of rapids in the gorge between Hall's and Boskung Lakes.

In the city of Niagara Falls, a Holywood director, indifferent to the beauties of the Haliburton resort, was involved in the problem of floating a movie star over Niagara.

Buttermilk Falls and all seven of its population were almost a dead certainty for being left out in the cold—as far as movies go.

Driver Charged After Two Hurt Near Lakefield

Two charges were laid today against the driver believed to be responsible for the accident near Lakefield Friday night, which wrecked the plans of Victor Ward and his bride May who were starting out on a honeymoon in New York City.

Mrs. Ward who received facial cuts, bruises and also suffered from shock when the car driven by her husband overturned several times, is recovering from her injuries in Civic Hospital. Mrs. Ward was thrown from the car on to the pavement as the car rolled over several times, coming to rest on its wheels. Although Mr. Ward was not seriously injured, he suffered from severe shock and was also admitted to hospital for treatment, and later released. Mrs. Ward's condition is described by hospital authorities today as good.

Tried To Pass

Mr. Ward told OPP Constable Harold Armstrong who investigated that he had tried several times to pass a light truck travelling ahead of him towards Peterborough. Just as he would get even, he said the driver would speed up, then, when he dropped behind, Mr. Ward said the truck would slow to a crawl.

Finally, Mr. Ward became annoyed and speeded up to pass the truck. When the driver speeded up and started to pull away again, he said he applied his brakes and tried to skid in behind the truck but his car went out of control and began rolling over.

A truck similar to the one described by Mr. Ward stopped at the scene of the accident. The driver was questioned by police, and today, Albert McManus, R.R. 2 Peterborough was charged with dangerous and careless driving in connection with the accident.

2 Tries To Crack Safe Fail Three Youths Surprised In Basement Of Garage

Officer On Beat Sees Three In Duffus Garage
Two Flee, One Threatens
To Blow Up Constable With Nitro

Two attempts to crack a safe in the office of Duffus Motors early today ended in failure and the arrest of three Oshawa youths being charged with breaking and entering with intent. Constable Gerald Emmons was patrolling his beat about 12.30 when he saw three men in the basement of the garage. He turned his flashlight on them, and they dashed upstairs. By the time he ran around the north side of the garage, to Water St., Constable Emmons saw one of the trio running through the showroom into the repair department.

He reached the southwest door just as William Rudyk, 19, 406 Oliver St., Oshawa, was trying to escape. Constable Emmons handcuffed one of Rudyk's wrists to his own, then Rudyk reached in his pocket and started to pull out a bottle.

Blow Both Up

"Let me go, or I'll drop this and blow us both into eternity," Rudyk threatened. Constable Emmons continued to aim his service revolver directly at Rudyk's stomach and reached for the mixture which Rudyk later admitted using in two attempts to crack the safe which contained only $200 in cash.

Then Constable Emmons marched Rudyk at gun point into the Empress Hotel and telephoned the police station for help.

While Constable Emmons was dealing with Rudyk, his accomplices made their get-away.

At 2 a.m., two other Oshawa youths, Joseph Rzona, 20 and John F. Meagher, 20, both of 106 Stacey Ave., Oshawa, were stopped three miles west of Welcome in a car Rudyk claimed belongs to his mother.

He was unable to give police the licence number but the general description of the vehicle was relayed to provincial police and OPP constable F. A. Clough stopped the car while he was patrolling on Highway 2.

Taken To Cobourg

The pair were taken to Cobourg and later brought back by Peterborough police. Today, Rudyk, Meagher and Rzona who claims he is out on bail on another charge in Oshawa were charged with breaking and entering with intent.

Police Chief John Thompson said today that Constable Emmons deserves the highest praise for the way he handled the emergency and for the courage he displayed in taking the "soup" from Rudyk.

The amount remaining in the bottle would have killed both Rudyk and Constable Emmons if Rudyk had carried out his threat. The mixture was powerful enough, as the acrid odor was so strong, policemen had difficulty investigating afterwards. Although two charges were set off, only the top corner of the heavy door on the safe was bent slightly. Detective Sergeant John Stevenson said that compared with the expert method used to crack a safe in the Brewers Warehouse a week ago, the job was strictly "amateurish". "It was a wonder they were not killed by the explosion," said Detective Stevenson.

Muffled Explosion

Large rolls of coarse material used for polishing cars were successfully used to muffle the sound. Although Constable Emmons was within less than a block of the garage when the explosion must have gone off, he heard no noise.

However, the youths are believed to have panicked after the second charge was detonated, as they appeared to be trying to leave the building when they were surprised in the basement.

GERALD EMMONS

A plank against a window at the rear, was used to force the window. Once inside, the door of the stockroom was unlatched and a window was broken. To make sure of an escape exit, the hasp on the lock of the large doors of the body shop was pried loose. The safe was in an office upstairs.

Overturned

It was overturned on its back, when police arrived, and the entire office was littered with folders, and records either by the explosion or as a result of the safe crackers having ransacked the desk and files.

This is the third time the garage and a bowling alley above has been entered in recent weeks. A week ago, entrance was gained through a second storey window from a fire escape and $173 was taken from the cash register in the bowling alley.

ANOTHER SAFE-BLOWING JOB that failed took place very early today in the office of Duffus Motors. The would-be safe crackers fled before getting the safe door open and one culprit who confessed was picked up by city police. Two other suspects were apprehended two miles east of Welcome on Highway 2 by Provincial Police and brought back to Peterborough. Two building caretakers, Johnny Nadeau (above, left) and Thomas Lucas examine a roll of wiper cloth that was used by the cracksmen to deaden the sound of the explosive.—(Examiner Staff Photo)

Canada Gains More People From Britain

By FORBES RHUDE,
Canadian Press Business Editor

Canada gained considerably more population from the United Kingdom in 1951 than in 1950.

Figures issued by the U.K. Information Office in Ottawa show that 33,924 men and women went from Britain to Canada and 5,055 from Canada to Britain.

Canada's net gain from Britain, therefore, was 28,869 people, compared with a net gain of 8,002 in 1950. Other net gains from Britain included: Australia, 47,230; United States, 13,609.

Of the total coming to Canada from Britain, 27,544 were Commonwealth citizens and 6,380 were aliens. Of those going from Canada to Britain, 5,024 were commonwealth citizens, and 31 were aliens.

Gold Situation

The Times of London recently gave the following summary of the free gold situation:

"In their annual Bullion Review, Messrs. Montagu and Company estimate that during 1951 the net absorption of gold by the free markets of the world was around 9,500,000 ounces . . .

"In 1952, another 4,000,000 ounces should be liberated by the changes following the International Monetary Fund's statement of September, 1951—provided that the free markets continue to pay an appreciable premium over the official national gold prices.

"With no likelihood of an immediate change in the official price and the prospect of a substantial increase in available supplies, it would appear at first sight that the short-term tendency of the free-market price should be downward.

"However, the demand for gold is likely to increase considerably as the price approaches the $38 level. Public opinion appears to be that the purchase of gold at this figure is the best insurance against further political and economic ills."

The annual meeting of the Investment Dealers' Association of Canada will be held June 10-13 at St. Andrews-by-the-Sea, N.B., under the chairmanship of W. J. Borrie, of Vancouver, president. Speakers will include Premier Smallwood of Newfoundland; Graham Towers, governor of the Bank of Canada; Trevor Moore, Toronto; and Robert A. McGowan, New York.

Hitch-Hiker Shoots Driver Of Car

CHATHAM, April 14—(CP)—A young Windsor man was severely wounded at the wheel of his car near here early Sunday when shot in the back by an assailant he said was a hitch-hiker.

William Copeman, who managed to bring the car to a safe stop, told police the gunman was one of three men whom he and his friend, Gilbert Pilon, also of Windsor, had picked up. Motive for the shooting was not known.

Pilon, however, told police there was only one hitch-hiker.

Surgeons here found a slug embedded between his second and third ribs. They did not remove it. His condition was described as "fair."

Services At Front

WITH THE CANADIANS IN KOREA, April 14 (CP)—Canadians held brief religious services on the Korean front Sunday. Protestant and Roman Catholic padres went out to company and platoon positions to conduct services and deliver their Easter messages.

Reindeer For Scotland

GLASGOW, April 14 (Reuters)—The first reindeer to roam the Scottish Highlands since the 11th century arrived here Sunday. The eight reindeer, brought here aboard a Swedish freighter, will be turned loose in experiments to determine whether they can acclimatize themselves to the Highlands where they have been extinct for almost 1,000 years.

FRAE BONNIE SCOTLAND—Pipe Major John Thomas Mitchellson, right, has just arrived from Scotland to take over duties with the New Brunswick Scottish Regiment. He is greeted on his arrival at Saint John from Aberdeen by Drum Major John (Lofty) MacMillan. Mitchellson is a veteran of 21 years in the British army and has been a piper since boyhood.

Prison's Team Of Debaters Chalks Up Amazing Record

NORFOLK, Mass., April 14 (AP)—How would you rate a debating team which has defeated Oxford University, McGill of Montreal, Harvard and Columbia among other top university teams?

Pretty good, huh? That's what Norfolk state prison colony think of their debating team.

Over the years, Norfolk has won 38 debates in 52 contests with leading schools.

The prisoners will take on any team and ask no odds. Prison superintendent Frank B. Coughlin says "we not only let them (the opponents) choose the subject, but also choose whatever side they want."

Outside Norfolk is a grim fortress. Guards watch from atop the 22-foot contrete walls.

But inside, it's different. There's no massive cell-block. This is a "community" prison. A colony of houses—dormitories — shelters 50 prisoners in each. Doors aren't locked. Windows aren't barred.

Some 800 prisoners live and work here in factories and shops.

The Norfolk debaters comprise a group of 60, of whom 12 are rated good enough to meet college debating teams. Most of their material must be gathered by letters through the prison superintendent's office.

Unanimous Decision

Highlight of Norfolk's debates was the meeting with Oxford this winter.

Dick Tavern and William Rees-Mogg of Oxford were pitted against Norfolk's Bill and Murt. Bill, 39, is Norfolk's debate chairman. With three years of college he's the only prison group member with more than a high school education. He came to Norfolk for passing bad cheques.

Murt, 33, never completed grammar school. He's in prison for armed robbery.

Oxford chose the affirmative of the proposition "that this house recognize the need for a free national health service."

Three distinguished judges were named: Justice Harold P. Williams of the Massachusetts Supreme Court, former Governor William S. Flynn of Rhode Island, and Dean Erwin W. Griswold of the Harvard law school.

Their decision was unanimous. The prisoners outpointed Oxford—254 points to 235.

Church Attendance Climbing In Most European Lands

LONDON, April 14—(AP)— In weary Europe, rent by a ceaseless clash of ideologies and divided by an Iron Curtain, how is the Church faring at this Easter-tide?

Church officials say that in Poland, Austria, Denmark, East and West Germany, Italy, Switzerland, Greece and Spain, church attendance is climbing. Attendance remains high in Norway, Sweden and France.

Behind the Iron Curtain, the battle is a fierce one. In satellite countries, Communist governments are trying to force the idea of the "National Church" upon millions. And in Russia, the continued operation of the Russian Orthodox Church is only at the sufferance of a dictatorial government.

Yugoslavia has avoided any open declaration of hostility against religion as such. Church doors are open but attendance is frowned upon.

Used By Moscow

It often suits Moscow's purposes to use the Russian Orthodox Church as an arm of state policy so it gives the appearance of flourishing.

Russian tradition calls for a tremendous celebration at Eastertide, and resurgent Russian Nationalism today is such that the traditional celebrations are tolerated, even when there are religious overtones.

In satellite countries particularly where the populations are dominantly Roman Catholic, the situation is different.

In Poland, about 90-per-cent Catholic, church attendance is reported rising, despite the assaults of the government. One Polish observer reports that Roman Catholic traditions continue strong.

In Czechoslovakia, a Communist regime has been attempting to sell the population on the idea of a national church, divorced from the inflence of the Vatican. The head of the Catholic Church, Archbishop Joseph Beran, has been removed from his Archbishopric and a puppet has been installed.

Membership Drops

Czechoslovakia's Roman Catholics numbered three quarters of the population and membership has fallen off only slightly.

In Romania, the dominant Greek Orthodox Church's membership is reported to be holding its own at about 13,000,000, but the Roman Catholic membership is estimated by sources familiar with the country to have fallen by 500,000 to a figure near 700,000.

Outside the Iron Curtain, Church attendance appears on the upswing.

Attendance in Greece and Italy is considerably increased. In Austria, occupied by Russian and Western troops, Church attendance is rising slowly.

Protestant sources say membership in churches in Soviet-occupied East Germany is dropping off but insist that the attendance at church services remains steady. Roman Catholic sources say attendance in the East Zone actually has risen.

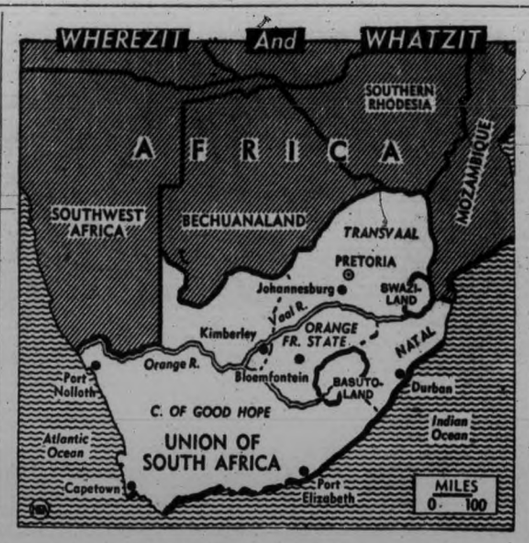
Different Story

The Protestant sources say also that church attendance has slackened in Western Germany but here again the Roman Catholics report an increase.

In Lutheran Churches of Scandinavia, the clergy report the Danish, Swedish and Norwegian attendance stable. In the Netherlands, attendance of members in the Dutch Reformed Church has apparently risen in the rural areas and declined slightly in cities.

Leaders of the Church of England and the Methodist Church in Britain report their churches holding their own in membership and attendance, with increases reflecting the increase in population.

In Spain, where the Roman Catholic Church gets official support from the Franco regime, church attendance is reported on the rise in most sectors. Spain officially discourages Protestantism.



THE UNION OF SOUTH AFRICA is one of the world's richest gold and diamond countries with one of the world's worst social problems. It is comprised of four provinces—Cape of Good Hope, Transvaal, Natal and the Orange Free State, and came into existence in 1910 when the United Kingdom passed the South African Act. The capital is Pretoria. Transvaal and Natal are rich in cotton and wool. Copper, tin and coal are abundant throughout the country. South Africa's social problem arises from its three main population groups—European white, native African and native Indian. The two million Europeans control the nine million Negroes and the 250,000 Indians and one faction, currently in power, is determined to maintain the status quo. Prime Minister Daniel Malan, an old Boer Afrikaner and advocate of apartheid (racial segregation) has dedicated his life to maintain white supremacy. In 1950 he introduced a bill removing 50,000 Cape Colored (half-castes) from white voting lists and assigned their votes to four white representatives. The Supreme Court handed Malan and apartheid its first setback by declaring the law null and void. Resentment by the victims of Malan's discriminatory laws mounted. It took expression in the form of organizations, sponsored by the African National Congress and dedicated to action "for defiance of unjust laws" by a select, trained group, to be followed by mass disobedience, reminiscent of Mahatma Gandhi's strategy in India. Thus is the stage set for what may be a long, bitter and possibly bloody battle against Malan's racial regime.

Worse Hardships Face Iran Mossadegh Says

TEHRAN, April 14 — (AP) — Premier Mohammed Mossadegh told Iranians in tearful tones Saturday night that they must expect worse hardships and disappointments before their country becomes free of "foreign domination."

"Iran now stands at the crossroads: One turn takes us to hell, the other to heaven," said the ailing Premier.

"If we forget about our national prestige and agree to any sort of conditions which international banks impose on us, this is the road which takes us to hell. I don't believe this is the way of our beloved King, yourselves, the Senate and Majlis (Chamber of Deputies)."

This apparently referred to Mossadegh's recent conferences with World Bank representatives who are now here to try to solve Iran's oil problem.

Blames Outsiders

The Premier blamed the alleged failure of Britain, the U.S. and Russia to pay compensation for Second World War occupation of Iran for part of Iran's present financial plight.

Iran's financial condition also is due to the difficulty that she has had in selling her oil since she seized the holdings of the British-owned Anglo-Iranian Oil Company under Mossadegh's nationalization program.

Mossadegh urged an economic austerity program to pull Iran out of the hole. Iran, he said, must export other products besides oil.

Art Scholarships To Be Given To Top Students

Both the Board of Education and the Separate School Board have approved an offer by The Examiner to give art scholarships to the best boy and girl pupils in each of the city's elementary and secondary schools.

Instructions will be given during the summer by Oscar Schleinger of Lakefield, local artist.

Details have still to be arranged but tentative plans call for the best boy and the best girl to receive 8 lessons from Mr. Schleinger. Preferably, painting would be out of doors at some of the district's scenic spots. In bad weather instruction would be indoors.

Harold A. Garner, general manager of The Examiner ,made the offer to both school boards. He also offered to award first ,second and third prizes for the best work.

Toronto Critic.

An art critic, probably from Toronto, would be brought to the city to pick the three best paintings. There might also be a showing of the pupils' art work in a public place, such as the George St. library.

"It seems an excellent idea," said Chairman W. B. Gordon of the Board of Education.

G. Wilson Craw said the city has music and drama festivals but there is nothing to encourage the young artist.

"The scholarships should be a help to art students," he said. "They will develop something in which Peterborough has been lacking for a number of years."

Shell Builder Hopes To Make Deadline

KELOWNA, B.C., April 14—(CP)—E. G. Jennens, owner of Jen-Craft, North America's only racing shell builders, said Saturday he hopes to make the May 15 deadline granted by the Canadian Olympic Committee following a fire which swept his plant here last Tuesday.

Two of the shells being built for the Canadian Olympic Committee were badly damaged and hundreds of parts and valuable patterns were destroyed. There was no estimate of the damage.

The Olympic order for a single, double, four and eight was to be delivered early in May. Following the fire an extension of time to the end of May was asked and May 15 was finally set as the new delivery date. A 24-hour shift is being worked to meet the deadline.

County bridges	0.4 mills
Civic hospital deb.	0.9 mills
Civic hospital deficit	2.0 mills
Chemong
Causeway debs.	0.6 mills
High school education	4.4 mills
Total	24.9 mills

Pay More

Ratepayers in the Lakefield High School Area pay similar rates except that their high school rates are 9.7 mills instead of 4.4, thus making their total county levy 30.2 mills.

The general township rate is 4.0 mills; the road rate is 6.7 mills, and the relief rate is 1.4 mills, making a total of 12.1 mills.

Douro's road rate is up 0.8 mills because $17,000 are being spent on roads this year—$3,000 more than in 1951. Relief is 0.6 mills higher than 1951.

Rufus D. Earle Former Resident Dies In Toronto

TORONTO, April 14 — Death came swiftly Friday to a second member of an old Peterborough family with the passing of Rufus D. Earle.

Youngest son of the late Barton D. Earle, English master at Peterborough Collegiate Institute years ago, and his wife, Mary Choate Earle, he was a brother of Arthur P. C. Earle, Montreal financier, who succumbed to a sudden illness at his New York Hotel a few weeks ago. Rufus Earle, stricken in the street here with a heart attack, died before he could be taken to a hospital.

Rufus Earle was born in Peterborough 61 years ago. He went to Winnipeg when a young man, and became chief rate clerk for the Canadian Northern Railway in the days of Mackenzie and Mann. He served with distinction in both World Wars. Enrolled in the 116th Battalion in the First War, he served at the front as secretary to Col. Sam Sharpe.

In the Second War he was with the 48th Highlanders, was transferred to serve as a Pay Sergeant at Camp Borden, and went overseas with the Cape Breton Highlanders.

With Hydro

For some time between the wars, Mr. Earle was with the Ontario Hydro at Bethany while operations were in progress there.

Surviving are Mrs. Earle, the former Ealeanor Spencer of Toronto, one daughter and four sons, two in the Naval Service, Mrs. Robert Ashcroft, Doctor of Osteopathy, Kingston, a sister, is the only surviving member of the Peterborough family of six. Mrs. O. B. Earle of River Road north, Peterborough, is a sister-in-law.

Funreal services were held today with military honors from the Ross Craig funeral parlors to Park Lawn Cemetery, Toronto.

Berserk Woman Kills Herself

AUBURN, Calif., April 14 (AP)—A spinster strangled herself Sunday with a stocking, three days after she had killed her father and burned their ranch home because the government had condemned it for a flood-control project.

The body of Etta Mae Dickinson, 50, was found at Dewitt State Hospital, where she had been taken for observation.

She was found last Thursday, distraught and wild-eyed, watching the burning house on their 326-acre cattle ranch. She was charged with murdering her father, James Peter Dickinson, 78. Authorities said she related she killed her father with a shotgun, then fired the house with kerosene.

The government had condemned and bought their ranch for $26,250. Folsom Dam, being built on the American River a few miles away, will bury their ranch under many feet of water.

SETTLE TELEPHONE STRIKE—Officials of the Michigan Bell Telephone Co. and the CIO Communications Workers Union reach the end of an all-night session in Detroit at which they arrived at a "basic agreement" for ending a five-day strike. Trip As Harvester To West Gave R.C.M.P. Head Yen To Wear the Red Tunic

OTTAWA—(CP)—A New Brunswick farm boy took a harvest trip to Western Canada in 1921 and started on a career that brought him the job of head of Canada's biggest police force.

The farm boy was Leonard H. Nicholson, 47-year-old successor to S. T. Wood as ninth Commissioner of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

Nicholson is close to the popular conception of a Mountie. He is quiet-spoken, of soldierly bearing and a crack shot. However, these days his marksmanship is confined to his private life. He is an honorary vice-president of the Dominion of Canada Rifle Association.

When he lays down his administrative load, he is an enthusiastic curler and capable swimmer, as well as a popular member of the community.

His police career began three years after a trip west to help with the harvest. Commissioner Nicholson say it was during the long journey west that he caught "scarlet" fever. He took almost the same route three years later when he joined the R.C.M.P.

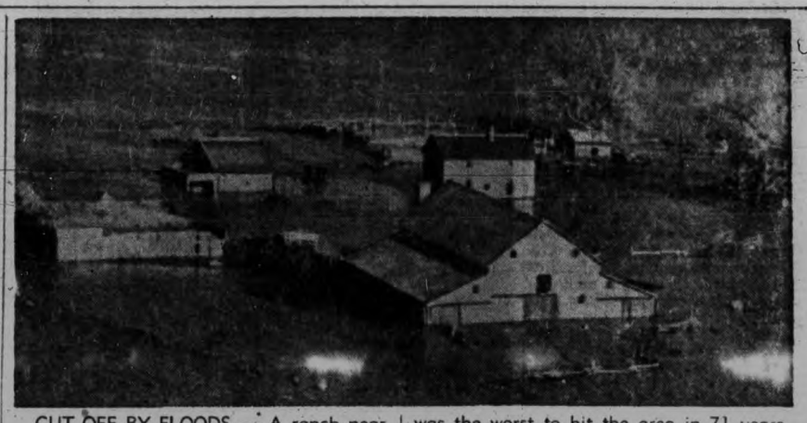
His 30-years police work weren't all spent with the force. He became fed up with chasing rum runners during the prohibition era and resigned, resolved to go to Australia and join the West Australian State Police. He missed the boat at Vancouver and returned to his father's farm.

But farming was dull stuff after police work and Nicholson joined the Nova Scotia Provincial Police. Not long after that the R.C.M.P. absorbed the Nova Scotia Provincials and he became an inspector in Halifax. In 1937, he went to Regina and a year later became Superintendent of the Criminal Investigation Branch.

The Second World War brought another interlude in Commissioner Nicholson's police career. He took leave of absence to serve with the Canadian Army overseas, fought in Italy and Northern Europe and rose to the rank of Lieutenant-Colonel. He returned to the R.C.M.P. in 1946 with the rank of Superintendent.

Within a year he was made Assistant Commissioner and May 1, 1951 he became Commissioner.

Commission Nicholson commands a force of more than 5,000 men.



CUT OFF BY FLOODS — A ranch near Pierre, S.D., lies isolated by rampant flood waters of the Missouri River. The flood was the worst to hit the area in 71 years and was expected to reach a crest of about 25 feet before subsiding. More than 1,500 persons have been routed from their homes.

Finds Cancer Grows Faster In Worrying People

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE

NEW YORK, April 14 (AP)—A happy-go-lucky disposition is an antidote against cancer.

This finding was reported to the American Association for Cancer Research Sunday by Drs. Eugene M. Blumberg, Philip M. West and Frank W. Ellis, of the University of California at Los Angeles, and the Long Beach Veterans Administration Hospital, Long Beach, Calif.

They found that emotions have a small but definite influence on the speed with which a cancer grows. This finding is statistical, that is, it shows a percentage in favor of happy dispositions when the study is applied to a considerable number of cancer patients.

Fretters and worriers are apt to have faster-growing cancers. Repressed worries may speed a malignant growth.

The old saying, too mean to die, does not apply usually in this fast growth of cancer. The mean fellow is the one who does not curb his feelings, who does not care whether he hurts other people's feelings. His attitude is no encouragement, even for his own cancer.

For the cancer personality differences the Californians used as a measuring rod the Minnesota multiphase personality inventory, a psychological test for dispositions. They found that the test revealed the happy or the worrying character accurately 88 per cent of the time. The happy had slower-growing cancers by a margin of 1 per cent, which the doctors said is "significant."

3 Weeks' Delay

VICTORIA, B.C., April 14 (CP)—There may be three weeks' delay after the June 12 provincial election before a new British Columbia government is named, due to the alternative-ballot system, to be used here for the first time. In a riding where a candidate is not elected by clear majority on first count, the system requires that three weeks elapse before second and third choices can be counted.

Sailor Takes Dare

HOWTH, Ireland, April 14 — (Reuters) — Dared by a girl friend, Keven Lawler, young marine engineer, set out alone Saturday in his 80-ton schooner Saint Austell to sail the Atlantic. Lawler failed three years ago. "A girl friend dared me to try again," he said.

President's Home Really White After $5,700,000 Renovation

By RUTH COWAN

WASHINGTON, April 14—(AP)—Generally the first comment about the renovated White House is: "How white it is!"

The whitest white paint that could be found was used on the exterior to make this home of the country's presidents truly a "white house."

The President and Mrs. Truman moved back March 27 after living across Pennsylvania Avenue at Blair House for more than three years while the 150-year-old structure was being rebuilt and remodelled.

Lights within are turned on, heavy dr peries left unpulled and shades up, even though there is not much a passerby can see.

The general public will be permitted its first inspection—of the two lower floors, in about one month.

The renovation cost about $5,700,000. The structure virtually had to be rebuilt save for its outer walls.

In general it looks as it did before, but in some ways it was remodelled for modern comfort. Bedrooms now have closets instead of wardrobes. Soft, lighter colors were used in decorating the living quarters.

More Room

Sections of the roof of the top floor were raised to add bedrooms. Even though the mansion looks large, presidents have found it cramped. Before renovation there were in all 48 rooms, counting the parlors, and 14 baths. Now there are 54 rooms and 16 baths.

The solarium on the top floor has been enlarged and now is one of the most cheerful rooms in the house. It is painted soft green and has rattan furniture. Here the Trumans breakfast.

Some of the bedrooms on the top floor have double beds, others single beds and still others have studio couches so the rooms can be used as sitting rooms. The pastel-colored tile baths have glass-enclosed shower-tubs.

The presidential family's living quarters are at the west end of the second floor. Truman, Mrs. Truman and daughter Margaret each have a bedroom-sitting room suite.

On the ground floor is a modern glass, aluminum and electric kitchen. The mansion's original kitchen has been turned into a modern-age room. Elaborate equipment has been built in and here the presidents will make broadcast and television appearances.

Beneath the building now are two basement floors, and located somewhere is a $868,000 "bomb shelter". Little is said about it.

On the roof is a new note—TV antennae.

Missionaries Safe

TORONTO, April 14 — (CP) — The Rev. John B. McLaurin, general secretary of the Canadian Baptist Foreign Mission Board, said Saturday he received word from Bolivia that all Canadian missionaries in La Paz are safe. Canadian missionaries in La Paz include Ruth Rolley, Sault Ste. Marie.

Moscow Parley Urges Trade Barriers Be Dropped

By EDDY GILMORE

MOSCOW, April 14 (AP)—The Soviet - sponsored International Economic Conference wound up its business on Saturday night by demanding elimination of trade restrictions.

The conferees — 471 persons from 49 nations of East and West—unanimously approved a proposal to take their fight to the U.N. General Assembly with a resolution asking for an intergovernmental trade conference "at the earliest possible date."

The sponsors' idea is that the proposed parley should include representatives of governments, trade unions and social organizations, as well as businessmen and that, should the appeal to the U.N. fail, the men of the Moscow conference planned to carry on their own battle against barriers to East-West trade.

(In London, the B.B.C. monitored a Moscow interview in which Michael Freeman, described as a Canadian delegate, said Canada may become separate from the main channels of international trade unless action is taken promptly. Freeman said delegates have been able to make many business contacts. Seven Canadians, including Morris Miller of Montreal, attended the conference.

Whereabouts Unknown

(Michael M. Freeman is secretary-treasurer of the New Health Bread Bakery Ltd., a Toronto retail bakery with three stores. Saturday his home and office said he is travelling in Europe but that his whereabouts are unknown.)

The conference also set up a permanent committee to carry on the work started in Moscow and began the election of delegates.

Lord Boyd-Orr was chosen to represent Britain, but for personal reasons he asked to be excused. A committee post was accepted by a British textile trade man, Jack Perry.

Boyd-Orr said the British group had signed sales contracts for £16,000,000 and signed purchase contracts for the same amount.

Communist China's delegation made deals to exchange some $80,000,000 worth of goods with eastern and western nations, an informant said.

DANGER LURKS

That cluttered-up medicine cabinet of yours can really be a source of danger—not only from the long unused medicines that gain in strength but also the ones that lose their potency over a period of time. Why don't you have a "house-cleaning" right now and avoid any dangers from unlabelled bottles, uncapped tubes—and prescriptions that were right for you a year ago but may not apply now. See your druggist—he'll gladly help you make out a list of your basic requirements.

and he's the one who said—

THESE "WONDER" DRUGS COST TOO MUCH!

You hear talk, these days, about the high cost of some new "wonder" drugs. Little is said about the high cost of sickness. Yet, the cost of the most expensive prescription is but a fraction of the cost of weeks in a hospital.

Recently, in Cosmopolitan magazine, Ernest Lehman wrote: "A few years ago the average case of pneumonia was at best a long drawn out affair involving weeks in the hospital, weeks of convalescence, hundreds of dollars in hospital and doctor bills, and time lost on the job."

Today, remedies are available which increase the rate of recovery and reduce the period of sickness. Many other illnesses are minor matters today due solely to the new and potent weapons at your doctor's command. Remember when you think about the cost of a prescription, years of research were required to develop the components involved—and that this research is continually changing the cost of long-term illness into short-term treatment. Remember too, that your druggist is continually studying these modern miracles for your own and your family's welfare.

VIOLENCE ON THE PICKET LINE—Police scuffle with striking Western Electric Co. employees in an attempt to open picket lines so that office workers can enter a Bell Telephone Co. exchange in Philadelphia, Pa. The city's communications, already hampered by a work stoppage of Western Electric telegraphers, became further snarled when the Western Electric employees threw up picket lines at 25 telephone exchanges.

36 Fatalities Reported Over Holiday Weekend

By The Canadian Press

Thirty-six persons were killed in Canada during the long Easter weekend, including a father and four children in a murder-suicide gassing.

A Canadian Press survey early today showed 13 persons killed in traffic accidents, five drowned and five killed at work. Besides the murder-suicide, three other persons were aspyhxiated by cooking gas.

A woman was strangled, two persons died in falls, a child was accidentally shot and one man was burned to death in his automobile.

Eight persons were killed in British Columbia, one in Saskatchewan, one in Manitoba and 21 in Ontario. Two persons died in Quebec, two in New Brunswick and one in Nova Scotia.

In Toronto, Hugh Gillis, 28, led police to his west-end rooming house where they found the strangled body of Mrs. Violet Smith, 35. Gillis, a machinist from Nova Scotia, has been charged with murder.

Also in Toronto, Serge Aksiuk, 38, and his four children, were killed by gas fumes in what police said was a murder-suicide. Police said Aksiuk led gas from the basement by an unused pipe to the second-floor bedroom.

In Vancouver, Arthur Milner, 61, turned on the gas jets in his room and was killed. The fumes seeped into the two rooms above and killed Nick Barbazuk, 65, and Tony Pavicick, 65.

Guide Dies

Alex Perio, a guide in the Cariboo district of British Columbia, died in his burning automobile near Ashcroft.

A sewer excavation that collasped killed David Smart in Woodstock. At Moose Jaw, Sask., William Byron Holland, 26, a recent immigrant from England, was crushed to death by a tractor that toppled over on him.

Edward Proudlock, 52, of Vancouver, was doing some early fishing on Lake of the Woods near Hope, B.C., when his boat capsized and he was drowned. The body of a man with the name C. R. Smith printed on the collar of his Air Force blue shirt was found in the Thames River at London, Ont.

At St. John, Que., Adrien Girard, 40, was killed in an automobile-train collision and Giselle Charbonneau, 17, died of injuries suffered in a similar collision at Vars, Ont., near Ottawa.

Pedestrians struck and killed by automobiles were Robert J. Wendborn, 30, at Vancouver, Lawrence C. Bryson, 43, at Truro and Ernest V. Hughes, 72, at Toronto.

The 36 deaths occurred between Thursday night and early Monday morning.

Dairy Men Reject Milk Price Offer

CHESTERVILLE, Ont., April 14 (CP)—A 450-member Dairy Men's Association Saturday night instructed its officers to refuse the price offer of the area's largest milk processor.

The Concentrated Milk Producers Association made the decision because the offer by the Nestle's Milk Products (Canada) Limited was lower than that proposed by the Ontario Milk Control Board.

The company now buys raw milk for domestic use at $3.20 a hundred pounds. The board suggested a price of $3.50 effective Wednesday.

The company recently sent farmers a letter asking them to agree to the present price. More than 300 members of the Association voted unanimously to reject the offer.

Most Of Canada Enjoyed Fine Weather For Easter

By The Canadian Press

Most parts of Canada had fine weather for Easter parades and special church services.

Spring finery in Ontario, British Columbia and Quebec was hidden under raincoats because of cloudy skies, rain and snow but church services were well attended.

Nova Scotia reported the warmest day of the year Easter Sunday —53 degrees. Haligonians shed their overcoats and strolled about in their new spring outfits.

One church — the Lutheran Church of the Resurrection—invited European immigrants to a special service with Hungarian, Latvian and Estonian hymns and recitations.

Sixty-degree weather in Winnipeg tempted some early golfers onto the courses. They found the ground muddy and only a few clubs open.

Golfers, church-goers, Easter paraders and Sunday drivers were all out in force in Edmonton where the temperature reached 65 degrees. Light breezes and a few scattered clouds completed the spring picture.

Thousands of Montrealers took a chance on the threatening skies to attend special church services. Several Protestant denominations got together for a sunrise service atop Mount Royal. The clouds did not let down the expected rain until late in the evening.

Ontario's Easter parade was washed out. Snow in some northern communities and rain in most other parts of the province kept would-be fashion plates indoors.

In London, Ont., several planned sunrise services were held in churches to escape the drizzling rain. Toronto's rain-swept boardwalk was almost deserted.

Rain fell over the entire coastal region in British Columbia and clouds covered the interior. Many residents left the province for the United States, taking their children to the annual Easter egg hunt in the Little Mountain district.

New Brunswick was blessed with fine weather for Easter Sunday and large numbers of automobiles and strollers were out in most centres.

Nearly every province reported thousands of persons taking advantage of the long weekend to travel by highway, rail and air. Transportation depots were crowded.

Selwyn WA Sponsors Lakefield Church Play

SELWYN, April 14 — (ENS)— Mrs. Melville Crapp was hostess to the Woman's Association of the United Church for their April meeting when 18 members and two visitors were present. The topic, "Why weepest thou?" was given by Mrs. Elton Miles and the Scripture lesson was read by Mrs. Donald McConkey. The Rev. D. P. Morris led in prayer.

The president, Mrs. C. Sweeting, gave a report on the Presbytery meeting which she attended in Peterborough. A card of thanks from Mrs. Walter Preston was read. The ladies planned to have the Y.A.S. of Lakefield United Church present their play "Here Comes the Prince" in the church hall on April 30.

The Rev. D. P. Morris and Mrs. Morris invited the W.A. to their home at Bridgenorth for the May meeting. Refreshments were served by the South Group.

Selwyn News

A number of the local men turned out a few days last week and gave their time and labor towards shingling the church hall. The job was started on Tuesday and completed on Friday.

Mrs. Clayton Fitzgerald and daughter Pauline and son Barry are spending Easter week with relatives in Windsor and Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Elliott and family of Peterborough spent the Easter week-end with Russell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Elliott.

Good Deed Costly

SYRACUSE, N. Y., April 14 — (AP).—Being good to animals cost Leroy Yates $70. Yates was awakened in the wee hours Sunday by the plaintive wail of his cat from the front porch. After he drowsily slipped on his trousers and opened the front door, two men pulled him off the porch and took the money from a pocket, police said.

Hire Supply Teacher For Overflow

LAKEFIELD, April 14 (ENS)— Due to overcrowding in the room taught by Miss Mary Maloney in Lakefield Public School, the principal was authorized to arrange for a supply teacher for three days a week for May and June to assist Miss Maloney. There are 46 children in this room and some concern was felt for a number whose work was not up to the required standard. It is hoped that by engaging a part-time teacher for this grade it will be possible for the pupils who require it to receive some extra pre-examination instructions.

This decision was reached at the board meeting held in the school, with Chairman A. B. Buchanan presiding and Trustees Dr. R. H. Campbell, Ralph Jackman, and Ralph Millage in attendance. The supply teacher will be paid at the current rate per day for supply teachers.

Principal E. G. Sloan reported attendance for the month of February as 95.52 per cent and for March as 293 pupils. School was open 21 days with an average of 272.48 and percentage attendance 93.31. Mr. Sloan also reported that school inspector K. O. Birkin had visited the school and made several recommendations.

The secretary, Miss Grace Yonge, was authorized to purchase pictures of the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh, and the finance committee recommended the payment of bills totalling $360.98.

Jean Dalgleish Becomes Bride Of F. A. Dunham

CAMPBELLFORD, April 14 — (ENS).—Jean Eleanor Dalgleish became the bride of Franklin Arthur Dunham on Wednesday of last week in a simple ceremony performed by the Rev. Dr. D. M. Smith in the United Church parsonage here.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Dalgleish of Campbellford, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Dunham of Seymour.

The bride wore a powder blue suit and a corsage of pink carnations. Matron of honor was the bride's sister, Helen, Mrs. Donald Deline. Mr. Deline was the groomsman.

The couple left on a wedding trip to points east after the ceremony, and on their return will live in Seymour township, near Campbellford.

Rosa Mae Snider, V. J. Ward Wed In Lakefield

Spring flowers provided a colorful setting in Lakefield United Church Friday for the wedding of Rosa Mae Snider, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Snider, and Victor James Ward, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Ward. The ceremony was conducted by the Rev. W. H. Tonge.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a French lace gown with net over satin fashioned with a strapless bodice and a cut-away style bolero and matching mittens. Her finger-tip rayon net veil was caught with orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of red roses.

The bride's attendants were Miss Agnes Snider, sister of the bride, maid of honor; Miss Marjory Ward, sister of the groom, bridesmaid; and Miss Etta Snider, junior bridesmaid. They wore similarly styled gowns of green, yellow and pale pink lace and net over satin with cut-away boleros. They wore flowered headdresses and carried nosegays of spring flowers.

The groom's attendant was Mr. Kenneth Ward and the ushers were Mr. Keith Snider and Mr. Gordon Henry.

The wedding music was played by Mr. John David Grylls and the soloist was Miss Jean Clark, who sang I Love You Truly, during the ceremony and I'll Walk Beside You, during the signing of the register.

The reception was held in the Kawartha room of the Empress hotel. The bride's mother received in a navy crepe dress, navy hat and a corsage of red roses. The groom's mother assisted and wore a navy crepe dress, navy hat and corsage of red roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Ward will live in Peterborough. Their honeymoon was ended by an accident between Lakefield and Peterborough after the reception.

Lakefield Party Celebrates Woman's 80th Birthday

LAKEFIELD, April 14 (ENS). —Lakefield hotel was the scene of a happy gathering Saturday night when Mrs. T. J. Parker was guest of honor at a party given by her family on the occasion of her 80th birthday.

The evening's dancing, enjoyed by more than 80 guests, began with a grand march led by Mrs. Parker and her youngest grandson, Master Paul O'Brien. Mrs. Parker was the recipient of many gifts and wires of congratulations including one from a niece in Africa. The lovely corsage worn by Mrs. Parker was the gift of her youngest granddaughter, Mary Lois Moher of Toronto.

After the dancing, supper was served in the dining room where the table was centred with a huge birthday cake aglow with 80 candles. The toast to the guest of honor was proposed by J. J Crowley of Peterborough and responded to by a grandson, Tom Moher of Toronto. Mrs. Parker also expressed her happiness at having her friends present, and promised a similar celebration 10 years hence.

A skit, depicting events in the life of Mrs. Parker, from babyhood through the years was enacted by Mrs. W. A. Killoran, Mrs. Clifford Boate, Mrs. William O'Brien, Mrs. S. A. Grylls and Master Paul O'Brien. Mrs. Donald Hendren was narrator and George Jefferys was at the piano for the accompanying music.

Out of town guests present included Mr. and Mrs. J. Gordon Bastedo, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Moher and son Tom, Mr. and Mrs. B. Hardy, Mr and Mrs. H Friedman and Mr and Mrs Albert Jackson, all of Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Russell Peel of Galt; Mr. and Mrs. Bolton Cunningham of Toledo, Ohio; Mr and Mrs Nelson Finley, Mr and Mrs J. Her only attendant was her sister, Mrs. W. F. Jones, who wore a powder blue suit with pink accessories and corsage of pink roses.

Mr. Raymond Oliver was his brother's groomsman, and Mr. John Warrington acted a usher.

After the reception held at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver left by motor for Ottawa and Northern Ontario. They will live in Hastings.

WRONG: You take the men's coats and put them away.

RIGHT: Leave that job for your husband and also let him get the men's coats when they are ready to leave.

Miss Eleanor Mae Leonard Bride Of Mr. V. A. Taylor

Murray Street Baptist Church, decorated with Easter lilies and pink snapdragons, formed a lovely setting for the wedding Saturday afternoon of Eleanor Mae Leonard, daughter of Mrs. Delbert Fleming of Stirling, and the late Horace Leonard, to Mr. Vaughn Aubrey Taylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Taylor, Moncton, N.B. The marriage was solemnized by the Rev. Ivan C. Morgan.

Wedding music was played by Mr. Stanley Northrop and Mrs. Russell Long sang "In the Garden of Your Heart" before the ceremony and "The Lord Is My Shepherd" during the signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her cousin, Mr. Jack Jones of Marmora, the bride wore a gown of white slipper satin. It was styled with sweetheart neckline and shoulder tucks tapering into the fitted bodice, where the skirt was caught at the sides with roses of the material and rhinestones and fell from side gathers into a circular train. The sleeves came to points over her hands. The full-length bridal veil was hand embroidered net illusion. It was held in place with a cluster of orange blossoms. The bride wore a single strand pearl necklace, a gift of her grandmother, and carried a cascade of Easter lilies.

Miss Nellie Fleming, of Stirling, attended, wearing pink brocaded nylon taffeta gown with three-tier nylon net overskirt and matching brocaded bolero. Her shoulder length veil was caught with pink rosebuds and she wore gloves of pink nylon net and carried a basket of spring flowers.

The flower girl was Miss Mary Morgan of Peterborough who wore powder blue taffeta with eye-let insert, and carried a small basket of spring flowers.

The groom was attended by his brother Mr. Clarence Taylor of Bathhurst, N.B., and the ushers were Mr. John Inculet and Joe Shaughnessy, both of Peterborough.

The reception was held in the church parlor, where the bride's mother received wearing a dress of navy crepe with yoke of shadow lace. She wore navy accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. The groom's mother also received, wearing a dress of navy crepe with matching bolero and grey accessories, and a corsage of pink carnations.

For their motor trip to points east, the bride wore a dress of powder blue crepe and matching full length coat of lelimac hair. She wore sterling silver pins and earrings, a gift of the groom. Her accessories were navy and she was wearing a corsage of pink camelias.

The couple will live at 226 Barnardo Ave.

Umbrellas Given Beauty Treatment

PARIS (Reuters). — Dame Fashion is all set to look pert and chic this year despite April showers.

Fashion designers have given the usually mundane umbrella a beauty treatment and made it a "must" accessory to provide the finishing touch for the smart prints making a fashion comeback.

Prints appear in flattering parasols and full-fledged umbrellas, in waterproofed silk.

New mottled and blurred prints are offered as are small flowered and tie-silk designs.

Stripes and polka dots are to the fore.

Solid shaded effects lend gay touches to sombre outfits. One cover is a brilliant flame color at the centre, grading out to a deep violet.

For those who prefer less fantasy, there are solid-toned models often featured with a contrasting colored lining. Vivid tangerine lines the underside of one white shantung model. Chartreuse and purple offer another spicy combination.

There is news in handles and shapes, too. The most popular new style features a slim, straight lined handle. This style has generally replaced the crooked handles and Chamberlain models of the past seasons.

Bone, glass, wood and even china lend new effects. One model, in ivory, has the top carved like a miniature totem pole.

Animal heads provide a popular motif of many handles. A whole barnyard full of dogs, cranes, and even scaley snakes appear in carved wood, bone or leather, complete with glass or jewelled eyes.

The feminine parasol, reminiscent of the gay '90s, also reappears on the fashion scene. Lace, ruffles and embroidery cast a flattering shadow on the modern miss' face.

What Is Love?—No Single Definition Fits

DEAR MISS DIX: Will you please tell me a few things above love? I'm a very confused boy. I'm 25 and have been going with a very fine girl who is 22. We've been going together for a year, and my feeling for her seems to be so unsteady. For a few weeks I feel completely in love with her, then I lose by ardor. After a while I again feel as if I want to be with her all the time; I drive her home from work every day, bring her flowers and candy. We discuss the future, then all of a sudden I become bored with her, find fault with everything she does and am generally disinterested.

If I marry her will my love develop for her, or will it strengthen? Perhaps I'm moody.

ANSWER: From the beginning of time, I guess, lovers have been trying to define love. Millions of books have been written on the subject—in fact, more than on any other topic—yet the mysteries of love are practically untouched. Why? Because to each one it means somthing else. To some it is a wild, untethered emotion, to others just a warm, comfortable feeling of security with the beloved. Love absolutely evades a positive definition.

You Are Unstable

You are probably a vacillating person, and so cannot be stable even in love. I think also that you expect too much from your young lady. Being more experienced in the ways of the world than she is, you find, perhaps, that some of her actions are a trifle gauche and become impatient with her inexperience. Having known her only a year, you have exhausted the depths of her intelligence rather quickly if you become bored with her already.

I doubt if marriage will strengthen your love. More likely it will increase the boredom. The temporary separations that now mark your courtship are no solution to the problem. A separation makes you anxious to see the girl after a brief absence, but marriage will permit no such luxury as frequent vacations from each other. If a fairly constant association of a few weeks brings on an attack of tedium now, what will the constant companionship of marriage do?

Your ultiamte difficulty is that you are not willing to accept the responsibility of marriage in the first place, and secondly you are loath to make an effort to change your moody disposition to a more cheerful one. You are disinclined to make any effort to meet your problem halfway and provide your own answers, though I'm sure you know what they are. If you feel that you and your girl friend are incompatible, tell her so now; don't prolong her hopes. If you sincerely look forward to marriage with her, tackle your own disposition and I'm sure your otulook on love and life will improve.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 16 years old, a junior in high school. I go out quite a bit but only with one boy. I realize we both should be going out with other people, but how can I suggest this to the boy without hurting his feelings? I feel that I would have been asked out by other boys but for the fact that everybody keeps pairing us off.

CORLISS

ANSWER: You are very wise to realize the unsuitability of keeping steady company at your age. It will be impossible to change the situation without hurting your boy friend's feelings, but follow Shakespeare's advice, "I must be cruel, only to be kind."

You'll probably be dateless for awhile as it will take time to others to appreciate your changed status. Having been so accustomed to pairing you off with one boy, they'll probably just shunt you off into the background, but after a brief interim you'll be happily accepted as an unfettered spirit—a role just suited to a 16-year-old.

DEAR MISS DIX: I hope you can help me with these problems. I'm 16 years old and very interested in a boy who likes someone else. I know I can get him if I try. Could you please give me some methods?

Also, how soon can I invite someone to a prom?

PRISCILLA A.

ANSWER: I try to write an ethical column and it would certainly go against the grain for me to advise you how to steal another girl's beau. I've always been convinced this was the lowest form of thievery. Can't you find a boy on your own?

As soon as you know the details of your prom, you can invite someone to it. But please, don't make it the boy friend of another girl.

Of Interest to Women

Strict Moslem Code Losing Face With Pakistan Women

By ADRIENNE FARRELL

KARACHI, April 14 (Reuters)—The Purdah, strict Moslem code for feminine behavior which decrees that a woman should not display her beauty, is fast losing ground in predominantly-Moslem Pakistan.

Feminist leaders say it will vanish completely within 10 years.

In the towns and cities, women are still seen wearing the "burqa," purdah garment which covers them from head to foot, leaving only a criss-cross openwork grill through which to peer.

But these are in the minority, probably less than 15 perc ent of the women in the whole country.

It is chiefly women of middle class who still cling to old purdah customs and even they now are being forced by circumstances out of their entrenched positions. The modern flats springing up are not built for purdah.

Cite Koran

The orthodox cite the Koran which says:

"Say to the believing women that they should lower their gaze and guard their modesty, that they should not display their beauty and ornaments except what (must ordinarily) appear thereof, that they should draw their veils over their bosoms and not display their beauty."

Against this, progressive religious thinkers hold the Koran to mean simply that women should observe due modesty in their dress and behave becomingly in public.

Since the death of the late Prime Minister, Liaquat Ali Khan, the strict Purdah school has shown signs of being once more slightly in the ascendant.

Mrs. Khwaja Nazimuddin, the wife of the present prime minister, weights the fashion scales in favor of orthodoxy, for she remains secluded in strict Purdah and no wives are invited to the prime minister's receptions.

Two of the most oustanding women in Pakistan have always been in the forefront of women's emancipation and progress. One is Miss Fatima Jinnah, the sister of Pakistan's founder, Mohammed Ali Jinnah. The other is the Begum Liaquat, widow of the prime minister.

Miss Jinnah served as an inspiration and example of feminist freedom by actively assisting in the furtherance of the career of her brother, while the Begum Liaquat has taken a more direct course in fostering and helping to organize women's freedom organizations.

As yet only one per cent of Pakistan's women are literate. Many of them are helpless outside their homes.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Sickness Due To Ignorance Of Nutrition

A little nursing job needed doing in our neighborhood and I was the one to do it and I've come back home from my little labor of love feeling depressed and shocked.

The shock came from my conviction that sickness comes not so much from neglect as ignorance—ignorance of nutrition.

When the three meals per day that most women have to prepare for the rest of their lives are taken into consideration, and multoplied by the number of people in the average woman's family to be fed, the figures are astronomical. Yet is every girl taught and trained and drilled to know what she is going to feed her future family and why?

Would an honor girl student from Grade 13 know why she should buy brown rice instead of polished? or whole wheat brand instead of just "brown" or "cracked wheat" or "fortified"? or cut and mix the salad the last minute before serving? or why milk is the cheapest of all foods from a nutritional standpoint? or why vegetables should be quick-cooked in minimum amount of water? or the harm that white sugar does to human teeth and pancreas? or that clothes dried in the sun impart vitamins to the skin they touch? As you read this do you know why you should eat the skin of an apple or of a baked potato?

I'm asking you because I was asked by someone, very sick, who can afford salads and fresh fruits, but who isspending all of his money on doctors and hospitals, "How do you make them there salads, Miz Moore?"—referring to salads I had sent to their house on a dinner tray—because of sickness there.

How do I make salads? I'm sure I do not know the formula. I know this though—that we have fresh vegetable salads every day. Dont' you? Because if you don't you had better get cracking or the old body will let you down. And—if you are the cook you are letting your family down badly if you do not provide fresh salads every day.

I would be distressed — distressed heck! — I'd be hopping mad if I thought anyone read this column and had not had that fundamental of nutrition repeated to them often enough that they were not practising it. Fresh vegetable salads every day, see?

Buy the salad things with the groceries, then be sure you serve them. Buy hard head of lettuce, dark green hard cabbage, green celery, fresh tomatoes, carrots and parsley. If you can afford green peppers, cucumbers, cress, avocados, endive, etc., all the better—get them too.

Remember, chums, if you don't spend your do-re-me on nourishing food you'll be doling it out to the doctors. That's why they are all overworked.

I am so hot and bothered about this ignorance that I am sure is general, that I'm going to give you one salad combination, that can be varied endlessly, and repeat the inseparable French dressing that I gave you recently. That may lure you into giving tossed green salads a fling.

Tossed Green Salad

One-half head lettuce cut or torn into bite-sized pieces, 1 or 2 cups extremely finely shredded cabbage, wafer thin slices of cucumber, celery and tomato — ½ to 1 cup, 1 cup finely chopped parsley. Rub your wooden bowl with cut side of garlic clove. Add about ¼ or 1-3 cup French dressing to vegetables and lightly toss them to coat them. Put in seasoned bowl and serve at once.

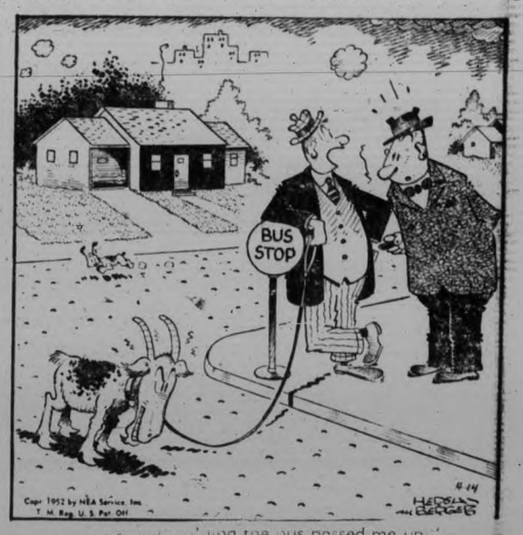
French Dressing

(Does not separate).

Into a cold bowl put 1-3 cup vinegar, 1 tablespoon paprica, 1½ teaspoon salt, shake of red pepper, 1 small cut clove garlic, ¼ cup or 3 tablespoons sugar, 1 cold egg. Mix very well with rotary or electric beater—about 3 or 4 minutes. Have ready measured 1 cup cold salad oil. Now while beating add this drop by drop at first—this slow dropping is to start the emulsification between the egg and the oil. As it begins to thicken, increase your drop to a very fine stream. It must be beaten constantly. As it thickens more, increase size of stream to about ⅛ inch width at top and continue until all oil is added. Keep in covered bottle or jar in refrigerator. If this is patiently mixed it will not separate and does not need to be shaken every time it is used.

Do I make myself clear about this daily salad habit? I could say it in deaf-dumb language too.

FUNNY BUSINESS By Hershberger



Saturday morning the bus passed me up.

Suffocating "Hot Flashes" stopped or strikingly relieved—in doctors' tests!

• Are you going through "change of life"—suffering the "hot flashes," nervous tension, irritability, weakness and other types of functionally-caused distress of this difficult time?

Then . . . here's hope for you. In tests by doctors—on their own patients—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound gave relief from such distress. Complete or striking relief! In case after case!

Scientifically modern action!

Surely you know that Lydia Pinkham's is scientifically modern in action! Surely you know what it has done for others!

But do you know what it will do for you? Not if you haven't experienced the relief of tension, "flashes" and irritability it so often brings at such times!

Before another day has passed—try Lydia Pinkham's Vegetable Compound . . . or the new, improved Tablets (with added iron) . . . and discover how much easier your "change of life" may be!

NOTE: Lydia Pinkham's is grand, too, for functional cramps and "weak" feelings of menstruation! Millions of younger women, and girls, take it regularly—throughout the month—for this purpose!

Lydia Pinkham's action through sympathetic nervous system—relieves distress of the "heatwaves"!

6—In Memoriam

IRWIN—In loving memory of Mrs. Andrew Irwin, who passed away April 14, 1945.
Today recalls sad memories,
Of a dear mother gone to rest,
And the one who thinks of her today
Is the one who loved her best.
—Sadly missed by daughter Ruby, son-in-law Alex and grandchildren Sharon, Rickey and Shelley.

IRWIN—In loving memory of my dear mother, who passed away April 14, 1945.
A happy home we once enjoyed,
How sweet the memory still,
But death has left a vacant chair
No one can ever fill.
—Always remembered by her daughters, Ione and Jane.

IRWIN—In loving memory of my dear mother, Mrs. Andrew Irwin, who passed away April 14, 1945.
Loving and kind in all her ways,
Upright and just to the end of her days,
Sincere and true in heart and mind,
What a beautiful memory she left behind.
—Sadly missed by her daughter Loreen and son-in-law Norman and grandson Barry.

LOW—In loving memory of Mrs. John Low, who passed away April 14, 1941.
When days are dark and friends are few,
Dear mother, how we think of you;
Friends are friends if they are true,
We lost our best friend when we lost you.
—Always remembered by the family.

OWEN—In loving memory of our dear brother, LAC Earnest Owen, killed serving with the R.C.A.F. Overseas, April 14, 1941.
One year today our brother was called
To his eternal rest;
Gone where the angles sing so sweet,
And taken when God knew best.
We miss him here so very much,
His presence oft seems nigh,
But we all hope in heaven to meet
Where no one says good-bye.
—Ever remembered by brother and sister-in-law Thomas and Gladys.

Notice

IN THE MATTER of the Municipal Act,

AND IN THE MATTER of a Proposed By-Law of the Township of Smith, to Stop Up and Close Part of Pinehurst Avenue, according to Registered Plan Number 49 for the said Township of Smith, and to Sell Parts of the Same to the Respective Land Owners Abutting on the said Highway so to be Closed.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, Pursuant to Section 469 of the Municipal Act, that the Corporation of the Township of Smith proposes to consider and if deemed advisable to pass at its Regular Meeting to be held at the COURT HOUSE in the City of Peterborough, on TUESDAY THE SIXTH DAY OF MAY, 1952, at 2:30 p.m., D.S.T., a By-law to Stop Up and Close that part of Pinehurst Avenue, according to Registered Plan Number 49 for the said Township of Smith, described as follows:

ALL AND SINGULAR that certain Parcel or Tract of Land and Premises situate, lying and being in the Township of Smith, in the County of Peterborough, and Province of Ontario, and being composed of that part of Pinehurst Avenue according to Registered Plan Number 49 for the said Township as shown bordered red on the Plan of Survey, dated the 30th Day of August 1951, on deposit in the Office of Pierce & Pierce, Ontario Land Surveyors, Canadian Bank of Commerce Building, Peterborough, and at the Law Office of Kerr, McElderry, Howell & Bradshaw, 415 Water Street, Peterborough, Ontario, and lying Southerly of the Westerly production of the Northern limit of Lot Number 15 on the said Plan and extending Southerly to the intersection thereof with the following described limit: COMMENCING at a point in the South-western limit of Lot Number 5 according to the said Registered Plan distant 44 feet 9 inches as measured South-easterly along the said limit from the most Western angle of the said lot; thence South 14° 26' East, 40 feet, more or less, to the Eastern shore of Chemung Lake.

AND to sell parts of the above described Highway or Street to the respective land owners abutting on the said Highway so to be Closed.

AND TAKE FURTHER NOTICE that before passing the said By-law at its Meeting to be held at the time and place above mentioned the Council of the Township of Smith will then and there hear in person or by his Counsel Solicitor or Agent, any person who claims that his land will be prejudicially affected by the said By-law and who applies to be heard.

DATED at the Township of Smith, this 29th Day of March, 1952.

A. I. EDMISON,
Clerk, Township of Smith.

CITY OF PETERBOROUGH BUILDING PERMIT FEES

Following a policy of Charging Costs of certain specific services directly to the persons receiving the service, the Council of the City of Peterborough have now adopted a Sale of Fees for Building Permits. In the past such Permits have been issued free in this city, although the practise of charging fees covering Building Permits and Inspection has been in force in other cities for years.

The amount of the fee varies with the estimated cost of the work, and the fee is payable for Repairs or New Construction. Fees are also charged for Permits for Removal or Demolition of Buildings.

The following amendment to the Building By-law shows the method by which the Permit Fees are calculated:

"Section 7 of By-law Number 4466 is amended by adding the following sub-sections:

(7) Before any such Permit is issued, the applicant shall pay to the City Treasurer, a fee for such Permit based on the estimated cost of the work according to the following schedule:

If the estimated cost is less than $50.00, there shall be no fee except in the case of a garage.

If the estimated cost is not in excess of $200.00, the fee shall be $0.50.

If the estimated cost is in excess of $200.00 and not more than $500.00, the fee shall be $1.00.

If the estimated cost is in excess of $500.00 and not more than $1,000 the fee shall be $2.00.

If the estimated cost is in excess of $1,000 and not more than $50,000, the fee shall be $2.00 for the first $1,000 and $1.00 for every additional $1,000 of cost or portion thereof in excess of $1,000.00.

If the estimated cost is in excess of $50,000 and not more than $100,000, the fee shall h $51.00, for the first $50,000 and 75 cents for every additional $1,000 of cost, or portion thereof in excess of $50,000.

If the estimated cost is in excess of $100,000.00, the fee shall be $88.50 for the first $100,000.00 and 50 cents for every additional $1,000.00 of cost or portion thereof in excess of $100,000.00.

The maximum fee shall be $100.00.

Removal permit fee shall be $1.00.

Demolition permit fee:

50,000 cu. ft. or less $2.00
50,000 cu. ft. to 100,000 cu. ft. $3.00
And for each additional 50,000 cu. ft. or portion thereof $1.00

Advertising device annual permit fee, for sign or advertising device located wholly or partly upon private property $1.00

(8) ADJUSTMENT OF PERMIT FEES:

Wherever a permit has lapsed or been revoked or has been voluntarily surrendered and the work abandoned, a refund shall be made on requisition by the Building Inspector to the City Treasurer, of a portion of the fee charged, calculated according to the estimated value of the work done, provided, however, that no refund shall be made which shall result in retention by the Corporation of a sum less than $5.00.

Power Workers Strike Appeal Ignored

JACKSON, Mich., April 14 — (AP — A company-union wage dispute erupted today in a strike against the Consumers Power Company, which furnishes gas and electricity to more than 1,000,000 Michigan homes and businesses.

In walking out at 12.1 a.m., the Utility Workers Council (C.I.O.) ignored a last-minute plea by Governor G. Mennen Williams to remain at work pending study of the dispute by a fact-finding commission to be appointed by him.

Consumers Power employs an operating force of 4,500 unionists.

The union is demanding wages and benefits equal to those of employees of the Detroit Edison Company.

Thieves Take $200

KITCHENER, April 14—(AP)—Thieves early Sunday took more than $200 from the H. E. Ratz Lumber Limited office, two miles north of neighboring Waterloo. In a Saturday night raid on a suburban brewers' retail store, $2,500 was taken from a vault.

Council Receives $3,659 Bid For McKellar Lot

The $3,659 tender of D. W. Clarke, 748 Armour Rd., for the city's property at the corner of Park and McKellar Sts., has been recommended by the property committee to the council for acceptance.

The dimensions are 223 feet on Park St. by 178 ft. one inch on McKellar St.

Mr. Clarke intends to build three or four houses this year, with other houses in the next two years. The council had advertised it for sale.

Property committee, of which Ald. H. S. Longhurst is chairman, is recommending for lease or sale the building that was known and used as Queen Mary Isolation Hospital. It fronts on Langton St., and adjoins the Hilliard farm.

City Clerk Outram has been authorized to have the roof and eavestroughing of the building inspected.

Offer Received

Council has received an offer for the building for use as a nursing and rest home, particularly for older persons.

Hilliard farm will be advertised for rental as grazing land. It is the largest property within the city and owned by it. Councils have considered disposal of it for housing purposes, a north end park, and it was finally offered to the Ontario government as site of a provincial mental hospital.

Use this year will probably be for pasture. Meanwhile the city is moving beyond it to annex a block of Smith township lands for the housing assembly plan which cannot be acquired for actual housing development until after it is taken into the city, as projected, on Jan. 1, 1953.

OBITUARIES

FRANK O. McDONNELL

The funeral of Frank O. McDonnell, youngest son of an old Peterborough family, took place this morning in Toronto where he died on Good Friday. His age was 69.

Mr. McDonnell was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. McDonnell, whose home was at the southeast corner of the city, on the north side of No. 7 Highway, west of the J. T. O'Connell farm. He has been residing in Toronto many years.

In his boyhood Mr. McDonnell attended Lake Street School. He leaves his wife, the former Mary L. Koster, one son Gerald and daughter Marie; sisters, Mrs. Edward Feeley, Cameron Street, Peterborough, Mrs. Nora Koster, Toronto, Mrs. P. Maury, Akron, O., Mrs. K. Ricketts, Mount Lannon, Pa., brothers, Thomas of Peterborough, Fred of Oshawa. The funeral to Mount Hope Cemetery followed requiem mass at St. Brigid's Church.

MRS. W. A. WYNN.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 14 — (ENS).—Mrs. William Alexander Wynn, the former Hannah Bertha Varty, died Saturday afternoon at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Harry Hoard, Campbellford.

Mrs. Wynn, the widow of W. A. Wynn who died in 1944, had been in failing health for several months. She was 79.

Born in Belmont township, she was a daughter of the late George Varty and Isobel Simpson. Her married life was spent on her husband's farm on the Hastings road, north of Campbellford, and three years ago she moved to the town to live with her daughter.

Surviving are two sons and four daughters: George and Ross of Campbellford; Mrs. Claude Thompson (Violet), and Mrs. Fred Hunt (Clara), both of Toronto; Mrs. Hoard (Lillian), and Mrs. Ed. Stanbury (Rose), both of Campbellford.

There are as well one brother, Frank of Havelock; a half-brother, Fred of Havelock; a sister, Mrs. Marvin Green of Seymour township, and a half-sister, Mrs. John Bound of Havelock.

Funeral service was held today at the Bennett funeral home, with the Rev. Dr. D. M. Smith of St. John's United Church officiating. Burial was in Mount Pleasant cemetery. Pallbearers were: Douglas Locke, Ernest Sloggett, Ed Rutherford, Donald Rutherford, George Innis and Marshall Wynn.

ELIZABETH JANE RECORD

A resident of the city for 45 years, Elizabeth Jane Record, 79, of 216 Caddy St., died Sunday in hospital after a long illness. She was the widow of George R. Record.

Born in Ottawa, she was a daughter of the late William Hogan and Florence Corrigan, and lived as well in Moose Jaw, Sask., before coming to Peterborough. She was a member of Mark St. United Church and of the Ancient Order of Foresters.

Surviving are two sons, George of Toronto, and Earle of Peterborough, and one daughter, Mrs. Walter Rye (Florence) of Birdsall. There are three brothers, Maynard Hogan of Hammond, B.C., Warren of Windsor, Walter of Seattle, Wash., and two sisters, Mrs. Irma Eli of Robinson, B.C., and Mrs. Han Goth (Bertha) of North Dakota. Four grandchildren also survive.

Funeral service will be conducted Tuesday at 2 p.m. by the Rev. B. S. Morwood in the Belleghem funeral home. Burial will be in Little Lake Cemetery.

Night Fishing Centre Of Debate

Two factions—for and against the closing of night fishing in Victoria and Haliburton waters—aired their views recently at a meeting of the Lindsay Town Council.

Head of game and fisheries committee, Deputy-Reeve A. E. Hicks, assured the council that there would be no expectation of any law to make night fishing illegal.

He championed night fishing closure purely in the interest of conservation and was speaking for all ardent district anglers who thought the waters were becoming rapidly depleted.

Reeve Richard Butler said he would be against any such enforcement because it would deprive all day workers in the district from enjoying night sport, the only time it was available to them. He did not think the tourist industry would suffer if fishing times were left as they are at present.

Times Correspondent Ordered To Leave

LONDON, April 14 (Reuters)—The Times says today that its Tehran correspondent, Basil Bunting, has been ordered to leave Iran within 15 days.

A dispatch from Bunting says no reason has been given and that no serious criticism of dispatches to The Times has ever been made there publicly.

The Times says Bunting had been informed his "chief offence lies not in his dispatches, which have always been scrupulously fair and objective, nor in his British nationality . . . but in the circumstance that he once served as a vice-consul in Iran, that he knows the Iranian language well, and that he has an Iranian wife."

"In other words the Iranian government objects to precisely those qualities which make him a sound judge of Iranian affairs and prove his deep sympathy with the Iranian people," The Times says.

U.S. Pilot's Blackout Costs Him $700

TORONTO, April 14—(CP) — A United States test pilot told police his "blackout" in a roominghouse Saturday night cost him $700.

Jack Godsy of Willow Springs, Mass., employed by an Oshawa aircraft firm, said he met a woman in a downtown hotel and accompanied her to her room.

He went to sleep and, when he awoke an hour later, both the woman and $700 in U.S. funds were gone.

Police later arrested Lena Noganosh, 36, on a theft charge.

Arrested In London Runs For President

NEW DELHI, April 14 (Reuters). — An Indian who claims London police arrested him for hoisting the Congress Party tricolor in London in 1946, a year before India's independence, has become the fifth candidate in the running for the Indian presidency.

He is Krishna Kumar Chatterjee, 35, sponsored by a minor Leftist party in West Bengal.

Thursday is the closing day for withdrawals and the election will be held May 2.

The other four candidates are: Retiring President Rajendra Prasad, K. T. Shah (Communist-sponsored), L. G. Thatte (supported by the Mahasabha Orthodox Hindu Organization), and Hari Ram, a "non-party" lawyer.

Observers expect Prasad will be re-elected.

New Canadians Show Paintings Of Fine Skill

If Canadian painters do not alert themselves, they may find that D. P. stands for Distinguished Painters ex Displaced Persons. A stricking exhibit of half a hundred paintings by new Canadians is on view at the Public Library gallery now and should set the native-born painters on their mettle. It is a show to set tongues wagging, minds gyrating and local brushes off on fresh angles and pigments.

There are a few Americans, English, French and Danes in the show, but more are central and eastern Europeans— now living in half-a-dozen Canadian Provinces —from Russia, Latvia, Estonia, Lithuania, Germany, Poland, Yugoslavia, Czechoslovakia.

Good Talents.

One visits the exhibit with curiosity to know what talents and skills these people have brought with them. They are too lately arrived in Canada to expect yet their interpretations of the Canadian scene.

(Not many canvasses deal directly with Canada. There is a totem pole which obviously owes much to Emily Carr— but the Estonian artist has put in a tourist— a nice point; and a burnt farm on the upper St. Lawrence by a German, which has a subtle difference from a Canadian painter's handling of the same subject). The talents revealed are varied and on the whole notably good. It should not be thought, by the way, that these are painters with established reputations in Europe. It is their points of view which are most heartening.

Apart from a strong "I Was Deported in Siberia," picture, and the faceless crowd of refugees, by a Latvian, there is little of duress and bitter or melancholic memory. There are memories as J. T. Biber's "Evening In Manchuria," a delightful and humorous Hungarian view; the Polish Mary Schneider's "Mountain View from Lebanon"—impressionistic, bright even gay— like modern English.

Buoyant Expression.

The retained memories of these painters, as they put them down in paint in Canada, are, of the bright side of things. Colors, patterns and subjects are, in general, buoyant. Let us hope that it is their new Canadian environment which has given them this bright view. There is a good sense of life in the show; for instance, the bunch of flowers by Mrs. G. Kuprijanov-Kodda of Russia, and "In Autumn Time" by Vitali Kuprijanov, both of whom now live at Edson, Alberta.

Two stylistic canvases, modern on a mediaeval framework, especially take the eye; a Cossack and a Ukrainian girl companion pieces by Mychajlo Dmytrenko of the Ukraine. The most remarkable piece in the entire show is Mrs. Hanna Kali Weynerokski's "Woman With Chrysanthemums." This is angularly non-objective in technique, sternly passionate and emotionally representational in effect.

There are some dubs of dabs. Among them I would put the wishy-washy Madonna of a former Ukraine resident; Professor Werner Mayer-Gunther who seems to be trying to fool viewers with hard cubes of color, and Mrs. Paddy O'Brien of London (Ont.), formerly of England, with a tidy but insipid picture of boats at home.

The exhibition is stimulating. I recommend it highly. The London (Ont.) gallery and library is to be thanked for assembling the collection.—T.J.A.

Name Justice Lazure To Conduct Trial

MONTREAL, April 14—(CP)—Mr. Justice Wilfrid Lazure of the Court of Queen's Bench has been named to conduct Rheal Leo Bertrand's second trial on charges of murdering his wife. The trial will open at Hull, Que., next month.

A new trial was necessitated by the death of Mr. Justice Valmore Bienvenue of Quebec.

The charge against Bertrand is that he killed his second wife in a hunting cabin at Lake Ste. Marie, 55 miles northwest of Hull, and then set fire to the cabin. Only a few charred bones were recovered.

3 Dedications At Service Of Knox Church

Three dedications were performed at Knox Church at the Easter Sunday morning service in the presence of a large congregation. Junior choir vestments — white surplices with small ruffs and black necklets—were dedicated for the robing of this choir.

A picture projector, donated by a member of the church, was assigned to the use of the church school. The third dedication was of an oak plaque, honoring the church building committee of 1909-1910. The Rev. H. G. Douglas, minister of Knox, gave the dedicatory words for each.

The oak plaque bears the names of the 12 original members of the committee which undertook the building of the present edifice, opened December 6, 1910 They are: the Rev. H. J. Keith (first minister of Knox); Andrew McKenzie (chairman), H. J. McCannan (sec.-treas.), Robert Mulligan, J. F. Morrison, William McKenzie, Robert Clifford, J. P. Ego, R. F. McWilliams, Howard Shurter, W. J. Byers and David Hamilton.

Member Transmits Plaque

The oak tablet is affixed to the south wall of the nave, between two memorial windows. H. J. McCannan, a member of the original building committee and of the present official church board, took up a position by the plaque; the minister descended from the pulpit, and Mr. McCannan in brief offering sentences consigned the plaque to the church.

Mr. Douglas accepted it as a "sacred trust", gave a prayer of dedication, and paid tribute to "those who labored more than 40 years ago to bring this sanctuary into being". They had built well, not only in bricks but also in the lives of the church's families, he said, speaking as minister and as chairman of the Peterborough Presbytery.

Mr. Douglas reminded the congregation that four members of the building committee remained: Mr. McCannan and William Menzie of Peterborough, Rev. H. J. Keith of Ottawa, and Hon. R. F. McWilliams, Lieutenant-governor of Manitoba.

Easter Music and Sermon

The Junior Choir of 35 voices, in their new gowns, sang two anthems of praise, under the direction of Mrs. Ross Williamson, their leader and tutor. The senior choir, under W. R. Potter, Knox organist and choir master, sang an anthem from an Easter cantata.

Mr. Douglas' sermon on the Cross and the Resurrection exulted in "the stupendous act of God, the great fact of the Christian church—that He is risen and alive for evermore". The Resurrection is "not just man's explanation of the coming of mystery and power into human life; it is that God has vindicated His Son". Easter signifies "the triumph of life over death."

Charge Television Ruining Briton's Habits

LONDON, April 14 (Reuters) — Television is rapidly turning Britain into a country of weekend screen-watchers with little to say and nothing else to do, according to a B.B.C. survey published today.

By fall this stay-at-home influence will have spread to 85 per cent of the country, if the state-run B.B.C. television network develops according to plan.

Of television's present 5,500,000 viewers, says the survey, 61 per cent spend their Saturday evenings silently facing their sets.

In homes without television, only 31 per cent listen to radio—and most of these talk, read and knit at the same time.

Television cuts reading, hobbies, card playing, movie-going, drinking and indoor games, according to the survey.

Unaffected by television are amateur gardening, soccer, cricket and other outdoor sports, and visits to the countryside.

Three Men Held For Bank Robbery

TORONTO, April 14 (CP). — Three men are being held by York township police today in connection with the $66,000 armed robbery of the Fairbank Branch of the Bank of Commerce Jan. 3.

Police said names of the trio will not be divulged until a line-up is held Tuesday. They will be viewed by five customers and 13 employees who were held up by two men armed with sub-machine guns. Two men were inside the bank when members of the staff arrived for work and were tied up.

The arrests climaxed three months of investigation which started with the discovery on Jan. 25 of a cache of firearms by a Whitby farmer, Roy Larsen.

U.S. Government Lifts Ban On TV Stations

WASHINGTON, April 14—(AP)—Television in every United States community was a long step nearer today as the government lifted its 3½-year-long freeze on new stations.

Eventually 2,000 stations may be built throughout the United States and its possessions. Only 108 operate now, mainly in large cities.

The Federal Communications Commission's "unfreeze"—order means TV reception for areas which do not have it now, a wider range of programs in areas already covered, and a gold rush for the multi-million dollar industry itself.

Only about one-half the U.S. population can get television shows. The F.C.C., in announcing it will grant permits for new stations, opened the door to 2,053 stations in 1,291 communities.

Increase Channels

To handle this many stations, the F.C.C. had to increase the number of channels from the present 12 to 82. This was done by moving into the ultra-high frequencies, now used only for experimental purposes.

The F.C.C. said it intends to give first attention to grants in areas that have never had any TV service, and to communities which will pioneer on the U.H.F. channels the F.C.C. is anxious to get into operation.

Another 78 days will elapse before any grants are made. During that period, F.C.C. announced, it will receive new applications for stations, and will also require resubmission of all of the 521 applications now pending.

Political Truce Now Ended In South Africa

CAPETOWN, South Africa, April 14—(Reuters)—The political truce called during South Africa's 300th Anniversary celebrations ends with the reassembling of parliament Tuesday, when Nationalist Premier Daniel Malan will return to his attack on the supremacy of the courts.

Malan's cabinet has drafted a bill to make the parliament the final authority on constitutional disputes.

It is expected that the new bill will meet a rough reception from the opposition, already up in arms against the government. If passed, the bill will probably be tested by the Supreme Court, continuing the cycle until a general election gives the voters a chance to decide—either unseating Malan or returning him with a large majority to enforce his program more effectively than he can with his present narrow margin.

The current constitutional crisis broke when the South African Supreme Court threw out a government law discriminating against non-white voters, clashing directly with a main pillar of Malan's white supremacy policy.

The opposition United Party whipped up the issue, calling on Malan's government to resign.

Echoed Through Country

The heated debate in parliament echoed through the country, with torchlight parades and protests meetings calling on Malan to resign, but the fighting was suspended during the country's tercentenary celebrations which began March 28.

The controversy will start again with the reconvening of parliament, although it is not known exactly when Malan will introduce his new bill.

Parliament still has a long debate scheduled on the budget, but even if the anti-court legislation is not brought before the House opposition members will be able to attack it in principle.

Opposition leader Jacobus Strauss will be the first speaker Tuesday and will undoubtedly launch an attack on the government.

To Define Supremacy

Political observers expect the new bill will define the supremacy of parliament, making the new law retroactive to the Dec. 11, 1931, Statute of Westminster which made South Africa an Independent Dominion within the British Commonwealth.

Government-supporting newspapers say the bill will also lay down the procedure to be adopted should a bill again be challenged in the courts. It will provide that all questions of parliamentary procedure will be subject to review by parliament, with whom the final decision will rest.

The opposition will launch a series of public meetings this week, supported by the Torch commando organization of ex-servicemen, pledged to oppose the Malan government.

Vacuum Cleaner Provides Wind For Bagpipes

PALMERSTON, Ont. — (CP) — When Ivan Birk plays the bagpipes, a vacuum cleaner provides the windpower.

The 36-year-old bulldozer operator got the idea after he used the cleaner to blow his player piano.

He was invited to join a pipe band organized about a year ago by the Canadian Legion Branch in this southwestern Ontario railway town.

"I soon discovered that it was too much for me to read the music and wiggle my fingers and to keep the thing blown up—all at the same time. So I hitched up the vacuum cleaner. That took the blowing job off my mind and left me free to concentrate on the other two. The result is that I can now play "The Barren Rocks of Aden" by heart and the opening notes of the "Bonnets of Bonnie Dundee."

"To be a good bagpipe player, you must always have a safe place to practise. Usually I wait until Sundays when my wife and two children are at church. But our best hideout is in the basement of the post office. That's where most of us go.

"When I become proficient on the pipes, I won't need the vacuum."

Said his wife:

"Right now, he likes to use it for everything but tidying up the house."

Need Revival

NEW YORK, April 14 (AP).—President Truman said Sunday that "what this country needs is a revival of the spirit of old-fashioned religion." He urged "a turning of the hearts and minds of men from the exclusive pursuit of material ends." The president made the statements in a message for the opening of America's eighth annual All-faith Sunday School Week, April 14 to 20.

Russia Frowns On Name Brand

By EDDY GILMORE

MOSCOW —(AP)—Advertising is an integral part of the Soviet Union's economy and it is widely used through the country.

The principal forms are: outdoor advertising in the cities, roadside signs and newspaper and magazine advertising.

The radio is used but not often and, as far as can be determined, television not at all.

In the cities are painted signs advertising, among other things: insurance, furniture, cigarettes, movies, concerts, green peas, margarine, ice cream, lectures, football games and hockey matches, perfume and shaving cream, sausages and sunflower seed oil.

(This dispatch, subject to the usual Soviet censorship, omits the fact that advertising in the Soviet Union denotes no sort of competition. Its purpose is to create demand and let the state sell more goods of the kinds advertised. No Soviet advertisement, for instance, extols one kind of green peas over another. One cigaret is never recommended over another. In Russia the idea to be put over is that everything is wonderful.)

The big Moscow papers such as Pravda, Izvestia, Trud, Red Star and Red Fleet carry little advertising.

Take a typical issue of Pravda. On the back page, down in the right hand lower corner, there is about one-third of a column devoted to the day's radio programs and the programs at the principal theatres. Nothing else in the way of advertising.

The two papers which go in Evening Moskva and Moskva Pravda.

Evening Moskva carries a half page of advertisements almost every day.

The roadside signs proclaim the peace campaign and advertise various consumer items for sale.

Magazine advertising usually features furniture and insurance, glassware, refrigerators, radio and washing machines.

All in all, advertising—some of which is done in neon colored signs—plays an important part in the daily life of a Soviet citizen.

There are, however, no such things as advertising companies and advertising managers.

Massage Increases Chance Living After Heart Stops

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE, Associated Press Science Editor

NEW YORK—(AP)—The chances of being brought back to life after the heart has stopped beating are taking a rapid upswing.

They now are six out of seven that the person whose heart stops while on the surgeon's operating table can be saved if the doctor takes this heart in his hand and squeezes rhythmically.

To get this high percentage, he must begin within five minutes after breathing has stopped. But that is becoming comparatively easy due to the growing knowledge and skill of surgeons.

Along with the better odds, which account for the news reports sometimes at the rate of one a month of people coming back from the dead, there is a lot of new knowledge about death itself— particularly about how long we can stay "dead" under the old standard, and still recover.

Doctors always have known that people are not dead when the hearts stop, but that moment was for thousands of years the official death because nothing could be done to start a heart.

It was not until 1901 or 1902 that the first human heart was started again.

Records Tell Story

The records since tell the story best. In 50 years, up to this February, there are reliable records of 350 cases. Of these 112 lived and 238 died. This is only one in three brought to life, but it covers an entire half century, particularly the beginnings when skill was not so widespread and when blood transfusions and heart stimulating drugs were not as well known.

Until the last 15 years it was believed that if the doctor did not start within five minutes after 'death" there was danger of irreparable harm to brains, because nerve tissue is the first to die.

But the records show a few delays lasting up to 15 minutes, in which the patient was brought back from death, with little or no harm. Dr. Frank Cole, Lincoln, Neb., surgeon who compiled this record in the American Medical Association's annals of surgery says:

"Only three cases were found in which there were slight residual effects. It may be said that almost invariably a patient who survives cardiac arrest (heart beat stopping) recovers completely."

Massage—squeezing with the hand—has become the best treatment. Medical science is devising other methods, which someday may replace the surgeon's hand.

Dome Offered To Canadian

LONDON (CP)—The Dome of Discovery, magnet last summer for millions of visitors to London's Festival of Britain Exhibition site, is to be offered for sale to the highest bidder in Canada.

The huge, saucer-shaped structure, erected two years ago on the south banks of the Thames at a cost of about £160,000, has been purchased from the government by a British firm of engineers anxious to turn its investments into dollars.

Decision to scrap the exhibition show-piece was reached after London county council failed to exercise an option to take it over for some other use. The home office decided the site must be cleared to make room for gardens before the coronation, expected next year.

Cyril Cohen, chairman and managing director of the company which bought the Dome, described it as an outstanding example of modern structural engineering, apart from its historic value.

"We feel there must be a Canadian municipal authority, sports promoter, exhibition organizer or circus proprietor who would find good and profitable use for this unique building," Mr. Cohen said. "Several English municipalities have already expressed keen interest in it but, quite frankly, we would prefer to have some of your coveted dollars."

Cohen said the dismantling job, involving many delicate operations, already is under way. If a sale in Canada is closed, the Dome could be shipped ready for re-erection within five months.

The diameter of the Dome, constructed of aluminum alloy steel, is 365 feet and its height at the centre of the roof, 87 feet. Total weight of the material that would have to be shipped is 550 tons.

During the festival the building was used to house a display unfolding the history of British scientific discovery as well as land and sea explorations down through the ages.

Nationalist Move On China Is Not Believed Possible

(Editor's Note: Bill Boss, Canadian Press staff writer with the Canadian forces in Korea, recently visited Formosa and obtained an exclusive interview with the Chinese Nationalist leader, Chiang Kai-shek. Now he has written a series of stories about the island, based on that interview and others. This is the first of his articles.)

By BILL BOSS,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TAIPEH, Formosa, April 14 — (CP)—There is no sign of panic in this island, last major stronghold of the Chinese Nationalist forces.

People go about their business much as they do in Tokyo. There is almost no Communist Fifth Column such as exists in Japan, Hong Kong and elsewhere in eastern and southeast Asia.

Talks with the highest officials, including Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek on the Chinese side and Maj.-Gen. William C. Chase, head of a United States military group advising the Nationalist administration, make it clear:

1. No one here thinks the Chinese Communists will move against Formosa.

2. No one here thinks the Nationalists will move back to the mainland.

Both conclusions are subject to provisos: "for the time being" and "unless there is some unexpected change in the situation."

Would Need Help

Chiang himself told me he believes the mainland could be regained from the Reds within three years, but he said there might be years of preparation. The Nationalists, he said, would need western help in the form of weapons and munitions.

Meantime, those responsible for the island are sharpening the weapons they have in case they must be used.

Four factors make unlikely a Red assault on Formosa:

1. The U.S. Seventh Fleet, which Navy Secretary Dan Kimball of the United States said recently is "protecting" Formosa.

2. Communist difficulty in organizing a workable political and economic system on the mainland.

3. A vast Nationalist intelligence network on the mainland (which so far has uncovered no sign of invasion preparations although strong Red forces are located near the coast).

4. An invasion attempt would be best made in April or May, when the Monsoon winds blow from the southwest, but it would be difficult for the Communists to collect the necessary fleet of junks without detection.

Deterring Factors

And four factors make unlikely a Nationalist assault on the mainland at this time:

1. Chiang's armies are not ready, although within a year they will be ready to fight.

2. Formosa, within its own resources, could not support an offensive of sufficient force.

3. The island must depend on outside help for weapons and ammunition, although Chiang says it has enough manpower.

4. The United States and other friends of Formosa are not at present prepared to supply sufficient help. U.S. policy now is to provide enough arms for training but not for offensive action.

Official pronouncements here and abroad about possible military operations on the mainland do not jibe with the facts—and officials here concede this.

They attribute the mainland-operations talk to the Nationalists' need to keep alive their claim to recognition as the only "legal" government of China, to maintain anti-Communist spirit in Formosa by the promise of ultimate deliverance, and to stir the fighting spirit of their troops.

"Talk of a return to the mainland keeps up their morale," says Gen. Chase, head of the American military group.

Marshal To Fly In Jet On Canada Trip

OTTAWA, April 14 — (CP) — Viscount Trenchard, marshal of the Royal Air Force, and Lady Trenchard will arrive at Rockville Airport April 16 on a three-week visit to Canada and the United States, air force headquarters announced.

In Canada they will visit Montreal, Trenton, Winnipeg, Vancouver, Edmonton, Toronto, and Akron, O., and Washington in the U.S. The 79-year-old marshal will inspect R.A.F. students training at these centres.

While in Ottawa, they will be guests of Sir Alexander Clutterbuck, United Kingdom High Commissioner to Canada.

Lord Trenchard began his service career with the British Army in 1893 and was seriously wounded during the South African War.

He learned to fly and became an instructor with the Central Flying School in 1912. During the First World War he commanded the Royal Flying Corps in France and later formed and commanded the Independent Air Force in 1918. When the R.A.F. succeeded the Royal Flying Corps, Lord Trenchard was appointed chief of the air staff, a position he held from 1918 to 1929. He became marshal of the R.A.F. in 1927.

Still actively interested in aviation, he became the first marshal of the R.A.F. to fly in a jet fighter in October, 1950, at the age of 78.

Re-elect Jolliffe C.C.F. Leader

TORONTO, April 14 — (CP) — Edward Bigelow Jolliffe, 43-year-old Toronto lawyer, was re-elected Saturday for his 11th term as Ontario leader of the C.C.F. party.

Mr. Jolliffe, provincial leader of the party since 1942, when the post was created, was returned by acclamation at the 18th annual convention when William Temple, a last-minute candidate, withdrew.

Ted Isley, Waterloo farmer, was elected president, succeeding Miller Stewart, of Sturgeon Point.

Mr. Temple, first elected to the Legislature in 1948 and defeated in last year's election, was unsuccessful in a bid for the party presidency. He was, however, elected a vice-president with C. C. Ames, of Kirkland Lake, Leo Lalonde, of Timmins, True Davidson, of East York, and T. D. Thomas, of Oshawa.

Phillip Moore, delegate from York East and spokesman for a group supporing Mr. Thomas, was defeated in a proposal that no provincial leader be elected this year.

Easter, Bible Theme At Cottesloe W.M.S.

COTTESLOE, April 14—Twenty ladies attended the Easter thank-offering meeting of the W.M.S. at the home of Mrs. D. Seaborn. The president, Mrs. John Gallaher, took charge of the worship service, the theme being "Easter gave us the Bible."

A letter of appreciation was read from the supply secretary Mrs. F. Milburn of Peterborough, for a complete layette the ladies had recently sent in. Members were asked to bring good used clothing, especially for boys, to the next meeting to make up a bale for overseas relief.

Mrs. E. Metcalfe, program convener, then took charge. The first reader of the scriptures was Mrs. E. Calder and the second reader, Mrs. C. McMillan.

The Rev. H. Wright then gave a short message on the Crucifixion. He said that the cross is the revelation of the loving power of God.

The Easter thankoffering was then received and Mrs. John Gallaher, led in a prayer of dedication.

After the meeting, Mrs. H. Harnden and Mrs. George Webster, assisted by the hostess, Mrs. D. Seaborn, served lunch.

May Change Method Of Measuring Fish

TORONTO, April 14—(CP)—The correct method of measuring a fish is from the tip of the nose to the fork in the tail.

That method seems to confuse some fishermen so officials of the Department of Lands and Forests are considering a plan which would require that fish be measured from the tip of the nose to the tip of the tail with the tail lobes held together.

This means no change for trout which have no fork in their tails. But the legal limit on bass and other game fish with notched tails would be increased from one to two inches.

KITCHENER, April 14—(CP)—John M. Seim, former Mount Forest police chief, was charged Sunday with impersonating an officer and possession of an unregistered revolver following a disturbance in a Baden hotel.

Police said Seim entered a bedroom of the hotel shortly after 1 a.m. The bedroom was occupied by a woman. He flashed a badge and displayed the revolver.

Apparently Seim thought another woman occupied the room, police said.

Seim now is employed as a laborer in Guelph.

Vandals Wreck Otonabee School, $1,000 Damage

During the weekend vandals broke into S.S. No. 17, Otonabee township, overturned desks, smashed furniture, threw school supplies about and generally caused more than $1,000 damage. The union school ,attended by 31 pupils from both Otonabee and Douro, is a mile and a half east of the city.

Corporal John Munro and Constable Jack Ricard of the O.P.P. headquarters in Peterborough are investigating. As yet they have made no arrests.

What prompted the vandals to start on their wave of destruction is puzzling members of the school board and police.

Bad feeling has existed for sometime between veterans in the V.L.A. settlement on the Warsaw Rd. and some of the older residents. Police must decide whether the breakin—believed to have occurred Sunday night—was the work of some dissatisfied grownups with a juvenile mental twist, amateur thieves, or youngsters out on a spree of wanton destructiveness.

In Shambles

Today the inside of the 39-year-old red brick school is a shambles. Desks are overturned, windows knocked out, textbooks are ripped up and thrown around the room. Ink has been spattered on the walls by somebody throwing inkwells at the wall.

Tools used in the demolition work included a garden fork—used to pry one of the slates off a blackboard—and a heavy poker—used to puncture holes in locked cupboards, or desks.

Downstairs eight new storm windows were shattered. The oil furnace unit was untouched because the door was securely locked; but the thermostatic control was ripped from the wall. An electric clock was also ripped from the wall, the insides picked out and scattered around the room.

"I've seen the work of vandals before, but never anything like this," commented an experienced insurance agent.

The outside of the school gives little indication of the damage inside. And the nearby junior school (Kindergarten and Grades I and II) was untouched. It was only opened this fall after volunteer labor had helped finish it for the beginning of the school term. It accommodates 26 pupils.

Discovered Monday

Alex D. McLeod, principal of the school, discovered the breakin Monday morning when he came in to mark some examination papers.

"I came in the right front door and I saw . . . this mess," he told the Examiner today. "I had some personal valuables in my office and now I can't find them anywhere."

His narrow office was so deep in littered paper, books, overturned furniture and debris that he could hardly move around in it. Ten thousand sheets of paper had been emptied from stationery drawers, torn up and littered about the office.

Mr. McLeod indicated that his personal valuables might be lying scattered on the floor, somewhere beneath a three-foot layer of debris. So might $8 in cash, con-

Endicott Says U.N. Waging Germ Warfare

LONDON, April 15 — (CP) — Moscow radio today quoted Dr. James Endicott, chairman of the leftist Canadian Peace Congress as "confirming" that United Nations forces are waging bacteriological warfare on Communist China.

The broadcast, monitored here, said Endicott also speculated on the possibility that some of the "infected insects" allegedly dropped in Northeast China were bred in Canada.

The Moscow radio said Endicott spoke to a press conference at Mukden and quoted him as saying Canada has organizations producing bacteriological weapons for the U.S., including a "huge plant" in Alberta.

Endicott accused a Canadian official named "Soland" of saying in a newspaper article that the prospects for mass deaths were "extremely heartening," the radio said. This presumably was a reference to Dr. O. M. Solandt, head of Canada's Defence Research Board.

Useful Propaganda

Communist charges of bacteriological warfare have been denied by the United Nations Command. One Allied theory is the charges furnish useful internal propaganda in a Red China striving to close the gap between its claims as protectors of the peoples' health and what is really happening in a land often swept by epidemics.

(China is one of the most backward countries in applying modern medicine and hygiene.)

Another Moscow broadcast monitored here quoted Maurice Miller, described as a Canadian delegate from Montreal to the recent trade conference in Moscow, as charging that the Caandian government cancelled orders from Russia for several million dollars worth of electrical equipment.

"In any case," Miller was quoted as saying, "the company that undertook the contract and, I understand, went ahead with it in its initial stages, either broke off negotiations or didn't provide delivery.

B-36 Crashes On Take-off

SPOKANE, Wash., April 15 (AP)—A B-36 bomber crashed on take-off from Fairchild air force base early today, killing 15 of the 17 aboard.

The two other crew members suffered serious burns.

The giant, 10-engined bomber crashed in a farmer's field a half-mile northwest of the base, and burst into flames.

The plane fell on the farm of Ernest Alf who told a reporter:

"We were awakened by this awful crash and as we got out of bed all we could see was a big fire. It made an awful explosion. It looked like it was only a block away from the house but it was a half mile."

Coal Heads Tighten Defences Against Lewis

WASHINGTON, April 15 (AP) —The United States soft coal producers, preparing for their expected 1952 wage battle with John L. Lewis, have quietly signed an industry pact which draws management's defence lines tighter, it was learned today.

The Bituminous Coal Operators Association, principal bargaining group for the industry, has signed up most of the Indiana and Illinois soft coal producers. These operators have long held aloof from joining the national bargaining group, choosing to take their own contract chances with the United Mine Workers' boss.

The coal industry believes its new agreement will give it a great deal more resistance to Lewis' tradition divide-and-conquer strategy.

The coal industry contract has run out but Lewis is not expected to make his new demands until the steel dispute is settled. The United Mine Workers already are ahead of the steelworkers in hourly wages. And Lewis' unique welfare and retirement fund is stocked with about $1,000,000 of unspent funds.

None Of Loot Recovered Police Say

Nosey Fox Helps Supply Clue To Bring Arrests

TORONTO, April 15. (CP)—Three Toronto men were charged today in connection with a $66,317 robbery of the Canadian Bank of Commerce branch on Dufferin Street in northwest Toronto, Jan. 3.

They are Robert Woods, alias Robert Martin, 23; Henry Alex, also 23; and William Self, 24.

Woods and Alex were charged with armed robbery. Police said Self was charged as a material witness "for the moment."

Woods and Alex were remanded to April 22. Self was remanded to April 18, when bail will be considered.

Police said none of the stolen money was recovered.

A young Whitby township farmer and a nosey fox were credited by police in helping bring the arrest of the men. The fox was spotted by Roy Larsen digging in a pile of sawdust. The farmer dug in the same spot and found a cache of arms which he turned over to the police.

One of the weapons was a weird-looking .22-calibre rifle which had been converted to fire a stream of slugs through a clip. Its sight was set back, barrel shortened and a butt grip added.

Police said bank employees identified the gun as the one used in the holdup in which two men waited for the bank staff to arrive.

Truman Signs Japanese Treaty

WASHINGTON, April 15 (AP) —President Truman signed the Japanese peace treaty today and the state department announced that peace with Japan will be made effective April 28.

The department said it announced the planned effective date of the treaty—which will end the Second World War in the Pacific—"in order to permit an orderly completion of the transition of Japan from the present occupation status to that of full sovereignty."

In a White House ceremony, Truman also wrote his name to three related Pacific security pacts. One with Japan gives the U.S. the right to keep military forces in and around Japan.

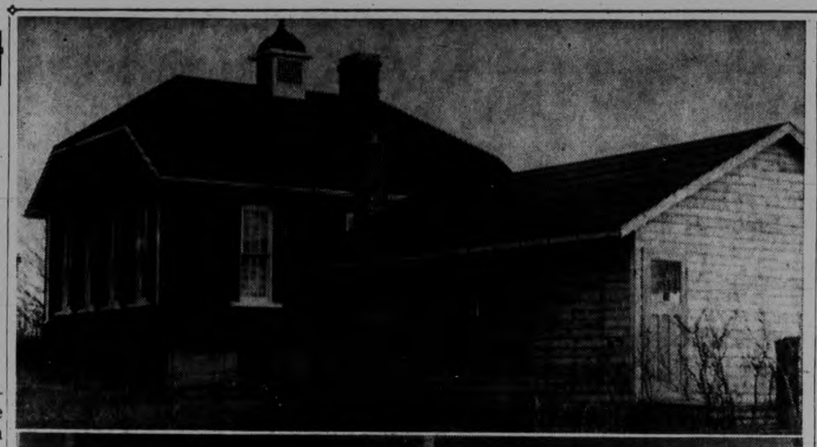
The others are mutual-defence agreements with the Philippines and with Australia and New Zealand.

Truman's signature to the ratification resolution, adopted by the Senate last month, is the next-to-last step for the U.S. before the peace tready with Japan comes into full force and formally ends the state of war with the once-bitter enemy.

Canadian Destroyer Bombards Coast

TOKYO, April 15 (CP)—The Canadian destroyer Cayuga took part Monday night in harassing fire on the general area around the Taedong river on Korea's east coast just above the 38th parallel, a naval headquarters communique reported today.

The communique said the British cruiser Belfast moved into the Taedong river to fire at targets on the north bank.



MORE THAN $1,000 DAMAGE by vandals was caused to the interior of the main building of S.S. No. 17, Otonabee township (Rifle Range school) on Sunday evening. School Teacher Alex McLeod discovered the chaos on Monday when he went to the school to correct examination papers. The old brick building in which the damage occurred is shown in the above photo at the rear of a newly-constructed one-room building (foreground); nothing was touched in the latter. Part of the smashing upheaval in the main classroom is shown in the lower photo. The incident is being investigated by the Provincial Police.—(Examiner Staff Photos)

13 Cars Pile Up Near Trenton

TRENTON, April 15 — (CP) — Thirteen vehicles were damaged Monday night in a chain-reaction accident outside the R.C.A.F. station. It developed like an arithmetic progression and involved the 13 cars in a telescopic collision which caused more than $2,500 damage.

Only one person was injured. Joan Sweet was treated at Trenton Memorial Hospital for bad cuts and bruises.

This was the sequence of accidents, which might have progressed to infinity had there been more cars in the line.

Miss Sweet was a passenger in a car driven by Gordon McNair of Trenton, which collided with a car driven by E. R. Kitchen, Belleville. Cars driven by J. R. Nicholson, Ottawa, and K. Anderson, Point Anne, crashed into the crash.

"It was a close shave," said Naomi Johnson, passenger in the Nicholson car.

Wage Board Head Defends Moves In US Steel Strike

WASHINGTON, April 15. (AP)—Nathan P. Feinsinger, chairman of the Wage Stabilization Board, told questioning senators today that the board's recommendations in the crucial steel dispute were "clearly within the board's jurisdiction and authority."

Under fire from members of Congress for the steel proposals, he appeared before the Senate Labor Committee. He said allegations the board "exceeded its authority and ignored its own regulations" were as far from the truth as anything could be.

He was called to give his opinion on an amendment prepared by Senator Wayne Morse (Rep. Ore.) to the Taft-Hartley Labor Act making presidential seizure of plants and facilities legal in certain cases.

The bill would give the President clear authority in specific instances to seize plants affected by labor disputes. United States industry generally, and many legislators, have condemned Truman's seizure of the steel industry a week ago as a "usurpation" of power.

Considered Resigning

Feinsinger disclosed in his prepared statement that the six industry members of the wage board—there are also six labor and six public members—seriously considered resigning from the board just before the steel dispute was referred to it by Truman last December.

Technically, the Senate Labor Committee is starting public hearings on a bill covering the President's emergency seizure power

Plan To Remain After Armistice

SOMEWHERE IN KOREA, April 15—(Reuters)—The Commonwealth Division will remain in Korea after an armistice is signed, its commander, Maj.-Gen. A. J. H. Cassels, said at divisional headquarters today.

"After a truce," he said, "we will fall back from the demarcation line between the Communist and United Nations armies, dig new defence positions and maintain active training."

Cassels also said he believes future Communist offensives will have strong air support.

"The enemy has plenty of air power he did not have before and I am certain he will use it if he attacks again."

The General also remarked on the increased strength of Communist units opposing the division lately.

When asked about reported complaints about food supplies for the Commonwealth troops, he said: "There have been no complaints . . . this Army is the best-rationed ever."

Truman Holding Emergency Flood Conference

WASHINGTON, April 15. (AP) — President Truman today asked seven mid-western governors to meet with him at Omaha Wednesday to discuss measures for dealing with the flood emergency. The White House announced Truman will leave Washington by plane Wednesday for a flight over the flood area. The plan is to land at Omaha for the conference with the governors. Truman invited the governors of Illinois, South Dakota, North Dakota, Iowa, Nebraska, Wisconsin and Minnesota to meet him.

More than 76,000 persons were homeless today as the marauding Missouri and Mississippi Rivers continued to spread their sea of misery through eight states.

The Red Cross estimated that 18,939 families have fled their homes in the Dakotas, Nebraska, Iowa, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Kansas and Missouri. What the chief of army engineers described as the "greatest flood the white man has ever seen in the Missouri River" was responsible for most of the flight of the homeless.

The Red Cross said 17,809 families are already homeless in the Missouri River valley. And when the river rolls through Omaha and Council Bluffs this figure will rise to 20,000—making the Missouri flood one of the 10 greatest in 71 years of Red Cross relief operations in the United States.

There was no help from the weather. Showers were forecast for eastern Nebraska and western Iowa tonight and Wednesday morning.

U. S. Army engineers estimate that 1,250,000 acres of land are under waters of the Missouri and its tributaries.

Strengthen Dikes

While millions of tons of rich topsoil sloshed down river, men and machines at the twin cities of Omaha and Council Bluffs—combined population 366,000 toiled to build up the flood walls and dikes.

The flood wall, when originally built, was 26.6 feet high and considered able to meet any challenge from the Missouri. Now it is being built up in hopes of fighting off a predicted crest of 31.6 feet Thursday. The crest would be 12½ feet over flood stage and seven feet over the previous recorded high of 24.6 in 1881.

The river stood at 26.7 feet here early today. But there was still hope. Maj.-Gen. Lewis Pick, chief of army engineers, said he believed there was a chance of winning.

In Council Bluffs, 30,000 people —two-thirds of the population — have left the low-lying districts in the north and western areas. Across the river in Omaha another 5,000 have been moved from

Report Douks Seek New Home In S. America

VANCOUVER, April 15 (CP)—The News-Herald says today in a dispatch from Grand Forks, B.C., that Stefan W. Sorokin has left for South America with the "purpose of seeking a new home for Canada's Doukhobor population."

Sorokin is the spiritual leader of the Sons of Freedom sect of the Doukhobors.

The story says the Doukhobors have "secretly exported" $94,000 to the United States to finance Sorokin's trip to South America. It adds:

"Authoritative Doukhobor sources here (Grand Forks) report that the move was made by agreement between leaders of the Sons of Freedom and orthodox and independent Doukhobors.

"Sorokin . . . left Los Angeles on March 23 for Montevideo, Uruguay, via New York. Among countries he will visit are Uruguay, Paraguay, Bolivia and Chile, for the purpose of seeking a new home for Canada's Doukhobor population."

The dispatch says Doukhobor leaders decided to finance the trip after conferences with a California religious group of Russian origin—the Molokans—who have their eye on a 300,000 acre estate in Paraguay. . ."

"Some of the leading Molokans sugested that the Doukhobors move to Paraguay with the California colony."

Doukhobor leaders stressed, the story says, that 90 per cent of the orthodox members of the sect —as well as the troublesome Sons of Freedom—are anxious to leave if they can find a country willing to accept them."

Wild Fowl Migration Well Under Way

SAULT STE. MARIE, April 15 (CP)—The great northern migration of wild fowl is well under way, lands department officials reported today.

First flocks of black ducks appeared Sunday, with about 200 birds resting in the St. Mary's river.

Canada geese also have appeared. About 2,000 have rested at Pumpkin Point, 20 miles east of the Sault, since last Saturday.

Second Atomic Blast Of Series

LAS VEGAS, Nev., April 15 — (AP)—The second blast of the spring atomic series flashed brilliantly at 9.30 a.m. PST (12.30 p.m. EST) today at Nevada proving grounds.

It was plainly visible in Las Vegas, some 75 miles distant, but it was neither felt nor heard here. There were no reports of damage.

The explosion was the 14th at the Atomic Energy test site here and unofficially the United States' 26th. Observers reported it appeared larger than the blast April 1 which opened the current series.

The feautre blast of the series comes next week. More than 7,000 army, marine and air force men are to participate in atomic maneouvres. Newspapermen and civilian defence observers have been invited to witness one of the tests.

Say Alexander's Visit Merely Routine Trip

LONDON, April 15 — (CP) — Field Marshal Alexander's flying visit to Paris today was described by a Defence Ministry spokesman here as just "a routine trip by a new man on the job."

But the spokesman said it would not be surprising if Britain's newly-appointed Defence Minister took the opportunity, in the course of his meetings with Dwight D. Eisenhower, to present this country's views on the general's successor.

The Daily Express said in a front-page dispatch today that Lord Alexander will "press the claims of Viscount Montgomery" to replace Gen. Eisenhower when the latter leaves his post as Atlantic Pact Commander to enter the United States presidential race.

It has been generally taken for granted here that an American will succeed Gen. Eisenhower, with his deputy, Gen. Gruenther, regarded as perhaps the most probable appointment.

FLOOD PERIL—A raging river runs rampant through the main street of South Sioux City, Nebraska, as flood waters of the Missouri River reach a height of more than five feet. Residents in the stricken areas have been evacuated to higher ground.

Vancouver Shoppers Collect Rain Insurance

VANCOUVER, April 15—(CP)—The line formed on the left Monday for a Vancouver clothier's customers intent on collecting "rain insurance" on their Easter Sunday garments.

The clothing company began at opening time to refund 20 per cent on all larger garments bought there Saturday for the Easter parade because Vancouver got .21 inches of rain during the daytime Sunday.

It was the first time the store has had to pay off since the "rain insurance" scheme was started seven years ago. The store declined to say how much money it will refund.

Genius Lives On

State Heads On Pilgrimage To Pay Tribute To Da Vinci

VINCI, Italy. April 15 —(AP)—Heads of states and representatives of nations came to this hillside village today in tribute to a peasant woman's son who invented steam cannon, designed batwinged airplanes, and painted the faint smile on the lips of the Mona Lisa.

Leonardo Da Vinci, born here 500 years ago today, took his name from the villiage, and gave it a half a thousand years of fame.

The fifth centennial of the "man of the Renaissance" united momentarily the east and west. Moscow's newspapers and radio hailed him as a "genius of world culture."

Italy's President Luigi Einaudi and Premier Alcide de Gasperi came here with Mexico's Jaime Torres-Bodet, director general of the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization, and ambassadors of half a dozen countries.

This little village in the Monte Albano vineyard country 13 miles west of Florence was gaudy with flags and bunting. Its quiet streets were studded with loudspeakers and floodlights and crowded with visitors.

Representatives of the church were here for the artist who painted the dramatic masterpiece, "The Last Supper," whose original even in ruins is still honored.

But Da Vinci was a genius who wouldn't stay home. A half dozen other Italian cities where he lived and where his works are treasured are having their own celebrations in his honor today.

New Regime To Forgive Old Enemies

LA PAZ, Bolivia, April 15—(AP)—Bolivia's new government promised today to forgive the enemies it beat in a bloody revolt — but briskly weeded the old regime's agents out of top government offices.

The National Revolutionary Party (M.N.R.), which won the revolt, prepared welcoming demonstrations for its leader, Victor Paz Estenssoro returning after six years' exile in Buenos Aires, Argentina.

A Bolivian military plane was scheduled to bring him here in mid-afternoon.

Paz Estenssoro was expected to be proclaimed president. He nearly won the office last May, when he polled the largest vote of six candidates but failed to win a majority. Before Congress could choose among the three high men, a military junta headed by Gen. Hugo Ballivian seized the government, voided the voting and abolished the legislature.

Policies Not Clear

The policies of the new government still were not clear. The M.N.R. has been strongly Nationalistic with overtones of Socialism. Out of power, its leaders demanded State ownership of the rich tin mines. Since Friday they have kept silent about this proposal.

But the young intellectuals who lead the party have given expression to widespread discontent in the poverty-ridden country and have won a big following among tin miners and other workers—the bulk of the population—who live sub-standard lives.

The revolution began at dawn last Wednesday and the Rebels proclaimed success Friday.

• Some government officials estimated the dead—still uncounted—might range up to 3000. Others estimated 800 to 1,500 killed and more than 1,500 wounded.

Car's Top Speed 95 Driver 'Mad As Blazes'

A Renfrew man was "mad as blazes" recently because he could only get 95 miles an hour out of his new car and was unable to get away from a provincial police cruiser. Today, James W. Baskin, of 322 Stewart St., Renfrew, entered a written guilty plea on a speeding charge.

"You may think a $50 fine is excessive for speeding," crown attorney John A. Bradshaw told Magistrate W. R. Philp, "but he was going 95 and told the officer he was mad because it would not go any faster. The Magistrate agreed.

Asian-African Nations Push For Emergency Session Of UN Assembly On Tunisia

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., April 15. (AP)—Asian-African nations pushed today for an emergency session of the United Nations General Assembly in the wake of western refusal to let the Security Council take up a complaint against France's treatment of Tunisia. The council's western majority refused Monday night to admit for discussion the 11-nation charge that France is oppressing her North African protectorate, in which more than 100 persons have died this year in riots sparked by Nationalist demands for more self-rule.

It was one of the rare occasions in which the council had turned down a member's request to discuss a complaint.

Asia-African authors of the charges against France, anticipating the defeat, already had cabled their governments to ask if they wanted a special assembly. Affirmative replies were expected and there were strong indications the group could rally the 31 U.N. members necessary to call the session.

The move to put the Tunisian complaint on the council agenda mustered only five affirmative votes.

The motions needed seven votes for adoption. The yeas came from Pakistan, China, Russia, Brazil and Chile. France and Britain cast the negative votes and the United States, Greece, Turkey and the Netherlands abstained.

Might Disturb Negotiations

U.S. delegates said previously they thought council discussion of the complaint might disturb negotiations which France says she will hold with the Tunisians.

Signers of the complaint against France were Afghanistan, Burma, Egypt, India, Indonesia, Iran, Iraq, Pakistan, the Phillippines, Saudi Arabia and Yemen. Syria and Lebanon also are backing them.

Pakistan's delegate Ahmed S. Bokhari, who is Security Council president this month, said Monday night a special Assembly session now appeared the only avenue open to the complaintants.

They were assured the backing of the five Soviet bloc members, and the votes Monday by Chile and Brazil hinted that a majority of the Latin-American countries would join them.

A Pakistan spokesman said, however, that readying the Assembly demand and lining up supporters would take time and he did not foresee a meeting before next month or perhaps early June.

Expect Million To Cast Votes

NEWARK, N. J., April 15 (CP)—Between 750,000 and 1,000,000 were expected to turn out today in New Jersey to choose state delegates to national political conventions and possibly shed some light on the future of presidential aspirants.

The Republican primary was in the spotlight because of a three-way contest among Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, Ohio's Senator Robert Taft and former Governor Harold Stassen of Minnesota.

Eisenhower was established as a favorite, largely because he had the backing of the State Republican machine and Governor Alfred Driscoll.

Taft, who accused Driscoll of double-crossing him by coming out for Eisenhower and who unsuccessfully tried to withdraw from the primary, remained an unknown quantity.

New Jersey is the sixth of 16 states which hold primaries in election years to give voters a chance to express preference for the various presidential candidates.

The voting for the presidential aspirants today is purely a popularity contest although it might have some influence on the way candidates to the national nominating conventions will vote. The Republicans choose 38 candidates and the Democrats 36.

Senator Estes Kefauver of Tennessee is the only name on the Democratic ballot.

Prices Drop Steadily On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, April 15 (CP). — Early afternoon stock market prices dropped steadily today as support weakened.

Trading was active as lower-priced Western oils and selected penny golds competed for speculative interest. Industrial dealings remained in leading issues, but a few base metals showed activity. Volume for the first three hours was 3,015,000 shares.

Manufacturing companies, papers and refining oils led industrials downward with losses ranging to more than a point. Textiles, foods, constructions, utilities and retail stores also slipped.

Western oil losses ranged from pennies to about 50 cents. North Canadian, Western Leaseholds, United Oils, Triad, Selburn, Punch and Consolidated Cordasun traded lower.

Base metals eased as Yukeno, Opemiska, Lake Dufault, Mindamar, Hudson Bay, International Nickel, Rix-Athabaska and Ontario Pyrites slipped.

Senior golds edged downward as Kerr Addison and Hollinger lost fractions. Secondary issues posted a majority of penny losses.

Tanks Bombard Chinese Reds

SEOUL, Korea, April 15—(AP)—A powerful United Nations tank force killed or wounded 300 Chinese Reds Monday in a furious bombardment of Communist lines on the Central Korean front, the U.S. Eighth Army announced.

Fifty-four Allied tanks fired for an hour and 45 minutes from positions in front of U.N. lines. It was the biggest tank action in two months.

Eighth Army said the tanks, firing from no-man's-land southwest of Kumsong, destroyed or damaged 99 Red bunkers, a field gun, 16 buildings, 39 trenches and 16 gun emplacements. The Communists fought back with 300 artillery and mortar shells and machine-gun fire.

Allied infantrymen early today retook a hill east of the Pukhan river on the central front two hours after they were pushed off by 400 Chinese Reds.

Ghost Towns

The Missouri's relentless approach has made temporary ghost communities of town after town. Sioux City, Ia., with 84,035 people is the biggest community thus far hit by the muddy waters.

The Mississippi matched the Missouri in reaching record depths. At St. Paul, the Mississippi poured through low-lying areas, affecting 5,000 people and poising a big threat to millions of dollars worth of waterfront industries.

Downriver, Winona, 25,000 population, will be one-third under water if a dike breaks.

Gov. C. Elmer Anderson asked President Truman to declare Minnesota a disaster area.

Hits Jackpot Twice

LONDON, April 15 (Reuters)—Mrs. Lilian Guest, 50, housewife who won £75,000 last week in a soccer pool, hit the jackpot again in this week's contest. The amount of today's prize was not announced. But Mrs. Guest thinks it will be close to the £75,000 she won before. Mr. Guest attributes success to "nine-tenths system and one-tenth Mrs. Guest's intuition."

New Jersey Phone Strike Ends, Accept Increase

NEW YORK, April 15. (AP)—Strike-tangled U.S. communications were unravelling today with the settlement of a New Jersey telephone dispute bringing to three the number of walkouts ended. But three other wire strikes still were unsettled, and one of these—against the Western Electric Co.—could nullify the effects of the three settlements by keeping phone workers from their jobs. A contract agreement providing a $4-a-week pay increase and fringe benefits was reached early today at Newark, N.J., between the new Jersey Bell Telephone Company and 10,000 striking operators, members of the Communications Workers of America (C.I.O.).

Ohio Bell Telephone workers ended their strike Monday after obtaining pay boosts of $4 to $7 a week, similar to increases granted Michigan telephone workers last week.

Federal mediators are working in New York to settle the strike of 16,000 C.W.A. members against Western Electric, the Bell system's manufacturing subsidiary.

The Western Electric strikers have threatened to use picket lines threatened to keep phone service disrupted in Ohio, New Jersey, Michigan and 40 other states.

In the other deadlocked communications strike, some 30,000 members of the Commercial Telegraphers Union (A.F.L.) are asking wage increases from the Western Union Company. This dispute went into its 13th day today with no settlement in sight.

Plans for extensive picketing by the Western Electric strikers were the objects of twin legal attacks by two Bell subsidiaries Monday. The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Co. in West Virginia accused the union of violating the Taft-Hartley Law and asked the National Labor Relations Board in Pittsburgh to investigate.

In Topeka, Kans., Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. got a temporary injunction barring Western Electric pickets from interfering with phone service in Kansas.

Trapping Easy For Constable

Some men go out trapping muskrat and some pick them up on the street. Sunday evening a large number of people gathered to watch a muskrat trapped under a grating on the east side of George St. just north of Simcoe St. trying to escape.

Constable Louis Rodreque happened along. It was obvious that the rat couldn't get more than his head and shoulders out through one of the holes so the officer seized it and pulled it on through.

But the rat was seriously hurt and the constable decided the kindest thing to do would be to kill it. He later sold the pelt for $1.50.

in labor disputes, but Senator Hubert Humphrey (Dem. Minn.) told a reporter his committee colleagues are certain "to wander into all controversies about the steel seizure."

"I don't see how you can keep that out," Humphrey said, "even though we are not the supreme court but just a committee of congress."

John R. Steelman, presidential assistant who temporarily is running the defence mobilization program, failed to report any progress after his efforts Monday to get the United Steelworkers of America (C.I.O.) and the industry to agree on a new work contract. He said, however, that both sides seemed more interested than before in talking over the deadlocked situation.

Industrial and business leaders from all over the United States were called into a closed meeting here today to review the situation. The meeting of 170 businessmen was sponsored by the U.S. Chamber of Commerce and the National Association of Manufacturers.

Fraser Demands Wide Inquiry

Following an announcement made by the Department of National Defence that arrests will be made after a Petawawa Military Camp investigation, Gordon K. Fraser, M.P., demanded a nation-wide inquriy into thefts and fires in military establishments.

"It is high time for an inquiry into this and a dozen other incidents," said Mr. Fraser. He went on to say that even before the serious Central Ordnance Depot fire in Ottawa last year he had gone to Defence Minister Claxton and Justice Minister Garson and told them that he had people willing to testify that paint was being openly offered for sale by men in uniform in the capital.

Mr. Fraser said that within the last two years there had been serious fires in Ottawa, Camp Borden, Trenton and other defence establishments. He was not satisfied with the information given out about their causes, especially at this time when every taxpayer knows the burden of having to provide more than $2,000,000,000 a year for defence.

Study Progress In Investigation

OTTAWA, April 15 — (CP) — Officials of the army, the R.C.M.P. and the Justice Department will meet here Wednesday to study the progress made in an investigation of alleged large-scale thefts of supplies from the Petawawa Military Camp.

F. R. Varcoe, Deputy Minister of Justice, disclosed that the meeting is to be held. He declined to elaborate. Army and R.C.M.P. officials also have declined to discuss the investigation, pending the laying of criminal charges.

There have been unconfirmed reports that three army officers and two civilians have been named in information forwarded here from the army camp.

The alleged thefts date back a year or more. Stoves, refrigerators, insulating material, cement blocks, other construction materials and scrap metal are said to have disappeared.

Unconfirmed reports have put the value of the missing material at anywhere from $100,000 to $1,000,000.

Army officials state that none of the officers under investigation holds a rank higher than major.

If Armistice Signed Canada To Cut Aid

OTTAWA, April 15 — (CP) — Canada is expected to try to cut her Korean contribution considerably if an armistice is signed.

No final decision has been reached, but eventual reduction of the army force from brigade to battalion size is considered likely to be Canada's aim.

The reduction would, however, probably not be possible for some time after the armistice because there always would be the danger of a new outbreak.

A battalion has 800 men. There are three infantry battalions plus other units in the 25th Brigade, all told some 7,000 men.

Buildings Named To Get Re-assessment

A selected group of factories, stores, hotels, theatres comprises the properties to be assessed by Charles Warnock and Company as proposed to the council by the finance committee Monday night. The motion by Ald. A. B. Burrows was seconded by Ald. Herbert Young. It authorized City Solicitor Huycke to prepare a bylaw giving warrant to the city's agreement and contract with the company of appraising specialists.

The work is to be done in cooperation with the city's assessment department, will be begun in November or December and completed by the end of April, 1953.

The company agrees to extend its services to a Court of Revision if any appeals are brought against the contractual assessments. It will transfer all its records to the assessment department. Charge for the work is $6,000.

In Other Cities

As already reported, re-assessments have been receiving the attention of other municipalities in the province, several of whom have engaged Warnock and Co. for this valuating of buildings that are outside the ordinary properties. The list comprises some fifty manufacturing, commercial and residential establishments.

Some of them are: Canadian General Electric Co., Quaker Oats Co., Nashua Paper Co., Dewart Milling Co., Co-Op Services, Empress Hotel, McGillis Hotel, the Sands and Bateman apartment houses in Ashburnham, Paramount and Odeon Theatres, Cherney Bros., and so on.

Warnock Co. staff includes men of construction, particularly of of experience in the various phases large buildings requiring modern engineering.

Vandals Wreck

tributed for the Red Cross; but in the meanwhile there was no sign of it.

Lights and fixtures inside the schoolroom were smashed and two heavy pieces of furniture—a piano and a new $90 desk for Mr. McLeod—were overturned.

Desk Hacked

Somebody hacked holes in the top of the desk and bashed in the bottom of the drawer to see what was inside. A shower of crayons, thumbtacks, papers, and schoolbooks was their only reward.

Maps of the world, neatly stored in a roller case, were torn off the rollers, covered with ink and stamped on the floor.

A front strip was torn off the piano and glass from broken fixtures was thrown over the keyboard.

This is Mr. McLeod's first year as principal at the school and he has worked conscientiously and hard to give his pupils the best possible in the rural school.

"Perhaps that is the most disappointing thing of all," said Mr. McLeod. He pointed over the pile of overturned desks to a frame picture of Queen Mother Elizabeth. It had been shattered by a flying inkwell.

He said that one of the two front doors were open when he came in Monday morning; but this may have been left unlocked when the vandals left.

There are fresh jimmy marks on the window sill of the centre front window, indicating that this is where they may have got in. Three windows at the rear of the building were unlocked.

An arduous job of cleaning up the school and making temporary repairs faces the school board before the children can be accommodated properly when they come back from Easter holidays, April 21.

Homemaking Classes Said Aid To Students

TORONTO, April 15 — (CP) — Homemaking classes in high school offer great opportunities for helping girls and boys meet the development tasks of adolescence, Helen Finnegan, Vermont supervisor of home-making education, said today.

The former member of the staff of Toronto's Northern Vocational school told delegates attending the home economics section of the Ontario Educational Association's annual convention:

"A development task is one which arises at or about a certain period in th life of the individual. Successful achievement of these tasks lead to happiness and to success in later tasks."

She said some of these tasks are desiring and achieving socially responsible behaviour and preparing for marriage and family life.

Going Too Fast.

John R. Heron of Montreal, public relations adviser for the Royal Bank of Canada, told the convention's Rural Teachers section:

"People's wants, including that for greater leisure time, have been expanding too fast for the corresponding economic facilities to supply them. Fortunately, there is in human nature also the urge to improve our physical environment and to improve intellectually, emotionally and spiritually."

In a later address to the home economics section he said:

"The person who quits learning upon leaving school is giving in to an idea of limited usefulness, limited satisfaction and limited happiness. He is contributing to his own bewilderment and feeling of insecurity in a fast-moving world."

Horse, Axe Injure Bethany Man's Feet

BETHANY, April 15—(ENS)—As a result of two accidents, Morgan Bigelow will be travelling on crutches for the next few weeks. Early in the week, he was kicked by a horse and was able to get about only with difficulty. On Thursday, while attempting to finish up some maple syrup making, he was splitting wood for the fire under the evaporator, when the axe slipped, giving him a bad cut on the other foot which necessitated several stitches. Further examination on Saturday revealed some injury to the bone. He was treated as an out-patient in a Peterborough hospital.

Warkworth WA Plans Supper In Burnley Hall

WARKWORTH, April 15 (ENS)—The Women's Association of Oak Heights United Church held an all-day quilting with pot-luck dinner and supper on Thursday, at the home of Mrs. Edward Covert.

Mrs. Bruce Porter, the devotional convener, was in charge of that period. Her topic was "Lo, I Am With You Always."

Mrs. Tucker presided over the business period. Mrs. A. Pratt, the secretary, gave the minutes. One of the main business items included making arrangements to hold a supper on April 23 in the Burnley Hall with a program following. The following committees were appointed: program, Mrs. L. Tucker, Mrs. A. McMurdo, Mrs. Douglas Langford, Mrs. Jack Potter and Mrs. Alvin Pratt; supper, Mrs. Archie Ferguson, Mrs. W. H. Porter, Mrs. Charles Killingbeck, Mrs. Bruce Porter and Mrs. Jim Sayles.

Donations were received from members including fancy pillowslips and aprons, which found a ready sale.

Peterborough Choir Sings Easter Cantata

MILLBROOK, April 15 (ENS)—The members of Knox Church choir of Peterborough presented their secred cantata "From a Manger to a Cross," in St. Andrew's United Church on the evening of Good Friday. The choir was under the direction of its leader, Mr. William Potter, and the orchestra was led by Mrs. Foster. Before the presentation of the cantata, the Rev. A. M. Butler led in the worship service, assisted by the Rev. H. G. Douglas, of Knox Church, and the Rev. W. H. Heustin, of Grace Presbyterian Church.

Following the service, St. Andrew's choir entertained the visiting choir to a social hour in the Sunday schoolrooms. Miss Estella Hetherington, St. Andrew's organist, and Mrs. G. A. Spicer, choir leader, poured tea. Members of St. Andrew's choir served, assisted by the W.A. under the direction of their president, Mrs. John McKnight.

Backfire Starts Blaze Badly Damages Tractor

ROSENEATH, April 15—(ENS)—Fire Friday badly damaged a tractor owned by Earl George of Roseneath. The tractor backfired and caught fire when Mr. George started it.

A neighbor, Clarke Sandercock, brought his truck to the scene and towed the tractor out of the implement shed. The tractor fire was put out with fire extingishers, and no damage was done to the shed.

Easter W.M.S. Theme

BETHANY, April 15 (ENS). — The April meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of the United Church was held at the home of Mrs. Walter Rowland with Mrs. T. J. Jackson presiding. "Easter gave us the Bible" was the theme of the meeting. Readings on the crucifixion and resurrection were given by Mrs. Ernest Stacey, Mrs. C. Rowan, Mrs. A. Monk, Mrs. W. Rowland and Mrs. M. Porteous, telling the story of Easter and the effect it had on the followers of Jesus. A number of Easter hymns were sung led by Mrs. Clarence Rowan at the piano. Mrs. Rowland served lunch.

$250 Advanced To Subpoena Brant Witnesses

Accounts going through the finance committee Monday night turned up one for $250 to pay for the subpoenaing of witnesses to be called in the Fred Brant enquiry.

It may have been Ald. N. Graham who asked what that bill was as he read it in the list of accounts. The bills corresponding with the list are kept in a box file.

It transpired that City Solicitor Huycke had Chief Constable John Thompson apply for the $250 in advance. It is expected that 24 witnesses are to be called. In serving them, the police have to present money with the subpoena.

"If you don't pay them, they don't have to appear," City Clerk Outram explained.

The note from Mr. Huycke to Chief Thompson commented that the $250 "should carry us through two days."

New Routine.

This variation of the routine of passing accounts leaves every member of the council without excuse for not knowing at any time where the money goes, at least, in these small amounts from $10 up to $5,000, a recurring amount payable to the Utilities Commission.

The six-figure cheques for debentures, and so on, do not go through the committee mill.

For example, the accounts for the building and furnishing of the new city hall were authorized to be paid on the certificate of architects, Marani & Morris. In another instance, that authority might be left with the city engineer for paying sewer contractor's bills or street paving.

Another minor departure from customary procedure was noticed Monday night in the approving of licences.

Applications for licenses, new or renewal are first referred to the police or health departments for their reports. It is on that information the council grants the licenses. This routine is now performed prior to a meeting of the council instead of during a council meeting when occasionally some license or another might be held up by some member's question.

Variety of licenses ranges through various occupations and other activities: milk vending, restaurant, bakery, hair dressing, chimney sweeper, refreshment booths everywhere from the street corner to the biggest industry in the city. One refreshment booth license passed last night was for the Lacrosse Club at Miller Bowl.

Withdraw Nuns As Teachers

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., April 15 (AP) — A Roman Catholic order has decided to withdraw nuns serving as teachers in several Missouri public schools.

Withdrawal notices were received by school members of the St. Thomas and St. Martin's districts near here.

Mother Evangela, head of the St. Louis provincial office of the Sisters of Notre Dame, sent the notifications to the board members but gave no reason for the action.

The nun-teacher issue has resulted in two lawsuits in which the plaintiffs contend paying Roman Catholic nuns to teach in public schools violates federal and state constitutions, which require separation of church and state. Both cases are awaiting decisions in Missouri courts.

Nuns teach in only a small percentage of the state's public schools. The withdrawal order becomes effective next term.

Britain Extends Her Alliance

LONDON, April 15 — (AP) — Britain will announce in the next day or two the extension of her present defensive alliances in Western Europe to cover Germany, reliable informants said today.

A white paper on the subject will not make any basic change in the present military picture since British troops are stationed in Western Germany.

Informants said the statement will make a further step in bringing Western Germany into full partnership with the West and particularly with Britain.

While Britain will not become a full member of the European defence community, it is expected Britain will associate herself in some way with the controlling council of that body.

The British statement will mean that once the E.D.C. is established the E.D.C. as a whole, including Western Germany, can count on British support in case of attack.

Woman 79 Asks Divorce

LAWRENC, Mass., April 15 (AP) — A 79-year-old woman sought a divorce today after 55 years of married life. Mrs. Ellen E. Mathisson told Probate Judge John A. Costello Augustus W. Mathisson left her 18 years ago and has rejected all attempts at reconciliation. The case was taken under advisement.

Mrs. Percy Hartley

Funeral service for Mrs. Percy Hartley, 65, 444 Rogers St., who died Saturday in hospital, was held today from the Lane funeral home to Immaculate Conception Church.

Requiem mass was said by the Rev. Joseph O'Sullivan.

Pallbearers were Samuel McCauley, Edward Crowe, John Hickey, Leo Tobin, Joseph Lynch and Oswald Anderson.

Burial was in St. Peter's Cemetery where the Rev. James Greenan said graveside prayers.

Biggest Farm Income

Statistics on how much people make and what it costs them to live never seem right for the person reading them; these averages must apply to the other fellow, he thinks. So farmers hereabout, even those who spent part of the winter in Florida, may be astounded by the Bureau of Statistics' fact that their income was the highest in history. The cash income of Canadian farmers during 1951 totalled $2,825,000,000. This was $600,000,000 or 27 per cent. more than the cash farm income in Canada in 1950.

• • •

One explanation given for the great increase is that Western grain was in brisk demand, and plentiful; and the United States was buying Canadian cattle at high prices. Ontario farmers may therefore think that all the gravy went to the West. This is not so. In point of fact (the Dominion Bureau of Statistics' fact) Ontario had the largest farm income. Ontario farmers took in, in cash, $793,700,000 last year. It was $678,500,000 in 1950. The record of the other provinces is as follows (the 1950 income is shown in brackets):

Saskatchewan $626,600,000 ($408,300,000); Alberta, $470,400,000 ($368,000,000); Quebec, $433,400,000 ($361,000,000); Manitoba, $260,700,000 ($195,400,000); British Columbia, $119,300,000 ($100,300,000); New Brunswick, $49,400,000 ($46,900,000); Nova Scotia, $45,200,000 ($39,400,000); Prince Edward Island, $26,800,000 ($21,800,000).

• • •

At the same time that farmers were raking in the dollars, they had to spend more for equipment, labour and to feed themselves—as every other business and home in Canada had to do. The prospects of as large an income this year are not at the moment bright, because prices being paid for farm products have dropped. The index for farm prices dropped 11.6 points in January and 12.8 points in February. However, these are not cripplingly low. The last farm index stood at 272.4—that is 172.4 above the general average of the prices farmers got in the years 1935-39. Contrasted with the general cost-of-living index, these prices are still remarkably high. The general index stood at 189.1, 89.1 above the 1935-39 level. Thus the farm price index, that is, the indication of the prices farmers get for their produce, was almost 100 points above the general level of other prices. During the inflationary post-war period farm prices have outsoared all others. That is one reason that the cash farm income last year was the highest it has ever been, by hundreds of millions of dollars.

Let's Drop Women

Heaven forbid that we should glory in anybody's misfortune, but we were able to control our dismay when we read that Gregory Peck had buckled his knee while carrying Miss Ava Gardner over rough ground during a movie rehearsal in Hollywood. The news seemed to us to prove that what may happen to Mr. Peck may happen to anybody, and that men should not be expected to carry women.

Women, of course, love to be carried. It flatters them to conceive of themselves as tiny, ethereal creatures, whom any great rough male can seize in his arms and carry upstairs, across a stream, out of the path of a charging mouse, or anywhere at all. But the bitter fact is that most women are reasonably heavy, and as they are not sacks of potatoes, they have to be carried in a romantic attitude, and not slung over the shoulder, as common sense would dictate.

Most men, in their relations with women, face a situation where the woman expects to be carried. It may be at a picnic; it may be when the threshold of the new home is to be crossed. The man rarely fails in this test. He does whatever carrying is necessary, and bravely conceals the fact that irreparable havoc has been wrought in his inside.

The custom of carrying women originated hundreds of years ago when women were little, half-starved things, quite easily lugged from place to place. But the modern woman, the product of three or four generations of scientific feeding, is a different matter. She should not demand attentions which were more suitable to her great-grandmother, who probably weighed 90 pounds, soaking wet.

Mr. Peck is one of the popular romantic figures of our day, and a highly-paid carrier of women. Miss Gardner was too much for him. Surely it is time that the custom, and the women, were allowed to drop?

Six Abbott Budgets

This may be said for Mr. Abbott's six annual budgets: that they make a dent on the public mind. The reason may be that they also make a hole in the private purse. They have even the dignity—or notoriety—of names.

The first Abbott budget, in the spring of 1947, was a popular success. It cut 29 per cent. off the personal income taxes. "Sunshine Budget", people have called it. In 1948 Mr. Abbott's popularity declined; the "Black Budget" of that year left taxes almost as they were. Another name for it is "Vinegar Budget", because it provided a sixty per cent. cut in the tax on spirits used in making vinegar.

In 1949 Mr. St. Laurent was Prime Minister. A general election was only a few months away. Personal income taxes were reduced by 32 per cent. Delighted Liberals called it a "Miracle Budget"; glum Conservatives (who later took the worst election trimming in their history) called it the "Bribery Budget".

His fourth budget, in the spring of 1950, was "Stand Pat" budget, although some Ottawa wits called it the "Whipping Cream Budget" because the sales tax was eliminated on this and some other commodities.

The outbreak of the Korean war reversed the trend towards lighter taxes. There was an interim "Little Budget" in the fall of 1950, to provide for increased defence costs. The 1951 budget brought new defence taxes; Conservatives called it a Wait-and-See budget. It produced, as we now know, another great Abbott surplus, partly because expenditures for defence fell $200,000,000 short of the estimates.

What name should be given to the budget brought down a few days ago?

The "Tax-Angry Budget", to use Conservative critic J. M. Macdonnell's phrase? "Run-For-Cover-And-Take-It-With You"? In providing for a two billion dollar defence expenditure and no surplus in the biggest budget in Canada's history, Mr. Abbott is ensuring that the Government has lots to spend, even if it does not succeed in finding ways to spend it. But this sixth budget, we must remember, is probably the second last before a general election. If all goes well in the country, we may expect the next one not to be like homogenized milk, but to have a big fat layer of cream on top, to skim off to the taxpaying voters next year.

Canada Exchanges Notes With South Africa

An able apologist for the political and social philosophy behind the present Malan government of the Union of South Africa, A. W. Steward, addressed a meeting of the United Nations Association in Peterborough Wednesday evening. Mr. Steward is public relations officer of the South African High Commission. Our news columns have given a long account of his speech.

We note that while there is much agitation in Canada about the South African government policy to segregate citizens according to colour and racial background, (and to take from some of them what Canadians consider to be political liberties), officially Canada has not said a word about this matter. According to the latest monthly bulletin of the Department of External Affairs, the last two "notes" to be exchanged between South Africa and Canada were:

"Exchange of notes constituting an agreement regarding the temporary suspension of the margin of preference on unmanufactured logs."

"Exchange of notes constituting an agreement concerning the avoidance of double taxation agreement of June 4, 1946."

Such notes get down to brass tacks; hard dollars, soft timber. A country such as Canada does not rush wildly into the middle of another Dominion's racial disputes—not officially. Perhaps we should, but we pretend not to be our brother's keeper. We leave that, in South Africa, to Dr. Malan — and to "Sailor" Malan, the commando opponent of the Malan policies.

NOTES AND COMMENT

A British char woman has just won $210,000 in the football pools. Obviously an expert at mopping up.

The value of gifts which Canadians may receive from abroad duty-free has been raised from $5 to $10. Is that generosity, or just a nod toward inflation?

The human body contains 750 muscles, and after the first spring session in the garden, every one of them has something to say about it.

Books returned to the public library in London, Ont., have been found to contain bacon rinds, a $5 bill, love letters, earrings, and part of a fried egg. Some people lose more than themselves when they become engrossed in a book.

Daniel Francois Malan

By COLIN LEGUM

A FORTNIGHT'S political truce— covering Easter and the Van Riebeeck celebrations —ends today in South Africa, and the Parliamentary battle on the constitutional issue can be expected to resume forthwith.

The crisis has developed over Prime Minister Daniel Francois Malan's refusal to accept the judgement of the Appeal Court that the Separate Representation of Voters' Act conflicts with the Union's constitution.

✧ ✧ ✧

DR. MALAN can be relied upon to puruse whatever drastic policies he considers justified to deal with the situation. His present declared course of action is to abrogate the Constitution by using his small parliamentary majority to force through a motion that will deny the appeal court the right to interpret the validity of any legislation enacted by Parliament. This policy threatens serious conflict between his Nationalist Party, mainly Afrikaans speaking, and the United Party, mainly English-speaking. It also threatens to produce a nation-wide passive resistance movement among the Union's ten million non-Europeans. But these dangers will not deter him.

MALAN, who is now 75 years old, has not mellowed with old age. He has tended to become less flexible, more determined and more confident in his own judgement. His whole public life testifies to the honesty and integrity of a serious-minded person who has seldom flinched from taking unpopular and even dangerous decisions.

As a young minister of the Dutch Reformed Church he defied his community by preaching against the evils of liquor in a district in the Cape Province that relied upon vineyards for its wealth. When he was beginning to develop his Nationalist theories, he studied Marxism and praised the Bolshevik revolution as a fine example of a people determined upon self-determination.

Later, as editor of a Nationalist daily newspaper, he vigorously combatted the policies of General Louis Botha, the popular Boer military leader who became first Prime Minister of South Africa in 1910.

✧ ✧ ✧

AFTER HIS ENTRY into Parliament in 1919, Malan developed strong liberal tendencies and was one of the principal architects of a coalition government between the Labour Party and the Nationalist Party that kept General Smuts out of power for ten years. During this time he was prominently associated with a move in Parliament to secure for Coloured women the right to exercise a vote in common with their menfolk.

It is ironic that the present constitutional crisis hinges on Dr. Malan's attempts to deprive the Coloured people of their right to excise their vote on a common roll with Europeans.

Dr. Malan inexplicably turned from being a moderate and progressive Afrikaner nationalist leader in 1933 when he chose the political wilderness with a handful of supporters rather than enter into a coalition government with General Smuts.

FOR the next fifteen years Dr. Malan was an isolated and unpopular leader of a tiny Afrikaner opposition in Parliament. His nationalism became more intense and his intolerance of other racial groups was strongly affected by the Nazi ideologies that had begun to influence South Africa.

When the Second War broke out in 1939 Dr. Malan challenged General Smuts's decision to involve South Africa on the side of Great Britain. He declared for neutrality, but showed his sympathies as lying unmistakably with the Germans. He offered to sign a separate peace with Hitler after the fall of France.

✧ ✧ ✧

DURING the war years his policies were tinged with anti-Semitism. He wrote about the decadence of British democracy, helped to publicise a Republican constitution for the country, and began to develop his "apartheid" (segregation) programme for all non-Europeans.

IT WAS THE SUCCESS of this "apartheid" appeal that secured for him a slender majority in the first post-war general elections. Since 1948 he has been engaged in putting his "apartheid" theories into practice. But with his accession to power he soft-pedalled his republican ideals and preached the importance of membership of the Commonwealth of Nations, provided only that Britain did not attempt to interfere in South Africa's internal affairs.

Although Dr. Malan has often changed his ground and turned against his allies at critical times, he has never shirked the responsibility of fighting against hopeless odds on unpopular issues. Once he has made up his mind he has proved inflexible in following the paths of duty. Always he derives great strength from a strong belief that he, as leader of the Afrikaner nation, has a divine mission to fulfill by keeping Africa safe for European settlement. (OFNS Copright).

LEONARDO DA VINCI — SELF PORTRAIT

LEONARDO was born outside the small town of Vinci near Florence five hundred years ago today, on April 15, 1452. His mother was a village girl; his father was a lawyer who in the same year married into the nobility of Florence. This marriage was childless, and Leonardo's father took him into the house before he was five.

In an age when princes and cardinals boasted that they were conceived out of wedlock, this was not an unhappy beginning. Yet something withdrawn in Leonardo's character, his remote and secret air, his lack of male sensuality, and his lefthandedness, may be the marks of his divided boyhood.

LEONARDO remained his father's only child for another twenty years. He moved with him to Florence and there was apprenticed to the artist and goldsmith Verrocchio. He was strong, handsome, gifted, and endlessly curious. By the time he was twenty, in 1472, he seems to have been the leading painter in Verrocchio's workshop. The story goes that Verrocchio had already given up painting because Leonardo, in helping him with a commission, painted a more life-like angel than his master. It is a story told of other great painters; yet the evidence in Verrocchio's "Baptism" bears it out. There is an angel in it which has unmistakably the tender, inhuman, dedicated touch of Leonardo. But more than the angel, it is the grass and the rocks which show that exact and passionate observation and that desolate imagination which play like sheet lightning under all Leonardo's work.

Whatever the reason, Verrocchio stopped painting and turned wholly to sculpture. He modelled the great condottiere on horseback who still stands in Venice, and in 1481 he moved there to work on the statue and did not come back. That year or the next, Leonardo left Florence with a silver lute shaped like a horse's head, and played it to Ludovico Sforza, Duke of Milan, nicknamed the Moor. He remained at his court in Milan for eighteen years, from the age of thirty until 1499 when he was nearly fifty.

• • •

WHAT took Leonardo from the graceful Florence of Lorenzo Medici the Magnificent? What kept him in the turbulent wake of the dark Ludovico Sforza? Certainly Leonardo's interests had already grown away from the literary Platonism of Florence. Step by step he wanted to observe, to discover, and to invent. There is a mounting impatience, in Leonardo's notes as well as his drawings, with all that merely catches an effect—a movement or a likeness—of light, of water, of face or flower. He wanted to understand and to uncover, layer by layer, the muscle under the skin and the bone under the muscle. He was in a rage to know.

• • •

THERE is a beautiful portrait which Leonardo painted soon after he came to Milan, of a mistress of Ludovico holding in her arms his emblem, a stoat. Yet the picture is more cruel than either of the handsome heads it paints, because it matches the skull behind the girl's temples with the stoat's, and the bones of her hand with his paw. The man who painted it is less an artist than an explorer; and the portrait is less a likeness than a work of discovery—an emblematic research into anatomy and character together.

Leonardo had first offered himself to Ludovico Sforza as a military engineer. But he had said by the way that he could model a condottiere on horseback, as Verrocchio had done. Ludovico wanted such a statue to commemorate his fighting father. Leonardo planned buildings and canals for him, designed court masques and invented machines; but always he came back to the postures and the mechanics of horses and men.

THE monumental horse was made in clay and set up in 1493. But it was never cast. Next year, Ludovico had to send off the bronze which had been gathered for it to found cannon. He was intriguing with the French, with the Turks, and with anyone else who might be an ally against the other City-States of Italy. But in the upshot it was Ludovico and Milan that fell. The French finally defeated him in 1500, and their archers in fun shot the great clay horse to pieces. Nothing remained in Milan of Leonardo's eighteen years but the "Last Supper," which he had painted in his last years there, and which began to moulder on its damp monastery wall even before he died.

After 1500 we have the feeling that Leonardo is never again at rest. In 1502 he was military engineer to Cesare Borgia in one of his most treacherous campaigns. Next year he went back to Florence and did settle down to paint. Florence had been shaken by its own storms. The Medici had been turned out in 1494; Savonarola had preached fire, and had been burned at the stake in 1498. Now Florence wanted paintings of its battles; Leonardo began one, crowded with horses and fallen men, and Michelangelo another. Neither was ever finished. Instead, Leonardo spent four years in painting the second wife of a man of no standing. This is the haunting portrait of Mona Lisa.

IN 1508 Leonardo went back to Milan. There he made studies for another huge rider and horse, this time to honour the condottiere in the service of the French who had defeated his patron Ludovico Sforza. But no monument was made. In 1513 he went to Rome, where Michelangelo and Raphael were painting for the new Medici Pope, Leo X, son of Lorenzo the Magnificent. But nothing came of Leonardo's plans to work there. At last, in 1516, Leonardo was offered a quiet sanctuary by the King of France; and there he died, seeming older than his sixty-seven years, on May 2, 1519.

It is plain that, from his middle years in Milan, Leonardo had a growing distaste for the work of painting. He was impatient of the mere skill of art, in himself, and in others; and when he tried to explore nature below the surface delight, he seemed never to reach an end. He drew, he wrote, he calculated endlessly, in that lucid, nervous mirror-writing which, like everything else, he made for himself, and which lay almost unread for two hundred and fifty years. For the last half of his life, he bent his whole mind not to imitate but to unfold nature.

HIS scientific interests reached back constantly to anatomy. It is the structure and the function of the animal organs from which his mechanical insight always begins and to which it always returns. The lever and the pulley, the joint and the gear have for him a kind of living reality in the body, so that even his mechanical inventions from the rolling-mill to the windvane and the helicopter, have an odd hint of organic structure. He was above all fascinated by the problem of flight; and though, here and elsewhere, he missed the impossible demands of power which his machines would make, what he did is not to be brushed aside.

Was Leonardo's then a scientific mind? He made nothing that we should call a scientific theory, because he lacked the gift to isolate those abstract concepts on which such theories hang. Yet in an age still dominated by Aristotle and the categories of Aquinas, this was a shortcoming on the right side. For Leonardo was in the end an explorer, as much as Columbus was. And his insight was always instant and astonishing. He wrote "The sun does not move" before Copernicus. He thought of sound and of light as waves. He understood that perpetual motion is impossible before Galileo. He read the rings on trees and the history of fossil shells.

Unbending, prodigal and perverse of his gifts, baulked, Leonardo lived in the richest and the most menacing age in Europe. He left barely a handful of great paintings, the ruins of the "Last Supper," the "Mona Lisa" drowned in a green sea of varnish, and a mountain of notes and sketches. Yet the shape and the stamp of that inexplorable, discovering mind stand round and solid in his violent time. More than that, suddenly we see him and his age as altogether modern. Leonardo da Vinci the universal man is rounded in another dimension than those which he saw so miraculously, and leans forward through time five hundred years to our day.

Manufactured in Canada's NEWEST, MOST MODERN PLANT

WHITE ROSE
TODAY'S BEST MOTOR OIL
brings you these 10 outstanding advantages

1. IT'S HOMOGENIZED—Now being used exclusively in Canada by Canadian Oil Companies, Limited, homogenization is the latest advancement in the processing of Motor Oil. This technique disperses all ingredients so thoroughly that they remain permanently in solution. Thus, they perform their various functions rapidly and efficiently.

2. LOWERS OIL CONSUMPTION—The lower oil consumption of the new White Rose Motor Oil is due to its high Viscosity Index and the heat resistant properties of the mineral oils it contains.

3. KEEPS MOTORS CLEAN—Detergent and dispersant additives hold dirt in suspension so that it drains away at regular oil change intervals.

4. PREVENTS ACID ACTION — The new White Rose Motor Oil neutralizes the harmful acids which form in every engine as by-products of combustion—one of the major causes of engine wear.

5. FIGHTS WEAR—Gruelling road-tests across Canada under the supervision of an independent testing laboratory—(Donald Inspection Limited) proved that, with the use of the new White Rose Motor Oil, there was no appreciable wear on engine parts.

6. INCREASES GASOLINE MILEAGE — The cleansing action plus the high film strength of new White Rose Motor Oil enables piston rings to operate freely, thus sealing the combustion chamber. This assures more efficient use of fuel.

7. PREVENTS ENGINE RUST—New White Rose Motor Oil penetrates and clings to engine parts . . . counteracting one of the greatest causes of engine deterioration.

8. FLOWS FREELY—Low cold-test properties enable the new White Rose Motor Oil to flow freely at low temperatures. This aids cold weather starting and gives instant protection to all vital parts.

9. RESISTS THINNING—Even under operating conditions of extreme heat, the new White Rose Motor Oil resists thinning, and keeps a protective film of oil between vital engine parts.

10. SUPPRESSES FOAM—The new White Rose Motor Oil provides a bubble-free oil film—offsets oxidation—reduces oil consumption—gives complete protection to all lubricated surfaces.

No doubt still needing a haircut, Hi Lee pushes off this week for a four-month grappling tour of Africa and the Middle East, we see by the London paper. Wonder if his back still aches from the bench blow he received here last week from angry grapple fans along the Rue Brock. Another mat note is to the effect that Warren Bockwinkle— no stranger here — owns a soccer club in St. Louis and seven of his players have been named to the U. S. A. Olympic team! Must have quite a club, eh? Warren wants to know why Canada isn't sending a soccer team to the Olympic summer games. That we don't know.

Many puck refs are returning home, counting their dough and checking up on income tax angles. We wouldn't take the job for love or money, but quite a few philosophical gees take the work, the abuse and the money in stride, Most of 'em are honest, conscientious and fairly capable performers. Few of them lose their heads during a game, being ice diplomats and knowing that penalized players invariably burn up momentarily. Some are "homers," even if they don't realize it— they listen a little to the roars of a home crowd and lean slightly toward the home club. But not many, fortunately. Some even lean too far the other way. A tough task, but the pay is pretty fair.

The only reply we got from acting secretary Bill Hanley of the O. H. A. on our request for info re the Eagles suspension was this wire Monday: "Eagles suspended automatically until they appear before the O. H. A. executive as per letter to Horace Guppy, April 7th." So, nothing definite has been done apparently as to a suspension next season, though a spring meeting of the O. H. A. will deal with the matter. As we said yesterday, it is unlikely that any of the players will continue under suspension, but one or more of the club officials may get it. Eagles' players are very loyal to the club sponsor, D. A. McGillis, who has treated them generously at all times.

Evening Up Semi-Finals.

Surprising enough, nearly a thousand puck fans showed up at Civic Arena, last e'en to see Toronto Lyndhurst and Stouffville Clippers in a semi-final senior "B" tilt. And they saw a fine fray, fast, rugged and with some real smart hockey dished up. Lyndhursts won it 5-0 and were full value for the win. Displayed plenty of foot, a dandy passing game, close checking and ace netminding. They're a rather nondescript bunch of puckists to see 'em at first, playing with but 11 instead of 14 men, and having plenty of holes and patches in their sweaters, but they can play hockey. It tied up the series, the third one is tomorrow at Stouffville and then here again Friday, a best-of-seven affair. Ref. Maurice Walsh got two nasty cuts on the face in the second and had to retire, Jim Crombie carrying on.

* * * * * *

Some senior "B" changes are likely for next puck season in our grouping. Kingston expect to be accepted into a setup down Ottawa way, figuring on fewer long trips. Oshawa interests are working to set up a senior "B" squad and the Motor City would be a welcome addition. Stouffville Clippers wouldn't mind travelling as far as Peterborough for league games, but then Belleville would be at the other end of the line. Lindsay Muskies say they might be built up to senior calibre by 1953 but not before. Whether one or two Peterborough clubs will operate again is uncertain just now. Officials might work out an eight-team group in two sections with an interlocking schedule.

Can't Force Ball Clubs To Allow Broadcasts

CHICAGO, April 15 (AP). — The United States Federal Court has ruled that major league baseball clubs cannot be forced to make their games available to the Liberty Broadcasting Company of Dallas, Tex, for its "Game-of-the day" broadcast.

Judge John P. Barnes Monday denied a request by Liberty's lawyer for a temporary injunction directing 13 of the big league clubs and the Western Union Telegraph Company to make details of their games available for broadcast purposes.

The decision was apart from the network's suit for $12,000,000 damages from the 13 clubs, presidents of the American and National Leagues and baseball's commissioner.

Nuns Sponsoring Amateur Boxing Show

VANCOUVER, April 15 (CP). —The Sisters of the Child Jesus, an order of nuns in suburban North Vancouver, have turned their hand to something new. They're sponsoring an amateur boxing show this weekend.

The event is the two-day Indian boxing championships of the Pacific northwest—better known as the Buckskin Gloves—Friday and Saturday.

Alex Strain, coach of St. Paul's Athletic Club, and Andy Paull, president of the North American Indian Brotherhood, had difficulty raising $50 for a deposit on the auditorium where the fights will be held.

"The Sisters went into a huddle and came up with the required cash deposit," Strain said Monday. "It is probably the most extraordinary kick-off for a boxing show in history. But it illustrates the spirit behind the promotion of this effort of ours."

The guest of honor will be Jim Thorpe of Memphis, Tenn., the great all-round Indian athlete.

St. Paul's gym is the athletic centre for the Squamish Indian village in North Vancouver. Strain got $1,000 from the village council and, using it and an amazing talent for scrounging, started building.

An example of Strain's scrounging, he needed hand bandages for his fighters in the Buckskin Gloves. At St. Paul's church in the Indian village he found strips used to lower coffins into graves.

"They're perfect for bandages" he said. "We'll knock 'em dead."

Winnipeg Defeats Windsor A.K.O. 52-46

WINNIPEG, April 15 (CP). — Windsor A.K.O. and Winnipeg Light Infantry meet tonight in the final game of their best-of-five series to decide Canada's 1952 junior basketball champions.

Winnipeg defeated the eastern team Monday night 52-46 to deadlock the series 2-2 and force the fifth game. Light Infantry led all the way but were hard pressed in the third quarter when Windsor narrowed the point-spread to 44-42.

Both teams appeared nervous in the final quarter and shooting was ragged.

The turning point in the game came in the final minutes when Bill Hutton, Winnipeg's six-foot, five-inch centre, sank his only two points of the game to give his team a four-point lead,

ELMER LACH plays a bank shot into the Detroit cage off Terry Sawchuk's pads in Saturday's Stanley Cup encounter but the elegant one's marker was not enough. Bert Olmstead is wheeling in from the left and Referee George Gravel is in the background. Wings won again Sunday.

THE HEAVENLY TWINS—Detroit fans call Marty Pavelich, left, and Ted Lindsay, the "heavenly twins." Shown relaxing after the game each scored a goal Saturday night as the Red Wings defeated Montreal Canadiens 2-1 at Montreal to take a 2-0 lead in the best-of-seven Stanley Cup final series. Coach Dick Irvin of the Canadiens grumbled that Detroit gets all the breaks. "Even Lindsay's game-winning goal—it rebounded off goalie Gerry McNeil, hit Butch Bouchard and bounced in," Irvin said. Wings won the third game too.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

A brutal, block-busting brawl looms in Wednesday night's middleweight title bout in Chicago between champion Sugar Ray Robinson and challenger Rocky Graziano. But neither fighter is expected to be hurt financially.

Interest is so intense that a sellout crowd of 19,000 is expected at Chicago Stadium. Revenue for gate, television and radio of about $340,000 would mean $84,000 for the champion and $70,000 for Rocky.

Slugger Graziano goes into the fight a 3-1 underdog to Robinson who will be 32 next month. Rocky is 29.

They say in boxing circles, however, that a slugger fades more slowly than a boxer and, that, the champion is.

Graziano is trying to recapture the 160-pound crown he held four years ago. His relentless, slegdehammer blows have flattened 52 foes since he turned pro in 1942. He has won 67 while losing eight fights.

Robinson, the dapper, dancing executioner of boxing, has scored 85 knockouts in his 130 wins and two defeats since he made his debut in 1940.

Philadelphia Athletics announced Monday the optioning on 24-hour recall of Joe Coleman, their once-strong righthander, to Ottawa of the International League. Coleman once hurled for Toronto in the same league. He has been troubled with a sore arm.

Curt Simmons, southpaw pitcher, who rejoined Philadelphia Phillies last week after a season in the armed services, got a raise in his 1952 contract for a job well done two years ago. He won 17 games in 1950, helping the Phillies to a pennant. "It will take a few weeks before I can even think of throwing in relief," Simmons said of his possible return to form.

Gil Turner,, Philadelphia's unbeaten welterweight, scored a seventh-round technical knockout Monday night in his home city over Chico Varona of Havana, Cuba. Varona refused to come out for the seventh, claiming he was sick at the stomach from "low blows." It was Turner's 31st straight victory.

The greatest harness racing season in the eastern United States is expected this year. The season gets under way under the lights tonight at Yonkers, N. Y., before an expected crowd of 25,000. Seventeen crack pacers are named for the race so it will be split into two sections.

Brooklyn Dodgers of the National Baseball League will hold their annual Canadian tryout camp this year at Brantford, June 24-27. Bill Harris, the club's Canadian scout, said at Toronto Monday the Dodgers will send coaches for the sessions.

Pitcher Billy Pierce of Chicago White Sox was turned down for medical reasons yesterday at Detroit when he reported for induction into the U. S. Army. He returned to Chicago where he is slated to hurl the Sox opener against Cleveland Indians. He won 15 games last year.

GOOD NEWS FOR PHILLIES—Sgt. Curt Simmons, ace southpaw for the Philadelphia Phillies, greets his wife, Dorothy, on arrival at Washington National Airport from Frankfurt, Germany. Simmons expected to be discharged from the Army at Camp Kilmer, N.J., and will be back in baseball togs before the season opens today.

Hall Winds Up In Major League

ST. LOUIS, April 15 (AP). — Dick Hall packed his duds for college but instead wound up in a major league uniform.

And tonight the 19-year-old native of Towson, Md., will not only be seeing his first big league baseball game but playing it as well.

Dick was all ready to go back to Swarthmore College this spring and get a degree in economics. But Pittsburgh Pirates took a shine to the youngster at their rookie camp and persuaded him to stay over.

And so a guy who never played a professional game will be at third base for the Pirates in the season opener against the St. Louis Cardinals.

Hall started out the spring exhibition grind at first base. In the last few games he's been at the hot corner.

How does he feel playing his first professional game in a major league uniform? A little nervous.

"Third base? I haven't played there very much but I'll certainly give it the best I can. I hope I make it either there or at first base. I didn't expect to be up here playing in the opening game, though."

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

No doubt those of us who engage in summer sports are busy right now, organizing for the coming season. We imagine this would apply to the golf clubs, baseball, the lacrosse team and the lawn tennis club. We know, definitely, it applies to the lawn bowling club.

It seems that each year we lose members, for one reason and another, and it is obvious that if we are to survive as a sporting organization, we must replace the lost members with new material.

It is the duty of the membership committee to contact all of last season's players and to note their intentions, also to look for new members. It's not an easy job, but it has to be done. The committee figures on having so many schedule rinks, and having that as a target they must find members.

We suggest that if you would like to join up with the club, contact chairman K. Sloane (3415), secretary F. H. Dearborn (8660) and they will be only too glad to give you all the information.

Our sport is not professional, or semi-pro, it's strictly amateur—it's played out in the open spaces by men and women. Age is no obstacle—there are no loaded dice—no phoney decks—it's all before you and you get out of this game just what you put into it.

It's an honest, healthy sport and the fee is quite reasonable. Incidentally, the club was the first club in the city to instal floodlights. We play in the morning, the afternoon or the evening—the clear blue sky is the roof.

Think it over, and if this sport appeals to you, come right along.

BILL STACK, above, who tackles a newcomer, Herb Larson, in the opening bout of tonight's wrestling card at the Brock. The main event brings together strutting, arrogant Hans Herman against the speedy and clever Zorra. This event should provide plenty of action and fireworks. The semi-final is between Warren Bockwinkle and Strangler Bob Wagner.

Lyndhurst Squad Victors Over Stouffville, 5-0 To Sew Up Senior Series

Lyndhurst Motors of Toronto blanked Stouffville Clippers 5-0 here last night before a thousand fans to even up their O.H.A. best-of-seven senior "B" semi-finals at a win each. The third game is tomorrow in Stouffville, and the fourth one back here on Friday. The Motormen led 3-0 in the first and 4-0 going into the third of a fast, close-checking tussle, earning the win with a good territorial edge on play in every frame. The victors were short three players and they drew seven of 11 penalties, but still looked better.

Referee Maurice Walsh of Toronto was injured late in the second period when struck accidentally on the face by a stick in a play by the boards. He was cut severely on the nose and near the eye, and had to retire from the game for medical attention. Referee Jim Crombie of Bowmanville and enlisted the aid in the third of Linesmen Dick Ouimet and Herb Payne of Peterborough, the O.H.A. paying their expenses. Despite some rugged checking and a bit of high-sticking, play was kept well under control.

Got Two Each

Norm Gray and Freddy Haughton scored a pair each for Toronto with Bob Finlayson getting the other. Tom Campbell aided on a pair, single assists going to John Scott, Earl Clements, Russ Robertson and Finlayson. Goalie Jim Irvine was impossible to beat in the victors' net. The Clippers were checked so closely throughout that they had few real good scoring chances at close range, though they battled hard all the way.

Gray got back from an early tripping penalty and Jack Watson was off when Lyndhursts scored two fast ones. Gray got the first around the net from Finlayson and R. Robertson, and then, Haughton's hot shot with Campbell's pass beat Stunden. Later, Haughton made it 3-0 from Campbell on a close-in rebound at the side. Gibson was gated for elbowing and Deans followed for interference, but all were back and Lyndhursts were pressing at the gong.

Added Another

Finlayson intercepted at the blue line and wormed through fast right in on goal to tally at 4:10. Gray and Rose went over for holding and it was hot and even. Deans blinked the light but the punck was not in, hitting the post. Campbell was chased for holding and play was held up when Referee Walsh was hurt and had to leave. Deans drew a high-sticking penalty late in the period, with the Toronto team having more of the play again.

Stiff checking was seen in the third. Haughton's goal was offside and didn't count. B. Watson was waved away for charging but was back when Gray counted the last one from Clements and Scott with a slap shot on a passout at close range. Lyndhursts kept pressing, despite their lead, and nearly notched a couple of more markers, but Clippers got in for a few close thrusts, too. Gray got the air for charging and R. Robertson for tripping, leaving them two shy for half a minute, but Clippers were checked to a standstill. Teams:

Stouffville: Goal, Stunden; defence, Baker and Petch; centre, B. Watson; wings, Stark and N. Bangay; alternates, Gibson, Stevenson, Rumney, R. Bangay, J. Watson, Bell, Rose and Machin.

Lyndhursts: Goal, Irvine; defence, Campbell and R. Robertson; centre, Gray; wings, B. Robertson and Clements; alternates Finlayson, Couch, Scott, Haughton and Deans.

Referees, J. Crombie and M. Walsh.

Summary:

First Period

Lyndhursts—Gray (Finlayson, R. Robertson) 7:26

Lyndhursts—Haughton (Campbell) 7:42

Lyndhursts—Haughton (Campbell) 8:11

Penalties—Gray, J. Watson, Gibson, Deans.

Second Period

Douglas Takes Greensboro Open

GREENSBORO, N. C., April 13 (AP).—Dave Douglas won the $10,000 Greensboro open golf tournament by a stroke Monday with an assist from the rule book.

Douglas finished with 69 for 277, a stroke ahead of Bobby Locke of South Africa. Sam Snead lost a chance to tie for first place when assessed a two-stroke penalty for a rules violation. He dropped to a third-place tie at 278 with Ed Oliver and Jim Ferrier, Canadian open champion.

Snead was charged with two strokes for dropping his ball closer to the hole out of a lateral water hazard on the short 17th Snead actually played the hole in five strokes, including one for dropping the ball, but the added penalty gave him a seven and cost him his chance to win the tournament a fifth time.

THE Calvert SPORTS COLUMN

by Elmer Ferguson

Sporting gestures, in which this column is primarily interested, dot the sports scene. That's traditional. There'll be many of them this year, as in every other year. Amateur and professional sport will both contribute their quota.

But at year-end, we doubt if you'd find one to excel, in its spontaneous spirit, that developed in Montreal, before a fantastic hockey crowd, one night last January.

You'll require a bit of background, perhaps, to more fully appreciate this. Maurice (The Rocket) Richard, is the idol of Montreal sportsmen. What Babe Ruth and Christy Matthewson were to baseball; what Lionel Conacher, Red Grange and Jim Thorpe were to football, the Rocket is to Montreal's vast hockey public, plus. That January night, Canadians were playing one of their bitterest rivals, the powerful Detroit Red Wings, and as an additional attraction, if one was needed, Richard the Rocket was to receive the award in recognition of being the Hockey Player of 1951, so selected by and for an American magazine devoted to sports.

So it was, in reality, a Richard night, a Richard crowd, come to pay homage to an idol. But, unbelieveably, because of one spontaneous sporting gesture, the whole show was stolen by Richard's arch-enemy of the National Hockey League, right-wing ice lanes, quiet, hard-shooting young Gordie Howe of the Wings, who just then was battling Richard tooth and nail for the N.H.L. scoring lead.

It wasn't that Richard, unable to play because of injury, and clad in civvies, didn't get a great ovation when he stepped out on the rubber runway, while players of Red Wings and Canadiens stretched in a line across the ice pounded on the ice with their sticks to make their own contribution to the occasion. It wasn't that Mayor Houde, a master-craftsman of words in such events, didn't speak with eloquence. All that went smoothly as per routine schedule.

When the presentation was finished, and Richard had marched back to the promenade and was just about to disappear into the crowd, Howe suddenly skated away from his position, wheeled over, and called out "Hey, Rocket!" When Richard turned, Howe doffed his glove, extended his hand, and the two rivals for top goal-getting honors in the National Hockey League shook hands warmly.

It was a sort of genuinely unrehearsed spontaneous gesture that caught the big crowd completely by surprise. Montreal crowds are appreciative of dramatic moments and color in sport, and they felt, rightly, that here was one of them. For a few seconds there was stunned silence. Then this crowd who had come to cheer the Rocket blasted out a thunderous roar that even exceeded the warmth with which Richard had been received, because this cheer was for an event unexpected. It was a cheer unrehearsed, and thoroughly, warmly genuine.

Before young Howe skated quietly back to his right wing position, a press photographer asked him to shake hands again with Richard, but Howe, no actor, had already contributed a sincere gesture, and was in no mood to add any studied theatrical touch and shook his head smilingly.

And after that, he went on to score the goal that put him even with the ailing Richard. And the pro-Canadien crowd cheered him again, even for that.

Your comments and suggestions for this column will be welcomed by Elmer Ferguson, c/o Calvert House, 431 Yonge St., Toronto.

Wings Can Make History By Chalking Up Fourth Win

By JACK SULLIVAN

DETROIT, April 15 (CP)—This is the night Detroit Red Wings can reach their greatest heights since the club joined the National Hockey League 26 years ago. It also can be a black-bordered chapter in the big league life of Montreal Canadiens. That's the situation as the two clubs get set for the fourth game in the best-of-seven Stanley Cup final at Olympia Stadium before an expected sellout house of more than 14,000 fans. Statistically, the figure filberts are having a big time this series. They have everything taped in event the Red Shirts complete the cycle and record victory No. 4 over the Flying Frenchmen in the trophy chase. Following up their four straight dumping of Toronto Maple Leafs in the preliminary round, this would give Detroit an unblemished playoff record for one season, something never accomplished since the best-of-seven series started in 1939, and the odds are all with the Red Wings. The Canadiens due to an assortment of injuries, simply aren't flying. Added to that, they battled through seven hard semi-final games before getting past Boston Bruins while the Wings rubbed out the Leafs in the minimum number and marked time until Montreal was ready.

The injuries hit Canadiens where it hurts most—down the middle—depriving them of the necessary depth to hold out the rested and well-conditioned league champions.

Growing List

Canadiens first lost Long John MacCormack, their sweep-checking defensive centre, at the tail-end of the season. Centre Ken Mosdell joined MacCormack in the sick bay during the Boston round and Billy Reay moved to the sidelines in last Saturday night's game at Montreal which Detroit took 2-1. That left veteran Elmer Lach as the only regular pivot man. If Reay, out with an injured foot, isn't ready for tonight's game coach Dick Irvin will use Gerry Edmundson up this season from Kitchener Greenshirts of the O.H.A. who has played one league and one playoff game for the Montrealers.

"We won't know about Reay until tonight," Irvin said. "He will try out the foot shortly before the game and if it is no go we'll use Edmundson."

Goalkeeper Terry Sawchuk has at least a chance of tying the playoff shutout record of four held jointly by Frank McCool, formerly of the Leafs, who turned he trick in the 1945 series against Canadiens and Wings and Dave Kerr in the 1937 playoffs with New York Rangers against the old Montreal Maroons and Wings. Terry now has three The statisticians also point out that if the Wings win the trophy it will be the fifth time they have taken both the league title and Stanley Cup, more than any other club in the history of the N.H.L. Wings have won both in 1936, 1937, 1943 and 1950.

250,000 Fans Likely See League Openers

A turnout of 250,000 fans was expected at baseball parks in eight cities today to listen to the cry of "play ball" as the 1952 major league season officially opened.

Despite the loss and impending loss of such topnotch performers as Ted Williams, Joe DiMaggio, Bobby Doerr, Gerry Coleman, Monte Irvin, Willie Mays and others, the new season gave promise of new thrills and excitement to match those of previous campaigns. Nearly all clubs were dotted with new faces and many of them appeared in the lineup today.

A majority of the experts and the odds-makers installed Cleveland Indians 9-to-5 favorites to win the American League pennant, with the Yankees second choices at 2 to 1. In the National League the Brooklyn Dodgers were also 9-to-5 favorites and New York Giants 2 to 1.

President Harry S. Truman, the only switch hurler since William Howard Taft started the presidential pitching custom in 1910, was to throw out the first ball in Washington where the Senators engaged the Red Sox. A crowd of 32,000 expected to see a pitching duel between southpaw Mel Parnell (18-11) and righthander Bob Porterfield (9-8) of the Senators.

Largest Crowd

The day's largest crowd of some 52,000 including Queen Juliana of the Netherlands was expected to attend the Tigers-Browns opener in Detroit. The veteran Dizzy Trout (9-14) was the Detroit pitching nomination. He was to be opposed by Ned Garver (20-12). Four rookies—outfielders Jim Rivera and George Schmees, infielder Leo Thomas and catcher Clint Courtney—were to start for the Browns.

St. Louis Cardinals were to raise the curtain with a night game in St. Louis before 30,000. Murry Dickson (20-16) was named to take the hill for the visiting Pittsburgh Pirates against Gerry Staley (19-13) or Cliff Chambers (14-12).

The Giants expected 35,000 for their home opener with Philadelphia Phils. Sal Maglie (23-6) was set to start for the defending National League champions against Robin Roberts (21-15).

Davey Williams was to be at second base for the Giants. Bob Elliott, obtained from the Braves only last week, was to replace the injured Irvin and bat in the cleanup spot.

Cold weather was expected to hold the crowd down to 10,000 at Boston. The Dodgers were guests of the Braves. The Braves were to feature a rookie-infused lineup behind ace southpaw Warren Spahn (22-14). The Dodgers relied on their veteran array including lefty Preacher Roe (22-3).

Philadelphia expected 25,000 to watch the Athletics tangle with the world champion Yankees and try to end righthander Vic Raschi's jinx over the A's. Raschi (21-10) holds a 20-2 lifetime mark against Philadelphia. The A's nominated Alex Kellner (11-14).

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press

New York Rangers, with Frank Boucher scoring both goals, defeated Montreal Maroons 2-1 at Montreal 24 years ago tonight to win the Stanley Cup. The bitterly-fought game in which 21 penalties were awarded returned the cup to the United States for the first time since Seattle won it in 1917.

Pitcher Ed Wright Signed By Athletics

PHILADELPHIA, April 15 — (AP).—Pitcher Ed Wright, former Boston Brave and Toronto Maple Leaf righthander, will be signed to a Philadelphia Athletics contract today, general manager Arthur H. Ehlers has announced.

Wright, 31, was obtained by the A's during the winter when the Philadelphia club bought five players from the New York Giants after taking over the Ottawa International League franchise. He had been on the Ottawa roster.

Manager Jimmy Dykes said he was impressed by Wright's control and side-arm sinkers.

Turner Wins 31st Victory

PHILADELPHIA, April 15 — (AP).—Gil Turner and Kid Gavilan are all but signed for a welterweight championship bout in Philadelphia's Municipal Stadium this summer—unless the Philadelphian's fiasco with Chico Varona Monday night upsets the apple cart.

Turner, unbeaten 21-year-old Negro belter at 145½, won his 31st straight victory and 25th by kayo when Varona from Havana, Cuba, weighing 143½ refused to answer the bell for the seventh of Monday night's scheduled 10-rounder. The Cuban and his manager, Allie Zack, bitterly protested that Turner threw "17 low blows."

Varona told referee Zach Clayton he was "sick in the stomach" and refused to leave his corner.

"The referee refused to warn Turner and wouldn't take away the rounds for low punching," Zack said. "My boy wasn't getting a fair break. His spirit was broken."

After being informed by two commission physicians that there was no physical evidence on Varona's body of low punching, John Dagrosa, Pennsylvania State Athletic Commissioner, held up the Cuban's purse and set a hearing for today.

GIVEN BOXING CONTROL

Boxing boss Bob Christenberry was given iron-fisted controls on Monday over the fight game in New York State under the terms of a bill approved at Albany by Governor Thomas Dewey. The measure gives the chairman of the State Athletic Commission power to purge "criminal scum" from boxing to adopt and enforce new safety regulations to reduce ring fatalities and injuries, and to give boxing fans better breaks.

Lumber Kings Subdue Stratford 7-4

STRATFORD, April 15 (CP).—Cully Simon's Pembroke Lumber Kings put their much-publicized size and experience to good use here Monday night and walked off with a convincing 7-4 victory over the smaller but speedier Stratford Indians.

The win Pembroke's first of the best-of-seven series—set them back in the Eastern Canada Allan Cup finals and cut Stratford's lead in the playoffs to one game. The Indians took the first two 5-3 and 3-0.

Fourth clash of the semi-finals is scheduled here Wednesday night with the series survivors moving west to take on either Edmonton Pats or Fort Francis Canadiens for the senior Dominion title.

The clubs were deadlocked at 1-1 at the end of the first period, but Pembroke broke loose in the second and led 4-3 by the finish of the stanza. Outscoring Stratford 3-1 in the final session they clinched the issue.

Outshot Indians

Outshooting the Indians 41-35, Pembroke had an edge over almost all of the game. The Eastern Canadian Hockey League champions checked their smaller opponents at every turn.

Dinny Flanagan led the Stratford goal-getters with three while Billy Flick added the other. Roy Giesebrecht notched a trio for the winners while Hub Anslow collected a pair and Jack Carthy and Stan Maxwell came through with singletons.

Carthy—along with playing-coach Cully Simon and his brother Thain — was outstanding along the Lumber King blue line while Fred Murphy starred in the Pembroke team's nets.

Titanic Sank 40 Years Ago, 1,513 Lost Their Lives

NEW YORK, April 15—(AP)—It was 40 years ago today that the unsinkable Titanic sank.

No peacetime deep-sea disaster, before or since, took more lives.

The Titanic went down with 1,513 men, women and children. Only 711 were saved.

Sunday, April 14, 1912, the new 45,000-ton Queen of the Atlantic run was steaming westward on her maiden voyage from Southampton to New York. She moved under clear, starlit skies, in a serenity of superlatives. The Titanic, everybody said, was the newest, biggest, most luxurious, safest liner afloat.

Late in the afternoon, the air became cold and damp, the decks were deserted.

In the evening an Anglican clergyman led a large group in a hymn-singing in the D-deck salon. By 11, most of the passengers had retired.

On the bridge, watch officers saw only black, calm seas. The Titanic sped on at her full 21 knots.

About 15 minutes before midnight, at a point some 450 miles south of Cape Race, Newfoundland, the crow's nest lookout sounded the alarm bell. The first officer also had sighted the peak of a huge iceberg. He shouted to the quartermaster to starboard the helm.

The huge ship responded but her forward motion was so great she slid obliquely against the iceberg. There was a gentle lifting motion.

Many passengers paid no heed.

Hull Ripped

Below, the Titanic was dying. The submerged bulk of the ice mountain had ripped open the double hull of steel plates and the seas rushed in.

The wireless crackled out distress signals. At least seven ships heard the pleas but only the cruise ship Carpathia, 48 miles away, was to be of any help. (Later she gathered the survivors, carried them to New York).

The Titanic's giant engines stopped. Apprehension spread among the passengers as they gathered on deck.

The order went out: women and children first into the 16 lifeboats —and the lifeboats only had room for one-third of the people aboard.

Some women elected to stay with their husbands. Many had no choice. Fame and fortune had no vote. Those remaining behind included John Jacob Astor, Benjamin Guggenheim, Isidor Strauss.

The bow of the Titanic began to dip. But the first lifeboats, were only partly filled with women and children as they swayed down toward the dark sea.

On the slowly sinking deck, the ship's orchestra played and people aboard and in the lifeboats sang "Nearer My God To Thee."

At 2:20 a.m., Monday, April 15, about 2½ hours after the collision, the Titanic's lights went out. The stern rose, machinery was torn loose and everything moveable rushed in a great roar toward the disappearing bow.

Western Ont. Liberals Re-elect President

LONDON, April 15 — (CP). — Russell Daly of Guelph was re-elected president of the Western Ontario Liberal Association here Monday. Russell King, London, was re-elected secretary, while William Boos, Kitchener, was re-elected treasurer.

A resolution adopted voiced the association's continued confidence in the leadership of Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent and his government.

Ben Schachar, Brantford, and Wilfred P. Gregory, Stratford, were elected to represent the Western Ontario Association on the Ontario Liberal Association as vice-presidents.

Hon. Paul Martin, Minister of Health and Welfare, defended the policies of the Federal Government in the realms of national defence and citizen welfare.

For 50 years we have used little white tablets—acetylsalicylic acid—for relief of pain. Today this familiar pain-killer is available in a new form without the disadvantages of acidity, insolubility and bitter taste. It is called DISPRIN and is sold at druggists everywhere.

DISPRIN is soluble and substantially neutral. When taken in water as recommended, it enters the stomach as a true solution and not as undissolved particles. It is therefore less liable to cause stomach discomfort.

DISPRIN is readily absorbed. Because it definitely dissolves (not merely disintegrates) DISPRIN permits speedy absorption and gives quicker relief.

DISPRIN is palatable. Even children will take it readily.

Those passing Confederation Park Monday were dazzled by the bright canary yellow slickers worn by the parks' department men while doing their spring cleaning. On the rather dull day the new uniforms stood out more than usual. At any rate the slickers rivalled the attempted safe blowing at Duffus Motors as the main topic of discussion at the various coffee clubs.

COLLEGE STUDENTS GRADUATED on Monday from the Eastern Pentecostal Bible College for the first time since the college moved to Peterborough a year ago from Toronto. Twenty-six students who have completed the three-year theological course received their robes and diplomas. Chatting over the past events (left photo) Hubert Mills, Pembroke East, Bermuda; Roy Cowie, Yorkshire, England, and George Eizenga, Friesland, Holland, were among the graduating class. Peterborough was represented in the class (upper right) by Hilda Robbins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Robbins, 743 Duffus St., and Harold Collins, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Collins, 599 Bolivar St. Ruby Barton of Toronto (lower right) gave the valedictory address. —(Examiner Staff Photos)

North Monaghan Places Ban Wartime Houses

Temporary wartime houses of the so-called Hatton project will be excluded from the township of North Monaghan.

That was the effect of a decision by the township council on Monday with Reeve Willard Waterman presiding. The council simply invoked its building by-law against enquiries of certain prospective purchasers of some of the houses.

The bylaw provides that no building may be moved within the township or into the township without permission.

Non-Permanent Construction

Monaghan council rated these houses as of non-permanent construction, built only for temporary occupation during the war.

City council has been pressing Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation to clear the former Hatton property by June 30, 1953, of the 125 houses which were constructed for incoming wartime workers in local factories.

Complying with the city's demand and agreement, Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation as successor to Wartime Housing Limited, has notified the tenants that they must give up possession by the end of next December. Present occupants are being offered a chance to buy the houses, and the city has stipulated that the buildings must not be set up elsewhere within the city limits.

Assumption has been that they would be transferred some way and somewhere into one of the townships. It was believed that they could be transported whole, in the case of the smaller houses, or in sections, and set up on permanent foundations beyond the city's borders.

Bible College Graduates First Class In Peterborough

More than 1,500 attended the graduation exercises of the Eastern Pentecostal Bible College in the Brock Street Arena Monday night. Twenty-six students who have successfully completed their three-year theological course at the college were presented with their diplomas. Members of the class have called themselves the Crusaders.

Although they are the 13th class to graduate since the institution was first established as a training college school for Pentecostal missionaries, they are the first class to graduate since the school was moved to the old Nicholls Hospital buildings here, from Toronto, last summer.

Two Local Students

Two Peterborough young people, Hilda Robbins and Harold Collins, were among the 13 men and 13 young women who graduated. Two members of the class, Ethelyn Van Lowe and Hubert Mills, are from Bermuda. Howroyd W. Cowie from Yorkshire, England, Robert Locher of Johnstown, Pennsylvania, and Olive Killingbeck of Rochester, New York, are the three other members of the class who came to Canada to attend the college.

A one hundred voice student choir and the college faculty was assembled on the stage, as the graduates, dressed in black academic gowns, took their places on the platform.

"Let your lives be an example to the non-believer and to those to whom you minister," the Rev. C. A. Ratz, principal of the college told the graduates before the diplomas were presented. "We have prayed and worshipped together, and God has blessed us. Now, at the eve of departure, you face a cold world, but hearts have been warmed and kindled by the word of God and set aflame by His spirit," said Mr. Ratz.

Thanks Teachers

In her valedictorian address, Ruby Barton of Toronto paid tribute to the teaching staff for their "enthusiasm" and personal interest which individual faculty members took in the students during their years at the college. Miss Barton also expressed the gratitude of her fellow-students "for the gracious hospitality of Peterborough and Toronto Pentecostal churches in making our surroundings pleasant."

The members of the graduating class: William R. McKinnon of New Westminister, B.C., and Pauline Vaters of St. John's, Newfoundland, delivered short inspirational addresses. "Happiness is a will-o-the-wisp," said Mr. McKinnon. "The world speeds on toward destruction, but God spreads forth a stream of glorious light," he continued, "giving assurance and hope for the future."

Miss Vaters declared that to lose the vision of missions would be to lose the true mission of the church of Jesus Christ. Asserting that the gospel alone can assure rest and peace, Miss Vaters said, "Every missionary enterprise is in a sense the work of Christ and every means of propagating the gospel of God should be used today."

Student Choir

During the graduation service, the student choir, under the direction of the Rev. F. H. Parlee, musical director of the college, sang four selections: Handel's Hallelujah Chorus, the Crusaders' Chorus, Overshadowed by George Schuler and Charles Gabriel's Awakening Chorus.

After the opening hymn, the Rev. G. B. Griffin of Toronto delivered a prayer of invocation. The Rev. B. L. Embree of the college staff read the scripture. The Rev. E. Vaters of St. John's, Newfoundland, said the closing benediction.

Illness prevented college president, the Rev. W. H. Found, from attending the ceremony.

The following is a complete list of the graduates:

Addison, Ronald C., New Glasgow, N.S.; Barton, Ruby, Toronto; Collins, Harold, Peterborough; Cowie, Howroyd W., Yorkshire, England; Dusenbury, Audrey D., Brighton; Eizenga, Georre, Exeter; Gib, Audrey, Dundas; Hansell, Joy E., Winnipeg; Hoover, Cecil J., Toronto; Jeans, Edwin H., Bishop's Falls, Nfld.; Jones, Bernice, Kilbride, Ont.; Jones, Robin, Kilbride; King, Roy, Bishop's Falls, Nfld.; Killingbeck, Olive, Rochester, N.Y.; Locher, Robert, Johnstown, Penn.; McKinnon, William R., Westminster, B.C.; Mella, Margaret, Lachine, Que.; Mills, Hubert, Pembroke East, Bermuda; Montgomery, Gwendolyn, Toronto; Ostler, John, Kenora; Peever, Howard, Commanda, Ont.; Robinson, Eileen, London, Ont.; Robbins, Hilda, Peterborough; Smith, Hazel, New Bandon, N.B.; Van Lowe, Ethelyn, Somerset, Bermuda; Vaters, Pauline, St. Johns, Nfld.

City To Help Young Pakistani

Peterborough is willing to cooperate with the federal and provincial governments in the reception of 12 young men from Pakistan who are expected here about the middle of June.

That was the sentiment expressed in a motion by Ald. J. A. Dewart and Ald. A. B. Burrows at a meeting of the finance committee of the council Monday night. The story of the visit of the Pakistani was published in the Examiner recently from an interview with Mayor Waddell.

The federal department of External Affairs and the provincial department of Municipal Affairs are joining hands in affording the visitors facilities of studying methods of government in this country.

Five Weeks In Ottawa

They will spend five weeks in Ottawa before coming into Ontario to observe the methods and practices of local government. The young men from the eastern Commonwealth are university graduates who have already become civil servants by test examinations. Their appointments indicate their specializing in governmental administration. Plans provide for them to be paying guests in private homes as a means of extending their contacts with Canadian people, and observing the way of life in this country.

"All we can do at present," said Ald. Dewart, "is to wait for further information as to what is expected of us."

Kingston, Belleville and Peterborough have been selected as average cities affording typical example of municipal administration. Possibly, a few days will be spent by the Pakistani in visiting the rural community in their quest of further information which may be of use to them in their country.

Parking Meters Out Charlotte St. Committee Urges

Extension of the parking meters on Charlotte St. from Aylmer St. to Park St. was one of the proposals from the special traffic committee which the finance committee recommended Monday night for the approval of the council. Mayor Waddell presided in the absence of Ald. T. D. Miller.

Three service stations are located in that stretch, and City Engineer Chalmers has been asked for a report on the metering of their frontages. One comment was: "They are taking up all their frontage now".

Ald. S. J. Black asked: "What about the medical centres? Doctors park near them."

City Clerk Outram, a member of the traffic committee said that metering should be a benefit to the public, giving people a chance to park in the vicinity of the clinics.

One Hour Parking

The one hour parking limit is being extended to:

Hunter St., both sides, from Aylmer to Bethune St.

Simcoe St., both sides, Water to Queen St.

Queen St., both sides, Simcoe to Hunter St.

Simcoe St., both sides, Aylmer to Bethune St.

Those changes will go into effect when signs are set up by the City Engineer.

Complaints have been received from residents on those streets that cars are left parked "hour after hour".

Chief Constable Thompson is being asked to have a survey made of parking on a network of streets in the concentrated factory district. They include: Lake St., Aylmer, Townsend, Wolfe, Stewart, Rubidge, Park, Reid up to Dalhousie St., Chamberlain, Albert, Monaghan Road and others.

The council is asking Chief Thompson for a report embodying a considered policy. Bus drivers reported frequent difficulty during the winter in negotiating double lines of parked cars on Park, Chamberlain and Monaghan Road.

The Night Problem

The traffic bylaw is to be amended, reducing from six to four hours the time limit for parking anywhere. This change is aimed at the cars that are left at curbs all night. Experience has shown that night police, marking cars for time check, often ended their shifts before the lapse of six hours. The result was in such cases that they did not complete their parking scrutiny.

All night parking has tended to prevent snow removal from the streets in winter and pavement flushing during summer.

"What about parties in private homes?" Ald. Rehill enquired.

Ald. Herb Young provided the answer. "Make it read 'four hours after midnight'."

The trafic committee concurred in a recommendation which had been mentioned elsewhere in council for signal lights at Reid

Brant's Future Still Undecided, Inquiry Thursday

A new question mark has arisen concerning the future of Fred Brant. In a few days, he will be sufficiently recovered to leave hosptial. However, what will happen to him when he is discharged remains as much a puzzle today as it was more than two months ago when he was taken to hospital from a cell in the county jail.

His feet were so severely frozen that all the toes and about an inch of each foot had to be amputated. Brant was serving a ten-day term for vagrancy in January when it was first discovered one of his feet was frostbitten. The day after Brant was released after serving his term, he was taken five miles out of the city in a police cruiser and left along the highway.

That night, Brant returned to his home town of Lindsay where he spent the night in the town jail. For the next five days, until he again appeared in police court, here, the thermometer hovered around and below zero. Brant was again sentenced for vagrancy. This time, he was given five days.

Both Feet Frozen

Later that day, he was taken to hospital, after it was learned that both his feet were severely frozen. During the last couple of weeks, Brant has been learning to hobble about on what he has left of his feet and if he were an ordinary patient he would have been released by now.

However, city council decided to hold an inquiry into the circumstances of Brant's arrest and release. Judge F. J. MacRae of Whitby will be the presiding judge, with R. D. Humphries of Oshawa acting as counsel.

After being postponed, the inquiry which was to have started April 2 will begin Thursday and in the meantime, Brant is remaining in hospital.

At one time, Brant was an inmate of the House of Refuge in Lindsay. Since he will still be unable to look after himself, Major Harry Everitt of the Salvation Army has been trying to get Brant readmitted to the institution.

So far, his efforts have failed. He has just received a letter from Brant's sister, Mrs. Bruce Higgins of Haliburton. Mrs. Higgins enclosed a letter from F. L. Weldon, clerk-treasurer of Lindsay, which states that Brant's application has been discussed by the County Home Board of Management and there is no room for him at present or for some time to come.

To assist him when he gets out of hospital, The Examiner started the Fred Brant Fund which has now climbed to $295.00, with the promise of $100 from The Examiner when the fund closes to match D. A. McGillis' donation of $100, the largest single contribution so far received.

Still a Patient

At least until the inquiry is over, Brant will remain an indigent patient at Civic Hospital. After that, his future is a big question mark. However, every dollar that is contributed by Examiner readers to the Fred Brant Fund will be used by Major Everitt who is administering it to help Brant get properly established.

Meanwhile, Major Everitt is continuing his efforts to try and find a suitable place for him and he is hoping to line something up before the end of the inquiry when the problem will have to be dealt with.

The following are the contributions which have come in since the last total of $284.50 was published on April 3:

Labor Council To Survey Hatton Property Residents Being Forced To Leave

Will Present Brief To City Council Protesting Removal Of Families From 125 Wartime Houses

A brief is going to be presented to city council outlining the attitude of the Hatton property residents who must get out of their 125 "wartime houses" by the end of December. This statistical survey is being undertaken by the Peterborough and District Labor Council (C.C.L.) who have protested the removal of the substandard houses until such time as alternative accommodation can be offered by the city. Included in this survey, the Labor Council decided Monday night, will be information on other tenants in the city who need separate housing accommodation.

"The city could show a moral responsibility in this matter without costing them a cent," said William Triggs, Local 293, United Packinghouse Workers of America (CIO-CCL). "All they have to do is renew the existing agreement with the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation for a year or so."

Mostly Veterans

Thomas Cupoli, Local 570 International Union of Electrical Radio and Machine Workers (CIO-CCL), said: "Right now the people there don't know what's going to happen to them. I think we should push this matter. . . Don't forget that about 90 per cent of them are veterans of the First or Second World War."

(The 125 houses, now owned by the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, were built for the temporary accommodation of wartime workers. Because of the emergency the construction standards were not up those demanded in the city building bylaw.)

(A number of west-end residents objected at the time on the grounds that the substandard dwellings would depreciate their own property. It was finally agreed that the houses should be removed by June 30, 1952. By agreement, this has been extended to June 1953, but the tenants must vacate by Dec. 30, 1952.)

(Disposal of the building is the responsibility of the C. M. and H. C. but the city has 30 days for considering purchase of the property when those houses have been removed.)

Housing Survey

President Ed. Humphrey of Local 434, UPWA, suggested the canvass of the Hatton property residents to get their reaction. He also suggested a general canvass of the city to decide on how serious the housing situation is here.

"Our objective should be to keep the people living in the 'wartime houses until' other houses are built on the new subdivision," he said.

Lorne Bebee said city officials hope to have houses built on the subdivision by fall, but there were no guarantees.

"Let's get these people organized," said Mr. Triggs. "It's city council's responsibility. The residents should stay right there until council is ready to find them other accommodation."

He dismissed the objection of westenders as "unimportant."

William Whibbs, Local 524, IUE, said the Mayors and Reeves Association, together with the councils of various municipalities should "pressure" the provincial and federal governments to get "decent housing at a reasonable rent for working people."

"Right now housing is a political football," said Mr. Whibbs. "But if all municipalities would put pressure on provincial and federal governments we'd really get something. . .Instead they are relying on private enterprise which can't do the job."

Orville Martin, Local 599, IUE, said a local union is already at work canvassing the housing needs of the Hatton property residents. Presumably their findings will be handed over to the Labor Council.

JOE MacKENZIE

Joe MacKenzie Representative Of CC.L. Here

Joe MacKenzie, a trade unionist for 27 years, has been appointed field representative for the Canadian Congress of Labor, servicing Peterborough. He succeeds Ernie Evans who died last August while on vacation.

Mr. MacKenzie is no stranger to Peterborough. He organized the second campaign of the International Union of Electrical Radio and Machine Workers (C.I.O.-C.C.L.) when they made their bid to supplant Local 524 U.E., as bargaining agents for 3,600 production workers.

The issue came to a vote last June 26 and was won by the U.E.

Mr. Mackenzie first became a trade unionist in 1925 when he served his apprenticeship in the printing trade. He worked for a while in the rubber industry in Toronto and later became an organizer of the United Rubber Workers of America (C.I.O.-C.C.L.)

In January 1950 he was made a field representative of the C.C.L. Then he was given the difficult task of organizing the unemployed. He became executive secretary of the National Federation of Unemployed Workers.

From there he was sent by Congress to assist the Hamilton civic workers in their negotiations with the city, nearly two years ago.

His next "troubleshooter" role was organizing the second I.U.E. campaign in Peterborough. After the vote was lost he transferred briefly to the Political Action Committee of the Ontario Federation of Labor. He is a onetime president of the O.F.L.

Mr. MacKenzie then became an organizer in Sarnia with the Oil Workers International Union (C.I.O.-C.C.L.) And from Sarnia he was transferred back to Peterborough as a field representative.

His headquarters will be Peterborough but he will service C.C.L. locals over a much larger—as yet undefined—area.

Here his principal job will be servicing four locals, directly chartered to the C.C.L. They are the two Outboard locals, Silverwoods' employees, and the Auto Workers.

Board Proposes Regulate Water

WASHINGTON, April 15 (AP) —A Canadian-American board proposes to set the flow of water from Lake Superior into the lower Great Lakes at an initial May 1 rate of 114,000 cubic feet a second. This compares with a 121,000-cubic-feet-a-second rate May 1, 1951.

The reduced flow, said the International Lake Superior Board of Control Monday, "will provide some measure of relief to shore properties" endangered by near record high water levels of Lakes Michigan and Huron.

It also will keep Lake Superior near the maximum level fixed by the International Joint Commission, said the board in sending its recommendation to the commission, which must aprove it.

Involved is the setting of the Sault Ste. Marie compensating gates which control the flow from Lake Superior through the St. Mary's River into Lakes Huron and Michigan.

Child Killed on Walk

STRATFORD, April 15 (CP)—Joseph Vertulia, 4, sitting on his tricycle in front of his home, was killed Monday night when an automobile knocked over a telephone pole, crashed into a wire fence, mounted a sidewlak where a group of children played and crushed the tricycle and the boy. Police held George Wood, 40, St. Paul's, and John Heimpel, 34, Stratford, said to have been the driver of the car.

REACH FOR A RENNIE

WHALING SUSPENDED — A workman starts to cut up a finback whale landed at Hawke's Harbor, Labrador, by the Polar Whaling Company. He stands on the blubbery tongue while cutting at the base. The whalebone (baleen) through which the big mammal filters the water after filling its mouth with food is the fringe-like growth on the top jaw. Whales will roam the waters off northern Newfoundland and Labrador in peace during the 1952 May-November season. The two companies operating in the area have announced they won't open their plants this year because of low prices and loss of European markets.

No Worse Than Others

30% Of Teachers Maladjusted OEA Told

TORONTO, April 15 — One teacher in 10 has a nervous breakdown, 20 per cent of all teachers have a real need for improving their mental health, and 30 per cent are socially and emotionally maladjusted, an Ontario Educational Association meeting was told Monday.

The statistics were given by R. S. Devereux, instructor of teachers in training at London Normal School, to the Ontario School Inspectors' Association. He said there was no place where a wholesome personality is more important than in the classroom. The personality of a teacher was tested in one way or another every minute of the day.

"Even at that," he added, "teachers are no crazier than other people. In fact they seem to be less so, from the figures available from mental hospitals."

The emotional and personal characteristics of the teacher affect every pupil in the class, he noted. Great care was needed in selecting prospective teachers with the proper characteristics. Traits needed were self-assurance and confidence, zeal for knowledge, ability to accept criticism, and ability to treat students impartially.

Need Interviews

It has been found that personality tests do not reveal much about prospective teachers, he said. The personal interview was better. There is now more stress on mental health during the teachers' training course, he revealed. This is coupled with the better selection methods.

Harold Whitley mental health consultant in Toronto schools, said during a panel discussion that a teacher's prime need is unconditional acceptance of a child as he is. The child may be dirty and smelly but the teacher must convince him she likes him, he said.

Mr. Whitley listed the main needs of children as affection, the feeling of belonging, achievement and recognition, freedom from fear and guilt, the need for self-respect and economic security.

Dr. C. G. Stogdill, director of Toronto Board of Education's child adjustment services, said one of the main goals of schools should be to help children develop so that they are socially capable.

Mental health was discussed by another O.E.A. group Monday. Dr. C. Gilbert Wrenn, of the University of Minnesota, told the training section that the personality of a great teacher must include intellectual understanding of the task, technical skill in performance, and emotional coloring in expression.

Laugh At Peculiarities

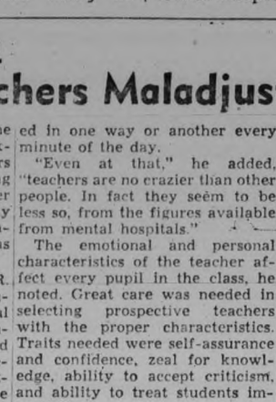
"Teachers should recognize and laugh at their own peculiarities and mistakes instead of brooding over them," he said.

He urged teachers to practice small courtesies toward their fellow workers and students, and thus reaffirm respect for the integrity of the individual personality.

To improve mental health, he told delegates, they should express enthusiasm and show color in dress and manner, build beauty into their lives through music, art, literature, human contact and religion, and admit the reality of good and evil.

French Reds Losing—Vanier

MONTREAL, April 15—(CP)—Maj.-Gen. George P. Vanier, Canadian Ambasador to France, said Monday that Communism is on the downgrade in France.



MAJ.-GEN. G. P. VANIER

"The hold of Communism in France is weakening," he said. "There is no doubt about it. The symptoms of its recession are many. The Communist press at the end of 1944 had a circulation of 2,600,000. In March 1947 (circulation was) 1,500,000. A recent figure given is 1,000,000—and this in spite of vigorous campaigns to increase circulation."

Addressing the Canadian Club of Montreal, Gen. Vanier said Communist representation in the 627-seat Assemblee Nationale, France's House of Commons, had dropped from 180 deputies to 100. Communist unions have control of fewer than half the workers they led in 1946, he said.

5 Policemen Resign

WINNIPEG, April 15—(CP)—Five members of the city police department, including two men involved in an alleged beating-up of Polish immigrants a month ago, have resigned, Chief Constable Charles MacIver said Monday. The resignations were requested in a tightening-up of discipline within the department.

No Sensations Coming In Wanger Case

SANTA MONICA, Calif., April 15 (AP)—The Walter Wanger shooting case, which Hollywood expected would produce some sizzling courtroom testimony, goes to court today—but there'll be no sensations.

Prosecution and defence counsel agreed Monday to let a judge decide the 57-year-old producer's fate on the basis of testimony before the grand jury.

The county grand jury indicted Wanger, one of filmland's most respected moviemakers, last Dec. 18 on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon with intent to commit murder.

Five days earlier in a Beverly Hills parking lot, while his wife, actress Joan Bennett, looked on, Wanger shot her agent, Jennings Lang, 39. Lang was seriously wounded in the groin but is now up and around again. Wanger said he did it because Lang "broke up my home." Miss Bennett and Lang said their relationship was strictly business.

Lang, Miss Bennett and 10 other persons had been subpoenaed by the prosecution to testify in what was expected to be a bitter, lengthy trial. Now there will be no testimony. Superior Judge Harry J. Borde will read the grand jury transcript and decide the case, probably within two weeks.

Withdraws Plea

Wanger, who if convicted could be sentenced to from one to 16 years in prison, pleaded innocent and innocent by reason of temporary insanity. His counsel, Jerry Giesler, said Monday the insanity plea will be withdrawn. He added that he will plead with the court to reduce the charge to assault with a deadly weapon, a lesser offense for which the penalty would probably be a jail sentence.

The grand jury transcript contains testimony by seven witnesses —policemen, doctors and attendants at a service station near the scene of the shooting. It contains no testimony from the principals.

Giesler has said that if the case went before a jury he intended to introduce in evidence Wanger's personal diary together with reports from private detectives to back up Wanger's accusation that Lang stole his wife's love.

The Wangers, estranged since the shooting, were married in 1940.

Toronto Boy Wins At Verse-Speaking

TORONTO, April 15 (CP). — John Douglas of Toronto Monday won the dramatic division of the Ontario Educational Association's annual verse-speaking competition.

Christine Gajewski of Toronto won the lyric division.

Harry Waite and Sally Knox, both from Sarnia Collegiate, received honorable mention.

Sixty-three Ontario secondary school students took part.

Basic Concepts Of Education Need Re-examining Teachers Told

TORONTO, April 15 — (CP) — Norman J. DeWitt of the University of Minnesota, said Monday night it is time to re-examine the basic ideas behind modern systems of education.

He was one of several speakers who examined education at various meetings in connection with the 92nd annual convention of the Ontario Educational Association.

He told the Headmasters' Association that science has discovered that knowledge cannot be reduced to an intellectual system—all the pieces of knowledge man now has do not make an intellectual pie.

Knowledge now is contained in an "open system" in which "we can't find any intelligible sum of things." Learning is getting less and less organized.

Should Turn To Past

Mr. DeWitt suggested that education should "consult the judgment of the past." Academic freedom means a freedom to retreat from reality and choose the problems that will be studied. "An academic or scientific approach to the problems of education leads away from life."

Education should turn to the past for advice "but reserve judgment for ourselves."

Laurentine Collins, director of the School of Community Relations, Detroit, told the headmasters that the community should be used as a laboratory for education.

Basic needs for love, a sense of achievement and belonging and relative freedom from fear, must be met or all efforts to equip young people for life will be futile.

Speaking to the Canadian Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation, J. R. H. Morgan, superintendent of Toronto secondary schools, defended the progress made by schools.

Disintegration Of Home

There was no evidence that the three R's were not being adequately taught today. Attacks on schools have come largely because of the "disintegration of the middle class home" and the "bankruptcy" of the churches in caring for children.

Dr. C. E. Hendry, director of the University of Toronto School of Social Work, outlined some faults found in education by the students.

He told the Ontario School Inspectors' Association that students felt the emphasis was too much on "academic verbalism" and not on education for living. The lecture and examination system failed to test basic knowledge.

The most disturbing criticism was that some teachers lacked emotional maturity and moral adequacy.

The Ontario Federation of Home and School Associations passed a resolution urging the province to impose a 15-mile-an-hour speed limit in school zones. The federation also asked that home economics and shop work classes be made obligatory in elementary and secondary schools.

Lesser Players In Films Often Interesting

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, April 15—(AP)—Sometimes there is more interest in the lesser players on a movie set than in the stars.

For instance, the set of "The Plymouth Adventure," sports such well-known personalities as Spencer Tracy, Gene Tierney, Van Johnson and Leo Genn. But chatting amiably in a corner was Owen McGiveney, last of the quick-change artists.

"I am the last," McGiveney said sadly. "When vaudeville was at its peak, there were as many as 20 quick-change acts. But when vaudeville died, the quick-change act disappeared, except for mine."

In case the youngsters have never seen one, a quick-change act is one in which the actor performs a variety of roles by means of lightning changes of costume and make-up. McGiveney's act was the most famous of its kind.

Started In England

"I started it back in 1910 in England," he recalled. "I was playing in the Legit and we came to a town where a man owned a Legit house and a music hall next door to each other. He told me he paid £30 for the entire Legit troupe, but next door he paid as much as £100 for a single performer. I decided I was in the wrong end of the business."

McGiveney quickly became a headliner, but disappeared from sight after the demise of vaudeville.

After the Second World War, a doctor told him the English climate was bad for his lungs. So McGiveney put in a call for Ken Murray, who was enjoying a long run in "Blackouts" in Hollywood.

"I've been looking all over the world for you," said Murray. "I want you to join the show."

"How long is the run?" the quick-changer asked.

"Two years," replied Murray. McGiveney came to Hollywood and stayed in the show three years.

At present, he is returning to his first profession and has played a number of character roles in films.

Milk Price War In New York State

MIDLETDON, N.Y., April 15—(AP)—A milk price war broke out here Monday. Three dairies slashed prices from 24 cents to 19 cents a quart for Grade A milk.

Richard F. Mates, head of Mates Dairy, claimed the price-cutting was "in retaliation" against his firm because it has been selling milk at 70 cents a gallon jug for the last year.

Rev. William McDonald Curling Fan, Turns 80

Still keenly interested in curling, although he hasn't done any for the past few winters, the Rev. William McDonald last week contributed a handsome trophy to the Peterborough Curling Club for competition between the men's and women's rinks.

Last week was a double celebration for Mr. McDonald, who has been retired from the ministry since the early 1940's. He celebrated his 80th birthday then.

But last week wasn't, to him, the most eventful. Last October 28 and 29, he spent two days in Read's Mills, near Kemptville, celebrating the 50th anniversary of the church there and the 50th anniversary of his ordination in that church.

On October 28, 1901, the church was dedicated, and on the following day, Mr. McDonald was ordained. After his years there, he moved to Lanark, near his birthplace of Almonte, in Lanark county.

There he spent seven years, moving eventually to Sudbury. In 1926, he came to Peterborough, and in his own words:

"As soon as I saw it, I knew this was home."

For 10 years, Mr. McDonald was minister of Knox United Church, among whose congregation he is still well remembered In 1936, he moved to Thornton, near Newmarket, where he spent the last years of his active ministry, retiring in 1939.

On his retirement, as he had promised himself, he came to Peterborough to live. His home is at 39 Dennistoun Ave.

Of the church, he said it stands pretty much as it was at the time of church union, although he feels many ministers in the United Church are overburdened by what he calls "over-organization."

"Unless a minister has some capable lay help, he will find himself with more than enough to do. There are a lot more organizations in the church today," says Mr. McDonald.

The transition from the Presbyterian church to the United church was not too difficult, he feels, and seemed natural. "I still refer to myself as a progressive Presbyterian," he said.

He does not attend church too often, because his hearing has failed in the past few years. A member of Trinity United, Mr. McDonald said he preferred to listen to services on the radio, as he could hear them better that way.

Tombstones Pushed Over

LONDON, April 15 — (CP) — Twenty-four tombstones were pushed over and damaged in St. Peter's Roman Catholic cemetery during the weekend. Police believe the depradations are the work of a gang of boys in the northeast section of the city.

Operating Costs

TORONTO, April 15 (CP)—The cost of operating Toronto during the current year averages out to $89.69 for each resident, Controller Leslie Saunders said Monday night. He told council this is an increase of $6.67 over 1951 in an estimated population of 654,000. The city's gross budget amounts to $76,386,247.

Asked Not To Sign

ST. THOMAS, April 15 (CP)—The Milk Producers' Association Monday advised members in the St. Thomas and Elgin districts to refuse to sign contracts with the Carnation Milk Company at Aylmer on the basis of $3.25 a hundredweight. The Ontario Milk Board set the price at $3.50 but the company offered $3.25.

Mine, Oil Trading Give Canada High Position

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

Canada's mines and oil wells are big business for her stock exchanges.

The trading in mining and oil shares is so heavy that, outside of New York, the Toronto, Montreal, Calgary and Vancouver exchanges each see more shares bought and sold in a year than any other among the 24 exchanges of the United States and Canada.

Total values of the shares traded give a different standing, but with Canadian exchanges still taking high places, though New York stands out by itself in this category.

In number of shares traded, Toronto, on the basis of 1951 figures, is in New York's league, and in value, third only to New York and New York curb. Montreal is fourth in both shares traded and in value; Vancouver sixth in shares traded and in value; Vancouver sixth in shares traded and 11th in value; Calgary fifth in shares and 12th in value; Winnipeg Stock Exchange, 16th in shares and 19th in value.

In values, Mid-West, San Francisco, Boston, Los Angeles, Philadelphia-Baltimore and Detroit, in that order, trail Toronto and Montreal, but are ahead of Vancouver and Calgary. Following Vancouver and Calgary, in order, are Cincinnati, Pittsburgh, Washington, New Orleans, Salt Lake, Spokane, Winnipeg, San Francisco, Richmond, Wheeling, Colorado and Chicago.

Total Shares Traded

The total number of shares traded on all Canadian stock exchanges in 1951 was 807,967,798, compared with 723,1010,981 in 1950; and their value was $2,070,159,696, compared with $1,623,633,775.

The 1951 values of shares traded in New York and on the Canadian exchanges, with the number of shares in brackets, were:

New York $18,215,456,183 (642,801,678); New York Curb $1,610,671,701 (126,112,323); Toronto $1,174,246,840 (561,466,831); Montreal Exchange and Curb Market $804,996,796 (108,239,072); Vancouver $56,178,087 (51,264,920); Calgary $33,572,927 (84,674,464); Winnipeg $1,165,046 (2,322,511).

45 Poor People Get Gift Of Bread, Cheese

BIDDENDEN, Bedford, England, April 15 (Reuters)—Forty-five poor persons got two loaves of bread and a half-pound of cheese each here Monday because of a bequest by Siamese twins who lived 800 years ago.

The gifts have been made every year since 1134 when Elisa and Mary Chulkhurst — joined together at the hips and shoulders—died.

Money to pay for the bread and cheese comes from 20 acres of land left by the twins, who lived to the age of 34.

Perfect Landing

LISBON, April 15 (Reuters)—Casimiro Veiga, 55, was riding his horse toward his native village of Coregada Sunday. Veiga guided his steed over a railway crossing just as a freight train came by. The horse was killed, but Veiga flew through the air, saddle and all, and landed on top of the locomotive, only slightly injured.

Minister Dies

BRAMPTON, April 15 (CP)—The Rev. Peter Jamieson, 76, of nearby Streetsville, died in hospital here Sunday. A retired Presbyterian minister, he had held charges at Mimico, North East Hope, near Stratford, and other Ontario towns. He was born in Brockville.

Dies From Puncture

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 15'—(AP)—Mrs. Bessie Whitman, 45, who used a straightened wire coat hanger to try to clear her throat of a piece of chicken gizzard, died Monday. Dr. George Dwyer, coroner, said she punctured her esophagus three times with the wire.

Easter Services Held In Churches Of District

MARMORA, April 15 (ENS)—The Easter Festival was observed at St. Paul's with services of Holy Communion at 7.30 a.m. and 11 a.m. and choral evensong at 7.30 p.m., Canon J. M. Brownlie officiating. The sanctuary and altar were decorated with Easter lilies, white snapdragon and other spring blooms.

"The Holy City" was sung by Mrs. L. R. Rundle and Canon J. M. Brownlie, with John Brownlie playing the organ accompaniment. Immediately preceding the offertory, children of the Sunday school who had joined the worshippers presented their Lenten mite boxes. The rector spoke on "The Empty Tomb." At evensong the lay reader, W. J. Cottrell, assisted. Canon Brownlie sang "I Konw That My Redeemer Liveth," with John Brownlie accompanying on the organ.

St. Andrew's United Church, Marmora, was filled to capacity for the Easter service held there Sunday morning. The interior was decorated with Easter lilies, daffodil and snapdragon. The Rev. G. D. Young, who officiated, took as his text "He Appeared To Simon." The choir rendered the anthem "Glory To Thee My God, This Night," and a vocal duet, "The Saviour Liveth," was sung by Mesdames H. C. Barlow and R. Long, with Mrs. V. Glover playing a violin obligato.

Members of the congregation of the Sacred Heart Church, Marmora, were present in large numebrs at the masses held on Sunday, that at 8 a.m. being low mass, followed by high mass at 9.30. The Rev. J. A. O'Neill officiated. Spring blooms beautifully decorated the altar and sanctuary.

SPRINGVILLE (ENS) — The Rev. A. E. Larke arranged a special Good Friday service for the three congregations, Fairmount, Mount Pleasant and Springville in the church at Springville at 11 a.m. Wayne Eddington of Peterborough was baptized and on profession of faith the following eight young people were received into the church, Joan Kempt, Carolyn Whitfield, Eleanor Whitfield, Elias White, Neil Whitfield, Bryce Larke, Carl Sargent and Don Sargent.

Following a series of services on sin and the conviction of sin in our lives, Mr. Larke's Good Friday service dealt with the redemption from sin through the blood of Jesus Christ on the Cross.

Mrs. A. E. Larke sang, "What Will You Do With Jesus."

The sacrament of the Lord's Supper was then administered by the minister and the elders. A large congregation was present for this impressive service. Mrs. Harry Bothwell was at the organ and contributed Easter music.

The Easter Sunday service of the Springville congregation was largely attended when the Rev. A. E. Larke spoke on "The Resurrection of Christ," proofs of the resurrection and the conviction within our own hearts.

Mrs. Turner of London, Ontario, was guest soloist and sang "Open the Gates of the Temple" with Frank Stevens at the organ. Marilyn Bowles sang "The Old Rugged Cross."

Erosion Responsibility

SARNIA, April 15 — (CP) — Erosion - threatened Lakeshore road is entirely a Lambton county responsibility, Bryan L. Cathcart, M.P.P. for Lambton West, told the county road committee Monday. Mr. Cathcart accused the county of "sitting around for the past six years doing almost nothing about erosion along the road." A three-mile stretch of the road has been closed to traffic.

LOADING WHEAT—Wheat from western Canada, which has been pouring into lakehead ports by rail during the winter, again is on the move, this time by ship. The wheat streams into one of the Great Lakes' carriers, the SS Lemoyne, at the dock of Saskatchewan Pool Terminal 4 at Port Arthur. Heavy harbor ice had slowed down the big ships but activity is being resumed.

Lamport Asks Ottawa Government Pull Cork From Bottle Lake Ontario By Removing Dam

TORONTO, April 15 (CP).—Mayor Allan Lamport asked the Federal Government Monday to do something about pulling the cork out of the bottle called Lake Ontario.

His request—which would remove Gut Dam in the St. Lawrence River below Ogdensburg, N.Y.—found immediate support in many quarters.

As the level of Lake Ontario rose to 249 feet, 1½ inches short of the 1947 record high, a 300-foot section of paved highway slid into the water at suburban Long Branch. With it went the water main for the area and 40 homes were left with empty taps.

In calling for the removal of the small dam which diverts water in the St. Lawrence canal system running from Cardinal, Ont., to Montreal, Mayor Lamport telegraphed Transport Minister Chevrier:

"I know this sounds drastic, but drastic action is needed if we are to meet the situation along the waterfront in the next 30 days . . ."

U.S. Army Engineers have estimated removal of the dam—built in 1902—would drop the level of Lake Ontario by six to eight inches.

Pockets Sewn Shut

LONDON, April 15 (AP)—Sir John MacTaggart, 84, British millionaire, for 30 years has worn suits with all outside pockets sewn shut. MacTaggart explained in an interview Monday: He started keeping pound notes in clean envelopes after his wife complained that he was spoiling the line of his figure with bulky wallets.

Easter Message Background For Daily Life

What carry over has Easter for us and what does it bring to everyday life? were two questions asked by the Rev. A. A. Mathews of George Street United Church in his Easter message to members of the Rotary Club at their meeting Monday.

Easter with its message of immortality is the background of our daily life, Mr. Mathews said. Easter faith is the background of all our living, thinking and doing.

It is also the basis of our survival, for the future of democracy depends on man's belief in immortality.

He referred to a poll taken by a newspaper which showed that only 16 per cent of the people approached said that the first thing they thought of was the resurrectino when they heard the word Easter. Others answered spring, clothes, vacation, flowers, Easter eggs and bunnies.

"There are too many C (Christmas) and E (Easter) Christians in the world," Mr. Mathews said. "They fail to realize the significance of these two days in their daily life. They miss the fact that Easter is the greatest day of the Christian year and the feeling of victory and triumph which it inspires."

"We celebrate Easter because it is the assurance that death held no bonds for Christ. If we can carry Easter into daily life, our lives will be victorious.

Mr. Mathews was introduced by the Rev. Ivan C. Morgan of Murray Street Baptist Church, and thanked by R. J. Allen.

The following visitors were introduced by E. L. Sackville: G. Opsal and W. Myhre, both of Oslo, Norway; the Rev. John L. Hodgson, Ottawa; the Rev. Albert Larke, Springville; the Rev. E. W. Rowland, of Grace United Church; Judge Walter Little, of North Bay; Don MacKinnon, of Bellevile; Harold Jobbitt, Bradford, Pennsylvania; George Bell, Woodstock; Artie Robson, Bowmanville.

Eliz. Parker Aux. Holds Easter Meeting

Purple violets flanked by purple candles in silver holders made a lovely Easter tea table setting for the meeting of Elizabeth Parker Auxiliary at Trinity United Church Monday evening, and the refreshments served were hot cross buns and coffee. Pots of purple violets and lilies were placed around the room making this scene more effective.

The Rev. D. L. Gordon brought the ladies an Easter message that was most challenging. He followed up the church services of Easter Sunday and quoted from Psalm 68 The Lord gave the word, great was the company of those that published it," leading to remarks on the work being done by the W.M.S. Then he quoted from Isaiah "Enlarge the place of thy tent and let them stretch forth the curtains of this habitation," and gave as examples the new Sunday school at Trinity Church and new Training School project. "We have a great opportunity today, but in many instances are too easily satisfied," he remarked.

The meeting was under leadership of Miss Helen Moore and Mrs. F. T. Rappe. Miss Moore led the worship service and prayer was offered by Miss Lillie Emmerson. The Easter story as found in the scriptures was narrated by Miss Rachael Young with Mrs. H. Beatty being spokesman for Christ's sayings and Mrs. Rappe for the disciple Peter.

Bobbie Richey delighted with two vocal solos, The Choir Boy and Vespers, and was accompanied at the piano by his mother, Mrs. E. Richey.

Miss Myrtle Sargent, president of the Auxiliary, introduced the guest speaker. She also advised members of an invitation to attend the meeting April 21st in the church auditorium, with Mrs. W. D. Arnup the speaker.

Home and School Association News

BANCROFT

BANCROFT, April 15 (ENS).—Bancroft Public School Home and School Association announced recently that its annual hobby show would be held this year at the end of May, instead of during the closing part of April. May 3 was the date chosen, so that this year's program will be conducted mainly in the open air on the school grounds. In previous years everything has taken place in the school building.

Mrs. J. N. Brown, president of the association stated the group was preparing a new type of exhibition this year and that the general theme would run along the lines of a fair. Parents will be able to view the work of their children in the classrooms, as well as enjoy a number of new features.

The following committee chairmen will be in charge of the events shown after their names: Mrs. C. Stringer, Mrs. E. Maxwell, and Mrs. W. L. Martin, general conveners; Mrs. E. Maxwell, publicity, publications and Red Cross; Mrs. Arthur Hewitt, doll carriage parade and prize ribbons; J. W. C. Hutton, pet show and pet parade; Miss Marjorie Morrison and John Mahaffy, school displays and competitions; Mrs. G. Andrews, bake table and sale of candy; Mrs. E. Goodkey, adult hobbies; Mrs. I. L. Hutton, gates; Mrs. W. L. Martin, fish pond; Mrs. J. N. Brown, lucky door prize.

What's Right?

A man starts to rise when his hostess enters the room and she says quickly, "Don't bother."

WRONG: He takes her at her word and sinks back into his comfortable chair.

RIGHT: He stands until she is seated.

MR. AND MRS. MURRAY MANLEY of Bewdley, the bride formerly Miss Myrna Larke, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. A. E. Larke of Springville United Church.—(Parks Studio Photo)

Bride's Father Officiates At Springville Wedding

Springville United Church was the scene Saturday afternoon of a pretty Easter wedding, when Myrna Alayne Rose, only daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Albert E. Larke of Springville, became the bride of Murray Benson Manley, second son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Manley of Bewdley.

The cermony was conducted by the bride's father before the altar banked with ferns and spring flowers. The bride, given in marriage by Major Earl Drope of Harwood, was charming in a gown of white slipper satin and chantilly lace made on princess lines with lily point sleeves. A pearl headdress held her shoulder-length embroidered veil and she carried a bouquet of orchid and white hyacinths.

The maid of honour was Miss Helen Braithwaite of Roseneath, who wore a gown of pale green taffeta and net. The bridesmaids were Miss Bernice Greatrix of Peterborough in yellow taffeta with net and Miss Jean McCarthy of Kingston similarly dressed in mauve. Little flower girl Margaret Buttars of Plainville, was gowned in pale pink taffeta and net. All the attendants wore flowerlet headdresses and gloves matching their gowns and carried nosegays of contrasting carnations, roses and narcissi.

The groom was attended by his brother, Mr. Ronald Manley of Picton, and the ushers were Bryce Larke and Garth Manley, brothers of the bride and groom.

Miss Marian McKinley, Plainville, was soloist, she sang "O Perfect Love" and "I Promise You". Wedding music was played by Mrs. Ruby Meggs of Gore's Landing.

A reception was held in the church basement, where the bride's mother received in a gown of delphinium blue with navy accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. She was assisted by the groom's mother wearing a dusty-rose gown with navy accessories and corsage of blue tinted carnations.

For their honeymoon in Western Ontario and Illinois, the bride donned a grey suit with navy accessories. She wore a corsage of pink carnations. On their return they will reside at Bewdley.

Guests were in attendance from Essex, Chatham, London, Peterborough, Lindsay, Cobourg, Port Hope, Picton, Kingston, Gore's Landing, Harwood, Plainville, Bensfort, Springville and Bewdley.

Father And Uncle Officiate, 3 Sisters Attend Bride

A wedding of interest in this district took place in the Newtonbrook United Church on Saturday of Miss Doreen Kelly, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. G. F. Kelly of Newtonbrook, and formerly of Lakefield, who became the bride of Mr. Harold Ross Armstrong of Summerside, P.E.I.

The bride's father was assisted in the ceremony by her uncle, the Rev. J. Arthur Steed of Lakefield. She was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. George F. Kelly and attended by her sisters Miss Helen Kelly of Peterborough as maid of honour and Mrs. D. J. Nicholls and Miss Beth Kelly as bridesmaids.

Yellow and white snapdragons and forsythia decorated the church. Music was by the organist Mrs. P. Pirie and the soloist was Miss Muereta Hull of Oshawa, formerly of Lakefield. She sang "O Perfect Love" and "At Dawning."

White satin was fashioned into a becoming bouffant gown for the bride and she wore a veil of tulle falling from a white satin braided halo. Her bouquet was of white roses and maiden hair fern.

The maid of honor's gown was of moss green taffeta with nylon net overskirt, topped with a capelet of the taffeta, and the bridesmaids wore similar frocks in lettuce green shade. Their headdresses were of spring flowers to match their cascade bouquets.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Armstrong of St. George, Ontario. He was attended by Mr. Robert F. Thomas of Toronto. Ushers were Douglas J. Nichols and Robert Nixon.

The reception afterward was in the church hall where Mrs. Kelly received in a gown of navy crepe and wore white accessories and a corsage of Talisman roses. Mrs. Armstrong was wearing dusty rose crepe with navy accessories and a corsage of yellow roses.

When leaving for their honeymoon in the United States the bride wore a grey wool suit with paddy green accessories.

St. Joseph's Nursing School Entertains Future Nurses

St. Joseph's School of Nursing Recruitment Tea, held in the nurses' residence auditorium, was attended by approximately 60 girls from Peterborough and surrounding area interested in the nursing profession.

The tea was under the auspices of the Social Committee of the Ladies' Auxiliary and the Sisters of St. Joseph.

The girls were taken on a tour through the hospital and met the supervisors in the different departments and were shown the film "Girls In White," released by the Ontario Department of Health.

The residence auditorium was decorated with tulips, hydrangea, snapdragons and ferns, and the tea table with colored candles. Mrs. Grace Poole and Mrs. Ed Finn of the social committee of the ladies auxiliary, poured tea and student nurses served.

Music for the occasion was provided by Miss Catherine Naud, pianist, and Miss Mary Curtin, vocalist.

During the tea a draw sponsored by the Student Nurses' Council was made by Sister Priscilla. Miss Sharon Rivers, of Tweed, won the 34-piece breakfast set and Miss Joan Begley, of Peterborough, won the place setting of silverware.

Members of the social committee of the ladies' auxiliary in charge of the tea were: Mrs. Grace Poole, chairman; Mrs. William Blackburn, Mrs. Edward Finn and Mrs. Jack LeGree.

Flirtatious Hats Pert Shapes Of Straws, Felt

Hat designers have been enchanted with springtime too. They've fallen in love with everything . . . and milady will reciprocate this feeling when she sees the new spring styles. There's undoubtedly a conspiracy abroad in our land and it's object: prettier women!

There are rough straws to tilt over a pretty eye . . . or to wear sailing straight over a veritable sea of curls . . . flat discs in palest pastels to adorn poodle-cropped little heads . . . and veils, from rosy-pinks to midnight blacks with sequins . . . all flirtatious as a wink! But the sky's the limit as far as shapes in straws and felts are concerned. The flat, huge cartwheel in natural straw, black or veil-trimmed in multi-colors is wonderful for the tall, slender-as-a-reed figure.

Skimmers . . . sailors . . . shallow bonnets . . . sidewise, large brims and the forward-thrust small hats are the basic hat fashions that are excitingly enhanced by gay flowers, sequin trimmed veiling and ribbon excitement for spring-into-summer, 1952.

The big impression of the entire millinery collections for the new season, is one of diversity and contrast—to make up completely feminine, headline news.

Little hoods make their appearance in smooth and shiny straws . . . tiny calots make their bows in braid milans, tuscan straw takes to fascinating shapes in clever little rollers—and so on, throughout the hat story.

White and pastel felts lend excitement and thrilling notes to beret pill-boxes, snug caps and cushioned sailors.

Pique, straw cloth, taffeta, silk and combinations of these fabrics are represented in youthful silhouettes dramatically highlighted with rich-looking trims.

A fascinating influx of beautifully woven and braided straws from foreign shores has invaded the millinery scene . . . with nubby straws, textured straws, laquered and finely-sewn straws to make a dramatic impression on the millinery picture.

Pink and red roses, violets and leaves, and even tulips bloom brightly atop the smartest Spring headgear.

Velvet acents . . . broad taffeta bandings . . . wide grosgrain crown trims and sparkling, jewel accents are well-established on the pill-boxes, profile caps and saiolrs of the new season bandbox collections.

Perching on poodle cuts, framing chignons or flattering, gay pony-tails—there's a little bit of heaven in a hat for every feminine fancy.

Dainard-O'Toole Wedding

On Easter Monday morning at the Immaculate Conception Church Miss Mary Anne O'Toole, Reg.N., became the bride of Mr. Vincent Allan Dainard in a ceremony performed by the Rev. J. J. Greenan. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward R. O'Toole of Peterborough and the groom is son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Dainard of Campbellford.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white satin with short train, finished with lily point sleeves and a Victorian collar. Her fingertip veil of French illusion was caught to a Juliet cap and she carried a cascade bouquet of red roses.

Miss Eileen O'Toole was her sister's only attendant, and she was frocked in powder blue nylon net over taffeta, with skirt made with bustle effect. Her headdress was of matching pleated nylon and she carried a nosegay of pink and white carnations.

Mr. Walter McMahon was the groom's attendant.

A reception for the immediate families only took place in the Empress Kawartha Room. The bride's mother was wearing for the occasion a gown of navy tissue faille, a white straw hat and corsage of red roses. The groom's mother chose navy and wore grey accessories and a corsage of roses.

The couple left for a honeymoon in New York City, the bride wearing a navy suit, navy and white accessories and a camel hair topcoat.

Mr. and Mrs. Dainard will live in their new home at 241 McFarlane St.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Broiling Is Quick For Meats

The following letter is typical of many I receive from readers who have acquired new stoves with broiling racks and do not know how to use them or who have broilers but do not use them because they were never taught:

"Dear Mary Moore: Would you please be so kind as to describe how a person broils food in electric oven. My husband is not allowed anything that is fried and the doctor says "cook it in the broiler". Can liver be just as tasty cooked in this fashion?

Mrs. Wm. K."

Broiling is a quick method of cooking any tender meats that can be fried. The only difference is that no fat need be used—usually is not. The meat (or other food) is usually placed on a rack on a broiler pan and placed about 1 or 2 inches from burner in top of oven which should be very hot. The meat is cooked until tinged with brown, and turned over and cooked on the other side to your satisfaction. It is more palatable and digestible than fried foods, and ideal for steaks and chops.

To Broil Steak

Porterhouse, T-bone, Sirloin and Wing are all broilable—the latter two should be from red-brand well-hung beef or they may not be as tender as the first two.

Wipe steaks with damp cloth. Place on rack on broiling pan. Place under very hot broiler at 1 or 2 inch distance. For a 1-inch sirloin steak allow 10 to 12 minutes for "rare" or 14-16 minutes for "medium done". For 1½-inch sirloin allow 15 or 16 minutes for "rare" or 18 to 20 minutes for "medium done". For 1-inch Porterhouse allow 12-14 minutes for "rare"; 16-18 minutes for "medium done"; for 1½-inch porterhouse allow 18-20 minutes for "rare" 22-25 minutes for "medium done". Thicker steaks require a few more minutes—but you can test them by slitting the meat at the bone with a sharp-pointed knife to see if it is done to your taste. Steak continues to cook after it is removed from broiler—so if you like it done rare watch it closely and remove a half minute ahead of time. Turn meat once at half time. It may be salted and peppered and buttered then.

Broiled Liver

Calves', lamb and chicken livers are ideal for this. Wipe with damp cloth, slice ½-inch thick, sprinkle with salt and pepper, brush with melted butter. It is always "medium done" never "rare". It requires about 6 minutes—3 minutes to a side.

(Comment to Mrs. Wm. K.—if your husband is not allowed butter broil the liver without it. Maybe he would like a little onion salt, or Worcestershire sauce or lemon juice on it.)

Broiled Mushrooms

Wash mushrooms by scrubbing them and cutting off slice from bottom of stem. Stems may be broiled or saved for soup or creaming. Place caps rounded side down on shallow pan or baking dish or broiler pan. In the upturned cavity place ½ teaspoon butter. Sprinkle with salt, pepper, lemon juice. Broil 5 to 8 minutes or bake at 425 deg. Fahr. about 12 minutes.

DOROTHY DIX

Respect Must Be Earned In Way Boys Treat Girls

DEAR MISS DIX: When Jimmie and I started dating a year ago he showed all the common courtesies of a fine young man, such as opening the car door, holding my coat, etc. Still a gentleman to a certain extent, he has forgotten many of these small but important trifles.

I feel I am to blame for losing this respect as I have allowed myself to go in for overlong parking in the car, long goodnight kisses and petting. I used to be a girl of high ideas, but seem to have changed considerably. Even though I'm convinced of my wrong doing, I still persist in it. Jimmie is 28, I'm 22, and we should both know by now whether we are truly in love or not, but we don't seem to be able to make up our minds.

GWEN

ANSWER: You are on a sort of moral merry-go-round and don't know how to stop it, or how to get off. Once you begin promiscuous petting, there's absolutely no point at which you can say, "Here we stop!" or, "This has gone far enough; let's go back to the point where we were, say, two months ago!" Emotions just aren't that accommodating. They gain momentun with each kiss and, if permitted to go on unbridled, end inevitably in disaster. It is practically always the girl's job to call a halt and if she delays too long, the heatbreak is usually hers to bear alone.

You Should Know Better

At 22 you are certainly old enough to realize the dangers involved and to be in better control of the situation. Naturally, Jimmie feels that if he can't respect you in big things, it's rather unnecessary to extend to you the simple courtesies of everyday life.

He certainly has given you, through his negligence in this matter, a thorough picture of his feelings towards you. Volumes couldn't provide a better indication. Are you going to profit by it, or continue the petting that has already lost you his respect, and your own? You are not beset by the question of right or wrong; that you have a conscience is very evident. Just listen to it and exercise a little self-control.

Since neither you nor Jimmie even know if you're in love with each other, I suggest that you give him up, try a little self-analysis and recover your own confidence in your morals and ideals. Perhaps if you're apart for a while, the question of mutual love will also clarify itself. If not, profit by the lesson with the next boy you date. Keep your own self-respect and demand consideration from him. You'll be much happier.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I'm very fond of a boy I've known for three months. I'm 14 and he's 15. He's always asking me for money, which I give him, until now he owes me quite a bit. Should I contines to give it to him, or drop him?

TARA

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: The best person to take this problem to is your mother. You most certainly should stop seeing this boy and discontinue the money lending. However, since he has come to depend on your generosity, he may make troube for you when you break off. Don't expect a return of what you have already given him, either. That's gone for good.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: We are three girls whose school prom is this term. We need dates desperately. We've gone to our church dances, and all other activities, also to dances and skating rinks. We're not looking for supermen, just nice, pleasant, sociable boys. How can we meet them?

JOAN, FRANCES and CAROL

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I wish I knew a magic formula for the sudden appearance of three nice boys for three nice girls, but alas! my talents don't run in that direction. You seem to be covering all local sources for male companionship, and I can only suggest keeping it up. Apparently you go to an all-girl school, which does narrow your chances of meeting eligible boys. If you have an understanding faculty advisor(and most of them are), can't you suggest a get-together dance with students from a boys' school? A tea dance is usually the accepted form of such entertainment, and it does provide a chance for the boys and girls to become acquainted.

6—In Memoriam

PRESTON—In loving memory of my dear mother, Hannah Preston, who passed away April 15, 1943.
Another year gone by,
Nine in all it's true
Since I said good-bye to you—
How often I think of you
Mother dear,
As the coming of Spring
Brings you very near—
Thoughts of yesterday creep in
With pleasant memories
Of days beyond recall
Recollections of many happy hours
We knew,
Just me and you—
Yet I get so lonely
Without you mother dear
And wish so often
That you were near.
For a little love,
A little affection,
A pat on the back,
Or a few words of cheer
When the going's tough
And I'm alone and blue
With no one around
But my horses and pets
To tell my troubles to—
But life goes on
With its ups and downs
Yet I keep on going
Doing the best I can—
Praying for guidance
In all I do,
For comfort and strength
To carry me through,
Till the day we'll meet
In that far off distant land.
—Sadly missed by Sherman.

WALL—In loving memory of my dear mother, Mrs. Maude Wall, who passed away April 15, 1932.
Only a memory of bygone days,
And a sigh for a face unseen,
But a constant feeling that God alone
Knows just what should have been.
Sometimes it's hard to understand
Why some things have to be;
But in His wisdom, He has planned
Beyond our power to see.
—Ever remembered by Cressa (Mrs. A. Pilling).

Youth Guilty Of Joyriding

Bernard Rodney Walton, 17, 35 Lindsay St., Toronto, pleaded guilty to taking a car without the owner's consent and was placed on suspended sentence for one year when he appeared in police court today.

Walton took a light truck ,owned by Ray A. Murray, Bridgenorth, which was parked at Parkhill Rd. and George St. Saturday night and started driving towards Toronto. Less than an hour later, he was stopped by provincial police near Bowmanville.

He was charged with car theft, but when the charge was read in police court today, Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw asked that it be reduced to joyriding. After Walton pleaded guilty to the reduced charge, Mr. Bradshaw said he would offer no evidence on the charge of car theft.

300 Attend Policemen's Ball

A few of the 300 guests attending the Policemen's annual Easter Ball on Monday evening were very lucky indeed. Through the generosity of a number of local merchants Patrol Sergeant Harold Mesley and Constable Harold Andrew were able to take on magnanimous roles and hand out very lovely and valuable gifts as door prizes and dance prizes.

The first door prize drawn for was in groceries to the value of $2 and it was won by Mr. and Mrs. Norris Williamson. The second was an Easter ham valued at $10 which went to Mr. Francis O'Connell.

Prize for the couple on the dance floor who had been married the longest went to Mr. and Mrs. Albert Mason who will celebrate their 33rd wedding anniversary this month. They received a handsome electric alarm clock.

Spot dance prizes were given given out like this: to Mr. and Mrs. Len Anthony a ladies' sweater and a man's sport shirt; to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Faulkner, hose; to Mr. Max Kaye, a tie; to Mr. and Mrs. W. Seabrooke, ladies' hose and a tie; to Mrs. Dolores Bannister, hose, and to Mr. Bill Green, a white shirt; to Mrs. Anthony, a dancing with Mr. N. Nesbitt Jr., a pair of peek-a-boo boots, and to Isabel Thorburn, a leather purse.

and McDonnel Streets. It was suggested that a warning light should also be set at the top of the Reid St. slope down to McDonnel. Some members felt that there should be at least a warning sign on that approach to McDonnel St. indicating lights ahead.

Cars At Schools

Another amendment to the by-law is directed at increasing safeguard for children near their schools. It would forbid parking on the proximate side of streets on which schools front.

"This has also been recommended by the Board of Education," City Clerk Outram said, "but the committee's recommendation was made independent of the board."

"I noticed in American cities," said Ald. J. A. Dewart, "that their regulations for safety in school areas are much stricter than ours."

Mrs. Alfred Welbourn

LAKEFIELD, April 15 (ENS).—Funeral service for Mrs. Alfred Welbourn, the former Margaret Dawkins, was held on Saturday afternoon from the Anderson funeral home and was conducted by the Rev. W. H. Tonge. Mrs. Welbourn, who was 92, passed away on Thursday in hospital following a lengthy illness. Pallbearers were Ray Welbourn, Clifford Galvin, Harry Galvin, Chas. Ireland, Jack Hill and Richard Hill.

Flower bearers were Dale Myers, William Myers, George Wannamaker and Hilliard Lytle. Burial was in St. Mark's cemetery, Warsaw.

Harry Wood Dies

A former Fraserville man, Harry Wood, of Winnipeg, died April 5 in the Manitoba capital in his 64th year.

The youngest son of the late David Wood and Sarah Nurse, of Fraserville, Mr. Wood went to Winnipeg about 45 years ago, where he had resided ever since.

He is survived by his wife, the former Aleitha Wickett, and two children, Kenneth and Beth Wood, both of Winnipeg.

Breakin Fails At Armouries

A second atempt to break into the men's canteen at the armouries was discovered over the weekend and is being investigated by city police.

A week ago three pistols, owned privately, were stolen from the adjutant's office in the administrative offices. This theft is being investigated by the army provost corps, the R.C.M.P. and the city police.

The attempted breakin was discovered Sunday by janitor Jack Smith who reported it to police. Late in the fall the same canteen was the object of the first in the series of armouries breakins.

Both times the canteen breakin attempts have failed.

Two attempts to enter the canteen, situated in the southwest corner of the building, were made on the weekend. A ground stake, similar to a crowbar, from one of the army vehicles, was used in an attempt to gain entry through the canteen door and the bar window.

Entry through the door was attempted by prying the door near the lock and then by removing the door, taking out the door pins. Both attempts failed. The bar was used also on the canteen window. There the wooden shield was pried up slightly, bending the inside slip locks. This also failed.

Three Youths RemandedWeek

Three Oshawa youths charged with breaking and entering Duffus Motors shortly after midnight Monday morning were remanded without bail for one week when they appeared in police court today.

Constable Gerald Emmons saw three men in the basement of the garage when he was patrolling his beat and arrested William Rudyk, 19, 406 Oliver St., Oshawa, as he was trying to escape through a door at the southwest corner of the garage.

Two attempts had been made to blow a large safe in the office and Rudyk had a bottle containing an explosive mixture of nitric and sulphuric acid which constable Emmons took away from him at gunpoint.

A short time later, Joseph Rzamy, 20, and John F. Meagher, 20, both of 106 Stacey Ave., Oshawa, were stopped by OPP constable F. A. Clough three miles west of Welcome on Highway 2. They were brought here Monday and together with Rudyk, were charged with shopbreaking.

They appeared before justice of the peace, James Fleming and were remanded until today. They were not asked to enter a plea but were merely arraigned before Magistrate W. R. Philp. After the charges were read, Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw asked for a week's remand.

Bancroft Hockey Team Ends $400 To Good

BANCROFT, April 15 (ENS)—Although the Pontiacs, Bancroft's entry in the Hastings-Addington Hockey League, did not win the league championship or even reach the juicy gates of the final playoffs, they ended the season well on the right side of the financial ledger. Starting the year with a balance of about $100, they concluded with close to $400, after everything had been paid.

Milton Brough, perennial club president and this year's purchasing agent, in giving this information to the press, stated that the good news in the assets of the club had resulted mainly from the new system used by the 1951-52 transportation chairman, C. H. Broad. In previous years chartered buses were used to transport players and fans but this year Mr. Broad arranged to have private cars take the players to away games.

The club president also announced that plans were being made for a wind-up banquet for the year, when a detailed account of the season's activities would be given to the public.

City Hall Staff Get Wage Increases

Wage increases for the city hall cleaning staff were recommended to the council by the finance committee Monday night.

Two men who were engaged last October at $40 for the 48-hour week received an increase of five dollars after three months' probation. They requested a further increase of five dollars. The new wage of $50 was moved by Ald. N. G. Graham and Ald. H. S. Longhurst. No provision is included for cost of living bonus.

Four women who have been paid 70c an hour for a four-day week of 20 hours were given an increase of 10c an hour, as moved by Ald. Graham and Ald. Dewart.

"I don't think we could get a better group of women," said Ald. Graham.

The staff works at night, and is considered industrious and competent, under the direction of Earl Hope.

Fishes Through Ice

Gale Knott, a resident of Curve Lake Indian Reserve entered a written plea of guilty in police court today on a charge of fishing through the ice. He was fined $10 and $2.50 costs.

Knott was caught fishing through the ice on Buckhorn Lake by conservation officer Stanley Windsor on March 14.

Fears S. Africa Faces Anarchy

CAPETOWN, April 15—(Reuters)—Opposition leader J. G. N. Strauss said today the South African government's determination to establish the authority of parliament over the courts could lead only to anarchy and revolution.

He spoke in the Assembly after it reconvened for a session at which Prime Minister Daniel Malan plans to introduce a bill to deprive the courts of the right to test acts of parliament.

He accused the government of "flouting the law of the land" by refusing to accept a recent Supreme Court judgement invalidating an act which removed voters of mixed blood from the common voters' roll and gave them special representation by white members of parliament.

Strauss scoffed at the government's contention that its measures were necessary to save white civilization.

"White civilization was never threatened by this handful of colored voters," he said. "Maybe the Nationalist party's prospects at the next election might to some extent have been threatened, but not South Africa."

He said the United (opposition) party will fight the course chosen by Malan, the only result of which could be anarchy and revolution.

North Monaghan

First Obstacle

The first obstable to that disposal was declared in the action of North Monaghan. Members of that council rate the wartime houses, 125 of them, as suitable for summer cottages and not much else. It was said that they were built on posts and two-by-fours, and were generally two flimsy and unsubstantial to conform with the requirements of Monaghan's building by-law.

Tenants looking across the Monaghan boundary for homesites are now caught between the city and its agreement with the Crown company on the one hand and North Monaghan on the other.

Objects to Paving Plant

The township is also objecting to the plant of Warren Bituminous their asphaltic mixing plant on the Paving Company establishing property adjoining the city dump, on the south side of the C.P.R., across the railway from the old sand pit. The locality is adjacent to the former Major Bennett farm.

Council protested that the city dump is already a great nuisance, in the pungent smoke from its fires, and that the asphalt odors will aggravate the condition.

Warren Bituminous occupied for several years a property on the north side of the former Auburn Woollen Co. grounds on the northeast side of the city.

Speeder Fined $25

Noble Edson Zinston, 168 Morrow St., pleaded guilty to a speeding charge in police court today and was fined $25 and $2.50 costs. Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw said Zinston was travelling at 70 miles an hour before he was stopped on Highway 7 on February 14.

No Faith

Two young men about town, returning from a Lindsay dance hall in a car of somewhat doubtful dependability, over the weekend, had to hitch-hike the last few miles to Peterborough. When they were about half-way home in the car, it began to smoke and produce bad smells. They remembered only too clearly the four quarts of oil with which they had anointed the engine on the way to Lindsay. As they drove on, the smoke got thicker, the smell became worse, and in desperation they drove the car well off the road onto the shoulder. They got home about 3:30 a.m. Next day, they returned to the car to find the emergency brake still tightly in place. It hadn't been released at their last stop after leaving Lindsay.

Four Plead Guilty To Liquor Charges

Four men pleaded guilty to liquor charges in police court today.

Emmett Kearney, 160 Rubidge St., pleaded guilty to being intoxicated in a public place and also to having liquor in a place other than his residence. He was fined $10 and $2.50 costs on each charge, or 10 days. If the fines are not paid, the sentences are to run concurrently.

Leo Walsh, 547 Rogers St. and Barry Kilborn, 856 George St., both pleaded guilty to drunk charges and were each fined $10 and $2.50 costs.

John Paquette, 207 Stewart St., pleaded guilty to having liquor in a place other than his residence and was fined $15 and $2.50 costs.

More Liberal Education Urged

HAMILTON, April 15 — (CP) — More emphasis on liberal and less on technical education was called for today by Rene Perreault, president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, here to address the Hamilton chamber.

He warned against allowing Canadian schools to become merely trade schools.

"We are teaching not why, but how," he said.

He said he considered this continent as the last bastion of freedom.

But, when everything is measured in the material sense, "we are in danger of losing that freedom."

He agreed that technical training was important, but he said it should not be the sole phase of education.

"We have got to pay more attention to developing strength of character. We've got to teach people how to use their minds."

Business Taxes Remitted Following Fires

Voluntary remission of the business taxes on the properties of Dick Ouimet, Fred Stenson and George Martin, destroyed by fire west of the city, was granted by the council of North Monaghan at court of revision today.

The court accepted and confirmed the added and business assessments as finally revised. The main assessment roll was accepted late last fall.

St. Alphonsus Social Club was exempted from municipal taxes for their dances and other social activities.

Relief Officer H. Killingbeck was granted permission to attend the Ontario Welfare Officers Association in Brantford May 19-21.

Notice was received from the county that all minor municipalities in the county of Peterborough townships and villages, will collect their own tax arrears from now on. Tax rolls will have to be returned to the treasurer of the township not later than April 30, instead of the indefinite practice up to a year or more.

Council passed the following accounts: printing $14.13; auditing fees $145; relief and welfare $16.23; roads and streets $12.45; total $187.81.

The council has been corresponding with the Department of Highways for assumption as a development road the North Monaghan-Cavan boundary road from Scott's Corners to No. 7 Highway. It has been shuttled about for 20 years or more. Present obstacle is the uncertainty about the by-pass of Peterborough in the route of the new highway from Newcastle.

Canucks Invade New York

NEW YORK, April 15—(CP)—An official of te New York Central Railroad Monday called the influx of Canadian visitors to New York during the Easter weekend one of the heaviest in recent years during a holiday.

The spokesman said there were several apparent reasons for the heavy travel by Canadians into the U.S. "In addition to spring, which is an important factor," he said, "the Canadian dollar recently reached par with the American dollar, leaving Canadians with more money, in effect, to spend."

Dog Badly Beaten Left In Ditch To Die

A hound with its head badly beaten and its forelegs and hind legs bound together by wire was found recently at Monaghan Rd. and Chamberlain Sts. by Humane Society Inspector Bruce Menzies.

Mr. Menzies said he thought it was probable the dog had been abused, and brought by car to the place where it was found. There was a possibility, he said, that it had been hit by a car, but this seemed unlikely.

Mr. Menzies said he would appreciate hearing from any citizen who has any knowledge of the circumstances.

District Churches Celebrate Easter

LAKEFIELD — (ENS) — The sacrament of baptism was given three babies at the Easter morning service of the United Church by the minister, the Rev. W. H. Tonge. The children baptised were Alan Richard Jakins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ken Jakins, Susan Ann Hunter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Hunter, and Margery Mae Whetung, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Whetung.

Special Easter music was sung by the choir and a quintet from the C.G.I.T. composed of Betty Jane Ruth, Helen Henessey, Helen Kingdon, Patty Jakins and Louise Anderson sang "The Garden of Prayer."

"The Power of the Resurrection" was the subject of Mr. Tonge's morning address.

The story of Easter was told, by the use of beautifully colored slides, by the Rev. J. A. Stead, at the evening service. The story was sub-headed "Easter Hope," "Easter Sorrow," "Easter Tidings," "Easter Joy," "Easter Faith" and "Christ Is Risen."

At the Sunday School service an Easter story, "What Does Easter Mean To You?" was given by Mrs. P. H. Darling and the singing was led by Quirt McKinney.

APSLEY (ENS)—Good Friday service was held in Trinity United Church with the Rev. A. E. Larke, of Springville, as guest speaker.

Miss M. Bimstead, of Peterborough, gave a solo and with Miss G. Langton sang "The Old Rugged Cross." Dave Potter accompanied them on the organ.

A large number partook of Communion. Service was conducted by Miss M. Jones in St. George's Anglican Church in the evening.

BETHANY — (ENS) — Easter services were held both morning and evening in the United Church with particularly large gatherings of worshippers attending.

In the morning, the new electric organ was officially presented to the congregation by Elder A. H. Monk, who said: "The purchase of this organ has been made possible by the gift of monies from the estate of the late Miss Frances Annie Bray and her brother Edward Bray, through kindness of T. H. Stinson, K.C., of Lindsay, their executor, who converted the sum of $1,000 from this estate designated to be used for charitable purposes at his discretion. Our thanks are also due to many others who have donated funds to make up the balance."

The Rev. James Hampson officially received the organ on behalf of the congregation, dedicating it "to the glory of God and in memory of Frances Annie Bray and Edward Bray, lifelong residents of the village"; also expressing the heartfelt thanks of the congregation to Mr. Stinson for his generous interest in the welfare of Bethany United Church.

Mrs. Ross Hall, of Whitby, was guest soloist, singing "Easter Flowers Are Blooming" and "Open the Gates of the Temple."

Anthems by the choir were "Easter Hallelujah," "Shall I Crucify My Saviour," "He Shall Feed His Flock" and "My Redeemer Liveth," with solo parts being taken by Harry Preston, Mrs. Harvey Fallis and Ralph Preston. Norman Lowes, Toronto, presided at the organ for the morning service and Mrs. Clarence Rowan in the evening.

Mr. Hampson took for his morning subject "The Empty Tomb," continuing with "The Dawn by Galilee" in the evening.

The floral decorations were particularly lovely and one large basket of spring flowers was sent from Mrs. Lyle Dawkins (nee Doris Driver) of Phoenix, Arizona, in loving memory of her parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Driver.

ROSENEATH—(ENS) — Easter lilies from Bermuda and daffodils were in the chancel of Roseneath United Church for the special Easter service on Sunday evening. The lilies were a gift to the Rev. and Mrs. R. C. White, from Mr. and Mrs. Howard Smith, St. David's, Bermuda. The Smiths (a lily grower) were members of the congregation when Mr. and Mrs. White were stationed there and each year send a large spray of lilies as an Easter gift to their former pastor.

Six new members were received into church membership: Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Adams, joined by transfer and letter; Miss Yvonne Adams, Messrs. Fay Adams, Gordon Adams and Leo Linton joined by profession of faith.

Mr. White chose as his subject "The Document of Salvation." A mixed choir of twenty voices with Miss Lois Arthur at the organ contributed an anthem, "Christ the Lord Is Risen," with Mrs. Douglas Coyle taking the solo part and Messrs. Fred Lewis and Douglas Coyle singing the duet portion.

HASTINGS, (ENS). — Trinity United Church congregation taxed the seating capacity of their auditorium at the Easter Day service.

The Rev. N. Cole officiated. Text of his Easter sermon was the words of St. Paul: "Now is Christ risen from the dead and become the first fruit of them that slept."

Two infants were presented for baptism, Nancy Diane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Johnston and Darwin Learl, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Humphries. Easter anthem was "Now is the Day." Miss Clarine Scriver of Kitchener was guest soloist. The male quartette sang two impressive numbers, in the morning 'Were You There When They Crucified Our Lord"; in the evening, "Lead Me To Calvary." Mrs. J. M. Baker played the organ.

At the evening service Mr.Cole gave an interpretation of Leonardo Da Vinci's painting "The Last Supper." Mr. Cole had seen the original of the picture during a visit to Milan in 1920.

COLDSPRINGS (ENS). — A large congregation was in attendance for the Easter service at St. Paul's United Church on Sunday. The Rev. P. C. Brown delivered an inspiring Easter address. The chair, under the leadership of Miss Edith Hoskin, organist, sang "He Is Risen" and "Joyful Easter Time."

Easter lilies placed in front of the altar were in memory of the late Mrs. John Brooks and Herbert Davidson.

During the church service Mrs. P. C. Brown conducted Mission Band. There were 26 children in attendance.

SPRING CLEANING—A schooner that plies between St. Lawrence River ports gets a new coat of paint as Quebec city harbor wakens to the call of spring. With an early April opening shipping officials expect a season of above-average arrivals and departures from the old port. The first deep-sea freighter arrived April 8 to pick up a grain cargo.

Obituary

MRS. JAMES C. HARRISON

Mrs. James Charter Harrison, 72, 733 George St., died suddenly at her residence Monday.

The former Annie Elizabeth Florence Kitney, Mrs. Harrison was born in Rainham, England, daughter of the late Walter Kitney and Eliza Kidney, and has lived in Peterborough for the past 44 years, coming here from England. She was a member of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church and very active in church work in earlier life.

She leaves three daughters, Mrs. G. Patterson (Florence) of Toronto; Mrs. C. Turnbull (Lillian) and Mrs. W. Barrick (Elizabeth), both of Peterborough; one son, Percy J. of Peterborough; three sisters, Mrs. Agnes James, Mrs. R. Walsh Sr., and Mrs. Mary Whitnel, all of Peterborough; and two brothers, George and Samuel, both of Rainham, England. Her husband, James Charter Harrison, predeceased her in March of this year.

The funeral will be held Thursday at 2 p.m. from the Kaye funeral home. The Rev. C. G. Boyd of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church will conduct the service. Burial will be in Little Lake cemetery.

Screen Scientists

LONDON, April 15 (Reuters)—Two hundred British scientists now being chosen for the atomic weapon experiments in Australia next September are to be screened, The Daily Mail reports today. "The background of every man—his personal life, his family, and his friends—will be privately investigated before he is told he is chosen," it says.

Says Football Player Made Wreck Of Her

LOS ANGELES, April 15 (AP).—Football star Glenn Davis was too offensive all during their marriage, actress Terry Moore testified Monday in winning a divorce.

"Glenn made a wreck out of me," Miss Moore, 22, told the court. She said Davis, 27, former West Point all-American now a part-time halfback for Los Angeles Rams, was shabby, insulting and called her a liar five times. Davis did not contest the suit. They were married Feb. 9, 1951.

Navigation Agreement Agreed By UK-Japan

TOKYO, April 15 (AP)—Kyodo News Agency said today a tentative navigation agreement has been worked out between Japan and the United Kingdom, pending conclusion of a formal treaty of commerce and navigation.

The interim agreement will provide the most favored nation treatment to each other's ships in Japanese and British ports.

Provision of a blanket clearance to Japanese ships will permit free entry into Commonwealth ports such as Honk Kong, Singapore, Colombo, Aden, Gibraltar, London and Liverpool.

The agreement will restore marine mailing service between Japan and British ports and permit Japanese passengers to pay in yen for passage on British vessels.

British ships will be permitted to engage in limited coastwise commerce in Japanese water as they did before the war.

Beat Winners

LONDON, April 15 (Reuters)—Two 15-year-old boys, barred from a 124-mile canoe race because they were too young, set out anyway—and beat the winners by two hours Monday. Terry Walker and John Guy took nearly 72 hours to complete the tricky course from Devizes, Western England, to London.

Pickpockets Happy

TOKYO, April 15 (AP)—Tokyo pickpockets breathed easier today—the man who beat them at their own game for 35 years has retired from the police force. Inspector Shimpachi Utsugi, 68, roamed the Tokyo streets in search of the light-fingered criminals and often "re-picked" their pockets of their latest haul before making an arrest.

Montreal Man Speaker Here

Nolin Trudeau, of Montreal, vice-president of Publicite-Services Limitee, will be the guest speaker tonight at the April meeting of the Peterborough Sales and Advertising Club.

His subject will be "John B. Waterhole Is Still With Us."

Mr. Trudeau was born in Montreal and was educated in boarding schools, graduating in 1929. Though a French Canadian, he began his career as a substitute teacher in the Irish schools of Montreal. Later he worked for the safety and first aid associations of Quebec, serving from 1930 to 1941. He looked after publicity, propaganda, campaigns and conventions; he produced textbooks, posters and other printed material.

Few Students Said Qualifying For Real Jobs

TORONTO, April 15—(CP)—Too few college students are qualifying for the jobs which really need doing in Canada, Dr. G. E. Hall, president of the University of Western Ontario, said Monday in an address to Ontario School Inspectors' Association, meeting in conjunction with the Ontario Educational Association convention.

"Where are the physicists, chemists, botanists, zoologists, geologists, mathematicians, astronomers, historians, economists, geographers, philosophers?" he asked.

"It is heart-breaking to see the classrooms filled with young men and women taking the general or pass courses, while the well-equipped laboratories and classrooms set aside for honors students are virtually empty."

Parents and citizens in general, Dr. Hall added, must take responsibility with teachers for encouraging students to look ahead to what will be available to them in the universities.

Teachers Overburdened

Teachers, however, "are not only overloaded—they are overburdened.

"How can teachers accomplish the broad aims of education when from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. they go from class to class teaching and, at the same time, striving to give of their knowledge and experience to students; when from 4 to 6 or 7 p.m. they are loaded with coaching duties, committee meetings, or other extra-curricular activities and responsibilities; when from 7:30 or 8 p.m. to 10 or 11 p.m. they are preparing for classes, marking papers, and speaking at social, recreational or civic functions, or working with home and school organizations, in church activities, lending assistance to various health agencies or the Boy Scouts, Girl Guides, Cubs or Brownies?

"These all are important; but how can a teacher, burdened with such a load, be stimulating to a class, hour after hour? Our teachers need time to relax, think, play, enjoy life—time to be happy and free; then they can teach with enthusiasm."

Laxative Slave
regains youthful regularity

"For two years I was troubled with constipation," admits woman in West Hill, Ontario. "Then I started eating ALL-BRAN regularly. No trouble of this kind since!" If you, too, suffer from irregularity due to lack of dietary bulk, why not try toasty Kellogg's ALL-BRAN? It's helped thousands to regain youthful regularity. High in iron and protein, it's not habit-forming. And the only type ready-to-eat cereal that supplies all the bulk you may need. Eat ½ cup every day; drink plenty of liquids. Kellogg's is so sure you'll like ALL-BRAN that if you're not completely satisfied after 10 days, send empty carton to Kellogg's, London, Ont., and get DOUBLE YOUR MONEY BACK!

Dreams Of Return To Power In China Buoy Nationalists

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TAIPEH, Formosa, April 15 (CP)—This island off the China coast is buoyed by one hope: "The Chinese Nationalist government is going back to the mainland—soon."

If the Nationalists long for the day, so do the Formosans. They want to run their own island and shed the burden of supporting single-handed the Nationalists' army.

There are about 7,000,000 Formosans and about 1,000,000 emigres, including the Nationalist forces and the families who came with them when the mainland was evacuated more than two years ago.

The difficulty is that word "soon." The Formosans think of it as meaning "within a year." The Nationalist government, although now tending to be more realistic, does nothing to discourage the idea.

But a week of meetings with political, military and economic leaders from Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek down convinces me the Nationalist government — despite its frequent policy pronouncements—has no such illusions.

The hope remains that the day of return will come. United States army advisers encourage it. They say without it the island's morale would sag, and it would become less valuable as the only strong Communist-free bastion against Communism in the East.

Interview With Chiang

"We have always had in view our return to the mainland," Chiang said in an exclusive interview with The Canadian Press.

"Our planning has had in mind the administrative problem. We believe we can efficiently transfer to the mainland, the government you have seen here. We are training a corps of administrators for the task."

He said he believes the mainland can be snatched from the Reds within three years after a large-scale invasion movement begins from Formosa.

But it looks as if the Nationalist armies will wait a long time for that assignment.

Meantime the Chiang administration is training its forces and studying the art of government with all its implications in political and social reform.

Officials here speak openly of "mistakes" the Nationalists made while they were on the mainland; talk about Formosa as their "second chance;" affirm determination to govern well.

They seem to have made a good start.

Must Re-Establish Cause

The men at the top seem of first-class calibre. They say they know they must re-establish their cause in the eyes not only of mainland Chinese but of the West, whose faith they largely forfeited.

Provincial affairs are run by popularly-elected provincial assembly. Seventeen of the 24 members in Governor (Provincial Premier) K. C. Wu's cabinet are islanders.

Formosa is a police state under martial law, but enforcement is no more annoying to the civilian than it was in Britain during the Second World War.

Communism has been ruthlessly suppressed. Three hundred spies were executed during the last year. Foreign observers say Formosa has fewer Communists than any area in Asia.

Liberal opinion feels free to express itself in the 54-seat Legislature where most members belong to the Chinese Nationalist Kuomintang. However, newspapers exercise little freedom of movement. Most are subsidized by government or party. Editors and publishers are "responsible" if they criticie thze government.

Even the most prejudiced observer, after a careful study of the present Chiang regime, must concede that in Formosa it is doing a reasonably good job.

Its leaders say the withdrawal to Taiwan has been a good thing. In two years they have made steps that even wtih the right intent could have taken another generation on the mainland.

War Of Nerves Keeps Tories Awake In House

By MICHAEL NEWMARCH

LONDON, April 15 (AP)—Sleep, or lack of it, is becoming one of the most powerful weapons in British politics as a two-year-old parliamentary nerve war is flaring up again.

The aim—never officially admitted—is for the opposition to keep government supporters in the House of Commons out of bed until they crack with fatigue. Once famed as "the best club in the world," the Commons now is one of the toughest treadmills in Britain.

With debates stretching into the early morning, inflatable rubber beach mattresses are becoming standard equipment for many Conservative M.P.s. They put them in darkened interview rooms and sleep through many of the debates—but not so soundly that they miss the ringing of division bells summoning them to vote.

The nerve war began after the February, 1950, general election left Labor with a majority of only six in parliament.

The Conservatives did all they could to keep the Commons sitting late, tiring out Labor with talk—and always hoping for an opportunity to outvote the government on a sudden censure motion after weary members had drifted off to bed.

The Conservatives never got the vote they wanted, but their harassing was so effective it almost deadlocked parliament and was a big factor in Prime Minister Attlee's decision to resign last year.

Shoe On Other Foot

Now the Labor members are giving the Conservatives with a majority of only 16 some of their own medicine. Night after night finds the Commons still in session long after the usual adjournment time of 10:30 p.m. Sometimes the debates last until 2 a.m. or 3 a.m. Sometimes they go on past breakfast time. Once recently the Commons sat debating continuously for 23 hours. In one recent week the debates lasted 57 hours, 46 minutes in an elapsed time of 96½ hours.

Almost military discipline prevails. Chief government whip P. G. T. Buchan-Hepburn, who controls defence strategy, watches over the movements of all 300 Conservative M.P.s through nine junior whips. Each whip has about 30 M.P.s under his wing—and no M.P. can go home while the Commons is in session unless he gets permission from his whip.

The whips have a simple way of insuring the government can always muster a majority. They don't give that permission unless the man who wants to check out has "paired" with a Labor member.

The Labor members, waging the war in the way they learned from the Conservatives, generally refuse to pair—thus keeping government supporters marooned in the Commons.

Car Theft Ring Smashed By Police, Own Repair Shop

TORONTO, April 16. (CP)—Police said today they have broken a widespread automobile theft ring that has operated for at least two years and brought $25,000 in profits to its operators. Two Toronto men, Louis Maggiacomi, 39, and Louis Toth, 35, have been charged with 12 car thefts and remanded to April 22 on $10,000 bail. Police said the theft ring was "complex and almost perfect." It took several numbers and licence plates from wrecked cars and switched them to stolen autos. Then it forged documents necessary for legitimates sales of the stolen cars.

Own Repair Shop

The ring had its own body and repair shop, police said, and even changed the make of some of the cars through extensive changes.

Nine cars which have been recovered are in the Toronto police garage. Officers made trips to Collingwood, Sarnia and Glencoe to get them.

Police said they attach no blame to persons who bought the stolen cars. A total of 15 cars have been recovered.

Police seized a car in London, Ont., Tuesday, whose owner bought it nearly two years ago. Its serial number had been taken from a car wrecked when hit by a train.

Doctor Defies College, Will Practise

WINDSOR, April 16 (CP)—An 81-year-old Windsor doctor, whose name has been stricken from the rolls of the Ontario College of Physicians and Surgeons, said today he has no intention of abandoning his lucrative practice.

Dr. John Emil Hett, a graduate of the University of Toronto and a former mayor of Kitchener, when that city was called Berlin, said he will take every possible legal step to defy the college order.

A meeting of the College of Physicians and Surgeons found Dr. Hett guilty of "infamous and disgraceful conduct in a professional sense." It was the second time in 15 years that the doctor's name has been stricken from the college rolls.

The college said that Dr. Hett "for many years has professed to have serum which will cure cancer, arthritis, diabetes and peptic ulcers but he has refused consistently to divulge the formula to any recognized medical research centre."

Won't Give Up

Said the doctor today: "It's been tried before and I'm still practising. I have no intention of quitting practice. I have countless patients who will back me in my stand."

He said today he will not share his cancer "cure" with the medical profession until he has been permitted to train doctors in its use.

Fear Increase In Living Costs

WASHINGTON, April 16 (AP)—Price director Ellis Arnall said today the $12-a-ton price increase asked by the United States steel industry to offset a wage increase recommended by the government would increase the cost of living for everyone "at least five per cent."

"The steel price line can be substantially held," he said, "and I intend to hold it."

Arnall said the proposed price boost "would add $300 a year to the average family budget" and might set off a continuing upward spiral in prices of many items.

On the wage side of the continuing steel dispute, the Truman administration prepared to go over the head of the seized industry and grant a pay boost to Philip Murray's C.I.O. steel workers.

Will Demand Flood Control

OMAHA, Nebr., April 16 (AP)—President Truman declared today, after a survey of the flood-stricken midwest, that he would renew his demands upon Congress for enactment of a national flood-control program, embracing flood-control insurance.

Truman came here in his plane "The Independence," after a flight from Washington which took him over vast portions of the devastated mid-west, for an emergency meeting with governors he invited to Omaha from seven mid-western states.

In many respects, the President said, the present flood on the Missouri and the upper reaches of the Mississippi is worse than those experienced in Kansas and Missouri last year.

The President said that while the land damage in the Kansas-Missouri area in point of dollars last year was greater, he found "more land under water" in his present tour.

Want Ad Pays Off

A Peterborough motorist on the holiday lost a large chrome hub cap off his car. He placed a lost advertisement in the want ad section of The Examiner on Saturday and the newspaper had only been off the press a short time when he received a call from a man who reported he had seen the hub cap drop off, and this was immediately followed by a second call from the mother of the boy who found it.

Quick Action Promised By Chevrier

Says Truman Move Will Help Speed Seaway Construction

OTTAWA, April 16. (CP)—Canada is expected to take prompt steps in co-operation with the United States to clear the way for a start on the giant St. Lawrence seaway-power project.

Transport Minister Chevrier Tuesday said President Truman's decision to join Canada in application for permission to erect joint Canadian-United States power facilities on the river, will strongly stimulate seaway action.

The Minister added, however, he did not know what effect it will have on the U.S. Congress. Congress has long blocked action on the project by failing to ratify a 1951 Canada-U.S. treaty on the development.

Mr. Chevrier said Canada's part of the joint application to the International Joint Commission is "pretty nearly ready." It will go to the Commission once it has been correlated with the U. S. submission.

The joint submissions will ask the commission—which has jurisdiction over boundary waters—for authorization for the government of Ontario and a U.S. agency to establish a 2,200,000-horsepower hydro development on the international rapids section of the St. Lawrence. The U.S. agency to take part in the development will be named later by the U.S. government.

Just when the submission will reach the commission is not known. But once it does quick action is expected. It is believed here that the commission, which has been reviewing the seaway for years and has up-to-date information, will give the green light for a start on the project.

Dutch Queen Charms Detroit

DETROIT, Mich., April 16 (AP)—Queen Juliana of the Netherlands was making a tour of triumph through her "second home" today, visiting Grand Rapids and Holland.

Detroit had expressed its admiration for the Dutch ruler, climaxing in a roaring ovation by a baseball crowd, renowned for its unpredictable attitude towards dignitaries.

Civic leaders gathered Tuesday night at a banquet in the grand ballroom of Sheraton Cadillac Hotel.

The Queen was addressed by Detroit's Mayor Albert E. Cobo who presented her and her husband, Prince Bernhard, with medallions commemorating the founding of the city.

Bringing the Queen and her husband into Briggs Stadium among 43,112 baseball fans was an adventure some officials were said to have reluctantly taken. But the spontaneous ovation of almost one-half minute that followed the introduction of the Queen was more than the greatest optimists had dared to hope for.

58 Prisoners Continue Riot In N.J. Prison

TRENTON, N.J., April 16 (AP)—A handsome but vicious life-term convict and 57 followers continued today to defy their keepers in the third riot inside New Jersey's state prison within the last month.

August Bernard Doak, described by the judge who sentenced him to life imprisonment for kidnapping as a "menace to society," led the revolt which broke out at 10 a.m. Tuesday in the prison's print shop.

The 58 convicts barricaded themselves in the shop, holding four prison employees hostages. They had not smashed any of the shop's equipment, a pattern set by some 50 convicts who rioted for 45 hours three weeks ago in a segregation building.

But, like their predecessors, the Doak gang went without food or light through the night while guards manned machine-guns and riot rifles in the yard outside.

Pearson Urges Go-Slow Plan

PRINCETON, N.J., April 16. (CP)—Canada's External Affairs Minister Pearson believes the west should work to perfect existing international organizations before undertaking any such far-reaching steps as a Federation of Nations. In an address at Princeton University Tuesday night, the minister, who is chairman of the North Atlantic Council, said the safeguarding of democracy may eventually "require some form of federalism on a regional or even a wider basis." But, meanwhile, the west has to work "with the institutions which exist today and attempt to adapt them for the more ready and efficient and equitable solution of our current problems."

This was a necessary task and insistent demands for something more far-reaching "may at times be an obstacle to its accomplishment."

Must Run Course

In a lengthy speech in which he reviewed the organization of such international bodies as the United Nations and the N.A.T.O. organization, Mr. Pearson made these other points:

1. Nationalism which has brought the emergence of new independent states could not and should not be stopped. It must "presumably run its course before the opposite trend towards closer international political association can make general headway."

2. Until the United Nations can "function more effectively," N.A.T.O. remains the most important international instrument for defence of the free world and the preservation of peace.

3. Any central political authority for N.A.T.O., as proposed by some, might mean in practice that it would be dominated by its three largest members, or even by its largest.

4. Despite the impatience expressed in some quarters, developments in the field of European International Organization have been made which would have been unthinkable 20 years ago. The European Defence Organization under Gen. Eisenhower was one example of this.

Big Question

Mr. Pearson said surrender of national sovereignty was still the biggest question in any political tieup of states. In N.A.T.O. arrangements for collective defence sovereignty has not been ignored but national policies have been

Three Rampaging Rivers Leave 100,000 Homeless

OMAHA, Neb., April 16. (CP)—More than 100,000 persons were homeless today as three rampaging rivers continued to spread a wave of destruction across eight states. President Truman planned to fly over the Omaha - Council Bluffs area, next target of the flooding Missouri River, and to confer today with the governors of seven of the states hit or threatened by the Missouri, Mississippi and Red River of the north.

While the three rivers continued to wreak their toll of misery, more trouble was feared as the Milk River in Montana was set loose once more by a break in the Frenchman Creek dam.

The estimate of homeless was made by the Red Cross which reported that 26,620 families had been forced to leave their homes in the paths of relentless spring floods which now cover more than 1,000,000 acres.

Eighty-seven cities, towns and villages in Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas, Missouri, Minnesota, Wisconsin and the Dakotas have been affected, and some virtually abandoned to the waters. Illinois communities were threatened as the Mississippi flood rolled southward.

Major Battle

The major fight shaping up today for the twin cities of Omaha and Council Bluffs, on either side of the Missouri, where 14,600 soldiers and civilians worked to build up dikes to meet a crest of 31.5 feet—almost five feet over the peak they were originally made for.

The muddy Missouri is due to hit the area Thursday and there was some hope in the words of Lt.-Gen. Lewis Pick, chief of the army engineers, who said there is a good chance the river can be held back.

Some 34,000 persons have been moved out of sections of Council Bluffs (population 45,000) which will be flooded if the fight against the Missouri fails. Another 5,000 have been evacuated from Omaha homes.

Diamond Dispute Nearing Climax

LONDON, April 16 — (CP). — Nobody would say so officially, but there were signs today that the diamond dispute between Canada's Dr. John Williamson and South Africa's Diamond Sales Corporation may be building up to a climax.

Reports here said that Williamson is trying to sell his stones on the London market again after a sales "holiday" which has lasted since June, 1950.

William Tayleur, the London spokesman for the Williamson organization, said he hoped to have something for publication within a few days.

The diamond dispute, largely fought out behind the scenes, started with a disagreement over prices between Williamson, a 45-year-old Montreal geologist, and the Diamond Sales Corporation controlled by Sir Ernest Oppenheimer.

Housewife Hits Jackpot Twice In Row Gets $400,000 On 14-Cent Investment

LONDON, April 16—(CP)—A 50-year-old housewife hit the jackpot, not once, but twice in a row, in the Easter weekend soccer sweepstakes and stands to collect the equivalent of at least $400,000 on an investment of 14 cents.

Mrs. Lilian Guest, wife of an engineer in nearby Godalming, won £75,000 Saturday by listing eight soccer games that would end in tie scores. She did the same thing Monday. Each time she wagered sixpence — seven cents.

Gambling circles figured the odds against Mrs. Guest hitting the jackpot twice in a row at 25,000,000,000,000 to 1.

Mrs. Guest was preparing a lunch of "bubble and squeak"—leftover cabbage and potatoes fried up—as she talked Tuesday about her phenomenal luck.

"My horoscope said March, April and May would be good financial months," she said.

"Of course, we shall buy the things we need, a detached house, a car, a good camera for my 17-year-old son, Brian.

"But we won't let the money affect us too much."

"That's right," agreed her husband, Charles. "On Saturday night you will still find me playing darts at the local tavern with my friends and that's how I want to keep it."

Charles reckons to have a system for the sweepstake. "It's nine-tenths system," he said, "and one-tenth my wife's intuition."

Eight-Foot Dike Around Hospital Smashed By Water

SHAUNAVON, Sask., April 16. (CP)—About 100 persons in Eastend, Sask., today braced themselves for an expected flood crest in the Frenchman River. The other 750 residents could only wonder what would happen. They were evacuated Tuesday when two feet of water surged through the streets in more than two-thirds of the town. Eastend is 28 miles west of here in the southwest corner of the province, 200 miles from Regina.

About 350 or 400 evacuees spent the night there. The rest moved to summer farm homes around Eastend.

Remaining in the town were business men, civic volunteers, a telephone operator for the single open line, two nurses and a doctor from the Royal Canadian Mounted Police and a cafe operator who volunteered to stay and feed the flood fighters.

Cars, truck and even railway speeders helped in the mass evacuation when the Frenchman River, also known locally as the White Mud Creek, began to rise. Vehicles were forced to travel some distance on the railway grade before being able to proceed on the highway.

Ghost-Like Town

The town was ghost-like Tuesday night. Electricity was shut off and fresh water supplies were cut when flood waters swamped town wells.

The river began to rise early Tuesday. All but the business section of the town was flooded. An eight-foot dike thrown up Monday to protect the hospital gave way under the waters.

Sheriff T. L. Ferguson said in a telephone interview with The Canadian Press that the situation was "unchanged" at 2 a.m. today.

Earlier he said the situation had improved in the two hours before midnight.

"But there is still a lot of snow in the Cypress hills west of the town and we're afraid the creek

Canadian Unit Leaves For Home

WITH THE CANADIANS IN KOREA, April 16 (CP)—The first unit to leave the Canadian forces in Korea under their spring rotation program departed for home today.

No. 54 transport company of the Royal Canadian Army Service Corps wheeled out of its lines less than 24 hours after its replacement unit reached Korea.

No sooner was the hand-over completed than Maj. Bob Laughton of Ottawa, commanding officer of the company, ordered his men into their waiting trucks, entered his own jeep and led them southward, grinning broadly.

The men will spend a few days in Britannia camp in Korea and in Japan for documentation and medical checks before embarking for Canada.

Eisenhower Gains On Taft In N.J. Primary

NEWARK, N.J., April 16 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower posted a glittering 130,000-vote victory over Senator Robert A. Taft in the New Jersey primary today, regaining a stretch of the ground he lost this month in the race for the Republican presidential nomination.

In winning, Eisenhower stood to take at least 31 of the state's 38 convention delegates. Taft won four, and possibly six delegates, and Harold E. Stassen one.

The presidential primary in New Jersey—one of the 16 states which hold the pre-election votes—is strictly a popularity contest but the voting may be expected to influence the delegates selected to represent the state at presidential nominating conventions in July.

With 505 of the 3,840 election districts yet to report, the count in the preferential popularity poll showed:

Eisenhower	303,864
Taft	183,473
Stassen	17,604

May Be Split

The Democratic primary, with 602 districts unreported, gave Senator Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, the only contender, a total of 134,851 votes. The 32 Democratic convention votes, however, are not necessarily tied to Kefauver's standard.

Statistically, Eisenhower scored a clear-cut victory. The incomplete count gave him about 60 per cent of the total Republican vote. Taft had about 37 per cent. Stassen and a few hundred for General Douglas McArthur, Governor Earl Warren of California, and Governor Adlai Stevenson, of Illinois—a Democrat—accounted for the rest.

Stevenson Refuses Democrat Nomination

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 16 (AP)—Governor Adlai E. Stevenson said today "I could not accept" the Democratic nomination for president.

Stevenson issued a statement clarifying his political plans shortly before his scheduled take-off for a flight to Omaha and a conference with President Truman on flood conditions.

"I have repeatedly said that I was a candidate for governor of Illinois and had no other ambition," Stevenson said.

His refusal apparently promoted W. Averell Harriman toward a higher spot today in the scramble for the prize.

Making Progress

Vital New Polio Discovery To Be Tested On Children

NEW YORK, April 16 (AP).—Twenty human volunteers have eaten live polio virus and thereby were made immune to it.

The virus had been treated beforehand to make it weak, with little or no risk that it could cause sickness. But the virus still could prompt human bodies to make antibodies or natural disease-fighters against it.

This experiment is reported in the American Journal of Hygiene by Drs. Hillary Koprowski, George Jervis, and Thomas Norton of Lederle Laboratories, Pearl River, N.Y.

It shows that humans can get immunity to polio virus by taking it in food or drink. Whether this method can be made practical and safe for people generally is still not known, Lederle officials said.

Several types of virus were used. The humans became immune to the kind that they received, but not to other types. Three types of virus are known to cause human polio. A practical protection method would have to use weakened viruses of all three types.

The human tests were disclosed on the heels of another polio discovery, which will be tested this summer on children in hopes of preventing polio.

The discovery is that the polio virus apparently gets into the blood first, before it enters nerves and destroys them. And while the virus still is in the blood, it can be killed by giving antibodies.

This kind of prevention of polio has worked in monkeys and chimpanzees.

Next, children threatened by an epidemic will be given the antibodies to hit the virus before it makes them sick. Where or when the tests will come was not disclosed.

The antibodies will come from human blood. Most people have had polio, without ever knowing it, and they made their own antibodies to destroy the virus. One substance in your blood carries these antibodies.

The new discoveries were reported to the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology by Dr. David Bodian of the Johns Hopkins University and Dr. Dorothy M. Horstmann of Yale.

Their findings in monkeys apparently apply as well to humans. The monkeys got polio virus in their food—just as humans do. A week or two later, the virus was found in their blood, and it stayed there for a few days.

Later some monkeys got sick and became paralyzed when the virus left the blood and attacked nerves.

All the monkeys produced their own antibodies, but some apparently did not make enough, or did not make them soon enough.

If the monkeys were first given an extra dose of antibodies, they did not get sick.

The hope is that such antibody shots would protect many humans in a polio epidemic. It might be a hard problem to get enough of the blood medicine, or to give it soon enough.

More Iron-Clad Pledge

Britain Agrees To Fight If Any Allies Attacked

LONDON, April 16 — (CP) — Britain is read to sign a treaty pledging herself to fight immediately and automatically in the event of an attack on any of the six nations of the proposed European army.

And in return, the six continental powers have agreed to go to war to help Britain is she is attacked.

Announcements by the seven governments Tuesday disclosed that Britain has agreed to extend pledges of military aid formally to West Germany and would strengthen her commitment to fight off any attack on Italy.

The new pact will take effect when the six countries ratify a treaty establishing the European defence community and its unified army.

Britain already has promised to help defend France, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg—other members of the proposed F.D.C.—under the 50-year Atlantic Pact. But foreign office officials said the new pledge is more iron-clad.

Five divisions of British Occupation troops in Germany also are a practical guarantee of help to the Germans as long as the troops remain. The new pledge, however, will extend through the remaining 17 years of the Atlantic Pact—longer than the troops are likely to stay in Germany.

The six countries who will establish the E.D.C. have been negotiating for months and expect to overcome the last of such stumbling blocks as division of finances and setting up a central authority sometime in May.

The treaty then will be ready for signature, followed by the process—perhaps a long and difficult one—of ratification by the six parliaments.

One of the chief effects of the British promise is expected to be a psychological boost to doubtful parliaments, making ratification easier.

The main purpose of the E.D.C. treaty is to provide some 400,000 German troops for western defence, without recreating a separate German army, navy, and air force which would be feared throughout Western Europe, particularly in France.

$10-Week Bellhop Owes $6,372 Taxes

CLEVELAND, April 16 (AP)—The government told a $10-a-week hotel bellhop today that he owes $6,372 in back income taxes.

The bellhop, Everett O. Saffell, 51, conceded to authorities that he had done "all right" on tips.

The back taxes, listed in a lien, cover the years 1944-1950.

Tax collectors in the office of County Recorder Edward J. Coleman said Saffell was caught only because Middleburg Heights Patrolman Jack Wilkins arrested him for speeding March 7.

Wilkins said he found bankbooks listing deposits of thousands of dollars in Tennessee banks.

There is more than enough in the banks to cover the income tax claims, said Wilkins.

$50,000 Fire At Creamery In Kingston

KINGSTON, April 16 (CP). — Fire early today caused damage estimated at nearly $50,000 to the Kingston creamery building and forced eight persons in an adjoining building to flee their home in nightdress.

Early reports said the plant was a total loss, but after firemen had poured water on the three-storey building for nearly four hours, a spokesman for the creamery said it would resume operations today.

The plant equipment, on the ground floor, was damaged by smoke and water. The upper floors, used as a warehouse, were written off as a total loss.

Douglas McNevin, owner of the plant, said the loss would probably range between $40,900 and $50,000. Origin of the fire was not immediately determined.

The alarm was turned in at 1:20 a.m. by Mrs. Russell Spencer who lives next door to the creamery. It took Kingston's 35 firemen about an hour to get the blaze under control. No one was injured.

Mrs. Spencer said she saw flames shooting out of the three-storey frame structure which is covered with metal shceting. The creamery plant was on the ground floor with the top floors used as a warehouse.

Forced To Flee

The Spencer home was damaged by smoke and water and the roof slightly by a fire on the shingles.

Mr. and Mrs. Spencer, their three children ranging in age from five to 11, and several roomers were forced to evacuate the house. The household was awakened by Mrs. Spencer's screams. The children, who were sleeping in the attic, were led out of the smoke-filled house by the roomers. Mr. Spencer was away at the time working in a nearby plant.

In the front part of the gutted building is a foods products firm. Their premises were not burned and employees kept on working during the fire.

Overdue Bush Pilot Located Unharmed

WINNIPEG, April 16—(CP)—A bush pilot overdue two days on a 123-mile flight from Red Lake to Sandy Lake in northwestern Ontario was found Tuesday night by an American aircraft.

R.C.A.F. search officials here said the pilot, Fraser Jansen, was sighted near his wrecked Cessna plane half-way between the two lakes. He appeared in good shape.

Jansen left Red Lake, 100 miles north of Kenora, Sunday morning in the ski-equipped, single-engine plane. An air search was started when he failed to show up at his destination but was called off when he was reported found.

Toronto Feels Certain Can Equal Vancouver

TORONTO, April 16—(CP)—Vancouver Island can keep its cadborosaurus—dead or alive. Torontonians boasted today that they have residents just as repulsive as any on the west coast.

Exhibit A is Lenny, a 14-inch lizard with purple ears, a blue tail and a malevolent expression.

Charles Buxton pulled Lenny out of the Rouge river on a recent fishing excursion. Lenny looked as if he didn't care much for Buxton's appearance either.

Provincial Glad Show To Be Held In August

Peterborough Gladiolus Society is arranging for an Ontario show here at its tenth annual exhibition in August. Mrs. J. H. Leslie, secretary, will send out 200 prize lists to gladiolus growers in the province. Numerous special prizes and trophies are being offered. Several new classes have been added to this year's show.

In the decorative division, miniature "glads" will receive extra prize money. New introductions in gladioli will be open to all exhibitors. John Buckley and Harry Jackson have secured several commercial display booths. Bud Lloyd, chairman of the junior committee, has arranged a large list of prizes and trophies for that section. Directors hope to bring out more than 200 junior exhibitors at the August show.

Minister Knocked Unconscious By Thief

ST. CATHARINES, April 16 (CP)—Rev. C. J. Loat was knocked unconscious early today by a motorist who hailed him on the highway near Grimsby on the pretence of getting assistance.

When Mr. Loat regained consciousness, he was in his own car with his open wallet on the seat beside him. The only money he carried still was safe in his watch pocket.

The minister, rector of St. Thomas' Anglican Church here, suffered a gash on his head and other cuts and bruises about the face.

2 Brothers Assessed $984 In Judgment

BRANTFORD, April 16 (CP). Walter Daley of Brantford and his brother, Pte. Bernard Daley, now serving in Korea, Tuesday were assessed $984 in an Ontario Supreme Court judgment.

Albert and Ernest Speechley laid claims after a traffic accident April 15, 1951.

Mr. Justice D. J. P. Kelly found Albert Speechley 20 per cent. negligent and awarded the Daley brothers only $58 in their counter-claim for $390.

The actions followed a collision between cars operated by Albert Speechley and Walter Daley.

Victim's Estate Pays For Killer's Defence

SAN FRANCISCO, April 16 (AP)—A convicted murderer's defence will be financed by the estate of his victim.

The ironic postscript to the death of Allen Friedman was revealed when an inventory of his $77,644 estate was filed Tuesday.

Friedman's widow, Blanche, formally assigned $8,000 of her inheritance to pay for the defence of Elbert Raymond Belote, convicted March 21.

The widow testified that Belote had been her lover.

Hopeful Thought

Gen. Pick, who was formerly engineer for the Missouri basin, said he not only thinks the river can be contained in the Omaha-Council Bluffs area, but he believes it can be prevented from over-running homes further south in Iowa, Nebraska, Missouri and Kansas.

The Missouri thus far has affected 33 larger communities. The Mississippi has struck communities in Minnesota, Wisconsin and Iowa. St. Paul has been hit by its worst flood in history and one-third of Winona, Minn., will be covered with water if the dike can't be held there.

Governor C. Elmer Anderson of Minnesota has called the Mississippi rampage a "major disaster."

Douglas S. Lawless, principal's assistant in Peterborough schools, Dumble Ave., at a meeting of the Ontario Public School Men Teachers Federation in London, Ont., said the association could save thousands of dollars. Speaking as a representative of district 5, he proposed that the present executive of 79 men could do the work now done by a provincial assembly. This came after the assembly voted down a motion to change the organization of the federation.

Centre Planned To Treat Polio Victims

A centre for the treatment and rehabilitation of polio patients is being planned for Toronto and surrounding communities — including Peterborough.

The centre, to be known as the King George VI Memorial Polio Centre, is being sponsored by the Polio Patients' Comfort Club of Riverdale Isolation Hospital.

Mrs. G. C. Brown, president of the club, has asked the support of residents from Peterborough and district. Last year at least eight city residents—and a number of others from the surrounding district—were taken to Riverdale Isolation Hospital for treatment.

The centre for the treatment and rehabilitation of polio patients would include a gymnasium, swimming pool and other equipment necessary for the recuperation of patients.

Better Treatment

"Patients from a large area in Ontario are treated for polio at this hospital, some for weeks and others for months or years," said Mrs. Brown. "They receive excellent care, but, with the addition of the above mentioned equipment, more extensive treatment would be available."

Money has been raised from donations, bazaars, bingos, teas and other activities. It has been used to furnish two sitting rooms —one for men and one for women. Four television sets, radio record players and other comforts have been purchased.

Donations are being received at 32 Monarch Park Ave., Toronto. Club members point out that all the money raised is used for the benefit of patients. There are no administration costs; no paid workers; all is voluntary service.

Early Market Decline Reversed In Toronto

TORONTO, April 16 — (CP).—Slowly strengthening early afternoon support today reversed a forenoon stock market decline.

Trading opened actively but fell off as the session progressed. Western oils and penny golds continued to draw speculative interest, but turnovers were moderate. Industrial dealings spread slowly from leading issues. Volume for the first three hours was 2,112,000 shares.

Papers, steels and miscellaneous issues retained a large majority of losses, but agricultures, foods and textiles strengthened. Liquors, utilities and constructions held gains and losses in balance while refining oils and retail stores were strong.

Western oils were mixed. Calvan Consolidated, Canadian Atlantic, National Petroleum, Royalite and Western Leaseholds strengthened while Canadian Collieries, Home Oil, Jupiter, North Canadian and Selburn weakened.

Base metals were weak as Cassiar, Estella, Golden Manitou, New Calumet, Quemont, Silver Standard, and United Keno Hill eased.

Ike's Deputy Chief Gen. Coudraux Dies

PARIS, April 16 (Reuters) — General Eisenhower's visit to the Netherlands, scheduled for Friday, has been postponed by the death of French Gen. Henri Coudraux.

Coudraux, deputy chief of staff for logistics and administration on Eisenhower's staff, died in hospital Tuesday. He was 56.

Eisenhower, making a farewell tour of North Atlantic Treaty capitals before returning home for the presidential nomination battle, announced "profound regret" over his deputy's death.

The French general will be buried Friday.

Federal Grant Of $100,000 For Causeway

A Federal grant of $100,000 toward the financing of the proposed Gannon's Narrows causeway is said to be available if the County Council is prepared to proceed with this mooted traffic improvement between Ennismore and Harvey Township.

The Examiner's information was said to have been relayed from Senator William A. Fraser of Trenton, who has interested himself in several Peterborough projects during the last year or more.

It was further reported that Mr. A. H. Lewis, president of the Liberal Association, was trying to arrange a meeting this afternoon with Warden R. R. Stewart, county engineer J. D. Kean, and several members of the County Council.

Purpose of that conversation was to inquire into the extent of the county's practical interest in the substitution of the old Gannon's Narrows floating bridge with a causeway similar to the stone-fill crossing of Chemong Lake between Ennismore and Bridgenorth.

Federal government is necessarily concerned in any development, it was said, because the present bridge includes a swing section for the passage of navigation.

Allies Lay Down Artillery Barrage

SEOUL, April 16 — (AP) — United States Shooting Stars and Thunderjets today cut the North Korean rail line between Kunu and Huickon in 38 places.

A flurry of Red probing jabs on the western front Tuesday evening touched off an Allied artillery barrage that lasted most of the night.

The Reds jabbed into lines at four places west and north of Munsan. Three probes were hurled back. The fourth, supported by 600 rounds of artillery and mortar, drove U.N. troops from an advance position. In the same area, a Red outpost repulsed two assaults by an Allied patrol.

The action marked a shift of Communist pressure from the eastern and east-central sectors.

Legal Loophole Brings Dismissal Charge

KINGSTON, April 16. (CP)—A legal loophole brought dismissal Tuesday of a charge of careless driving against Pte. Harold B. McMillan of the R.C.E.M.E. school at Barriefield.

The summons to McMillan was issued on March 25 in the name of the late King. His lawyer, W. H. Herrington, argued that since it was not issued in the name of the reigning monarch, Queen Elizabeth, the summons had no power.

CCF Enters Candidate In Waterloo North

KITCHENER, April 16. (CP)—Leonard Schroeder last night was chosen C.C.F. candidate for Waterloo North in the May 26 federal by-election.

A party convention elected him on the second ballot over John Wagner, candidate in 1949, and Armin Bitzer. Mr. Schroeder is an organizer for the United Packinghouse Workers of America (C.C.L.-C.I.O.).

Bewdley News

Guests from a distance at the Manley-Larke wedding Saturday afternoon in Springville United Church were: Mr. and Mrs. Percy Vanstone, Essex; Mrs. Homer Kelly, Chatham; Mrs. Theodore Turner, London; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Landymow and Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Simpson, Cobourg; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Onley, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Manley and Mrs. Hilton Manley, Lindsay. Other friends and relatives were from Gore's Landing, Harwood, Plainville, Bensfort, Peterborough, Springville and Bewdley.

Mr. and Mrs. George Fallow, and Miss Barbara Halligan, Cobourg, spent the weekend with their father, Mr. Frank Halligan.

Miss Arleigh McCallister and Mr. Peter Brockenshire, Peterborough, were with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold McCallister.

Misses Muriel and Dorothy Keys, Toronto, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Will Gordon and daughters.

Mr. Ronald Manley, Picton, spent the weekend at his home here.

Mrs. Mercer, Garden Hill, visited her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Mervyn Benson, over the weekend.

Build Community Centre

ST. THOMAS, April 16. (CP)—City Council Tuesday night approved $50,000 for the construction of a memorial community centre, which is expected to start next week.

The $230,000 arena-auditorium will be built by the N. O. Hipel Company of Preston.

WITH THE BOY SCOUTS

By G. E. GROOMBRIDGE

During the past week, four packs converged on the Y.M.C.A. to see the films on Conservation and a comic, "The Three Little Bears," and also to enjoy the use of the swimming pool at the invitation of the directors. Those present were from Park Hill, St. Luke's, St. Paul's and Trinity. Before the swimming session was completed, Ray Baptie, Kin Salonius and Terrance Mulcahy passed their swimming badge.

Trinity Pack

Intersix competition pennant and year award was presented to Tom Nesbitt, sixer of the Tawny Six at the last meeting when his six came through with high points for March. Also at this meeting Ralph McCullough received his first star badge, now having one eye open in the Cub game. Jack Woodgate and Wayne Freeburn passed Union Jack, James Tanney somersault, Stanley Hood and Wayne Freeburn ball-throwing, Ralph McCullough, Don Gibson, John Thompson, Bill Edmundson and Earl Daynes compass, and the following passed their swimmer's badge during the recent visit to the Y.M.C.A.: Brian Malcolm, Stan Hood, George Malby, Don Gibson and Allan Jamieson.

Hiking

Saturday afternoon found 24 members of St. John's pack under Bagheera Stan Purser starting out from St. John's parish hall, over London Street foot bridge to Nicholls Oval where they witnessed the Model Flying Club testing out their model airplanes. From this point the boys travelled out the Warsaw Road to the canal and along the canal bank to Armour Hill. Here two games were played and a story told by Skipper.

Park Hill Troop

We are very pleased to welcome Park Hill back into the Scout column and look forward to weekly news from now on.

A poor turnout was on hand when the Assistant Commissioner visited last week but he received a very warm welcome from all. The Fox Patrol came through to take points in the knot relay and game of British Bulldog, and also the Honour Patrol pennant for the third week in succession. Doug McIlwain, Wayne Devlin, Jon Jackson and Ron Brown came through on Kim's game tests. The main item of discussion at the Court of Honour meeting was "This Year's Camp."

The Leaping Wolf

Group Padre the Rev. Dr. D. Bruce Gordon took a leading part in the investitures of Bob Perry and Jim Robinson when these two lads were invested into the World Brotherhood of Scouting and found even greater pleasure in presenting to these two boys the Leaping Wolf badges, the only Cub badge allowed to be worn on the Scout uniform, depicting that they had passed through the Cub Pack as two star Cubs. Dr. Gordon also started a group of boys off on their Religion and Life badges. Assistant Scouter Frank Neisen took a number of the boys out to study the stars in connection with map reading. Frank Jobbitt and Gerry Vincent passed 2nd class lashings both boys needing only one more test to complete second class work. Signalling was another work taken up by the third group.

Wanderers

We would like to know the names of four members of the Rover Crew who started out Friday morning in a car to visit a certain beauty spot and carry out a planned hike. According to report, the car, or so it was named travelled many unknown roads over about 200 miles only to land up about 15 miles from Lindsay. Some more miles found the group in the Haliburton reforestration camp, too late for any hiking, and the return home facing them. However, we understand they saw a lot of strange country and intend to let the driver have his own way in the future. Real up-to-date rovering.

Sets Record

Mrs. Ena Morley, past president of All Saints' Mothers' Auxiliary, has been appointed to the local executive of the Boys Scouts Association representing the Mothers' organizations in the Association. This is the first time that a lady has been appointed to the local executive to our knowledge and a good move in the co-ordination of the movement in our city. We wish Mrs. Morley good scouting and know that she will do a good job.

Where Are You Going

Now that the spring is here we are thinking it a good time for "good turns" by Scouts and Cubs under proper supervision. Most of us meet in various churches and I think that our group chaplains can give to the scouters, names of shut-ins who cannot get out and rake their lawns etc. Why not approach your chaplain and find out just what can be done.

We are wondering just how many groups have set a goal for this year's activities and how many will be able to attain the achievement award by the end of the year.

All Saints' Pack

A.D.C. Earl Westman recently visited the pack and gave a short talk to the Cubs. Douglas Gardner was presented with his first star at this meeting. The yellow six put on a stunt at Red Flower and acme through to take the honor pennant for the evening.

Probe Soil Erosion

ST. CATHARINES, April 16—(CP)—Lincoln county council last night decided to have its agricultural committee investigate the county's soil erosion problem.

Deputy-Reeve Walter E. Theobold said agriculture was the county's main source of revenue and something should be done to look after the land.

Reeve A. C. Price said the problem is one which faces the entire province, and suggested all municipalities unite to combat erosion.

Trustee Says Blacklisting "Deplorable"

TORONTO, April 16 — Blacklisting of schools and school boards by the Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Association has "lessened the dignity of the teaching profession—so called," Charles Hulse, Ottawa, president of the Ontario Trustees' Council, told the school trustees' and ratepayers' division of O.E.A. Tuesday in the King Edward Hotel.

Blacklisting has been embarrassing to many teachers," said Mr. Hulse. "As well, it is a poor example to the children. I doubt if the governors of the Ontario Teachers' Federation themselves approve of this blacklisting."

The Ontario Trustees' Council represents seven trustees' associations. During the past year, a committee of the executive of the Ontario Federation met with the council in an effort to set up a salary schedule on a provincial basis.

Protests Practice

"I'm sorry to say that the federation has seen fit to blacklist certain school boards during the time it was discussing with us a provincial salary schedule," said Mr. Hulse. He added that his organization had already protested the practice of blacklisting to the minister of education.

Mr. Hulse stressed the importance of organization of the school boards of the province.

"We have something like 4,500 school boards in Ontario," he said. "Not more than 25 per cent of this number belong to any trustee association. We must realize the importance of getting together as one group to deal with such a vital matter as blacklisting."

8 Fishermen Drown During Bad Storm

TOKYO, April 16 (Reuters). — Eight fishermen were drowned Tuesday night in a 112-mile-an-hour gale which struck Hokkaido, northernmost of the Japanese main islands, Government authorities reported today.

They did not know how many persons were casualties on land.

The big wind, strongest recorded on the island since 1908, blew the roofs off some 3,000 houses.

Report Money Stolen Asst. Manager Held

TORONTO, April 16 (CP) — Leonard G. Roberts, of Stouffville, assistant manager of a theatre who said he was robbed of $1,650 three weeks ago, was arrested Tuesday night and charged with theft of the money.

Police also arrested Albert Boyle, 24, of Thornhill and charged him with conspiracy in the robbery.

Dam Holding

The sheriff said a prairie farm rehabilitation administration earth-filled dam about a mile west of the town was still holding, despite the water pressure.

"If it gives way but we're hoping that the worst is over," he said. "We are a little concerned but we don't expect very much worse."

Water started spilling over the dam Sunday. Mild weather in the last two days brought torrents down from the Cypress hills drainage basin. The creek spilled over its banks with the extra run-off. But Eastend is in a valley and some of the higher levels escaped the waters.

The village of Southfork, eight miles north of Eastend and Ravenscrag to the west were also reported flooded.

The river empties into the Milk River and the dam at Valmarie, 90 miles southeast of here, was reported in critical shape early today. Ranchers through to Havre, Mont., were warned to get cattle to high ground.

Water in the river is 18 feet higher than normal. Officials fear that the water level may force the opening of many dams along the river to relieve water pressure.

Doesn't Like Making Comparisons

By FORBES RHUDE,
Canadian Press Business Editor

H. Greville Smith, president of Canadian Industries, Ltd., thinks it unwise to draw conclusions from comparisons of business in the first quarter of this year with the same period last year.

Speaking to the company's shareholders recently, he recalled that fears of shortages in early 1951 had caused "an unprecendented demand for the products of industry" which declined later in the year.

He added that while his company's first-quarter sales were slightly lower than last year's first quarter, the second-quarter sales are already beginning to show the seasonal expansion expected.

The current monthly letter of the National City Bank of New York, commenting on conditions in the United States, says retail trade is good but not buoyant; soft spots in textiles and household equipment are still soft; but manufacturers turning out industrial equipment, defence products, and the materials and parts going into them, have huge backlogs of unfilled orders and in many cases are expanding output. The letter adds that business expenditures on plant and equipment are expected to be larger this year than last.

F. A. C. Guepin, in charge of chemical operations throughout the world for the Shell group of companies, and now visiting Canada, says that "well over half the organic chemicals produced in the world today are made from petroleum and natural gas, of which Canada now is an important source."

B. F. Goodrich Rubber Co. of Canada, Ltd., has introduced the Goodrich "tubeless tire" to the Canadian market with a demonstration in Toronto. The tire has no inner tube and the company states that it "protects against blowouts, punctures and dangerous skids."

Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Beane, United States brokerage and investment banking firm, plans to open an office in Toronto as part of what it describes as "a first step in a program that will see us expanding elsewhere in Canada."

Atlas Steels, Ltd., of Welland, gives the following distribution for each of the $31,441,264 it took in last year:

Raw materials, fuel and supplies, 42.7 cents; employment costs, 29.5; taxes 12.1; wear and exhaustion, 4.7; dividends to owners, 2.7; financing costs for new construction, .9; retained in business, 7.4.

Prudential Insurance Company of America says that over a three-month period it tested similar groups of applicants for clerical employment at its Canadian head office in Toronto and the home office in Newark, N.J. The results, for whatever they mean, gave the edge to Canadians.

The 582 Canadians tested had an average for vocabulary of 29.2 out of a possible 40; while 522 Americans averaged 25. In arithmetic, the Canadians averaged 12.4 out of a possible 20; and the Americans 8.7.

English Miners Refuse To Work In Mines With Italian Labor

By ALAN HARVEY,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, April 16—(CP)—A 15-foot-high banner, embroidered in silk, will be brought out of mothballs soon for an annual May Day procession by Yorkshire miners.

The procession will take place from the city of Doncaster to the racecourse, where the famous St. Leger classic is run every autumn. The banner is normally just part of the parade.

But this time the miners feel a little sheepish about the foot-high letters on it, which spell out the slogan:

"Workers of the world, unite."

For the banner belongs to Bullcroft Colliery, near Doncaster, which for the last few weeks has stubbornly refused to live up to its publicly-proclaimed motto.

Three weeks ago some young English miners at Bullcroft quit work in protest against the presence of 31 Italians imported to take jobs in the pit. Later, in two votes among some 500 of Bullcroft's 1,600 miners, the decision not to work with Italians was confirmed.

Miners Adamant

Despite appeals by union officials and strong editorial criticism from national and local newspapers, the miners have refused to change their minds.

An official request for complaints against the Italians brought only eight letters, and no evidence to support charges that the Italians were lazy or too romantic or did not pay as much income tax as Englishmen.

So the Italians remain suspended on full pay, and the young English miners who called the original strike, since ended, claim a "victory" over the National Coal Board, which runs the nationalized mines. The board is reluctant to reinstate the Italians for fear of provoking another strike.

As portrayed by local newspapers, the "victory" is that of unreasoning prejudice and unfounded rumor. Housewives in Bullcroft clubbed together in any anonymous letter to one paper, saying the men who started the strike should be spanked.

Outdated Thinking

The Bullcroft case reflects in miniature the attitude of British miners across the country. Coal is Britain's most important resource, but there are so few men digging it that this year extra supplies had to be imported from the United States. Yet the National Coal Board announced last month it has decided to abandon plans for importing more Italian labor because of opposition by the native-born miners.

Commentators who take a serious view of Britain's economic problems regard the rejection of Italian labor as just another symptom of the kind of outdated thinking that may finally render recovery impossible, whatever external aid may be forthcoming and whatever measures the government itself takes.

Believes School Children Need "More Dictating"

TORONTO, April 16. (CP)—Hugh Noble, physical education director of Nova Scotia, said Tuesday school children need "more dictating." He told a meeting in connection with the Ontario Educational Association's annual convention that the individual child is coddled too much in schools today.

Many other speakers at the convention disagreed with him.

Dr. C. Gilbert Wren of the University of Minnesota said school policy planning should come "from the roots" as a joint effort of pupils and faculty.

He told the college and secondary school department of the O.E.A.: "We should not assume that everything must be settled from the top side down. All matters should be open to discussion."

Dr. Andrew Holt, of the University of Tennessee, said at the Ontario School Trustees' and Ratepayers' Division: "You can't teach zeal for democracy with a yes-and-no classroom approach."

He advocated the use of emotion to teach democracy and patriotism.

Expand Horizons

Dr. John Dearness, a 99-year-old educationist from London, Ont., took a middle position. He told a general convention meeting that the benefit of education is in the expansion of human horizons.

"For many years the idea has been prevalent and has in fact been advanced and stoutly defended in the Ontario Educational Association, that pupils should not follow their teachers but the teachers follow the pupils.

"Of course, it is all very well to encourage the child's interests but sometimes its interests need a little prompting. A teacher might wait a long time to discover his pupil's interests."

Some speakers discussed other aspects of problems in education, including the part played by institutions other than schools.

Dr. Sidney Smith, president of University of Toronto, said many parents are ready to cast upon schools the responsibilities that can only be fulfilled by the home.

Expect Too Much

It was not reasonable to expect schools, in addition to imparting knowledge and training minds, to discipline the character, direct the emotions and foster the ideals of students.

Dr. Holt agreed. "The school can do so much. After that the job of educating children is the job of their parents."

A. F. S. Gilbert, principal of Windsor's Kennedy Collegiate, praised the three-level system of instruction—public school, senior public school and high school—now being tried out in parts of Ontario.

He told the Ontario Secondary School Headmasters' Association that the three-level system allows a more personal touch between teacher and pupils than Ontario's two-level system.

Ladies Glee Club Presents Variety Of Songs

A concert of sacred music was presented by the Ladies' Glee Club of the Missionary Training Institute of Nyack, New York, in the Collegiate auditorium Tuesday night as a special feature of the annual missionary convention of Park Street Alliance Church being held this week.

The 35 members of the Glee Club, under the direction of Miss Geraldine Southern, pleased their audience with selections including Here Yet Awhile, from Bach's St. Matthew Passion; historic hymns such as A Mighty Fortress Is Our God, by Mueller, and God of Our Fathers, arranged by Warren, and negro spirituals.

The group was well-balanced and their delivery and phrasing were consistently good. Occasionally a tendency to clip their words marred what otherwise might have been flowing melody and in one or two selections, their singing seemed a bit forced. However, generally the group showed good training and sang with a pleasing full tone.

Especially enjoyable were the selections, A Mighty Fortress Is Our God, by Mueller, and, God So Loved the World, by Stainer. These were unaccompanied and the singing in both was free and beautifully colored.

Other selections sung by the group were, Alleluia, from, Exsultate Jubilate, by Mozart; How Lovely is Thy Dwelling Place, from, The Requiem, by Brahms; Hallelujah Chorus, from Handel's Messiah and The Lord is My Light, by Allitsen.

Variety was added to the program by the trumpet trio, consisting of Miss Carol Bird, Miss Barbara Dutton and Miss Marjorie Hickey who accompanied the Glee Club in God of Our Fathers, and Forward to Christ, by O'Hara.

Miss Bird, who is a member of the music faculty of the Institute, played two trumpet solos, The Tempest is Raging, and, Onward Christian Soldiers.

Miss Gloria Latimer of Toronto, and Miss Southern sang solos. And The Southernaires, a trio, sang a medley of negro spirituals.

The accompanist for the evening was Miss Ruth Koop.

During the evening the Rev. Paul H. Bartel, recently returned from China and the Rev. M. C. Allen, who served as a missionary in Borneo gave accounts of their work in the mission fields.

Chairman for the evening was the Rev. Ralph Hobson of Park St. Alliance Church.

Council To Interview Five For Chief's Job

LAKEFIELD, April 16 (ENS)—Five of 17 applicants for the position of chief constable of Lakefield will be interviewed in the near future, council decided on Tuesday night.

Seventeen letters were received at the meeting, and five were selected for an interview by council.

In addition to be chief constable of the village, the successful applicant will be caretaker of the memorial hall, and weed inspector for the village.

Tenders for a chief constable were called because of the recent resignation of Garnet Samis, Lakefield's constable for 11 years. Mr. Samis gave ill health as his reason for retiring.

Fire Threatens Home

CAMPBELLFORD, April 16 — (ENS)—Firemen answered a call to a Kent St. residence Tuesday afternoon when an oil burner threatened to cause a fire. The firemen were on the scene for only a few moments before satisfying themselves that everything was under control, and left almost immediately. There was no damage reported.

Reformation or Punishment?

Last autumn four Toronto youths were convicted by an Assize Court of raping a girl of 16; sentences were imposed upon them which appeared to be inadequate to the crime, for the ringleader received eighteen months definite and twelve months indefinite imprisonment, and the least culpable received a sentence of four months. The Attorney-General's Department appealed the case and the decision of the Appeal Court was that in the case of the three guiltiest youths the sentences should be raised to two years definite and one year of indefinite imprisonment. There will be many people who will think that the sentences are still light, but in the absence of a full knowledge of the case (because the offenders are young) it is impossible to form any useful opinion on this matter.

* * *

This case is of interest, for appeal courts are, as a usual thing, reluctant to increase sentences in cases where the charge is a capital one, and the Attorney-General's Department is by no means eager to order appeals in such cases. It looks as though the sentences imposed at the assize trial had been ridiculously inadequate, which was what the public suspected. In giving its verdict, the Appeal Court spoke of its reluctance "to interfere in the matter of sentence where, as here, the trial judge quite obviously has given much consideration to the question" of the reformation of those convicted. This is a matter in which the public is keenly interested.

* * *

It is unquestionably a fine thing to reform a boy who has made a bad start in life. But we must not overlook the fact that conviction for rape is a very bad start indeed, and that boys do not get into such trouble unless they have been in other kinds of trouble before. In our desire to put these four boys on the path to a decent life, let us not forget that nothing is being done by the public for the girl who was raped; we have seen no public expression of consideration for her feelings; she will not forget that experience, and it is likely that there will come a day when she will have to explain it to some man who wants to marry her, and it is by no means out of the question that her explanation might cause him to change his mind. Whatever good luck may attend her in future, she has suffered a wrong which nothing can put right. One of the tasks of the law is to protect citizens against such wrongs, and to punish wrongdoers in order to discourage such crimes. The reformation of the boys is problematical: the wrong done to the girl is a fact.

* * *

Humanity must always be tempered with common sense or it becomes mere sentimentalism. Rape is scarcely a crime which a boy blunders into as the result of a single foolish impulse, as a trivial protest against his state of life; it is a crime so vicious that the law permits the death sentence for it. The wish to reform the three boys who are now in jail is a worthy one, but the first task of society is to discourage others from thinking that rape is a small matter.

Educational Reformers Are Better Company

In the foreword to his annual report to the Board of Education, Mr. K. S. Wightman turns aside briefly from material and statistical consideration of the school system under his supervision to say some well-balanced things about educational philosophy. There is lively criticism now throughout the Province of curricular "frills" edging piecemeal into fundamental skills.

> "We have been told that we are conducting places of entertainment rather than instruction and that the old virtues of thoroughness and sustained effort are no longer to be found in our students. A few years ago we were under attack from another quarter; we were, it was said, clinging to outworn curricula and methods and failing to meet the challenge of a rapidly changing society. So the pendulum swings."

As Mr. Wightman points out, public education like other social institutions has always been subjected to the pull of two opposing camps, the conservative and the reformer. Each side has alternating brief periods of ascendancy, but because of their opposite pulls no revolution is caused and between them a balance is achieved.

Mr. Wightman's remarks show him to prefer the company of the reformers, and we can be glad of this. "The pictures they draw of educational Utopias just over the horizon give a lift to the spirits." He suspects of those in the opposite camp that "their golden age of the past is just as much a creation of the imagination as is that of the future so glowingly depicted by the apostles of progress."

The changes which have taken place in the schools have not been revolutionary. Principal C. S. Browne's report on the Collegiate curriculum bears this out. There is a balance resulting from the pressures of opposing educational theories and also what Mr. Wightman with accuracy (and perhaps with a hint of humour) calls "inertia." "The new way has to establish itself against the pull of accustomed habit," and schools and teachers are as great preys to habit as any other institutions and people. There are also technical reasons that change in schools is gradual, a process of evolution rather than revolution: schools, classrooms and teaching methods cannot be changed over-night to accommodate the latest winds of pedagogical doctrine.

In 1937 a new course of study was instituted across the province. Secondary school pupils were to be allowed a great and free choice in the subjects they studied. As Mr. Browne points out in his report, the Peterborough Collegiate, like a majority of schools, was too small to offer the many options. So the basic subjects and the time-honoured subjects were never deserted. Mr. Browne quotes some remarks on the 'new' curriculum made in 1937 by his predecessor Dr. Kenner, and they apply equally well to the controversy today.

The Superintendent of Schools' well-reasoned, well-phrased comments are important, constituting as they do the considered opinion on aspects of educational philosophy of the person directing public education in Peterborough. We print them in full on this page, feeling sure that they will interest a great many parents and ratepayers.

Truce At Last?

At long last a truce in Korea is a real possibility. Some authorities predict that the protracted negotiations for it will be completed before the end of the month and the document signed. This will be an armistice, not a peace. Troops on both sides of the cease-fire line will be maintained in readiness should the armistice be broken.

There is a great deal of speculation why Communist China (with Communist Russia in the background) have made concession after concession to the American-U.N. negotiators. Many people are beginning to suspect that the Communists want the war to end. Having come upon that bit of logic, these same people wonder why? So that Communism can take the offensive on another front?

The explanation may be quite direct. The war has been costly to China (and of course to Red Korea). The Eighth Army commander, General Van Fleet, told reporters on Monday that in the last year Communist casualties have included 314,171 killed, 188,588 wounded and 27,937 prisoners. In addition, the American air bombardment, day after day, night after night, week after week, month after month, has very heavily damaged Communist support installations and depleted their war materials. Total U.N. casualties during the last year in General Van Fleet's command have amounted to about 66,000. A war as costly as this to the Reds is not one which they would wish to continue.

Police With Hot Rods

The Renfrew man was "as mad as blazes" because, doing 95 miles an hour along a Peterborough highway, he could get no higher speed out of his car, and could not pull away from the Provincial Police cruiser chasing him. The interesting part of this story is not that the speeder was fined $50 and costs yesterday in Peterborough magistrate's court; or even that his modern car would not exceed 95 m.p.h. What fascinates us is that—at that speed—Provincial Police in their modest-looking standard-sized cars were able to overtake the Renfrew fellow.

Perhaps it is not only teen-agers in California who are "hot rodders" and "soup up" Fords and Chevs. What kind of hot rod have the Provincials put in their autos? What mania for speed is lurking behind the stern, firm faces of the cruising constables? What ingenious gadgets or devilish explosive gases have they secreted under those innocent black hoods? These are sobering thoughts, to give one pause. They should have given the Renfrew man pause. Ah! poor fellow ($50 poorer), he did not know that he had a hot-rod chasing him.

NOTES AND COMMENT

The Mayor of Ottawa has sent the Mayor of Toronto a broadaxe as a present. If this goes on much longer the public accounts of the city of Ottawa will contain a substantial item for broadaxes. In Peterborough, of course, we give alarm clocks.

We read that the Dionne quintuplets have never been spanked. And considering the wholesale nature of the job, who would want to attempt it?

GATT Under Fire

By SUSAN STRANGE

COMMONWEALTH COUNTRIES may be asked to defend their recent import cuts before the critical forum of other countries belonging to GATT, the international "lower-tariff club".

GATT—standing for General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade—is due to hold its seventh session in Geneva next October. Then, or quite possibly at an earlier special session, European and other non-sterling countries may ask Britain, France, Australia and other countries who have recently intensified their import restrictions to explain and justify their action.

✧ ✧ ✧

AND IF, for example, Australia were to be particularly lenient in applying the import cuts to British goods —as Britain has requested—many GATT countries would justifiably and vociferously, complain that Australia was discriminating against them, contrary to the Agreement.

Meanwhile there are growing signs that this year may see a thorough questioning, from many different quarters, of the usefulness of an international agreement such as GATT. To many people an international body devoted to the ideal of free and undiscriminating trade appears pathetic and even futile in a world intent on cutting imports and restricting trade, and bedevilled not by tariffs but by a chronic shortage of hard currencies. Is there really any hope, in such a world for GATT and all it stands for?

THIS QUESTIONING of GATT has begun already in Britain. In a recent House of Lords debate, it was pointed out that twenty-one out of the thirty-four countries who are contracting parties to the GATT have recently imposed new import restrictions and that while little progress was being made towards freer trade, Britain was under constant attack by other GATT signatories to lower the margin of Imperial Preference whereby British goods are allowed into Commonwealth countries at special lower tariff rates, and vice versa. The Government was asked whether in the circumstances, it had considered withdrawing—after the required two months' notice—from the whole agreement and its organisation.

THIS argument has, at the moment, an obvious popular appeal in Britain. With markets for textiles and other consumer goods shrinking alarmingly, there is a natural tendency to look for economic security in the snug and exclusive association of the Commonwealth and Empire and to draw the protective cloak of Imperial Preference a little tighter against the cold.

The Government, nevertheless, is unconvinced, and there seems no immediate danger of Britain withdrawing from GATT. In the official view GATT does not seriously interfere with Imperial Preference, and while there are many important advantages in remaining a party to it there would be some very serious disadvantages in leaving it.

✧ ✧ ✧

TO BEGIN WITH, the possibility of building up the wall of Imperial Preference any higher is not at all good. The system dates from the Ottawa Agreements of 1931, when the primary producers of the Commonwealth were hard hit by the Great Depression and desperately anxious to sell their unwanted wheat, wool, tin, rubber, meat and dairy products. Britain has something — a large markets for imports—to offer in return for a preference on British manufactures. But, twenty years later, things have changed. Industrial countries are still scrambling for food and raw materials from the Commonwealth and even in relatively bad times there has never, since the war, been the same need as in the thirties to find a source market for Commonwealth farmers. If anything, Commonwealth countries would like to lower the walls of Imperial Preference rather than raise them and some of them—Pakistan for example—have already begun to do so.

MOREOVER, if Britain were to withdraw from GATT, there would be serious danger of the whole agreement falling to pieces. Except for Syria and the Lebanon, who withdrew in 1950 in a fit of pique, no one has left GATT so far. But it is a fragile arrangement and it would be easy to start a rush for the door. If it did disintegrate, every country would be tempted to raise tariffs indiscriminately and, once raised, they could be lowered again only in clumsy and difficult bilateral negotiations. Trade would inevitably suffer and the countries to suffer most would be those, like Britain, who live by trade.

It is true, of course, that the main obstacles to trade are not at present tariffs but the quotas and exchange controls which countries are obliged to operate in order to close their dollar gaps and solve their balance of payments difficulties. GATT, which was founded as a forerunner of the ill-fated International Trade Organisation, on the quite false assumption that postwar exchange restrictions would soon disappear, permits such import controls, provided they are done with consultation and are not discriminatory. Restrictive though they are, they are at least flexible, and it is easier for governments subsequently to ease import controls than to lower a tariff against the outcry from home producers. Any return to tariffs would, therefore, be regrettable. At the moment, under the GATT agreement made at Torquay in 1950, members have not only multilaterally lowered tariffs but are bound to hold them down until 1954.

FOR THE future, too, GATT may be very useful for all non-dollar countries. Recently, there have been signs of mounting pressures in the United States towards protective tariffs, and discriminatory quotas. One, on dairy produce, is down for discussion and criticism at the next session of the Contracting Parties. There have been others recently on imported hats and bicycles. In resisting these pressures in Congress, any American Government has its hand strengthened considerably if there exists an international body, brought into being largely by American efforts, which binds its members not to raise tariffs and criticises them bluntly and with justice if they do so.

The economic future for the non-dollar world is uncertain and intimidating. Every dollar its exports can earn in the United States is vital, and anything which makes sure that the dollars can be earned is valuable. GATT may not be getting very much nearer its original target of free world trade. Its positive contribution may be small. But it is helping to conduct an important holding operation, and, on balance, Britain and other member countries are unlikely in the end to decide that it is something they can afford to do without.

No Revolution In Our Schools

By K. S. WIGHTMAN, B.A., B. Paed., Superintendent of Schools, Peterborough

DURING recent months the schools have been receiving a great deal of publicity chiefly in the form of criticism of what is being accomplished in the fundamental skills. We have been told that we are conducting places of entertainment rather than instruction and that the old virtues of thoroughness and sustained effort are no longer to be found in our students. A few years ago we were under attack from another quarter; we were, it was said, clinging to outworn curricula and methods and failing to meet the challenge of a rapidly changing society. So the pendulum swings. Public education, together with every other social institution, has always been subject to the pull of two opposing schools of thought each of which in a fairly regular alternation catches the public favour and enjoys a brief period of ascendancy until the return swing sets in. One group is critical of both past and present and urges measures of reform and progress which in their most extreme form are rather startling. The other, while equally convinced that the schools are out of joint with the times, finds the remedy for the slackness of these degenerate days in a return to the good old practices of fifty years ago.

✧ ✧ ✧

ON THE whole, the reformers are the better company. The pictures they draw of educational Utopias just over the horizon give a lift to the spirits. They do have a tendency to leave the solid ground of reality behind and float off into the blue; but while we may smile at their wilder fancies, we can and have learned much from them in their saner moments. When all the accounts are balanced, we shall find that we owe much of what is best in education today to their influence. Their opposite numbers are rather sad unhappy fellows; naturally so as their theme is a lament for what we once had and have so carelessly thrown away. No one can deny that they exert a needed restraint on the process of change. But those of us who have lived long enough to have experienced the past they so revere are not quite convinced, the less so when we recall that then as now we were being told that salvation for education lay in a return to the good old days of yore. We are inclined to suspect that their golden age of the past is just as much a creation of the imagination as is that of the future so glowingly depicted by the apostles of progress.

✧ ✧ ✧

YET TO both schools of thought we owe much. However we may disagree with some of their views we must admit that they do search out our weaknesses and put us on our mettle to meet their criticisms. They keep us from becoming complacent and self-satisfied, from feeling that we know all the answers and have solved all the problems. The conviction that perfection has been attained is fatal to both men and institutions. We are grateful for any influences that aid in keeping the spirit of the schools dynamic and alive. But we do become a bit restive when our critics in their zeal berate us for faults that do not exist. We may know that the attack is on theories which have never been put into practice in the schools but the casual reader does not. A recent magazine article is a case in point. There the writer in describing the deterioration of the elementary schools instances the abolition of corporal punishment, examinations, review and drill. Now while these practices have been critically examined and to some degree reshaped to serve their purpose more effectively, they have never been discarded. The truth is that radical changes do not come about in schools as rapidly as some critics seem to think. There is a certain inertia, perhaps better described as common sense, which puts a brake on the process of change and gives time for critical evaluation. The new way has to establish itself against the pull of accustomed habit. The experienced teacher does not readily discard what he has found to produce the desired results; he will accept the new as an experiment but if it does not show a clear gain when measured against the old he soon discards it. The young teacher is more easily swayed by the theory of the moment since he has no background of experience against which to assess its value; hence the need of supervisors to guide him until his judgement has matured and to keep him from wandering too far from the main highway. We would cherish our critics much more kindly if before opening fire they would take a closer look at their intended targets. They do harm rather than good when they give the community we serve a distorted picture of existing conditions.

THE CHANGES which have taken place in the schools during recent years have not been dictated by any revolutionary educational theory. They have been rather a common sense attempt to fit curriculum, organization and methods more closely to the nature of the child and to make greater allowance for individual differences in native capacity. There has also been a widening of the curriculum to meet needs which were neglected in the past, and since the school day is not elastic an inevitable restriction of time available for the traditional school subjects. We are aware that there is a danger here of neglecting fundamentals, and have been on our guard to avoid it. The happier tone that can be observed in school life today is an indication that the effort to make the education of young children a natural growth rather than an imposed discipline has achieved a considerable measure of success.

The schools are the agency through which society secures the continuity of those things in its life which it regards as worth preserving. In the long run it is society itself that decides what those things are and so dictates educational aims. The narrower the aims, the more easily they can be realized. Society today requires of the schools the development of the well-rounded individual who can take his place as a free citizen in a free society. That is indeed a difficult task, often made more difficult by other phases of community life which contradict rather than reinforce the teaching of the schools. Those who undertake to judge its performance have had much to say of failures. Failures there are, and for them the schools must accept a measure of blame; but I suggest that just occasionally attention be directed instead to the goodly number of fine young graduates who go out each year trained and equipped to play an effective part in the life of the community.

Happy Emperor

(The New York Herald Tribune)

Haile Selassie, Emperor of Ethopia, lost his realm to Mussolini's conquering army in 1936. He got the realm back during World War II when the British chased out the Italians. But he still wasn't entirely happy, because the symbols of his power and glory were missing. He was an emperor with no proper place to sit.

A discovery was made recently in Italy, and shortly after, fifteen packing cases left Naples for Addis Ababa. They contained Emperor Haile Selassie's throne, complete with canopies, base, pillars, and velvet cushions.

Also a brass bedroom suite, two oil paintings, a sceptre, a purple velvet cape embroidered in gold, and a bronze statue of the Conquering Lion of Judah.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Having therefore, brethren, boldness to enter into the holiest by the blood of Jesus, by a new and living way, which he hath consecrated for us, through the veil, that is to say, his flesh; and having an high priest over the house of God; let us draw near with a true heart in full assurance of faith, having our hearts sprinkled from an evil conscience, and our bodies washed with pure water . . .

And let us consider one another to provoke unto love and to good works. (Heb. 10: 19-22, 24.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Therefore being justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ . . . For if, when we were enemies, we were reconciled to God by the death of his Son, much more, being reconciled, we shall be saved by his life. And not only so, but we also joy in God, through our Lord Jesus Christ, by whom we have now received the atonement. (Rom. 5: 1, 10, 11.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Herein is love, not that we loved God, but that he loved us, and sent his Son to be the propitiation for our sins. (1 John 4: 10.)

WANTS INFORMATION ON INDIAN SITES

Sir: The Ontario Archaeological Society was formed one year ago with the purpose of stimulating interest in the pre-historic culture of our Indian peoples.

The careful exploration of Indian village sites is our main source of information. To find these sites, we need the help of people who have found, (or know about) Indian artifacts, such as arrow heads, pottery, pipes, etc. Any help you can give us in reaching these people will be greatly appreciated.

Our secretary, Miss Ruth Marshall, 589 Bathurst Street, Toronto, will be glad to answer any questions about our Society and its activities.

Yours very truly,
(MRS.) EDITH BEVINGTON
Executive Member

GIRLS SEEK PEN FRIENDS

Sir: My friend and I would very much like to have pen-friends in the Peterborough area and we would be pleased if you could help us.

I am eighteen years old and at present I attend the Peterborough County Grammar School but I am leaving at Easter and hope to begin training as a nurse later on in the year. My interests are: swimming, drawing and camping and I am very fond of children and animals. My address is: 38 Grange Ave., Dogsthorpe, Peterborough, Northamptonshire, England.

My friend is seventeen and a half and attends the same school as myself. Her interests are: sailing, riding, reading, swimming and young farmer's club. Her address is: Miss Iris T. V. Hancocks, 54 Shakespeare Ave. Peterborough, England.

We would be very grateful if you could help us to find pen-friends (Iris would like a boy but I don't mind which) and we look forward in anticipation of hearing from correspondents in the future.

Yours faithfully,
Dorothy H. Smith.

Naval Officer Also Artist

HALIFAX — (CP) — Anthony (Tony) Law is a bit different than most Canadian artists.

He wears an officer's uniform and spends most of his time aboard the Navy's aircraft carrier Magnificent.

As a sailor and artist, naturally his main interest on canvas is the sea. He loves both.

"It's a disease with me," he said at a recent exhibition at a gallery here. "I can't give it up."

A native of Quebec City, Tony Law has had his work hung in the National Art Galleries in Ottawa and London, England. He has given one-man shows in Ottawa, Quebec, Victoria and Halifax.

At some showings, his wife, painting under her maiden name of Jane Shaw, also has had some work exhibited.

"Painting is an ardous hobby," says Tony Law. "You have to be fit, for instance, to travel into northern Quebec at the time of the spring breakup, a time when you find some of the greatest subject matters."

Dislikes "Modern" Art

Law has little patience with the so-called "modern" school. "If I had my way I would give most of the canvases to little boys . . . along with a pair of scissors," he quipped.

"I feel Canada is not yet ready for the painter, that she is still harboring the 'mad artist' feeling."

Of Nova Scotia, Law says "this province is an artist's paradise. I could spend months in just one spot, painting."

Landscapes and seascapes appeal to him because they give more scope for expression and creative ability. The portrait painter, he claims, is tied down by the subject, whom he must flatter in most cases.

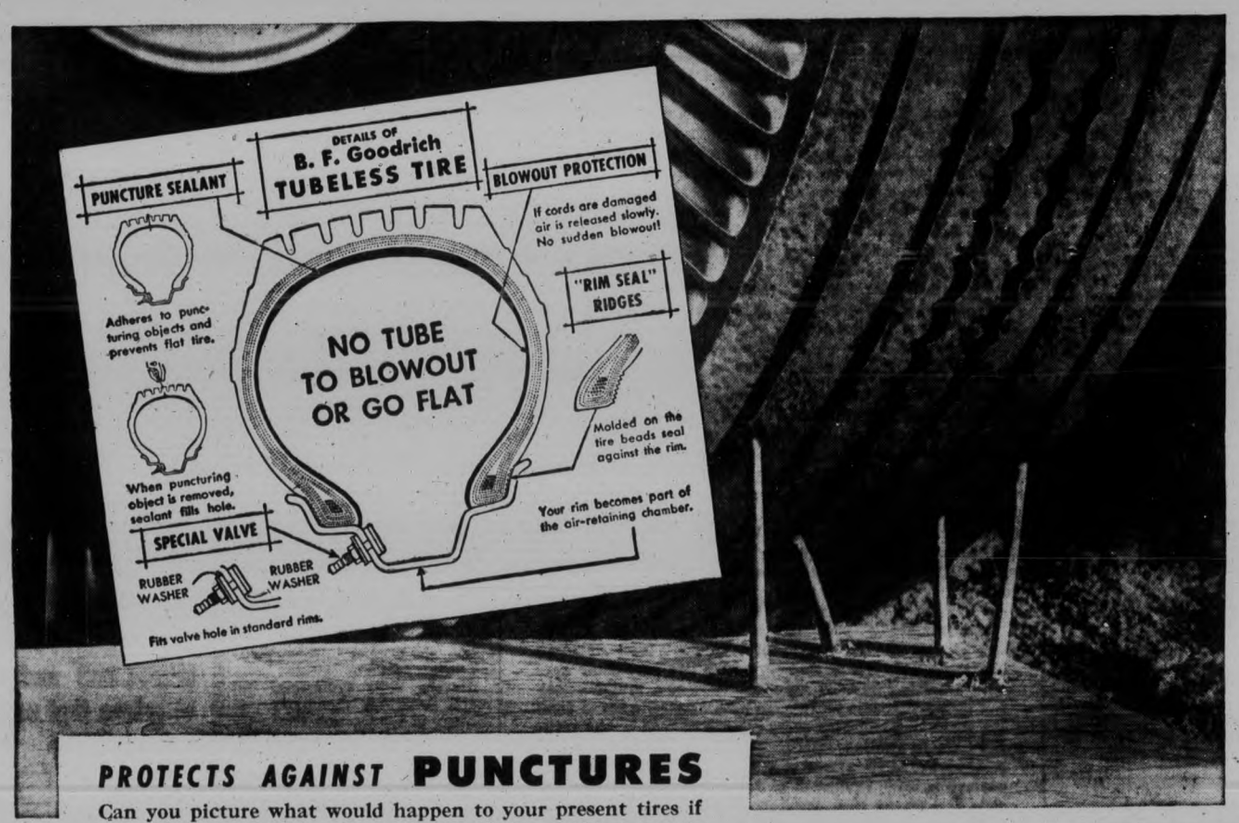
Now in Canada
B.F.Goodrich
TUBELESS TIRE
the tire that earned the name LIFE-SAVER



THE ONLY TIRE THAT PROTECTS YOU FROM ALL THREE DRIVING HAZARDS... BLOWOUTS, PUNCTURES AND DANGEROUS SKIDS

It's here for Canadian motorists . . . the revolutionary B. F. Goodrich Tubeless Tire, the tire that needs no inner tube —no tube to buy, no tube to puncture or blow out. The air-retaining lining is actually a part of the tire itself.

A DREAM COME TRUE. Ever since B. F. Goodrich built tires for the first automobile manufactured on this continent, the dream of tire engineers has been a pneumatic tire that would need no inner tube. During World War II, B. F. Goodrich research made such a tire possible. The principle was developed and used on combat vehicles under the most difficult driving conditions.

Following the war the Tubeless Tire was improved and perfected for use on automobiles. In 1946 tests were made on police cars and taxi fleets where tires have to take heavy punishment. It was a complete success . . . a dream come true . . . the B. F. Goodrich Tubeless Tire that protects against all three driving hazards . . . punctures, blowouts and dangerous skids.

PROVEN ON THE ROAD. The B. F. Goodrich Tubeless Tire has now been used for over four years in the United States by thousands of motorists. Their enthusiastic acceptance and exceptional mileage reports are your best guarantee that this is the finest tire you can buy today.

The B. F. Goodrich Tubeless Tire fits your present rims. No special fittings are needed. The scientifically designed tire bead with rim-seal ridges forms an air-tight pressure lock against the rim. It can't come off . . . doesn't lose air.

See this revolutionary tire right now at your own neighbourhood B. F. Goodrich dealer.

PROTECTS AGAINST PUNCTURES

Can you picture what would happen to your present tires if you drove over spikes like those illustrated above? This dramatic test proves conclusively that with B. F. Goodrich Tubeless Tires such hazards will never cause you a moment's delay.

Here's why—a layer of special sealant rubber under the tread sticks to any puncturing object and prevents air from escaping. When the object is removed the puncture seals itself instantly and permanently without any loss of air. You continue to drive as if the tire had never been punctured.

The inconvenience, the delays and the expense of punctures are eliminated.

PROTECTS AGAINST BLOWOUTS

Most blowouts start when you bang into a curb or chuckhole and bruise the tire cords. As the tire flexes, a break occurs in the casing at this weak spot and the tube is forced into the gap. While you drive the tube is pinched and chafed. Suddenly, miles or perhaps days later, when you don't expect it the tire blows out.

The B. F. Goodrich Tubeless Tire has no tube to blow out. The air-retaining lining is actually a part of the tire itself. If bruising does occur, the tire's flexing only causes pinhole leaks in the lining. Instead of a dangerous blowout all you get is a slow leak that gives you miles in which to stop safely. It changes blowouts to "slowouts."

PROTECTS AGAINST DANGEROUS SKIDS

The B. F. Goodrich Tubeless Tire has an amazing new tread with thousands of flexible rubber "grip-blocks"... spaced 16 to the inch. These tiny blocks grip the road like a tank tread. In wet weather their flexible action wipes the road dry for safe, sure traction . . . so dry you can actually strike a match on the tire track.

Comparison tests with conventional tires show that this Life-Saver tread has up to 100% greater traction on ice and up to 40% greater traction on wet pavement. And what's more the flexible action of the tread increases tire life 10% to 15%.

"WE ARE CONVINCED THAT B. F. GOODRICH TUBELESS TIRES ARE THE MOST ECONOMICAL FOR US," says Mr. T. C. Lane of Rent-A-Car Service, Mason City, Iowa.

This is typical of reports from the U.S.A. where thousands of motorists have been using the B. F. Goodrich Tubeless Tires for the past four years.

Hans Hermann Gets Win Over Popular Zorra In Top Bout Of Mat Card

Referee Bun Dunlop had an optical illusion or something at the Brock Arena last night when he counted out Zorra in the final fall of the main bout with Hans Hermann. Bun saw two sets of shoulders on the mat and he picked on Zorra's for the unpopular count — then he beat a hasty retreat through an angry crowd. Hans had Zorra in a full nelson and was ramming him into the ring turnbuckles when the agile Frenchman kicked the corner post and fell back on the surprised German. He was sprawled atop the big squarehead, whose shoulders were down, but Zorra partly slid over his rival and his shoulders, also, were on the mat. The ref counted Zorra out.

Crossed Him Up.

That fall came in six minutes, but Zorra had taken the second one in 11 minutes with a reverse full standing nelson. He pretended he was groggy after some roughing by the hated Hun, but suddenly slipped on his fancy hold and that was that as the fans cheered heartily. Earlier, Hermann had started in again rasping his rival's eyes on the ropes and in headlocks, but Zorra put a stop to that in a hurry as he put the boots with his flying kicks to Hans and had him seeking refuge outside the hemp. There was some mat work with Hans pulling hair and getting away with it as Dunlop warned Zorra for slugging him in return. A slow round, but a happy result for the fans.

The strutting Teuton, weighing 276 to Zorra's 232, found the speedy Frenchman much faster and almost as strong. But, despite a lot of useless warnings from Dunlop, Hans finally got him with eye rasps on the top strand of the ropes and then softened Zorra up in the corner, with headlocks and punches. When he had him groggy, Hermann applied his "Prussian Squeeze" — an unconscious hold, and that was most definitely that. The fans booed as the big blonde strutted out, muttering "swine" to the ringsiders.

A Dull Draw

Warren Bockwinkle, at 246, and the 248-pound Strangler Bob Wagner went to a dull semi-final draw in 30 minutes. Bockwinkle had much the best of it with a punishing leg scissors off the ropes for the last half of the bout and he had a good edge on grappling whenever they were on the mat in the centre. But the very vocal Wagner pulled some raw stuff when along the ropes, and he got away with some, though he and the referee had a running feud through the so-so tussle. The fans pulled for Bockwinkle, while Wagner pulled hair.

Lou Pitoscia, scaling 256, and Bill Stack, going 241, drew in the prelim, Lou subbing for Herb Larson. Pitoscia was a villain all the way, but big Bill roughed it up plenty in return and both drew warnings. Stack hurled Lou into the ring turnbuckles after getting the works for a space and he used his fists upon occasion and upon Pitoscia, getting a bit of support from Bun, who also slugged Lou a few as the fans howled with delight. They dished up a lot of action, going the time limit on fairly even terms, and they mixed it again after the bell.

Montreal Blanks Guelph 1-0 In Fast Game

MONTREAL, April 16 (CP). — The wizardry of goalie Charlie Hodge and a third-period goal by Don Marshall Tuesday night gave Montreal's Junior Canadiens a new lease on life in their quest for the Memorial Cup.

It was this combination that gave the Junior Habs a 1-0 decision over the highly-rated Guelph Biltmores Tuesday night and enhanced their chances of victory when the best-of-seven series resumes in Toronto Friday night.

Guelph now leads the eastern Canadian final 3-2.

The puck-wise, heavier Guelph team outshot the Montrealers in all three periods, the number of shots hurled at Hodge in the second period—16—being almost as many as stopped by goalie Marv Brewer of Guelph in the entire game—17.

Hodge had a busy night stopping and kicking out pucks from all angles. Some of his saves bordered on the miraculous.

Hard-checking Hockey

Some 7,000 fans saw fast, hard-checking hockey that had them on their feet for a good part of the game. Seven of the 10 penalties came in the first period.

At 4:04 of the last period, defenceman Ray Leacock carried the puck down and shot directly on the net. The puck bounced off a Guelph defenceman and Marshall was on it like a flash and slapped it past Brewer for what proved to be the deciding tally.

Guelph had the pressure on before but the Canadiens' goal seemed to act as a spur. They poured the puck at Hodge from all angles but he was unbeatable.

An indication of just how busy he was was shown in the stops by periods which went this way:

Brewer: 4-7-6—17; Hodge: 8-16-12—36.

Brewer was taken from the nets with slightly more than a minute remaining but was returned twice when there were face-offs outside the Montreal area.

Ron Stewart, Andy Bathgate, Ron Murphy, and Bill McCreary were outstanding for Guelph. Marshall, Dave McCready and Bill Sinnett were the best for Canadiens.

Bill Gunn President Of Fastball League

Bill Gunn was re-elected president of the Industrial Fastball League at the reorganization meeting held last night in the Quaker clubhouse Howard Doxsee is vice-president, Don Isaac secretary, and Ken Crampton is treasurer.

A meeting to close entries will be held on April 30, the time and place to be announced later.

Four clubs were represented last evening: Raybestos, Quakers, Dominion Woollens and Norwood. A few other clubs are reported interested and it is expected a six-team circuit will be in fastball action here this season.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Girls' softball setup hereabouts could be right interesting this summer if several Central Ontario clubs come in with the local league. Belleville and Cobourg have applied so far, and Lindsay might decide to return to the fold. At least three Peterborough teams are lining up. Marines and Ashby's should be back again and likely Westclox. If not the latter, Burtol's would take over that franchise, we're told. The junior Woollens won't be in. Prexy Bill Flint has set the re-organization meeting for tomorrow eve at 7.30 in the Y.M. when officers will be elected, entries taken and plans made for '52. Those interested should be on deck.

George (Red) Sullivan is home after a successful season with Boston Bruins. He did right well in scoring in his rookie year and was used a lot as a penalty-killer. Lynn Patrick's crew extended the Canadiens plenty in Stanley Cup semi-finals and softened 'em up for Detroit. Red hasn't decided yet what he'll do for the summer or where he'll spend it. Led his softballers to the city title here last year. Bruins have a hookup with the local junior Oddfellows and, in time, more Peterborough puckists may be up in the big time. Dit Clapper, on the N.H.L. first team all-stars in 1939, 1940 and 1941—and in Hockey's Hall of Fame—is on Bruins' board of directors.

Could They Ever Check!

A lot of fans at Civic Arena were quite impressed night before last by Toronto Lydnhursts. They clipped Clippers 5-0—and last week saw Stouffville erasing the Petes. A terrific checking team, the 11-man Toronto squad bumped hard, skated fast and were deadly on rebounds in close. They actually had the speedy Clippers handcuffed most of the route and might well have won by a higher score. This despite the fact they were short three players and served most of the penalties. We had thought Stouffville potential senior "B", champs, but they'll never get by the Lyndhursts. No unless injuries or one-sided refereeing halt the ragged but smart Motormen.

* * * * * *

It just goes to show that it's mighty hard for a town this size to get by provincial semi-finals and finals in hockey. A little less than 40,000 people live here while Toronto has something like three quarters of a million. They can pick and choose players ere packing a solid squad from the goalie out, and with every reserve as good as any regular. Once in awhile a local club comes up with a starry and scrappy aggregation that goes right through, but the percentage is much against it. If Petes couldn't get by Stouffville this spring they certainly would never get past the Lyndhurst team. Latter go at Stouffville tonight and fourth fray is here Friday.

* * * * * *

Wings Worthy Champs.

Red Wings flew in Detroit, last night, to blank Canadiens 3-0 and take the Stanley Cup in four straight games after erasing Leafs four straight in semi-finals. That's a record since the best-of-seven sawoffs for this cup began. Fifth time Wings have won the coveted trophy in the last 16 years. Three huge gates were lost in semi-finals and three more in the finals when these series didn't go the limit— speaking well again for the honesty of professional sports. Metro Prystai was the sniping star for the Adam-Ivan squad last p.m. as he fired in two goals and aided on another. Terry Sawchuk came up with his fourth shutout in the eight cup contests this spring, an amazing mark. Wings are worthy hockey champions.

* * * * * *

A pair of draws were noted along the Rue Brock last eve, despite spring weather, as the prelim and semi-final bouts of the pro mat card finished in even-up time-limit decisions. Stack and Pitoscia did it in the first affair, whilst Bockwinkle and Wagner finished nose and nose in the next heat. Final bout saw two guys down with shoulders pinned but Referee Bun Dunlop picked the nearest shoulders to count and they happened to belong to Zorra, the French Tarzan. Which gave Hans Hermann, the victory, and he goose-stepped out in proud fashion, sprinkling a few "swine" epithets at indignant ringsiders en route. There should be a salvia test for mat refs.

Dukes Crush Hawks To Sweep Series

BELLEVILLE, April 16 (CP).— Weston Dukes moved into the Ontario Hockey Association Junior B finals Tuesday night with an 11-1 victory over Belleville Hawks to sweep the best-of-seven semi-finals in four straight games.

The clash was a rough one with 28 penalties being handed out over the route. Nine of the sentences were majors.

Reid tallied four goals for the winners while McCarthy clicked for three and Elick got a pair. Harris and Zalay notched singletons. Strahan scored the Hawks' lone goal.

Pittsburgh Hornets today hold a commanding lead in their battle with Providence Reds for the championship of the American Hockey League but it took a goal at 18:40 of sudden-death overtime to place them in their advantageous position.

The Hornets now lead the best-of-seven series for the Calder Cup 3-1. The score in Tuesday night's game was 3-2.

It was Rudy Migay who gave victory to the Hornets after the two teams had ended regulation time tied 1-1. During the first 10-minute overtime session, Jean-Paul Denis scored for the Reds and Bob Solinger for the Hornets to force the sudden-death overtime.

Migay's game-winner, which moved the series back to Pittsburgh for a fifth game Thursday night, was a 10-foot angle shot.

During the 10-minute overtime play, Migay set up Solinger for a 25-foot goal about five minutes after Denis polished off a three-men rush to put the Reds into a 2-1 lead.

The early stages of the lengthy game were rough and 17 penalties were imposed during the first two periods.

During the second period, player-coach Terry Reardon set up Ray Powell, the league's top scorer, with the first Providence goal, a 20-footer. Less than two minutes later, Migay put the Hornets into a 1-1 tie by deflecting Frank Sullivan's high 50-foot shot into goalie Harvey Bennett's cage.

23 Schools Enter Tourney

KINGSTON, April 16 (CP). — The seventh annual Queen's University Easter invitation basketball tournament gets under way today. Twenty-three Ontario schools are competing.

The three-day competitions are divided into as many sections. Playing in the afternoon and night all games lead up to the triple finals scheduled for Friday night.

In the A-section where schools of 350 male students and more are entered, Hamilton Central, Kingston, Peterborough, Oshawa Central, Niagara Falls, Belleville, and Sudbury are playing.

The B-section is for schools with a male enrolment of from 150 to 350. Teams entered here are from Brockville, Pembroke, Regiopolis College of Kingston, Napanee, Picton, Ottawa Nepean, and Campbellford.

The C-section is for smaller schools with less than 150 males enrolled. Port Hope, Albert College of Belleville, Athens, Gananoque, Prescott, Kemptville, Almonte, and Copper Cliff are playing in this section.

Niagara Falls Collegiate, last year's A-section champions and winners of the Ontario secondary schools basketball tourney at Toronto early in April, is favored to come through again this year.

Play opens at 5 p.m. today. All three teams will see action in the morning, Thursday, with the first game scheduled for 9 a.m.

Canadian runners at United States universities are making a big hit with U. S. track experts.

Don Canham, University of Michigan coach, thinks these runners will win many points for Canada at the Olympics this year at Helsinki. But, he believes the big year will be 1956.

"Your team is still four years away," he said in Toronto Tuesday, speaking to members of the Canadian Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation. "It's the young men who will be trying for this year's team who will make your next team great."

Canham thinks that Don McEwen, U. of M. student from Ottawa, has the best chance to pick up points for Canada this year. McEwen holds the U. S. two-mile record.

But Canham looks to John Ross of Oakville as the coming star of them all. Ross set a big ten mile record of 4:09.4 in his sophomore year.

"In four or five years, Ross will be the greatest in the history of the game," Canham predicted. Rich Ferguson of Toronto, now at Iowa University, is McEwen's top rival.

Other prospects are: Jim Lavery of Calgary at Drake University, Don Stonehouse of Hamilton at Georgetown University, Al Rankin of Ottawa and Jack Hutchins, a British Columbia boy from Queen's University led to the conditional entry arrangement.

At Hamilton, Ivor Wynne, McMaster's athletic director, said he was pleased with the arrangement. "Of course, we would rather be playing league games but I feel this is a big step in the right direction."

Harold (Baby-face) Jones, 141, of Detroit won a 10-round split decision Tuesday night at Toronto's Maple Leaf Gardens over Allan McFater, 142, of Mimico. It was the main bout of a five-card professional boxing show. Gordon Wallace, 163, of Brantford, won a decision over Ted Bussey, 156, of Detroit, in the semi-final.

Quebec Aces outscored Chicoutimi 4-1 Tuesday night to win the Quebec senior hockey championship and the right to meet Saint John, Maritime major champions, for the Alexander Cup. The best-of-seven series starts Thursday in Saint John.

William M. (Doc) McMillan, one of the best harness horse drivers in the United States and well known in southern Ontario harness circles, will be honored Thursday at London, Ohio. The 62-year-old reinsman won 98 races in 1951.

McMaster University of Hamilton will be the fifth member of the Senior Intercollegiate Football Union this year, J. P. Loosemore, the league secretary, announced Tuesday at Toronto that the four original clubs—Varsity, Queen's, McGill and Western — had voted to accept the Marauders who last year competed in the Ontario Rugby Football Union. McMaster will play one game against each of the established members in 1952, while they will continue their home-and-home series.

McMaster's four games will be classed as exhibitions and will have no bearing on the Intercollegiate Union's standing. A new schedule, including McMaster games, is being drafted and will be announced shortly.

Mr. Loosemore said the arrangement is on a trial basis only and the whole situation will be discussed immediately after the 1952 season.

It was reported that opposition

Scrappy Lauro Salas who will meet the world lightweight champion, Jimmy Carter, for the title at Los Angeles May 14 found himself in trouble Tuesday. He was charged with assault in a cafe brawl. Police charge he broke the nose of a patron who had grabbed at his wife's arm. The court battle is slated for April 22.

Red Wings Win Stanley Cup With Straigt Sweeps Of Two Series, Break Record

By JACK SULLIVAN

DETROIT, April 16. (CP)—Detroit Red Wings, a team that did everything expected of it and tossed in a couple of record-breaking licks for good measure, today are the proud possessors of the Stanley Cup, professional hockey's most-sought-after treasure. The champions belted Montreal Canadiens 3-0 here Tuesday night before a standing-room crowd of 14,545 to complete the best-of-seven round in four straight. With it, the club termed by Manager Jack Adams as his "best balanced team in 25 years," wrote in a couple of revisions in the National League record books. Tuesday night's triumph, fashioned on the two-goal performance of Metro Prystai and a single by Glen Skov, gave the Wings their eighth straight victory in the playoffs, a record. And it was the fifth season they have won the double tie—league and cup—another record.

Personal satisfaction also went to freckle-faced Terry Sawchuk, 23-year-old Winnipeg-born goalkeeper who had four play-off shut-outs, two over Canadiens and a pair against Toronto Maple Leafs as the defending Cup champions dropped four straight in the semi-finals.

Sawchuk equalled the mark set by Dave Kerr with New York Rangers in 1937 and repeated by Frank McCool with the Leafs seven years ago.

Canadiens, who finished the league schedule in second place 22 points behind Detroit, were a well-beaten club. They had a revamped lineup due to injuries and were physically worn out after a tough seven-game semi-final with Boston.

No Soft Spot

But even at full strength and rested, it is doubtful they could have taken this 1952 edition of the Wings who haven't an obvious soft spot from the goal out to the 16th man on the bench.

They held Montreal's established stars—Maurice Richard and Elmer Lach — well shackled throughout the series. Neither got a point. Their kids—Alex Delvecchio, Johnny Wilson, and Skov—outshone Canadiens' much-talked-about "youth movement". Sawchuk, Vezina Trophy winner this season and outstanding rookie in 1951, was spectacular and their defence of Bob Goldham, Ben Woit, Red Kelly, and Leo Reise packed a deadlier punch than Montreal's rearguard.

They had scoring punch in all three lines and penalty-killing specialists in Tony Leswick and Kelly.

Not His Fault

Richard was almost the goat Tuesday night as he sat out a holding penalty when Prystai banged in Delvecchio's pass at 6:50 of the opening period from about 10 feet out. But the Rocket, a great competitor, flashed a great form for the remainder of the session and it wasn't his fault Canadiens didn't score.

Canadiens played a bashing, hard thumping first period but then the zip left them.

Skov made it 2-0 with 21 seconds remaining of the second period when Montreal's defence weakened and the clincher was supplied by Prystai at 7:25 of the third. Prystai also got an assist on Skov's counter.

They'll Do It Every Time — By Jimmy Hatlo

Veterans Steal Show From Rookies As Major Ball Season Opens

By JOE REICHLER.
Associated Press Sports Writer.

Exactly two dozen rookies, the most in more than 20 years, saw action Tuesday as the 1952 baseball season got under way. And while the majority of them did little more than hold their breath and fight off their nervousness, up stepped the grizzled veterans to steal the show.

Here is a blow-by-blow account:

Boston—A chilled gathering of 4,694 watched 34-year-old Preacher Rowe still the Braves' bats with seven hits as Brooklyn edged out a 3-0 victory. Roy Campanella, Brooklyn's 31-year-old catcher, rapped out three hits, the last scoring two mates to highlight the Dodgers' three-run uprising against southpaw Warren Spahn in the fifth.

Chicago—Early Wynn, Cleveland's 32-year-old righthander outpitched lefty Billy Pierce to give the Indians a 3-2 triumph over the White Sox. Wynn doled out six hits. Jim Hegan, 31-year-old catcher, doubled in the first run and ignited the winning two-run rally in the seventh with a single.

Detroit—St. Louis unveiled five freshmen in its opener against the Tigers but it was the pitching of veteran Ned Garver and the hitting of 34-year-old Marty Marion that was responsible in the 3-0 victory over the Bengals. Garver doled out six singles and fanned nine. Marion paved the way for St. Louis' first run off loser Dizzy Trout. He doubled in the fourth and eventually scored when Tom Wright hit into a double play. The day's largest crowd—43,112 including Queen Juliana of the Netherlands — saw Garver help his own cause with two singles.

Starts Things Off

St. Louis—Red Schoendienst, one of the Cardinals' "old guard" hammered a first inning homer to get the Redbirds off to a lead they never relinquished. Pittsburgh came within one run of wiping out St. Louis' early 3-0 lead behind righthander Gerry Staley but 37-year-old relief pitcher Alpha Brazle stopped the Pirates cold, retiring the last four batters to give the Cards a 3-2 victory. A homer by Ralph Kiner that accounted for the Bucs first run and a single by the much-travelled George Metkovich that scored the other.

Washington — Walt Dropo doubled in two runs and Ted Williams' booming triple accounted for the other as the Boston Red Sox shut out the Senators, 3-0. Mel Parnell, the sterling southpaw, issued only three hits as he whipped the Nats for the 15th straight time.

Cincinnati—Four rookies appeared in the lineups—two each for Chicago and Cincinnati—but it was a third inning grand slam homer by 33-year-old Hank Sauer and a run-scoring pinch single by 31-year-old Gene Hermanski that enabled the Cubs to beat the Reds 6-5, in 10 innings. And who do you think checked the Reds' in the final inning? None other than 42-year-old Dutch Leonard. Chicago's rookie Toby Atwell collected two singles.

Blustery, cold and wet weather ruined the opening day attempts of the New York Giants and Philadelphia Athletics. Weather permitting, the Giants will inaugurate their season tonight against Philadelphia Phillies while the Athletics will stick to daylight with New York Yankees as their opponents.

One-Game Edge

FORT FRANCES, Ont., April 16 (CP).—Fort Frances Canadians hold a one-game edge in the defence of their western Canada senior hockey title after defeating Edmonton Pats 7-1 here Tuesday night. Canadians lead the best-of-seven series 2-1 with one game tied. The fifth game will be played here Thursday.

Yesterday's Stars

By The Associated Press.

Batting: Roy Campanella, Dodgers—Slammed three singles, his third hit driving in two runs in the fifth inning to give the Dodgers a 3-2 victory over the Braves.

Pitching: Mel Parnell, Red Sox—Permitted the Senators only three singles in gaining his 15th straight triumph over them as the Red Sox shut out the Nats 3-0.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press

Bob Feller, then 21 years old, became the first Major League pitcher in history to hurl a no-hit, no-run game on opening day when his Cleveland Indians blanked the Chicago White Sox 1-0 in the American League opener 12 years ago today. Chicago had the bases loaded with two out in the third inning when Feller struck out the third man.

Baseball League Opens Season

NEW YORK, April 16 (AP). — The International Baseball League opens its 69th consecutive season today and once again the powerful Montreal Royals loom as favorites to win the pennant.

Approximately 40,000 fans are expected to show up for the four openers which find Montreal at Syracuse, Ottawa at Buffalo, Rochester at Springfield and Toronto at Baltimore.

The Royals, who won the pennant and playoffs last season, are well stocked and require little help from the parent Brooklyn Dodgers.

Montreal is expected to get off to a fast start while the other teams will go along primarily with rookies until May 15 when they expect help from the majors who have to cut down to 25 men on that date.

Rochester and Buffalo may give the Royals trouble as both are counting on strong help from the St. Louis Cardinals and Detroit Tigers respectively.

Two teams are under new ownership this season and four have new managers.

Philadelphia Athletics have taken over the Ottawa franchise from New York Giants and Detroit has acquired the Buffalo club.

Charlie Kingan Interested In Store and Conservation

Present owner of Kingan Hardware Co. Ltd., Charles Kingan, is best known to the people of Peterborough as a keen outdoorsman and conservationist.

Charlie Kingan, was the guiding light of the Peterborough Fish and Game Conservation Association in its early years, and served as its president for several terms. He has ceased to serve on the executive, but is still a member.

His private conservation project is a 1,000-acre wildlife sanctuary southeast of Lakefield around Buckley's Lake. For the most part it serves as a sanctuary for ducks and other game birds, as well as the odd beaver.

Was Minister

His father, the late Robert Kingan, was a son of the founder of the Kingan hardware store. Robert Kingan, Sr., was a Presbyterian clergyman before he became interested in hardware, and established the Kingan store 100 years ago this month.

Charlie Kingan, born in 1890, was educated in Central Public School, the old South Central collegiate, and the present collegiate. He worked for several years with his father, then went to Detroit, where he worked for a hardware firm.

Returning to Canada shortly before the beginning of the First World War, he joined the Second Divisional Trench Mortars and served overseas with them.

After the war, he returned to Canada for a time, working with his father again. The years 1925 and 1926 he spent on the Isle of Man, where he was married.

His time on the Isle of Man he described as a sort of holiday, with a bit of travelling salesmanship thrown in. For a Canadian manufacturers' organization, he sold everything from bacon to broom handles and harvest tools.

Travelled

Back in Canada, he returned to his father's business, and travelled throughout the district—to Minden, Haliburton, Bancroft, and other points in the surrounding counties.

A short, solid man with curly white hair and a sometimes bluff manner, he is willing to talk fishing at any time with customers, and some interrupt him in his work to tell him about a new idea, or a big fish.

Ratify Budget

TORONTO, April 16 — (CP) — Toronto's city council Tuesday ratified the 1952 budget entailing a gross expenditure of $76,386,375. This calls for a mill rate of 41.80 on every $1,000 of assessment, against last year's 39.3.

Glass Bottom Boats Aid Underwater Study

LONDON —(CP)—Glass-panelled compartments are being fitted into the hulls of a number of British warships to aid naval scientists with their under-water investigations.

The experiment, involving continuous observations and specialized camera work, is primarily concentrated on the effects of water flowing past a ship's hull. Research workers are hopeful their studies will lead to changes in propeller designs and greater driving thrust.

The first ship to be fitted for this special work is the 1,500-ton frigate Helmsdale. Two glass panels were fitted in the frigate's hull over one of the propellers. A team from the Royal Naval Scientific Service then took turns crouching in the small compartment, observing and photographing the action of the propeller as the ship engaged in exercises.

Through the observation panels the scientists are also studying the effects of aeration, the action of sea water on various elements of metal and other ocean phenomena. Divers are periodically lowered below the hull to clean the panels.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Tranter, Iris and Ivy accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. James Fenwick and daughter Sandra, visited friends and relatives at Paudash Lake.

Although the weather has been so cold and backward we are assured of spring by the odd trill of the awakening frogs. And we notice the men are taking the snow fences down, depositing them neatly in the fence corners until fall.

Blasting is a familiar sound to the residents' ears as Storm's Construction has got underway again to complete the new road section on Highway 28 after a three-week delay, due to the spring break-up.

A special Easter theme was delivered by Mr. Robb at Eden Sunday, assisted by the choir with anthems suitable for the occasion. The altar was decorated with two sprays of snapdragon given by Mrs. Gordon K. Fraser. The new Sunday school was well attended too, with special Easter stories prepared for the children.

INDIAN ORIGIN

Passemaquoddy Bay, an inlet of the Bay of Fundy, derives its name from an Indian word meaning "where the pollock are."

Good Gardener Keeps Tool In the Best Of Condition

Gardening can be a lot of fun, depending on how you take care of your tools. Clean spades, forks, hoes or rakes make lighter work but dirty tools tossed into a corner make the next day's work a real chore. A new spade is a pleasure to use. It cuts cleanly into the ground and comes out of the ground clean. How does your spade compare? If it is dull edged, pitted or rusted, it is hard to push into the ground. When pulled out, the clinging dirt has to be pried loose with a stick.

An important step in caring for garden tools is the choice of a storage place. They should not be kept in a damp basement or on a porch where there is apt to be a great deal of moisture. The garage is a better place to keep them. Hang the long handled tools on pegs on the wall, even if you have to drill holes in the handles. Lawnmowers, wheelbarrows and other wheel tools should be stood against the wall and blocked so they cannot roll. Smaller hand tools may be kept on shelves or work bench. Cover all metal with a film of vaseline.

Tools which have been allowed to rust and become pitted will never be as efficient as when new. However, they may be greatly improved by first going over them with a wire brush and then with coarse steel wool. Go over the worst spots with fine emery cloth so the dirt-catching pits aren't so deep.

After the tools have been thoroughly cleaned they should be sharpened. If you use a grinding wheel, be careful about grinding too long in one spot and taking the temper out of the tool. If you use a file, remember to file a spade toward the end of the blade and file a hoe against the bevel. Scythes and sickles should be sharpened with a whetstone. Clippers and shears can often be taken apart and sharpened on a grinder, finishing with a clean oil stone. The best way to grind an axe is on the old-fashioned grindstone. A grinding wheel may be used with care and the blade finished to a fine edge with a whetstone.

It's a good idea to paint the handles of your garden tools with a bright color—yellow or red—so they will be easily found in the yard. It is also a good idea to brand or carve your initials into the handles for identification. The neighbors, you know!

Sunday School Drive

TORONTO, April 16 — (CP) — Changes in the curriculum and set-up of United Church Sunday Schools must be made if the future of the church is not to be endangered, the Rev. T. A. Morgan, a member of the committee of Christian education, said Tuesday. He told a Toronto Centre presbytery meeting that most children leave Sunday School at the age of 12 or 13 and many are lost to the church. Those who came back form a "biblically illiterate congregation." Mr. Morgan said poor teaching is one of the causes of falling attendance.

Kingan Business Founded By Presbyterian Minister Marks 100th Anniversary

A hardware store that was established by a Presbyterian minister is celebrating its 100th anniversary this month. The Kingan Hardware Co. Ltd. was founded in April of 1852 by Robert Kingan, grandfather of the present proprietor, Charles Kingan. It was the first hardware store in Peterborough, although several others sprang into being shortly after. One of these, the hardware firm of McKee and Davidson, was started by a former employee of the Kingan store (Davidson).

Robert Kingan, the founder, was an ordained Presbyterian minister, one of the first along Lake Ontario's northern shore. Included in his pastorate was Cobourg, where he met and later married a daughter of Andrew Jeffrey, a hardware merchant and after Confederation a member of the Canadian senate.

Moved To Peterborough

After his marriage, Robert Kingan and his wife moved to Peterborough, eventually settling in a red brick home on the south side of Brock St. between Stewart and Bethune Sts.

He then established Peterborough's first hardware store in a building on the north side of Hunter St., just west of Chambers St. A photograph was published in The Examiner recently showing the store's site and several of the other commercial buildings of that era.

Four sons were born to Mr. and Mrs. Kingan. They were John, Robert, Fred and Frank. John left Peterborough in 1870 to go to the United States; he died in later years in Denver. Fred Kingan went to the United States in 1892 and stayed there until 1932, when he returned to Peterborough to stay.

Frank and Bob Kingan worked in their father's store, and Bob carried on the business after his father's death in 1893. Frank left for Sault Ste. Marie on the American side in 1889 to work in an electrical plant there.

Moved to George Street

About 1900, the store site was moved to the southwest corner of George and Simcoe Sts., where the S. S. Kresge store is now located. In 1928, the store was again moved, to its present site on the south side of Simcoe St., just west of Kresge's.

Charlie Kingan, the present owner, is well known to the citizens of Peterborough through his interest in fishing and hunting and his support of conservation projects. For several years he was active on the executive of the Peterborough Fish and Game Conservation association.

Of the continuing success of the business his grandfather founded, Mr. Kingan says this:

"We have always done what we said we would. If you promise a customer you'll do something by a certain date, do everything possible to have it ready for him. That's the way this business has been a success."

Beautiful Anthem

OTTAWA, April 16 (CP)—The Association of French Education in Ontario was told Tuesday it should campaign to get official recognition of "O Canada" as the country's national anthem. Felix Desrochers, parliamentary librarian, told the French-speaking teachers that the anthem composed by Calixa Lavalle in Quebec City near the turn of the century was the most beautiful national song ever written in Canada.

Continue Frills But Pupils To Work-Dunlop

TORONTO, April 16 — Education Minister Dunlop said Tuesday he doesn't want to abolish the "frills and fads" in Ontario's school curriculum.

What he meant when he mentioned them several weeks ago, he said, was that such things as music, art, shop work, physical training and home economics should be properly arranged so that they do not interfere with more important subjects.

Dr. Dunlop told the Catholic Education Conference here that he saw value in the newer subjects, but that the government was not anxious to see learning made easy.

Comparing new and old trends in teaching, he said: "There is some of the new, so-called, that is not worth using, and a great deal of the old is worth keeping. It is a matter of keeping the proper balance."

Should Be Tough.

School work, he said, should be kept tough, but interesting.

Dr. Dunlop said he had received a letter from a mother who asked her pupil son what classes he had on a particular morning. They were current events, art and choir pratice. The minister said he inferred from the report of an inspector who investigated the case that the boy's class spent the rest of the day preparing for a puppet show.

"There are always people wanting to put something new into the curriculum," he said. "They want us to teach something that should be taught at home. They want to put it in the cirriculum and relieve the parents of the responsibility."

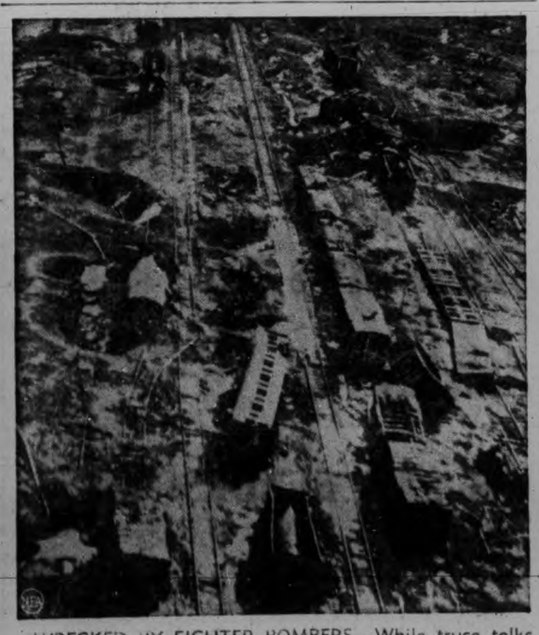
London Hospitality Not Very Popular

LONDON, April 16 (CP) Freedom of the City didn't mean much to Guy Lombardo Tuesday morning—he found a parking ticket on his car.

"He didn't look one bit happy about it either," commented Ted Harding, doorman at Hotel London.

"The Mayor gave me the freedom of the city, but I guess I'm not in with the police," Guy told the doorman.

Hugh T. Smith, secretary manager, London Chamber of Commerce, said the incident "merely points up the need for action in extending courtesy to American visitors."



WRECKED BY FIGHTER BOMBERS—While truce talks drag on, U.S. pilots continue to raid Communist supply lines. Aerial view shows the damage done to an enemy supply train caught by low flying fighter bombers somewhere in North Korea.

Furniture Care Said Needed Now As In Sheraton's Day

"Melt some beeswax and when 'tis cold make it up into a ball and rub it over with a polishing brush; labor till the luster be to your liking." These where Sheraton's instructions for the care of fine furniture. It is more than likely that he told Lady Pembroke of this procedure when she came to claim the table he'd made for her. And, more than likely, that she paid careful heed to his words, for new and expensive furniture from the gifted hands of Sheraton was a rare and valuable treasure.

Fine furniture today is made just as carefully as it was in Sheraton's time. And the constant strides being made in the wood finishing field make it possible to have surface finishes much more durable than those of even a decade ago.

But these finishes, just as the surface of Lady Pembroke's table, need proper care to give them increasing beauty and lustre. To understand the care a fine piece of furniture deserves, it is well to understand just how the original finish is applied. Suppose we trace the finishing of your treasured dining room table at the factory.

Staining First Operation

Staining is one of the most important operations, for upon it depends the color of the furniture when it is completed and the perfect matching of various pieces of the same suite.

There are three types of stains used: water or acid stains, spirit stains and oil stains. Each type has different qualities.

After the staining has been completed, the pores of the wood are filled with a filler which makes the surface still smoother. After a day's drying time the piece is again stained. Then comes a coat of sealer—to seal the pores and stain. Again it is sanded.

Your table now has color and tone, but it looks dull, for it lacks the protective transparent coating which also brightens and enriches its appearance.

May Need 20 Operations

From here on there are several different paths the finishers may follow. Upon the care and time that is devoted to this treament rest the richness and durabiliy of the surface of the furniture.

Shellac and wax may be used, or lacquer and wax. Shellac or lacquer may also be utilized — without the final coating of wax. Or — the piece may be coated in varnish and finished dull, mat, polished, rubbed or satin. As many as twenty different operations may enter into the finishing of the piece — with all the various sandings and coatings and rubbings to which it is subjected.

Now, do you look upon your table with new respect and admiration? Furthermore, do you give it the diligent care which it deserves? If it is to develop the prized quality of patina—a mellowed texture of wood and finish as difficult to describe as the bouquet of good wine — you will have to devote loving care and elbow grease to the cause.

Hints on Polish

If you use polish on your furniture, be careful not to use too much. Superfluous polish serves only to make a coating to which dust clings tenaciously. Twenty-four hours before you plan to rub down your furniture, it's a good idea to put two tablespoons of polish into an empty screw top jar, then turn it right out again. In the container place a square of old soft flannel, velveteen or chamois skin, screw on the cover and leave it. Such a cloth will be penetrated uniformly with just enough or the oil and will leave no film or lint behind.

When the polish is applied, it should be followed with lots of steady vigorous rubbing, so the wood becomes warmed, the oil seeps down into the tiny pores and not the slightest suspicion of polish remains on the surface to attract dust.

To polish a piece of furniture which has been finished with lacquer, wax—not an oil polish—should be used. If oil is used, your furniture will, in time, take on a bluish-grey cast. If this has happened to one of your treasured pieces, it's a simple matter to remove this greyish coating. At your drug store, obtain a small jar of "Neutral" or "Green" soap. That is, any soap in which the alkali balances the acids. Make a pad of soft cloth, wet it in cool water, wring it nearly dry, then dip it into the soap. Doing just a small section at a time, rub on the soap, rinse it off thoroughly with a clean damp pad, then dry and polish with a very soft cloth —rubbing with the grain.

Given $54,525

REGINA, April 16 — (CP) — William Hanely, of Regina, has received $54,525 from the federal government as compensation for 180 dairy cattle slaughtered in moves to eradicate foot-and-mouth disease in Saskatchewan. It was the largest single payment for animals destroyed.

PIPE-SMOKING DOG—This is no resident of Dogpatch, but Molly Adams, year-old female dog of doubtful lineage, who loves her pipe. Molly likes nothing better than to put on her perky red bonnet, a thick shawl and relax on the couch in the home of her owner-trainer, Mrs. Matthew Adams, of Guelph, and have a good smoke. Between times Molly is an expert rat catcher. But for real relaxation, apparently nothing can beat hitting the pipe.

Week's Holiday In New York Kingan Offer

A week's holiday for two in New York City is the grand prize being offered by Kingan Hardware Co. in conjunction with the celebration of their 100th anniversary.

For every dollar spent at the store, Kingan's will give one free ticket on this prize and seven other smaller prizes. Weekly draws will be made until June 23, when the grand prize will be drawn for.

Included in the grand prize are: double or twin room accommodation at the Hotel Shelton off Times Square, $150 expense money, return trip by T.C.A., several tours of sections of New York, and all expenses pre-paid by Kingan's.

Tours through New York will include visits to Chinatown, Coney Island and the downtown section. With the grand prize as well goes a dinner and show at the Latin Quarter, famed Manhattan night club.

Also, there is a yacht cruise around Manhattan Island and other visits in the continent's largest city. This tour is not a conducted tour; the winners can selec their own dates.

Seven other prizes, to be drawn for weekly, include an automatic toaster, a complete set of garden tools, enough paint to do the interior or exterior of the average home, 50 feet of plastic garden hose, a Coleman camp stove with folding stand, enough furniture polish, cleaner and floor wax to last a full year, and a complete set of kitchen ware.

A ROBIN NESTING atop a swing standard in a Louisville, Ky., yard looked so wet and miserable that Joseph Fallon decided to do something about it. To keep off the rain, he fastened an umbrella over the bird and her nest. Mrs. Robin now gratefully sings in the rain as she awaits the hatching of her four eggs.

Plan Expansion Of Business

The Kingan Hardware Co. Ltd. is expanding. By May, they will have moved into the store west of them and now occupied by Agnew-Surpass.

Purchase of this store will give Kingan's an additional frontage of 20 feet, making their frontage on Simcoe St. 50 feet altogether. This addition will be used to hold household hardware.

Besides the purchase of the store to the west, Kingan's have built a storehouse at the rear of their present store. This warehouse, 30 by 60 feet, will be used to house goods that are bulky or not likely to be damaged by storage in cold weather.

Galleries Installed

Instead of a second floor in the storehouse, galleries are installed as additional storage space.

When Kingan's move into the Agnew-Surpass store in May, a false wall on the west side of the storehouse will be knocked out and the storehouse extended to the west, providing even more warehousing facilities.

The present building is 80 feet in depth, and the shoe store addition is 50 feet. A plate-glass front of the westerly addition will include a door made as well of heavy duty glass. Thus, all the contents of the store will be visible from the street.

Builder Can Cut House Costs With 'Built-Ins'

Smart built-ins can reduce the cost of building and furnishing a home. Their space saving fettures make it possible to have the same amount of usable floor space in a house as much as 20 per cent smaller than a house with conventional closets and portable furniture. Or by using built-ins in the same size house, the living area is increased by as much as 20 per cent.

Built-ins include dressers, vanities, chest of drawers, bookcases, radio and television cabinets, desks and even beds with shallow drawers under them for blankets.

Modern plywoods of hundreds of types with colorful rare wood surfaces give built-ins all of the beauty of the finest furniture. A new type of plywood impregnated with a plastic coating to give it a permanently polished surface has been developed by the Georgia-Pacific Plywood and Lumber Co.

The cost of furnishing a new home is usually an added burden to the home buyer. Even when installment payments are arranged for new furniture, they extend over a comparatively short term. When as much furniture as possible is built into a house it is financed in the single mortgage covering the house, spreading the cost into easy payments.

Lending institutions recognize this advantage. Edwin H. Guest a director of the New Rochelle, N.Y. Federal Savings and Loan Association, says loans secured homes with a maximumm of built-ins represent the soundest investments. As head of Nuroco Woodwork, the millwork division of the New Rochelle Coal and Lumber Co., Guest has made extensive studies of the economy of built-ins.

He has found that built-ins can give a house with 808 square feet of floor area the same amount of walking space around furniture as a conventional home with a totla area of 1,014 square feet. "This is a saving of 20 per cent," he points out, "and with building costs ranging from $12 to $15 per square foot, it represents a sizable amount."

One of the first dividends that can be reaped through the use of built-ins is in the utilization of the space usually wasted for conventional interior walls. Roof trusses, or one load-bearing wall with posts and beams for openness can solve the structural problem. In either case the installation of all interior partitions can be delayed until outer walls, floors and ceilings are finished. This reduces the amount of cutting, fitting and piecing.

A storage wall between two bedrooms built of plywood and containing the closets for each bedroom is one of the simplest space savers. From that point on, opportunities for efficient planning continue.

The size of the usual bedroom is determined by the space required for easy movement around beds, bust as well as by the depth of each piece of furniture around the walls. To permit a 30-inch wide closet door to swing, at least that much clearance also is needed.

A space of 2 ft. deep and 8 ft. wide on the other hand, can provide for a wardrobe 3½ ft. wide, with sliding doors requiring no swing clearance; a dresser 2 ft. wide with storage cabinets above, and a vanity 2½ ft. wide with built-in lighting, a triplicate mirror and all the drawers and shelves a woman may want.

Sliding doors on wardrobes have many advantages. Clothes are more accessible and in full view, instead of being hidden back in a corner. Sliding doors also cut costs and building time. Made of plywood and equipped with slotted metal tracks, they slide at the touch of a finger. They can be prefabricated at a woodworking plant.

Six-room houses often have from seven to 10 closets. When these are built with stud walls, plastered and trimmed, fitted with costly door openings and expensive swinging doors they comprise a big item in building costs.

Any home owner handy with tools finds the construction of built-ins simple and gratifying. Plywood cuts cleans with a saw and because of its multiple layers it takes nails close to the edge without splitting. It can be used in large sheets in thicknesses up to ¾ inch.

LAST MINUTE CAMPAIGNING — Dorothy Dimm, an Eisenhower-for-President worker, distributes pamphlets and buttons from atop a campaign car in Newark, N.J. Ike forces were out in full strength for last day campaigning for votes in the New Jersey primary. It paid off, because Eisenhower polled a big majority.

Kingan Storeroom Treasure Chest Of the Unusual

"You're likely to find anything stored up here," said Jack Baldwin, waving his hand at the scores of shelves that line and fill the second storey storeroom of the Kingan Hardware Co.

In the first 100 years the firm has been established—it marks its first century this month—Kingan's have probably sold everything that has ever been made in the line of hardware.

What prompted Jack's statement was his mention earlier of a huge bear trap, "as big as a table", that had been knocking around the storeroom for quite a few years.

Just What He Wanted

It turned out later that the bear trap had been sold. Some man had seen it and declared it to be just what he was looking for. He bought it, and the bear trap, a landmark of sorts in the Kingan warehouse, was gone.

But there were other things. Camp stoves leaned against shelves containing bolts and wood screws. Coal oil lamps filled one shelf, and dozens of other articles seen seldom enough by the average customer, crowded other storage places.

On a pillar hung a hand-forged logging chain, reminiscent of the days when Kingan's supplied the sawmills and logging camps with chains, sawmill equipment and other gear demanded by lumber men.

Mine equipment at one time took up its share of space in the Kingan storeroom, vying for the weight championship with the heavy logging chains.

In the older days, too, the neat, small tins and jars of shellac and varnish and lacquer were not to be seen. In the basement these liquids were taken from barrels that gave the dark cellar a heady smell.

Old Time Nails

Among oddities that look as though they might have survived from another hardware age are "cut" nails. These are fashioned on the style of building nails used more than a century ago, and are made by only one firm in North America—the steel firm of Jones and Laughlin in Pittsburgh, who recently purchased options on the mineral rights of land in Durham and Northumberland counties.

These nails, bought during the wartime nail shortage, are punched from sheets of steel, and are said by many old time carpenters to be the best in building nails. They are made in several sizes, from 1¼-inch finishing nails to six-inch spikes.

Jack Baldwin said that the store's stock of aluminum nails, a not-so-popular line also made necessary by the war, was just about gone. Carpenters hadn't been sad to see them go, either, said Jack, because they bent too easily.

Glass for windows, paint for home interiors and exteriors, barns and verandahs, steel rods for reinforcing concrete, screening, and a hundred other articles take up space in the plentiful storage rooms at the Kingan store.

Kingan's offers the customer what he needs in the hardware line. And, as Charlie Kingan has said: "We've always done what we've told a customer we'll do for him."

Given Extra Staff Post Office Open

NIAGARA FALLS, April 16—(CP)—The main street post office is open again. Postmaster W. J. O'Reilly won his fight to get extra staff for the small sub-station.

One of the oldest mail distribution centres on the Niagara frontier, the post office closed Tuesday. Then at 4 p.m. it opened again when the federal post office department decided the extra help was forthcoming.

The revenue from the post office was only $3,440 last year. With it Postmaster O'Reilly had to hire two full-time helpers and one part-time worker.

Canadian Troops Given Gala Welcome

SEATTLE, April 16—(CP)—A gala welcome was given a contingent of 265 Canadian troops who arrived here Tuesday from the Korean war front aboard a United States ship.

The troops were the largest single body of Canadian soldiers to return from Korea.

The Seattle pipe band showed up in MacKenzie-tartan kilts.

Pte. Wally Metcalfe, 26, of Toronto, strode down the gangway holding an open Japanese parasol.

"Can't wait till I get home," he said. "I'm going to shuffle me off to Buffalo, and watch that good Canadian money go."

Need 12,000 New Teachers Within Decade

TORONTO, April 16 — (CP) — Ontario's elementary school teaching force will have to increase by about 1,200 each year for the next eight or 10 years to keep pace with the steady rise in the number of students, F. S. Rivers, superintendent of professional training for the department of education, said Tuesday.

He based his estimate on the province's birth rate, which last year was a record 116,193.

A former normal school principal, Mr. Rivers told the Ontario Separate School Trustees' Association that the birth rate had been going up sharply for at least five years while the pool from which teachers were chosen—high school and college graduating classes—remained pretty much the same.

The public and separate school enrollment last September was 39,000 higher than in 1950, he said, and 1,065 new classrooms had to be created.

Number Increases

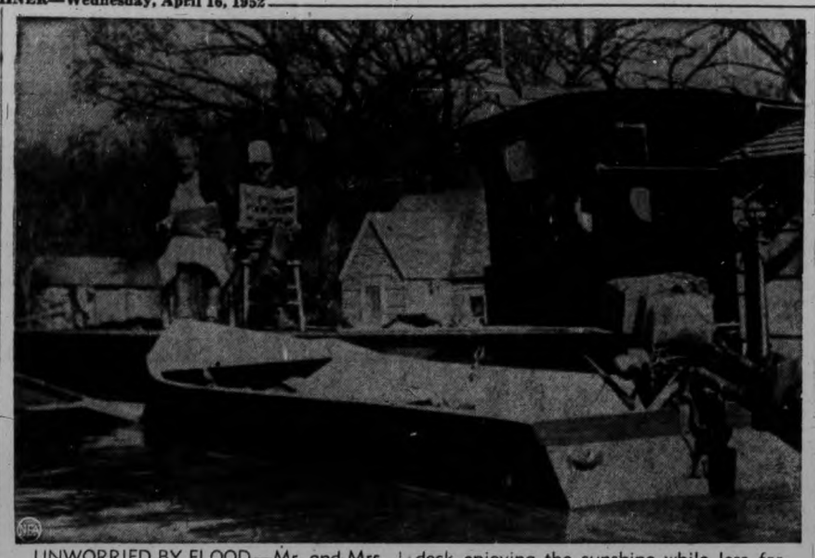
The number of high school graduates who were entering the teaching profession had jumped from 10 to 15 per cent in recent years, Mr. Rivers told the trustees. New enrollments in the province's eight normal schools totalled 1,600 last fall.

The teacher shortage was being eased somewhat by the return of married women to the classrooms, he said, but he doubted if the percentage of married teachers could increase much further.

The growth of Ontario's school system, he said, was most marked in suburban districts. In North York last year, for instance, the teaching staff was increased by 168.

The teacher shortage, he said, was being felt most in rural areas where school boards could not offer the wages available to teachers in cities and larger towns.

Mr. Rivers said the department of education had no intention of lowering the standards of the teaching profession to attract more persons. Every other means of coping with the shortage would be tried before this was given any consideration, he said.



UNWORRIED BY FLOOD—Mr. and Mrs. Walter Cramer of South Sioux City, Neb., who prepared their houseboat as the Missouri River flood threatened, are out on deck enjoying the sunshine while less fortunate neighbors flee to higher ground. The flood has made the city a virtual ghost town.

Strong Union Gives Bevan Boost On Arms Program

MARGATE, England,—April 16 (Reuters)— A Big union Tuesday veered away from the official line Labor Party leadership and voted overwhelmingly in favor of Aneurin Bevan's policy of reducing the scale of national rearmament.

The latest boost for Bevan came at the annual conference of the Union of Shop, Distributive and Allied Workers which represents 348,000 store clerks and warehousemen.

A resolution calling for a re-examination and scaling down of the arms drive, passed triumphantly despite a charge by Alfred Robens former Socialist Labor Minister, that it was "a very clever move to hitch this union to Bevan bandwagon."

Possible Repercussions.

The resolution was put forward by the union's executive committee. Its president, Walter Padley, a Labor MP, supports the Bevan line that the arms program initiated by the former Labor Government is beyond the country's capabilities.

Hostility of most trade union chiefs has been regarded as an obstacle to Bevan's rise to power as the champion of less rearmament and more socialism. He and his followers have claimed that union leaders don't represent the real feelings of rank and file members.

The USDAW is the first of Britain's Big Six unions to meet since the Bevanites openly defied their leaders in parliament last month.

Others are due to meet during the summer. Their views will have a big effect on policies to be shaped when the Labor party itself holds its annual convention next October

Only a dozen of the 1,000-odd delegaes raised their hands in opposition to the motion when it was put to the vote.

The Bevan case was also aired at a conference of the Northern Ireland Labor Party at Holywood, County Down, but delegates refused to accept a resolution urging a cut in armament.

Instead, by 14,7000 votes to 7,200 they referred it to the executive committee with instructions to start discussion on the topic throughout the party.

Abbott Explains Budget Problem

OTTAWA, April 16 — (CP) — Finance Minister Abbott said Tuesday night the "big question" facing him in drafting his recent budget was how to spread a tax cut of about $120,000,000 "among the various groups of taxes and taxpayers."

"We gave this a lot of careful thought, and our final decision was to take about $40,000,000 off the income tax and about $80,000,000 off the taxes on commodities," he said in a speech on a national network in the C.B.C.'s series "The Nation's Business."

Daylight Saving Starts In Millbrook April 27

MILLBROOK, April 16—(ENS)—Daylight saving will start in Millbrook at 2 a.m. April 27, village council decided at its April meeting, and will end at 2, a.m. September 28.

Accounts totalling about $1,115 were ordered paid, major items being $202.30 for the street lighting deficit, and $113 for lighting the town hall.

Dies From Bump

TORONTO, April 16 — (CP) — Grace Mary Scrymgeour, 14, died Tuesday, four days after bumping her head on a dresser as she tied her shoes.

Maths Important For Most Students

TORONTO, April 16 — Though still "queen of the sciences," mathematics should no longer be studied merely because it provides good formal discipline, according to Robert E. K. Rourke, headmaster of Pickering College.

He told members of the OEA urban teachers' section that a "new psychology of learning" and "a new type of student body" has altered the conception of mathematical instruction.

While essential for most of the professions, mathematics to the Grade X level is also justifieid by the requirements of 600 trades, Mr. Rourke declared.

Describing education as "the creation of attitudes," he maintained that mathematics could play an important part in the development of honesty and humility. With skilled teaching, he declared, many of the principles taught in mathematics can be transferred and applied to other fields.

Drama Festival Nearly Broke Seeks Sponsorship Support

OTTAWA, April 16 — (CP)—The Dominion Drama Festival, Canada's only national playhouse, is running out of funds and faces financial collapse, Secretary Richard MacDonald disclosed Tuesday.

It was also learned that Chairman D. Park Jamieson of Sarnia has decided to resign. The Sarnia lawyer has been a member of the executive for the past 16 years and chairman for the past four.

It appeared possible that the Festival may make a historic departure and seek sponsorship from some national advertiser. The Festival would allow the sponsor's name to be used in connection with the Festival publicity in return for a fee. It is understood a distillery is studying the situation.

Selection of a new chairman and the current economic difficulties will be two major issues for the annual meeting of DDF governors when it convenes at Saint John on May 2 at this year's Festival.

This national organization, the instrument by which Canadian stage and writing talent has been nurtured and developed during the past 20 years, has been hit by climbing operating costs and a dearth of donations.

Seeking Way Out

"We are searching for a way out," said Mr. MacDonald, 52-year-old stage veteran from Edmonton. "We depend on about 50 per cent of our costs being met by donations from drama lovers. They too, are feeling the pinch. They do not appear to have much money to spare."

During the past few months, the men behind the Festival have been watching for some Federal Government move toward implementing more of the Massey Commission recommendations, particularly those dealing with the stage. Nothing has developed. No Federal funds are extended to the work of the festival.

The national playhouse operates basically at the grass-roots of Canadian culture. From drama organizations across the country come some of the best stage productions and best acting this country has ever seen.

"Nothing in Canada has done so much for the amateur theatre as the Dominion Drama Festivals," the Massey Commission reported. "It would be a serious setback to our national understanding if for financial or other reasons acting groups in Canada are compelled to abandon the Festival, or if it must restrict its further development."

MAIN STREET TOPICS

MONTHLY PAYMENTS

Requisition of the Separate School Board this year is $82,002.67. It will be paid in monthly cheques from the city treasury.

SALARY INCREASES

Civic salary adjustments approved by the council Monday were increases: Murray Metcalfe $250; James Burgess $100; James Hooper $100.

TO LAY SIDEWALK

Finance committee of the council approved Monday an application for a concrete sidewalk on the west side of Armour Road, Ashburnham, from Hunter St. to Douro St.

BOY FALLS RIDING HORSE

Injured when he fell off a horse he was riding bareback Monday afternoon, Gary Aikin, 12, 49 Alfred Street, is in Civic Hospital recovering from a broken leg.

TO SPEND $278,000

Ontario Department of Highways has approved the estimated expenditure of $278,000 on roads by the board of works department this year. This is the amount on which the provincial government will pay a subsidy.

BUY POSTAGE SCALE

Council accepted Monday the $126.75 tender of Pitney-Bowes of Canada Ltd., for supplying a postage scale for use of all mail leaving the City Hall.

HOMES FOR ELDERS

Payment of $2,500 to Anson House and $1,500 to the House of Providence was authorized by the finance committee of the council Monday. These items are separately provided for in the council's budget. They are homes for elderly people.

DOES HE KNOW WHERE TO GO?

At the Tuesday night meeting of the Kawartha Foxhound Club member Mrs. Herb Routley drew a winning ticket that entitled Bill Coras, of the Churchill restaurant, to receive a new glass rod, expensive reel and landing net.

GET AN INCREASE

Tree-trimmers of the parks department who were not rated fully experienced by Armar Butcher, superintendent, get an increase of two cents an hour in a recommendation of the parks committee, reported to the council by Ald. P. J. Anglesey. The difference between them and more experienced men is now five cents an hour, the chairman said.

LAKES STILL ICE-BOUND

A resident of Gilchrist Bay on Lower Stony Lake predicted that lake ice would remain for another two weeks unless an immediate and lengthy warm spell and high winds take place right away. The melting process this year, he thinks, will not be too lengthy as there is a lot of snow-ice on the surface for quite a depth; it will go quickly.

TWO GRASS FIRES

Like everybody else firemen like to see the approach of dry, sunny weather. But it has one drawback: as soon as fields and vacant lots dry up, the grass fires begin. Tuesday afternoon they had two. One was on a vacant lot at 985 Western Ave., owned by S. Portsmith; the other was at Erskine and McKellar Aves. However the one at Erskine and McKellar was outside city limits in North Monaghan township, so they returned without snuffing it out. The grass fire burned itself nearly out in the afternoon but flared up again briefly early in the evening.

SECOND TENOR

The Coventry Singers invite applications to fill one tenor vacancy. This small choir specializes in 16th-17th century music and estimable later works, chiefly a capella. Apply to Thomas Allen, gerent; phone 8573 between 6 and 8 this week.

Driver Fined $15 On One Of Three Charges

Morley Simmons, a 49-year-old Belmont township trucker, was today fined a total of $112.50 at the non-jury sittings of the county court after pleading guilty to a charge of careless driving.

He pleaded not guilty to two more serious charges—dangerous driving and failing to remain at the scene of an accident—and was freed on them after Crown Attorney John Bradshaw, Q.C., withdrew the indictment.

The charges against Simmons were the aftermath of an accident March 10, 1951, in which a young soldier from Petawawa was injured while hitch-hiking on Highway 7, in Norwood.

The soldier was 19-year-old Myrrl Drinkwater of Cannington, a private in the R.C.R. stationed at Petawawa.

It was alleged that Simmons struck the youth and left him lying unconscious by the side of the highway, 200 feet west of the Norwood subway. And it was further alleged that Simmons did not stop to lend assistance. Drinkwater was taken to Civic Hospital with serious head injuries.

A grand jury brought in a "true bill" against Simmons at the general sessions of the peace in December.

Posted Overseas

Today Crown Attorney Bradshaw said that his key witness, Pte. Drinkwater, had been posted overseas as a member of the Canadian Army; so he could not be called as a witness.

Mr. Bradshaw added that the camp commandant had been informed that Drinkwater's presence was required and the Pembroke sheriff had a subpoene by April 8.

Because of the absence of this essential witness Mr. Bradshaw asked that the indictment on dangerous driving and failing to remain at the scene of an accident be withdrawn.

Simmons pleaded guilty before Judge J. A. McGibbon on the careless driving charge and was fined $15 and $97.50 costs. His licence was suspended for three months.

Judge McGibbon told Simmons that in some respects he had been very lucky, and in future he should make sure that any motor vehicle he was driving was under proper control.

W. J. Arthur Fair, Q.C., defended Simmons.

81 Junior Homemakers Look Over Peterborough

A dinner at the Y.W.C.A. Tuesday evening was the highlight of a day spent in Peterborough by 81 members of the Junior Homemaking Clubs of Peterborough County. The group arrived in the city in the morning and toured the Silverwoods plant. In the afternoon they toured the Quaker Oats Co. and the Brinton-Peterborough Carpet Co.

The girls were the dinner guests of the Peterborough Federation of Agriculture and the Women's Institute of Peterborough district.

Henry Sharpe, president of the Peterborough Federation of Agriculture spoke briefly and expressed the interest and of the federation in the girls' clubs.

Frank Paterson, agricultural representative for Peterborough county, congratulated the club leaders on the work they had achieved.

Certificates Presented.

Mrs. Harry of Buckhorn, president of the Women's Institute of Peterborough district presented certificates of achievement to the following girls who had completed two or more projects: 10 projects—Norma Ellis, Belmont; four projects — Joan Hornsby, Belmont; Marion Bothwell, Fraserville; Marie Drain and Donna Payne, both of Warsaw; two projects— Laura Hazeldon, Isabella Kidd, Yvonne Pilkington, Arnell Wood, Marion Syer, all of Bailieboro; Dora Elmhirst, Belmont; Betty Allen, Mary Cockburn, Gwen McKee, all of Fairview; Beverley Bennett, Dorothy Graham, Jean Kennedy, Lois McKay, all of Havelock; Doreen Brown, Eileen Davidson, Carol Ellison, Marlene Stewart, all of Keene; Theresa Farrell, Lakefield; Doreen Little, Warsaw.

Silver Teaspoons.

Mrs. John Edmison, vice-president of the Junior Farmers Association of Peterborough county, presented silver teaspoons to each club member for satisfactory completion of the 1951-52 project of the cereal shelf. She also presented silver spoons to the club leaders on recognition of the work they had achieved.

Following the dinner the girls were guests at the meeting of the Junior Farmers Association held at the Normal school.

Clubs represented from the county were: Bailieboro, Belmont, Fraserville, Fairview, Keene, Havelock, Lakefield and Warsaw.

Drama Festival Postponed To Autumn

The Peterborough and District Drama Festival scheduled for the end of the month has been postponed until autumn. This unanimous decision was taken at a general meeting of the Festival held Tuesday night. Seven entries which had already been received for the Spring festival have therefore been released.

Peter McCombe, chairman of the festival, regretted that this decision had to be taken, was appreciative of the groups which had entered, and particularly regretted that the Port Hope entry had to be forfeited. It was the first time in three-year history of the Peterborough festival that a Port Hope group had entered. He hoped that all groups and others would come into the autumn festival.

Reasons for Postponment.

The reason for shifting the date of the festival to the fall, probably November, as variously advanced by those attending the Tuesday evening meeting, were: a preoccupation of local drama groups and persons interested in the theatre, with the Eastern Ontario Festival held in Peterborough a month and a half ago, which to some extent had spent their forces; a spate of plays in March and this month by church groups, which diverted their attention from festival entries or made it necessary for them to enter a single act of a three-act play, rather than a full one-act play; the intervention of Lent and the Easter holidays; and a lack of momentum in the festival arrangements.

Although the finances of the Festival, as revealed by the financial report, were buoyant it was felt that the financial outlay necessary would not be recompensed by sufficient success and public support now. Longer range planning for a fall festival would have more effective results.

An executive committee meeting is being held Sunday to plan the autumn festival.

Council May Buy Land Opposite Filtration Plant

Purchase of the property owned by Mrs. Percy Edwards on the east side of the river opposite the filtration plant, for the Utilities Commission has been recommended to the City Council by its Finance Committee.

The acquiring of this property at $3,145.20 has been requested by the Utilities Commission. At their meeting Tuesday, Gordon R. Langley said: "In any report of this transfer, I think it should be mentioned that Mrs. Edwards is selling this property just at cost."

Intimations some months ago of the prospect of a housing development extending back from the river aroused the commission in their vigilance against any further contamination of the water.

A representative of the Ontario Department of Health inspected that reach of the river above the waterworks dam last week at the request of the commission. He expressed himself as generally satisfied with the conditions as he found them, and is preparing a report on his survey.

10-Minute Break

In his March report on the electric department, Mr. Dobbin commented: "There was a ten-minute city-wide power shortage on the 26th, caused by the failure of an insulator in the hydro plant at the Auburn (Water Street North)."

"I think that was too long a delay," Mr. Langley said. Relaying around the insulator fault could be done in a fraction of a second.

The break was in the "bus" structure at the Auburn plant, Mr. Dobbin said.

Commission decided to ask the hydro headquarters at Belleville for a report on the 10-minute suspension of the power service.

Mr. Dobbin reported that work has been begun on the projected 12-inch main in Ashburnham.

It will be laid from Burnham's Point to increase the supply of water to Western Clock Co. This is an outstanding agreement between the city and the company. Armour Hill presents a natural obstacle to top pressure at nearby hydrants, but increase in volume would be an advantage in fire protection. Department pumpers could pick it up and provide the necessary boost of pressure.

300 Pounds Wire Missing At Hydro

About 300 pounds of copper wire was reported missing from a platform at the rear of the Hydro Electric Power Commission today. Assistant Manager B. Sernos told police that sometime during the night, 100 pounds of scrap wire and a bound box, containing nearly 200 pounds of copper coil wire were taken from the loading platform at the rear of the building.

Sales, Ad Club Elects Directors

Four new directors of the Sales and Advertising Club were elected Tuesday night, each for a term of two years. The four are: Doug Anderson, Bud Fortner, John Madden and Don Murray.

Guest speaker at the Empress Hotel dinner meeting was Nolin Trudeau, vice-president of a Montreal publicity service, who told his audience that, when aiming advertising at the French-Canadian market, it should be in French and should be made to appeal to the French Canadian mind.

Mr. Truman illustrated his speech with anecdotes. He was introduced by Larry Tremblay and thanked by John Madden. Russ Baer was chairman, in the absence of club president, H. B. Cowan, jr.

Rumor Speared

Chilled Nylons Run Just As Quickly

Another of those stories about nylon stockings has developed a run.

This one is about keeping nylons in the refrigerator. They aren't like bananas; they don't go bad in the icebox. But dame rumor, talkative as ever, claimed not so long ago that nylons would last a long time if they were kept 48 hours in the refrigerator before wearing.

According to one source, this tale started making the rounds via a helpful hints column in a newspaper. The housewife who wrote it claimed it made her nylons last "practically forever."

But the case of the frigid nylons was broken when a reseachers at a Canadian plastics plant where nylon is made dug into some statistics and announced that cold doesn't do a darned thing for those sheer stockings.

You can imagine how the story got started, after that brief appearance in the helpful hints column.

One woman at a bridge party announces suddenly: "Well, I don't know what you girls do, but I keep my nylons in the refrigerator before wearing them. I read about it in the newspaper."

Sane Reaction!

In the silence that follows—something remarkable for a women's bridge party—this woman, knowing she has made a sensation, repeats the helpful hint.

So, with the female equivalent of leaping high and clicking their heels in the air, the girls rush out of the house to their own homes, hell-bent on freezing their stockings for permanent wear.

They tell their husbands about it, and the husbands cheer. Then they go through all the razmataz of the helpful hint, dunking their stocking finally in the icy bowl, and slapping them in the fridge.

Get Good Care

All goes well. And for a simple reason. The stockings are getting the best of care. They're washed every time before they go into the refrigerator, and they get two days of rest before being worn.

But one day, the horrible and inevitable happens. One woman, who skimped on the chilling time, gets a run in her stocking, and cuts the originator of the helpful hint dead. Another feud starts and another quaint custom ends.

Only the research chemist can sit back and smile.

Land Scheme May Include 16 Houses

Property West Side Of Chemong Road May Enter City

Sixteen houses on the west side of Chemong Road will be incorporated in the city, if the proposed annexation of the block of Smith township for the Land Assembly housing development scheme is adopted in the council's present view of it.

Instead of setting the new western boundary of the city down the centre of the highway, it is suggested that it should be carried westerly to a depth of 400 feet, partly "to prevent strip development."

That additional area would provide for two rows of lots, 66-foot wide street, and a further row of lots on the west side of that new street. The first row would front on the highway; the second would be at the rear, and on the east side of the new street. The third row of lots will front on the west side of that street.

Start Surveying

The committee discussed the survey of the whole project Monday with John G. Pierce and instructed him to proceed with the definition of its boundaries, including the west side.

Discussion mentioned the fixing of the northern boundary on the centre line of Wolsley St. resulting in anomalies of services, water, fire protection and so on. Houses on the north side are in Smith township.

It is expected that there will be some opposition to annexation crossing Highway 7, but the same considerations apply there, with certain others which stand out in the council's experience in determining its boundaries.

It was said that leaving the boundary line along the centre of the road prevents the city from obtaining the advantage of control of adjoining development.

Might Split Farm

Some of the lots on the west side of the Chemong Road, on which houses have been built, have lawn depths of nearly 100 feet. If the definition was less than the proposed 400 feet, the new boundary might separate a farm house from its outer buildings setting part of the property in the city and the rest in the township. That was not considered a serious matter. At any rate the further depth to 400 feet would avoid most contention about housing development lines.

The further instruction to Mr. Pierce was proposed in a motion by Ald. Burrows, seconded by Ald. Graham. It was said that he had already accomplished a great deal of survey detail of the main block. Four crews were engaged at one time to expedite the surveying preliminary for the city.

City Clerk Outram informed the committee that cost of that survey was a responsibility of the council. The city pays for it, but, if it should happen that the land assembly scheme fell through, then the city would be reimbursed by the province for surveying costs.

County Assessor Heads Assoc'n

S. G. Sparling, Peterborough county assessor, was elected chairman of District No. 5 of the Ontario Association of Assessing Officers at Cobourg Tuesday. J. E. Davis, head of Peterborough city's assessment department, is secretary for 1952-53.

The district comprises the counties of Hastings, Northumberland, Durham, Peterborough, Victoria, Haliburton.

Ray Ashton, assessment commissioner of London, Ont., president of the Ontario Association, reported that its membership is approximately 450. It is the largest civic association in Canada. The annual convention will be held in St. Catharines, June 5-7.

Reg. Hunter of the Ontario Department of Municipal Affairs discussed the 1952 amendments to the Assessment Act, particularly in regard to the assessment and taxing of properties of the provincial government and public utilities. Incidentally, Mr. Hunter is a son of North Monaghan and former secretary of the Peterborough Federation of Agriculture.

The district assessors, guests of the council of the United Counties of Northumberland-Durham at dinner, were welcomed by Warden Harry Campbell of South Monaghan.

Lakefield Taxes Increased By 2.9 Mills

LAKEFIELD, April 16 (ENS)—A $4,611 surplus shown in the 1951 auditor's statement made only a 2.9 increase necessary in this village's mill rate for 1952.

On the itemized list, several new items are present, and some of the annual ones show increase. Off-setting these increases are decreases in the high school rate and the general rate.

School Debentures

New items are 5.8 mills for the new high school debentures, .7 mills for the Apsley school addition, and increases are shown in the public school rate, 11.8 from 10.1 in 1951, and the county rate, 16.3 from 9.9 in 1951.

Biggest decrease is noted in the general rate, which is down 9.2 mills from the 1951 rate of 26.5 mills. A slight decrease is noted in the memorial centre debentures, 1.3 mills compared to last year's rate of 1.4.

The high school rate is .7, compared to the 1951 rate of 3.1.

This is the breakdown of the 1952 mill rate, with the 1951 figures shown in brackets:

Public school	11.8	(10.1)
High school	.7	(3.1)
Public library	1.5	(1.5)
Lakefield and district high school debentures	5.8	——
Apsley school addition	.7	——
Fire, water, heat debentures	2.2	(2.2)
Lakefield and district memorial centre debentures	1.3	(1.4)
County rate	16.3	(9.9)
General rate	17.3	(26.5)
Totals	57.6	(54.7)

Utilities Asks Advice On Fluorine

Dental Society Makes Survey Of City Children

A recent survey of city preschool and kindergarten children which shows dental decay in about 80 per cent of the cases may result in the fluorination of Peterborough's water supply.

Since the discovery that the fluorine added to water is believed to prevent dental decay to a certain degree, Ontario cities have been toying with the idea of adding it to drinking water. Brantford has had its water fluorinated for the past seven years.

A request from the utilities commission to the Peterborough Dental Society resulted in the survey conducted by school dentist Dr. S. J. Graham.

Dr. Graham, in a letter to the society, said: "I think you will find that the state of dental health of school children in this city is very much like what is to be found in most Ontario cities where living conditions are similar."

Survey figures for the kindergarten children, five-year-olds, show that out of 619 children, 80 per cent had dental caries and the average number of cavities per child was slightly more than three.

Dr. Graham pointed out that the cavities ranged from pinhead openings to badly broken down and infected teeth. The number of cavities per child varied from one to as many as 16.

For the past three years a survey of pre-school children, four-year-olds, has been conducted in Peterborough. Dr. Graham points out that the "picture is much the same, the main difference being one of degree.

Last June 394 school children were examined and dental decay was noted in 78 per cent. In that group there were 97 missing molars and an average of 2.8 cavities per child.

In closing his report to Dr. Ball, Dr. Graham said: "It is quite evident that much serious damage occurs to children's teeth before they reach school age, due to the prevalence of caries. Any preventative measures that may be adopted to reduce the incidence of tooth decay would be a decided benefit to the health and welfare of the community."

The findings of the survey were reported to the dental society on

A POWER SHOVEL piles dirt in a temporary dike protecting a railroad right-of-way at the south edge of Sioux City's business district as the Misouri River throws its record-breaking flood crest at the area. With the river less than one foot below the level which levees and blood walls were designed to handle, thousands of volunteers today are battling to add two feet to the levee height while attending to the sandboils which the tremendous pressure creates.

Norwood Y.P.U. Holds Meeting

NORWOOD, April 16 (ENS).—Easter meeting of the Norwood United Young People's Union took place in the Sunday School room Friday evening. Shirley Brown opened the meeting by leading a sing-song with Shirley Starke at the piano. The president, Dorothy Stinson, conducted the business. Gordon Williamson, citizenship and community life convener, had charge of the worship period. Scripture lessons were read by Dorothy McMillian and Marion Armstrong. Prayer was given by Gordon Williamson. G. B. LaBrash gave an inspiring poem on the theme, "Love One Another."

Student Strikes Cause Of Disturbances

CAIRO (Reuters) — The new Egyptian government headed by Ahmed Naguib Hilaly Pasha appears determined to take a strong line with the students who are disrupting the educational life of the country by continual strikes and demonstrations.

Foreigners visiting Egypt frequently are amazed by the influence of Egyptian students on political issues.

In the past, disturbances and disorders for which students and even schoolboys were responsible had led to the downfall of governments and the creation of new ones.

So far no Egyptian government has had the courage to take a strong line against what has become a traditional belief — that students should be allowed to exercise an influence on important national issues

Now, Mohammed Rifaat Pasha, the new Egyptian Minister of Education, has issued a warning that such action will not be tolerated and declared that Egypt is threatened with a "lost generation" of students owing to the frequent closing of Universities and Secondary Schools following demonstrations and disorders.

"We want to liberate our young men from the slavery of being influenced by others. They should be able to form their own opinions and beliefs, political and religious, in the light of their studies."

"When they respond to such beliefs," he said, "this must be done within the limits of law and order. The declaration of political belief should be made when the individual is summoned to give his vote during elections."

"If some students turn away from their studies and the authorities fear that their presence will spread the disease, we shall dismiss them and thus save others."

Rifaat Pasha's speech followed the closing of the 10,000-student Fuad El Awal University, the biggest in the Middle East, as a result of demonstrations the day after Hilaly Pasha succeeded Aly Maher Pasha as prime minister.

Father McManus came here 12 years ago from Sarnia where he had been assistant pastor of St. Joseph's Church for five years.

Sex Education Job For Parents

TORONTO, April 16 (CP)—The Rev. John G. Ryan, director of religious education, archdiocese of Detroit, said Tuesday that sex education should be given in the home, not in school.

He told the Roman Catholic Parent-Teacher Association of Ontario.

"The classroom is not the place for a broad and detailed presentation of the physiology of sex and the natural care and protection with which the child must surround himself.

"The natural place is the home, with the parents as teachers."

WITH HER HERO-HUSBAND—Singer Jane Froman stands at the bedside of her husband, Capt. John C. Burn at a San Juan hospital. Burn piloted the airliner that crashed at sea off Puerto Rico, killing 52 persons, and was one of the 17 survivors of the tragedy. Miss Froman, who married Burn after he saved her life in a Lisbon plane crash in 1943, reached her husband's side after a fear-filled flight from New York.

HERE'S WHY KIWI SHOE POLISH makes shoes look better . . . last longer

KIWI Recolors as it Polishes. The colors are right in — not just added.

KIWI Gives brighter shines in half the time because its richer, more expensive waxes, are perfectly blended.

KIWI Shines last longer. A Kiwi shine dulled by rain or snow is quickly restored by a few rubs.

KIWI Protects and preserves the leather. Its richer, more finely ground waxes get deep down into the pores — keep it soft and supple.

"HONEY" OF A QUEEN — Nina "Honeybear" Warren, 18, daughter of California's governor, Earl Warren, has been elected queen of the 25th Shenandoah Apple Blossom Festival, which will be held at Winchester, Va., May 1-2. Nina received news of the honor while attending a Republican campaign dinner in New York.

18 Entries In Play Festival

TORONTO, April 16 — (CP)— Eighteen plays will be presented at the second annual one-act play festival April 21-26 at Hart House theatre. Stage groups from throughout Ontario will compete.

The adjudicator is Edward Thommen, producers of the Niagara Summer Theatre.

Four Canadian-written plays will be produced. These will include "The Voice of the People," by Robertson Davies, editor of The Peterborough Examiner, to be shown April 22 by the Norvoc players of Toronto.

On April 24 the St. Catharines Theatre Guild will present Tennessee Williams' "The Case of the Crushed Petunias."

The April 25 bill includes the Kitchener-Waterloo Little Theatres, presentation of J. M. Barrie's "The Old Lady Shows Her Medals," winner of the festival at Gravenhurst, Ont.

On April 26 the Sudbury Little Theatre Guild will give Susan Glaspell's "Trifles" and the Sault Theatre Workship will perform Tennessee Williams, "The Unsatisfactory Supper" and M. D. Herbert's "For Old Times' Sake."

Has Car Seized

LONDON, Ont., April 16 (CP) —A London man who had had his car almost two years had it seized Tuesday by detectives investigating activities of a large-scale car theft ring. Fifteen cars have been recovered at various points in Ontario in the current investigation, police said.

Solandt Skeptical Of Germ Warfare

OTTAWA, April 16 — (CP) — Canada's chief military scientist said Tuesday he thinks the prospects of large-scale use of germ warfare are not heartening.

Dr. O. M. Solandt, chairman of the Defense Research Board, gave his views in an interview when told that Dr. James Endicott of Toronto, chairman of the Canadian Peace Congress, had raised the possibility that Canada is aiding alleged UN germ warfare on China.

Dr. Solandt categorically denied that any bacterial agents ing shipped out of Canada any country. He said that it is common knowledge that Canada is doing research in that field.

Dr. Endicott, at a press conference in Mukden, China, accused Dr. Solandt of saying in a newspaper article that the prospects for mass deaths by bacterial warfare are "extremely heartening."

Dr. Solandt believes this is a quote of a Russian misquote. Some time ago, he said, he expressed satisfaction with the progress of the various aspects of DRB's work, including bacterial warfare. This was apparently twisted by the Russians into a quotation that he felt the prospects for mass deaths were heartening and Dr. Endicott has in turn quoted that.

Skepti al Of Use

"A ... ject," Dr. Solandt said Tuesday, "I am one of those who is skeptical about the prospects of large-scale use of BW weapons.

"The main reason is that we simply don't know enough about epidemics, how they're started or how they're controlled. BW may be important in a limited way, but not as a weapon of mass destruction."

Canada's work in BW, he has said more than once, is aimed solely at being able to protect herself if another country should touch off that sort of warfare and at being able to retaliate if that becomes necessary.

Dr. Endicott was quoted in a Moscow broadcast as confirming that the UN is waging BW on Red China and that some of the infected insects may have been bred in Canada.

HUMAN SACRIFICES

Before the Spanish conquest of Mexico, many thousands of persons were sacrificed yearly to Mexican war-gods.

Resurrection Topic For Easter

HAVELOCK, April 16 (ENS).— "The necessity of Christ's resurrection" was the subject of the sermon delivered at the morning service by the Rev. R. G. Newman on Sunday when special Easter services were held. Mr. Newman based his discourse on Christ's words spoken after His resurrection on the walk to Emmaus: "Ought not Christ to have suffered these things and to enter into His glory." Special music was sung by the senior choir with Mrs. Newman singing the obligato part of the anthem "Lift Up Your Heads." A male quartette comprising Mr. Newman, H. Agnew, J. Watson and P. Newman sang "Christ Arose."

Mr. Newman performed the baptismal ceremony for Phyllis Anne Ellis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thompson Ellis. The sacrament of the Lord's Supper was partaken of by 140 communicants.

At the evening service Mr. Newman spoke on the subject "Eternal Life." Senior and junior choirs led the service of song. Two anthems were sung by each choir, the junior numbers being "Before the Dawn" and "He Lives," while the senior choir rendered "Hail Mighty Victor" and "Alleluia, Christ is Risen." Miss Kae Agnew took the alto solo and Mrs. H. Agnew the soprano solo in the latter anthem.

TROPICAL TIMBER

Most of the hardest timbers such as teak, ebony and mahogany are found only in tropical forests.

Norwood Y.W.A. Presents Program

NORWOOD, April 16 —(ENS) —The Y. W. A. of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church held their regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Duncan Sinclair. Miss Isabel McMillan had charge of the meeting and the Easter program in the Glad Tidings was used.

Readings were given by Mrs. Russell Jennings, Mrs. Stanley McMillian, Mrs. Wilson Small and Mrs. Cecil Cuthbertson. Scripture readings were given by Mrs. Robert Gordon and Mrs. Clayton Buchanan.

Mrs. Duncanson gave the topic on student work from the Fourth chapter of the study book. Mrs. Cuthbertson had charge of the business. There were 16 members present.

A vote of thanks to Mrs. Sinclair was moved Mrs. Sinclair and her joint hostesses, Mrs. Godin and Mrs. Gordon served lunch.

Wan't To Be A Mayor? Pay Visit To Rarden

RARDEN, O., April 16 (AP)— Ever picture yourself mayor of a town?

Well, drop in on this southern Ohio village of 300—and you might get a chance. Rarden's had four mayors in as many days.

First, incumbent A. P. Hoffer resigned because of ill health. village council president Walter Beekman took over. He served only one day; said he didn't have time.

Councilman Roy Wallace then became mayor. He resigned several hours later. Councilman Roscoe Gardner moved in. He's now in office.

Or at least he was a few minutes ago.

Willard L. Dafoe

HAVELOCK, April 16 (ENS).— The funeral took place Tuesday of Willard Llewellyn Dafoe, 68, a lifelong and highly respected resident of Belmont township, and was under the auspices of Royal Lodge I.O.O.F. The service in Havelock United Church was conducted by the Rev. R. G. Newman. Burial was in Maple Grove cemetery.

Mr. Dafoe's death on Sunday morning at his home in Belmont township followed an illness which extended over a period of 11 years. Born at Blairton, he was a son of the late Willard Dafoe and Almeda Froats. He followed farming is an occupation. He was a member of the United Church and in politics was a Conservative.

Surviving besides his widow, the former Barbara Ellen Breckenridge, are two daughters, Miss Marguerite Dafoe of Campbellford and Mrs. Orvil Payne (Goldelene) of Lakefield; one son Earl at home; two sisters, Mrs. Robert Reynolds of Trenton and Mrs. Johnson McClure of Toronto; one brother, Frank Dafoe, of Kirkland Lake.

Common Front

MADRID, April 15 — (AP) — Spain and Portugal announced Tuesday night formation of a common front toward problems of Western defence. A communique issued after a meeting between Generalissimo Francisco Franco and Portuguese Premier Antonio De Oliveira Salazar said they had agreed to consider the Iberian Peninsula a "strategic unity" in future diplomatic dealings.

Chinese Nationalists Train Strong Army For Defence

By BILL BOSS,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TAIPEH, Formosa, April 16—(CP)—The Chinese Nationalists are building a good army here. If Formosa were attacked tomorrow by the Reds, it would give a good account of itself.

"We're professionals, so we're never satisfied," says Lt.-Gen. Li-jen, hero of the Burma campaign in the Second World War who now commands the Nationalist ground forces.

"My troops aren't yet equal to those I led in Burma. Within six months they will be. Within a year they'll be in perfect form."

Sun is a graduate of Purdue University at Lafayette, Indiana, and speaks perfect English. He says he has "tremendous admiration" for the Canadian Army which he saw in Europe in 1945. He was touring the continent then as guest of General Eisenhower, after his 24th Chinese Division fought through 10-to-1 odds in Burma to rescue the Japanese-encircled 1st British Infantry Division.

Among his decorations he wears the ribbon of a Commander of the Order of the British Empire. But he hasn't yet put up the third star of a Nationalist Lieutenant-General, a rank to which he was promoted here.

"I'll do that after we are back on the mainland," he says.

However, neither Sun, nor any other general of the Nationalist army, believes an invasion is imminent. They know what it would take in the way of equipment and what they have.

Their principal adviser is Maj.-Gen. William C. Chase, chief of a United States military advisory group in Formosa.

Chase says flatly:

"I am here to prevent the Reds coming here and the Nationalists from going there.

No Fancy Set-Up

"Our job is to train these forces for agressive defence. We're supplying them with the hardware—enough to do the job but not for any fancy set-up, and we are building essential roads and airfields.

"If the Nationalists were to go to the mainland we would have to carry them—they haven't got anything to take them there. And if we were to do that it would mean a third world war."

The Chinese generals say it would be a year before their organization could handle a mainland invasion. At present they are concentrating on troop training.

Remnants of 52 Chinese armies withdrew to Formosa from the mainland.

They have been reorganized into 12 armies of three divisions each. A division has 10,000 men.

They have United States 105-millimetre artillery and medium and light tanks. They are standardizing on the American .300-calibre rifle. They are producing their own training manual, taking what they want from American, British, Japanese, German and French texts.

The army being produced is a good one, with excellent discipline. Saluting is meticulous. Turnout is always good, even on battle-drill courses and on the public-works labor that every battalion must do. The jeep in which I travelled was as sound after 25,000 miles as the day it was delivered.

Two major problems are in prospect. Morale will be a problem after the next year, when training is completed. Troop recruiting may be a problem in five or six years.

Average army age is between 26 and 29. A soldier's best years are between 25 and 35 — which gives the Nationalists at least six years before they have a serious replacement problem.

It is doubtful whether voluntary recruiting would induce enough Formosans to man such a force. The island's population is only 7,000,000. And, besides supporting the Nationalist army, Formosa has on its hands 10,000 marines, 40,000 sailors and 90,000 airmen—some of whom are training on Canadian-built Mosquito aircraft.

IN THE FIRST PUBLIC CEREMONY of her reign, Her Majesty, Queen Elizabeth arrives at Westminster Abbey to present the traditional Maundy Money to 26 old men and 26 old women . . . one to each for each year of her life. Here the Queen shakes hands with an unidentified Church of England dignitary. In back of the Queen is the Very Rev. Alan C. Don, Dean of Westminster. Others in the photo also unidentified.

Drive Out Peasants

OAXACA, Mexico, April 16 (AP)—Federal troops were sent to outlying Tlalixtac Monday to drive out armed peasants who seized the village six miles from here. The troops have been patrolling here since civil resistance broke out three weeks ago against the state government. Both military leaders and local hospitals refused to say whether there were any dead or wounded in the encounter Monday.

Will Attend Olympics

HELSINKI, Finland, April 16 (Reuters)—The Duke of Edinburgh will attend the Olympic Games here this summer, the British Legation said Tuesday. (In London, an announcement from Buckingham Palace said the Duke will be at the games from July 26 to Aug. 3. He will visit Norway and Sweden on the way to the games.)

Gas Lamp Explodes Three Children Killed

RIMOUSKI, Que., April 16 — (CP)—Three children were killed at the village of St. Thomas de Cherbourg when a gas lamp exploded and set fire to their home, it was learned Tuesday.

The accident killed Pauline, 7, Jacqueline, 6, and Jacques, 3, children of Mr. and Mrs. Gerard Letourneau. Three other children and the mother escaped.

The father was at church at the time.

Get Liquor Haul

CHESTER, Pa., April 16 (AP)—Thieves chopped a hole in the wall of a Chester state liquor store early Monday and carried away 200 cases of whisky, valued at $15,000. The thieves entered a warehouse next door to the liquor store through a skylight and then chopped a hole in the wall of the adjoining buildings. They loaded the whisky on a truck stored in the warehouse and drove away.

Dies At 101

HAMILTON, April 16—(CP)—Beverly townships oldest resident, Mrs. Sarah Charlotte George, died Monday at her home after a two-day illness. She was 101. Predeceased by her hubsand in 1914, Mrs. George is survived by two sons, Andrew, of Penticton, B.C. and William, of Cloverdale, B.C., and three daughters.

Bringing Barn Back

BLUEFIELD, W. Va., April 16 (AP)—Farmer Harry K. Carper Monday went to Virginia to get his barn back. The partially completed structure was blown by a high wind over a fence between his property and that of Morris Blaylock, whose farm lies in Razewell county, Virginia, just across the state line.

Evacuated In Fire

SAN FRANCISCO, April 16 (AP)—A four alarm fire swept through a wing of the Little Sisters of the Poor home for the aged early Tuesday, but 120 elderly women were safely evacuated. Fire Chief Edward P. Walsh said the 1 a.m. fire started in a first floor wash room and burned between walls into the fourth floor attic. He estimated damage at $50,000.

Blow Up 10 Planes

HONG KONG, April 16 (AP)—The independent newspaper Wah Kiu Yat Po said Tuesday anti-Communist elements blew up 10 airplanes, mostly trainers, March 20 at White Cloud airfield, Canton considered the Chinese Reds' largest military air base in South China.

Who owns the Nickel Company?

"It's this way, son. Suppose you want a bobsled but haven't enough money to buy one. But you and Jack and Tom among you can raise the necessary cash. So you buy the sled, and all go coasting together.
"Well, no one person owns the Nickel Company. It's owned by a great many people. Each owns a certain share."

"Do you have to be rich to get a share?"
"No, the Company is owned by many people like Doctor Smith and Mrs. Munroe, and the grocer and the street car conductor. No one owns more than a very small part."

"Have you a share in it, Dad?"
"No, son—but yet, in a way I have a share, too. I own life insurance to protect Mother and you. The money I pay to the insurance company each year is invested in many things, including shares in the Nickel Company. So actually Inco is owned by most everybody."

"The Romance of Nickel" a 60-page book fully illustrated, will be sent free on request to anyone interested.

Mrs. Eric McLean W.I. President For Sixth Year

MOUNT PLEASANT, April 16 (ENS— Mrs. Eric McLean was re-elected president of Mount Pleasant Women's Institute at their annual meeting.

Mrs. McLean is beginning her sixth year as president. Following are the other officers elected: first vice-president— Mrs. Newton Fee, second vice-president — Mrs. Aubrey Bland; secretary — Mrs. Keith Morden; assistant secretary—Mrs. Gordon McLean; treasurer— Mrs. M. Handley; district director— Mrs. Ira Lowe; branch directors—Mrs. Gordon Ruth, Mrs. M. Handley, Mrs. H. Baker; auditors— Mrs. I. Lowe, Mrs. G. Ruth; sick and visiting committee— Mrs. H. Baker, Mrs. R. Carr, Mrs. D. Armtsrong, Mrs. C. Morden; floral committee — Mrs. C. Morden, Mrs. W. H. Lowes; Women's Institute hall committee— Mrs. I. Lowe, Mrs. C. Morden, Mrs. H. Tully and Mrs. E. McLean.

The election was conducted by Mrs. Ira Lowe and the scrutineers were Mrs. G. McLean and Mrs. M. Handley.

The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. M. Handley. The president, Mrs. E. McLean, presided. Mrs. K. Morden reported for the draw on the autograph quilt.

Mrs. W. H. Lowes gave a talk on the topic: "Why I think the Institute Worth While."

Correspondence was read from Mrs. John McCulloch, provincial secretary-treasurer, Federated Women's Institute of Ontario announcing the officers' conference to be held in Guelph, May 1 and 2.

Mrs. Ira Lowe, director of F. W. I. O. advised the members that word had come through from Mrs. Hugh Summers, president of the F. W. I. C. advising all Women's Institute members to wear a Royal mourning badge until May 30.

The mourning badge should be a purple ribbon, one inch wide, worn with one Women's Institute badge, this ribbon to extend one inch below the W. I. badge. Mrs. Lowe also gave the report of the executive meeting of East Durham District held at the home of the district president, Mrs. W. Armstrong, stating that the district annual will be held at Elizabethville, May 28, with dinner served by the hostess branch.

Delegates appointed to attend the district annual were Mrs. E. McLean, Mrs. I. Lowe and Mrs. Newton Fee.

Arrangements were made to hold a rumage sale in the near future in Peterborough.

The president was appointed in charge.

Mrs. G. McLean and Mrs. L. Handley assisted the hostess to serve refreshments.

REFUSES TO FLY—Capt. Jerome M. Schechter of Newark, N.J., one of 12 Air Force officers who face possible courts-martial for refusing to fly, poses with his wife, Madalyn, and their pet dog in Sacramento, Calif. Stationed at Mather Field, the 35-year-old veteran of World War II explained that flying is "something that's developed into a poison for me."

Budworm Pests Attacked In Aerial War

MONTREAL (CP)—An armanda of 21 spray-equipped planes from Yakima, Wash., will invade Montreal May 13 but this metropolis is not their target.

Theh "germ warfare" squadron bolstered by two Canadian planes will be used in the war against the devastating budworm in the forest area southeast of the Upsalquitch River, some 60 miles from Dalhousie, N.B.

The Dorval airport here is only a stopping-off point for refuelling the planes, which will attempt to save some 300,000 acres of timber. The million-dollar battle against the budworm started six months ago by two paper companies in co-operation with the New Brunswick government.

Men worked through the winter months to build special runways for the planes in the New Brunswick hinterland. They were completed a few weeks ago and will be ready for use shortly.

The necessary number of spray planes could not be obtained in Canada because the project had never been tried here before. Then the Department of Transport at Ottawa took a hand. They had W. H. "Bill" Irvine look into the matter. Irvine is a veteran bush pilot.

"I scoured the country for planes and found one that could be used and another that would be overhauled, but we need about 25 planes for the job," he said.

So Irvine went to Oregon and found Al Baxter, who pioneered "Operation Spray" in the western United States.

Baxter and his squadron of 21 planes will be the main force in the attack on the budworm in New Brunswick in May.

Massey Report Has Bad Effect

TORONTO, April 16 — (CP) — When the Massey Report says Canadians ought to be interested in Canadian literature, it's like telling a young man to dance with a wallflower because she's a nice girl.

Dr. Philip Child, of Trinity College, made the analogy Tuesday in an address to English and history teachers at the Ontario Educational Association's annual convention.

Dr. Child, author of four novels, one of them a Governor-General's award winner, said he feels the Massey report has done a grave injustice to Canadian literature by insinuating that what has been produced so far is merely an exhibition of potential talent.

Canadian writers must learn to touch Canadian hearts and make the Canadian public want a literature of its own, he said. He felt the Massey-Report statement would only make Canadians antagonistic towards Canadian writing.

Lake Waves Smash Over Dikes At Beach

ST. CLAIR BEACH, April 16 — (CP) — Lashed by north winds, Lake St. Clair waves smashed over dikes here Tuesday and forced some 80 persons to flee their homes.

Some 100 lakefront houses were surrounded by two-feet-deep water. Other families were reported preparing to evacuate.

There was some flooding in Riverside, Tecumseh and Belle River lakefront suburbs of Windsor, immediately west of St. Clair beach, but little damage was caused.

Three Women Abduct Husky Young Marine

ASHEVILLE, N.C., April 16—(AP) — A husky, 21-year-old marine reported to police Tuesday he was abducted by three women and forced to submit to sexual relations in an automobile.

Police listed the marine as Pte. Russell Weiss who came into headquarters wearing razor-ripped shorts and shoes.

He told this story: The girls, led by one named "Betty," picked him up at the bus station Monday night and agreed to drive him back to camp.

"Betty" stopped the car, drew a razor and forced him to have intercourse with her and the other two girls a total of seven times, then forced him to perform an unnatural act with her and another girl. Then they stripped him of his uniform and a pocketbook, containing $7.

Farmer Slays Family

TRONQUAY, France, April 15 (Reuters)—A 70-year-old farmer went berserk Tuesday and killed his five grandchildren and his wife and then hanged himsel. Englishman's Dreams Behind Development Of Bow River Town

BOWNESS, Alta. —(CP)— This town eight miles west of Calgary was built by a rickety old street-car and the partly realized dream of a wealthy Englishman.

The story of how the wood trolley No. 62 and its predecessors helped develop the community of 3,000 population is almost as strange as the story of how the street-car line itself came about.

It all started in 1909 when John Textall came from England and first saw the present townsite. Then, it was nothing but open ranchland with only a small white ranch house on the bank of the Bow River overlooking two islands.

Hextall visualized a model community where wealthy folk with houses built on the river bank could enjoy the pleasures of a country home within short distance of Calgary.

Hextall purchased the ranch-lands and the two river islands and returned to England to form the Bowness Land Development Company.

He subdivided the property and sold to buyers in England and the United States. Lots were priced as high as $1,500 and the titles had clauses prohibiting the construction of homes worth less than $3,500.

Hextall returned to Bowness in 1909 and built his own mansion—now the Wood's Christian Home—and then the Bowness golf course with its fine clubhouse.

He developed the two islands into a park site and erected a power station a short distance away. To link the area with Calgary and the neighboring municipality of Springbank, he built what is today known as the Shouldice bridge.

It took him only two years to do all this. When he took stock in 1911 he found that his project lacked one essential—transportation into Calgary.

That year he signed a contract with the city of Calgary, trading his park for a street-car line that would terminate at the park entrance and his own mansion. The first trolley rumbled into Bowness June 30, 1912.

The street-cars carried mostly picnickers to the park and milk into Calgary from Springbank's dairy farms.

Then the First World War broke out and lot owners lost interest in the project. Hextall lost his money and abandoned his dream.

But the street-car line remained, along with the bridge, park and mansions. Although no further development was initiated until as late as 1932, the old trolley line spurred on the new settlers by making Bowness accessible to Calgary.

In that year the Bowness Realization Company was formed to take over the Hextall lands and sell the lots for as low as $100. Development boomed and was climaxed last November when Bowness was raised to the status of a town.

Todtay modern buses connect it with Calgary. Old No. 62 made the last street car-run from Calgary to Bowness in April, 1950.

THIS PILE of burning rubble was all that remained of a general store and adjoining restaurant after a blaze roared unchecked for three hours through the two-storey buildings in the St. Lawrence South Shore village of Delson, Que., recently. A nearby hotel was evacuated as a precautionary measure during the fire.

South America Trout Paradise Says McCracken

NEW YORK (AP)—How would you like to catch a 14-pound rainbow trout?

Harold McCracken, noted hunter, fisherman and author, has just returned from South America and says the world's best trout fishing is to be found in the Chilean lake regions near the Pacific coast.

He says 14-pound rainbows and browns are commonplace, 16-pounders not rare and 20-pounders reported.

The day before McCracken left the area on his return to the United States he and two companions fished from the same rowboat and in less than three hours hooked 17 trout totalling slightly more than 90 pounds. Six of the beauties weighed more than 6½ pounds each.

McCracken says the lakes originally were stocked in 1905 by fingerlings brought from Germany. Then the area was forgotten. In 1928 a Briton, who planned to build a ranch in the area, restocked some of the lakes with fish imported from New Jersey.

The next winter the Briton died and the area again was more-or-less forgotten, fishwise.

McCracken says the fishing paradise extends for 400 miles through the centre of Chile, paralleling the high Andes.

"The water is cold, mostly crystal clear, and in most of the streams it runs fast with many white water rapids. There probably is no other area on earth which offers such ideal and expansive a habitat for trout," says McCracken who found the lake while on a moving-picture making tour of South America.

The fish feed on a small fresh-water crab, which is locally called a pancora, and it is this diet which McCracken given an assist for the development of the fish.

LONDON, April 16—(CP)—To test results of months of study and training, Britain's civil defence forces—about 200,000 strong—will launch a series of large-scale exercises this spring under conditions simulating an actual atomic-bomb attack.

Although the government has not abandoned hope that an international agreement may yet be reached to outlaw atomic force as a weapon of destruction, it is taking no chances.

Civil defence units have been operating for some time in every strategic centre through the country. Hundreds of officers and students already have taken special courses at the home office civil defence college at Sunningdale park and at three other schools in Gloucestershire, Yorkshire and Perthshire.

Graduates of these schools will instruct local volunteers in measures to neutralize some of the effects of scientific warfare should the country become involved in a Third World War.

The British mission that visited Japan after the atom bomb attack on Hiroshima and Nagasaki, estimated that 50,000 persons might lose their lives in a typical British city with a population density of 45 persons to an acre—if caught without warning by a high air burst atomic bomb.

Realistic Touch

The public, however, has been assured that civil defence is far from powerless against atomic attack and that casualties can be greatly reduced by adequate advance preparations, suitable shelters and an efficient defence organization.

The first practical exercises will be devoted to tests of communications at various control levels. The operations will then be gradually extended to bring the military, police, fire and hospital services into action to cope with an imaginary atomic attack in a selected area.

To forestall any possibility of public misunderstanding, air-raid sirens and fire alarms will not be sounded during the exercises.

In some centres defence units will carry out their exercises in training grounds where fire and bomb incidents can be staged and life-saving methods practiced.

Officials in charge of regional groups will distribute memoranda listing imaginary incidents relating to atomic heat flash, radio-activity and blast damage.

Landslide Threatens Whole English Town

JACKFIELD, England (Reuters)—A slow but relentless landslide is threatening to drag this picturesque Shropshire village of 700 people into the nearby river Severn.

Stores and houses are cracked and leaning at angles, the main highway has cracked down the middle and the gas pipeline has burst.

Abandoned clay mines under the village, which have filled with water, are causing the landslide.

A civic officials said the landslide is slowly getting worse.

"We are patching up houses as they crack but do not know where it is all going to end," he said.

British Official Denies Meeting Tribal Chiefs

TEHRAN, Iran, April 15 (Reuters)—George Middleton, British charge d'affaires in Tehran, today denied that he had met tribal leaders or intrigued against the Iranian government in a recent visit to South Persia.

He said reports to this effect which had been circulating in Tehran in the past few days were "completely unfounded."

He will call on the foreign minister Wednesday to express "regret" at such reports.

Ordered Pay Fines

NICOSIA, Cyprus, April 16 (AP)—Three Communist leaders and 19 others were ordered Tuesday to pay fines or spend time in jail for taking part in demonstrations March 31. The demonstrations protested the execution in Athens of Nicholas Beloyannis, convicted Communist spy. An attempt was made to break into the Greek consulate.

Teen-Age Dating, Problem That Perplexes Youngsters

DEAR MISS DIX: My sister and I, both juniors in high school, are not allowed to date. We've never been on a date at all. Our parents don't approve of it. We'd like to enjoy some of the fun the other kids have but mom and dad just don't understand that dances and other recreation are essential in the life of teen-agers. Boys in school seem to like us; they are very friendly in the classroom, but of course we can't speak to them outside.

GERRY.

ANSWER: From 12 years old up, youngsters from all over the country fill my mailbox each week bewailing the fact that their strict (usually spelled "strick") parents will not let them date. Although I don't hear as much from the parents' side, they, too, are extremely puzzled over the question. Conscientious mothers and dads are apt to be a trifle overapprehensive about the problem. Personal experience and talks with parents convince me that they are more apt to be overliberal in dating privileges than the reverse.

Each problem of this type that arises in a family must be dealt with differently. Sometimes the same privileges cannot be extended to two teen-agers in the same family. One may be more responsible than the other and therefore entitled to more freedom. Mindful of his obligation for a child's physical, spiritual and moral welfare, a parent has a difficult decision to make when the dating question arises.

A Rule of Thumb

Trying to make a sweeping rule for so controversial a matter is futile. As near as I could come to one, however, is this: Below high-school age, youngsters are better with companions of their own sex; once they enter high school, participating in group activities with boys and girls should be allowed. School dances, football games, basketball games, etc., are as much a part of education as algebra and Latin. Adolescents are preparing for adulthood, and a healthy mingling of the sexes is part of their growing up. The time to allow dating away from school is a matter of the parents' discretion. Local custom sometimes dictates procedure, but never should it be followed blindly. Too much difficulty is caused by the wail that "so-and-so can do it, why can't I?"

Certainly by the time girls become juniors in high school they should be trusted to date. A parent who hasn't, by that time, taught a daughter to conduct herself properly, to behave in public, to handle social activities with grace and poise, has been quite remiss. Each household should have its own rules regarding hours, and the number of times a week dating is permitted (never, for instance, on a school night when homework takes first place). Parents, of course, will pass judgment on the boys who take their daughters out, but the judging should be done on a fair basis of character, not on the social standing of the boy's folks.

Teen-agers who are permitted no dating at all have a hard time ahead convincing mother and dad to relax rules. Sometimes a teacher, or a friend's parent, may exert some influence. Just remember, girls, when and if you do have dating privileges, use them wisely. Don't abuse the family's liberality or you deserve to be deprived of your freedom.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: At 17 I find myself in love with a man 35. My mother won't let me go out with him because of his age, and also because he is of a different religion. Should I take her advice, or follow my heart?

TONI

ANSWER: You have a very young and very foolish heart Toni. To follow it along its present inclinations will never bring happiness. A man more than twice your age is not a proper suitor for you, and the religious difference adds just one more serious obstacle. Take mom's advice; seldom will you—or any other girl—regret following such counsel.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Recently I formed a club consisting of four sisters, three nieces, and two sisters-in-law. We meet in each other's homes every two or three weeks and are home at the latest by 12:30. I am 54, the oldest of the sisters. I have been married 36 years and have three married children. My husband objects to my going out at night; he says my place is with him. Do you think he's right?

MRS. J. A.

ANSWER: You certainly should have the privilege of a night out every few weeks, but it's better not to stand too much on one's rights. After years of a busy household with growing children, your husband probably feels very lonely when the place is empty. Be grateful that he's content to spend his own evenings at home, and humor him. Wouldn't it be possible to have your meetings in the afternoons when you have free time?

DESIGNED TO PLEASE: This houndstooth checked wool jacket, LEFT, teams up with the sleeveless sweater, grey flannel slacks, and tweed cap complete the outfit. The new sport shirt, TOP CETRE, has a trend-setting striped pattern. It's colorful, casual and washable. The plaid boxer swim trunks, LOWER CENTRE, are trim for fashion-wise boys along with a mesh shirt and plaid collar. At, RIGHT, this suit typifies the season's trimly-tailored lines of a hard-finish light-weight worsted.

MOVIE COLUMN

Likes To Call Parents By First Name

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, April 16—(AP)—How would you like it if your children said to you "What's for dinner, Mabel?" or "Can I go see a movie, Sam?"

Joan Evans, the teen-age film actress, says she sees nothing wrong in calling parents by their first names. In fact, she thinks all parties would get along much better if the traditional "mother" and "dad" were dropped.

This observation arose during a conversation about parents and things over lunch. The 17-year-old starlet kept referring to her parents, Dale and Katherine Eunsonn by their first names.

"Oh, I've always called my parents 'Dale' and 'Katherine'" she remarked. "I think that accounts for the wonderful relationship we have with each other. We have fun together, and we can discuss things on an adult level.

Talking Down

"I think the trouble with a lot of parents is that they 'talk down' to their children. They refuse to think of their kids as growing up. Children naturally resent this; they want to be treated as individuals. I think the use of 'mother' and 'dad' helps to widen the gap.

"My parents always included me in their circle of friends," she said. "I don't mean that I horned in on their conversations; I could listen a large part of the time. But at least I wasn't considered an outsider, as most children are. I got to know my parents' friends and called them by their first names, too."

But didn't she miss something out of childhood?

"Not at all. I played games, the same as other kids. Maybe I played a little harder."

What's Right?

When in a group someone tells a joke that you have heard before.

WRONG: As soon as you recognize the joke say: "Jim was telling that story at lunch yesterday."

RIGHT: Listen attentively for the punch line as though you had never heard the story before and then laugh with the others.

Request Bazaar Work Early

At Grace United Church W.A. meeting Tuesday evening plans were completed for the spring tea being held May 7th. It was requested by president Mrs. Eric McKinstry that all bazaar work be handed in early. Plans were made to entertain the championship hockey team for a social evening this spring. Christmas stockings were given out to replace the penny-a-day collection plan and these will be distributed to all church members. Mrs. N. Wilson was appointed the visiting convener. Guest pianist and soloist for the evening was Mrs. H. Doig who sang two numbers with accompaniment by Mrs. Drury. Mrs. H. Corner's group was in charge of devotions. The narrative topic was "What does Easter mean to you?" with solo and group accompaniment bringing the message of the meditation on the cross and on the resurrection, —"So that we may know the Easter message not as a crumb of hope, but as a vital, potent, all-embracing fact that cannot be ignored." This was presented by Mrs. Corner, Mrs. H. Adams, and Mrs. J. B. Jackson. The Rev. E. W. Rowland thanked the guests and commended the ladies on preparation of fine programs. A social hour followed with refreshments served from a tea table decorated in the Easter colors. Mrs. Corner, Mrs. Adams, Mrs. M. Beasley, Mrs. H. McNutt, Mrs. Jackson and Mrs. A. Partington assisted.

Retiring H.S. Head Spurs Parents Elect Mrs. Taylor.

TORONTO, April 16.—Never in the history of this province has there been more real interest in and concern over education, more newspaper discussion of educational issues than at the present time, said Mrs. M. D. McLellan, retiring president of the Ontario Federation of Home and School Associations Tuesday.

She spoke at the luncheon meeting at which Mrs. J. D. Taylor of Hamilton was elected president.

"We have to make up our minds what we want our schools to do, and this will take study, research and discussion," Mrs. McLellan said in reminding Home and School members of their responsibility. "You will have to work harder than ever, but possibly not so much at the same things. There are new ways of doing things, new fields to explore.

"Education is our business, and it is important that we should know as much as possible about it; that we develop a philosophy with regard to what it is. Education is not merely schooling.

"There are all sorts of lesser aims, more immediate objectives, but the final goal of education, the things you and I are engaged in—for surely parents are teachers—is the preparation and fashioning of citizens for one world, one peaceful world."

Vice-presidents elected were: Mrs. W. P. Augustine of Windsor, Mrs. E. Chambers of Peterborough, Mrs. G. C. Irvine of Niagara Falls, Mrs. G. C. McAuley of Hamilton, Mrs. R. M. Sherk, Mrs. R. A. Taylor and Mrs. Frank Waugh Jr.

Mrs. A. W. Nelson of Peterborough was re-elected chairman of the Peterborough district.

Vera Grace Baker Wed In Norwood

NORWOOD, April 16 (ENS).—Easter lilies and spring flowers decorated the Norwood United Church on Saturday for the wedding, performed by the Rev. H. R. Wright, of Vera Grace, daughter of Mrs. William Baker of Norwood, and the late Mr. Baker, to William Edward Coates, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. R. Coates of Napanee.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. Henry A. Hudson of Albion, N.Y. Her gown and train was of ivory slipper satin and trimmed with Chantilly lace. A fingertip veil of illusion was caught to her head with white rosebuds and lily of the valley, and she carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses.

Miss Barbara Davey, as bridesmaid, was in azure blue sheer with a hat of blue and carried an old-fashioned nosegay of pink and white flowers.

Groomsman was Mr. Berton Fitzgibbon of Belleville and Fred H. Baker, brother of the bride, ushered.

Organist Mrs. J. H. Caskey played the wedding music, and Mrs. R. H. Gardner sang the "Lord's Prayer" and "Because" during the signing of the register.

A reception took place at the bride's home, her mother receiving in black sheer with black and white hat and wearing a white carnation corsage. The groom's mother was wearing navy silk with lace and a blue hat and her corsage was of pink carnations.

The couple will honeymoon at Niagara Falls and in United States and on return will live on Isabel St. in Belleville. For travelling the bride chose a grey suit with accessories in lavender shade and her going-away corsage was an orchid.

Donna Bristow, Janet Estlick, Christine Monk.

Refreshments, served by Mrs. T. followed by a sing song, conduct- Cook and Miss M. Foster, were ed by counsellor Barbara Ann Cowan of Cobourg.

Campers were urged to register early for this year's camp as it was filled by the end of May last year. Accommodation is available for 65 campers, aged 9 to 12 years, at the Camp Kawartha on Clear Lake, tentative dates being August 10th to 20th.

Beverley Nicol of Baptiste Lake was congratulated for having won the cup for best camper in 1951.

Moncrief-Smith

The marriage of Hazel Jean Smith, daughter of Mrs. William Smith of Pontypool and the late Mr. Smith, to Orville Walter Moncrief, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Moncrief of Fraserville, took place on Saturday at the Bethany parsonage by the Rev. T. Gault.

The bride was wearing a navy suit with white accessories and a corsage of red roses. Miss Josephine Smith as her attendant was similarly attired and wore a pink rose corsage.

The groom's attendant was his brother, Mr. Lloyd Moncrief.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, who received in a dark suit and hat and wore pink carnations at her shoulder. She was assisted by the groom's mother, who wore navy and had a corsage of carnations.

Mr. and Mrs. Moncrief will live on the groom's farm at Fraserville.

60 Girls Attend YW Camp Reunion

A YWCA 1951 Camper's Reunion was held Monday afternoon in the Y recreation room with nearly 60 campers and ten of the camp staff members attending. They began the meeting with the Salutation to the Dawn as was the habit when beginning a real camp day.

Director Mrs. Irene Campbell told the "Legend of the Dogwood Tree" and the campers then made dogwood flowers in felt as a memento of the occasion and also as a reminder of the Easter story. Assisting were Mrs. Dion Snelgrove, camp nurse, and councillors Margaret Munro and Betty Jones.

The girls then played games and earned dances until time for the swim period. Mrs. Pilkington, waterfront director, had arranged an excellent program of relay games and contests in the pool. She was assisted by counsellors

Select Low-Priced Styles For Farm Girls Display

Girls' Club of the Peterborough Junior Farmers presented an interesting and educational fashion show on Tuesday evening to entertain the Junior Club girls of Peterborough county who were visitors to the city.

Miss Elaine Savigny, chairman, arranged the show in groups under headings of the highlights in a farm club girls' life, and suggestively concluded it with a lovely wedding scene.

Setting was the stage of the Normal School auditorium with springtime decorations. Miss Amy Curtis gave commentary on the outfits and the models presenting them were Velma Barnard, Evelyn Franks, Bernadette Fitzgerald, Gaye Hancock, Doreen Bowles, Doris Jopling, Mary Matchett, Dorothy Chambers, Marilyn Barnard, Mayme Bell, Elaine Savigny, Marjorie Edmondson, Joan Bell, Willa Westlake, Hilda Darling and Sharon Dolan as flower girl in the wedding scene.

There was no lack of glamour in these country-geared fashions. However, because country girls know perhaps better than others that "money doesn't grow on trees," the outfits were selected with regard to price and it was amazing the style and desirability of their appearance. Nylon undies and the new camisoles were displayed but not modelled.

First group was for "going to a meeting" and the suggestions were skirts and blouses or sweaters, a trim grey dress with plaid taffeta trim and for the rainy day a nice raincoat and matching hat.

Junior Farmers' conferences being an important date, they presented several suitable travelling outfits—a pale mauve suit, a nylon print dress that won't wrinkle and an over-all topcoat. For conference parties a black and white taffeta dress with velvet belt wide in front was nice. Lounging after sessions or at home the farm girl would be most comfortable and stylish in gold overlay cotton print coat and pink pyjamas trimmed with the same print.

Pastel plaid cotton trimmed with white pique looked just as fresh and clean as the proverbial farm kitchen. For gardening there were blue jeans and cotton jersey and for club field days the smartest suggestion was grey slacks with a red corduroy Eisenhower jacket and peaked cap. Plaid cotton shorts and a matching shirt were eye-catching.

Church-going is a must with country girls and they choose trim dresses or suits in quiet colors and complete the outfits this year with white straw hats, white gloves and fabric handbags.

Country dances in the summer are informal so crisp picolay dresses or an Indian print cotton skirt and pleasant blouse are favorites. The models displayed their own formal gowns of the moment, showing wide range of taste and style. White baronet satin was used in the wedding gown with lace panels extending in the full length train. Attendants' frocks were mauve, green and yellow.

Club president, Mrs. John Edmondson made the draws for door prizes and they went to Miss Eleanor Davis and the pianist for the fashion parade, Miss Shirley Starke. Perfume and face cream favors were given to each of the guests.

Hoping for a repeat success on their military euchre this Thursday evening are the Ladies' Auxiliary members of the Canadian Legion. President Mrs. A. Mason is general convener with Mrs. H. Dodds and Mrs. F. J. Frape in charge of the games and Mrs. C. S. Windsor arranging for the refreshments.

C.G.I.T. Session Discusses Long List Of Vocations

TORONTO, April 16.—Christian vocations, the various careers open to a girl, the factors that would influence her choice and how she should practice her beliefs in any sort of professional position were topics of discussion at yesterday afternoon's sessions of the Ontario C.G.I.T. camp council conference being held Tuesday and today at Metropolitan Church House.

A surprisingly long list of vocations was compiled by the girls, most of whom are at the age when they will soon have to consider seriously what they want to make their life's work. It included medicine, physiotherapy, occupational therapy, nursing, the various types of church work, teaching, law, engineering, secretarial work, the arts, radio, journalism and the stage.

Unusual suggestions were electrician, railroad worker, janitor, policewoman, printer and lithographer. The job of housewife was put forward as an afterthought!

Earlier in the day, the girls had divided into study groups to discuss national issues, camp, program and promotion and finances. Reports were presented by the provincial president, Dorothy Scott of Toronto; vice-president, Jessie Bushby of Pickering; Mollie Allen of Toronto, and Frances Masse of Ottawa.

Other items on the agenda were sing-songs and folk dancing, the latter led by Eileen Rider; a talk on boy-girl relationships by Mrs. Everson, and leadership training in the evening.

Miss Iris Daly, executive secretary of the Ontario Girls' Work Board, has been presiding at the conference.

However, she reports, "We leaders feel quite useless, since the girls handle the whole thing themselves."

Stella Wilkinson Wed By Father At Oakwood

The Rev. John Walter Wilkinson, minister of Oakwood United Church, on Saturday afternoon performed the marriage of his daughter Stella Irene to Mr. John Earl McMillan of Cobourg, in the the church.

Setting for this ceremony of wide interest was an all-white floral arrangement of snapdragons, stocks, gladioli and Easter lilies, banked with ferns. The wedding music was played by Miss Joan Cameron of Oakwood and solos were sung by the bride's younger sister, Miss Margaret Wilkinson. She chose "O Perfect Love" by Burleigh and Handel's "Wedding Hymn."

Mr. John Wilkinson of Kingston gave his sister in marriage and the matron of honor was Mrs. Claude Watson of Timmins, an elder sister.

The bride's gown was of traditional white satin with long Queen Anne styled sleeves, pointed at the wrists, and a short train. A tiny lace-covered Juliet cap held her fingertip veil of pink illusion and she was carrying a cascade of white gardenias and white sweet peas and lily of the valley.

Mrs. Watson chose powder blue faille in an ankle-length bouffant style over crinoline. She wore a matching Juliet cap and carried a nosegay of all-white flowers.

Mrs. J. W. Wilkinson, mother of the bride, was gowned for this occasion in navy crepe and lace and wore navy and white accessories and a corsage of white chrysanthemums.

The groom is son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence John McMillan of Cobourg and his only brother, Mr. Fred McMillan, was his groomsman. Mrs. McMillan wore to the wedding a lavender tricotine dress and grey accessories and she had a corsage of tea roses.

Ushers in the church were Earl Clarke of Bowmanville and Wesley Hills of Enniskillen, cousin of the bride.

The reception was held at the parsonage where spring glowers and Easter lilies decorated. Friends of the bride assisting in the serving included Miss Wilma Deyell of Peterborough, Mrs. June Clarke, Misses Marjorie and Eileen Couch of Bowmanville, Miss Elizabeth Hills of Oshawa and Miss Mary Ann Ashmore of Lindsay.

For a motor trip the bride wore a navy gabardine suit, white and navy accessories and a natural color shortie coat. Her corsage when going away was of white gardenias.

On their return Mr. and Mrs. McMillan was live at 248 Division St., Cobourg.

George St Bowlers Close Season With Banquet

George St. United Church Bowling League marked the closing of their season Tuesday evening with a bountiful banquet, served by the ladies of the Evening Auxiliary.

A short program followed, under the direction of Mr. V. Boorman, consisting of community singing, piano solos by Mr. Norman Harris, and vocal solos by Mrs. Gordon Brown.

President, Mr. Chas. Stenton called on the Rev. A. A. Mathews, who spoke briefly on the spirit of fellowship and good sportsmanship prevailing in the club.

It was decided that the Club will attend church in a body next Sunday evening, April 20th. The secretary's report showed a successful year, socially and financially.

Mr. A Northey, and Mrs. I. Fanning, the two oldest members of the club were each presented with a box of chocolates. The election of officers was conducted by Mr. Mathews and the following were chosen for the coming season:

President, Mr. Chas. Stenton; vice president, Mr. Roy Lawrence; secretary-treasurer, Mr. Everett Hales. Committee chairman: Games, Mr. Ray Lawrence, Mats, Mr. D. McKinnon; Social, Mrs. D. Darling; Prizes, Mrs. B. Lean; Replacement, Mr. J. King; Referee, Mr. Gordon Brown.

Prizes were presented to the season's winning teams, First, Mr. Thos. Parker; Second, Mr. Harold Deyell; Third, Mr. Grant Clarke and consolation prize, Mr. Robt. McKee. Bowling followed and prizes were presented to the team having the highest score in each of three games.

FIGHT DISCRIMINATION

MEXICO CITY, April 16—(AP) — Josephine Baker, American Negro singer who has long lived abroad, today announced the formation of the "World League Against Racial Discrimination." The singer, who now has her own night club here, said the league would fight discrimination against not only the Negro race but all others who are targets of restrictive practices.

Highland View Swim Club Sponsors Easter Dance

Highland View Swimming Club of Keene sponsored, with very good success an Easter semi-formal dance, holding it Monday evening in the Keene hall. Arrangements were in charge of the club leader Mrs. Harold Wilson and the executive members, Beverley Gall, president, Gwen McCarthy, secretary, and Marie Foley, treasurer. Other members assisted in the serving of refreshments.

Quick wit of the master of ceremonies Dr. Wilson Ford kept the party lively throughout the evening. The club presented Dr. Ford with a cigarette lighter in appreciation of his contribution.

Patronage of the warden, deputy reeve and councillors and their wives was given on this occasion, and they formed the receiving line. They were Warden and Mrs. Richard Stewart, Deputy Reeve and Mrs. David McIntyre, Councillor Peter Mather and Mrs. Mather, Councillor Gavin Shearer and Mrs. Shearer, and Councillor Wm. Chambers and Mrs. Chambers.

Easter symbols and cut flowers decorated the hall attractively. Prizes for special events on the program were donated by Peterborough merchants.

Winners of the lucky number draw were Mrs. David McIntyre and William Hope. The age number contest was won by Mrs. Robert Wood and Harold Weir. Mrs. Jack Belfrey won the checking number prize. A curling prize was won by Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hope.

Mrs. Percy Elmhirst and William Nelson won prizes for being the most formally dressed people present. The anniversary dance was won by Mr. and Mrs. Irvine Drimmie. Mrs. Mac Short and Bill Braeley won balloon dance prizes and Robert Jackson and Bill Nelson won the birthday and elimination dances.

Two fruit baskets were offered as draw prizes and were won by Paul Sullivan and Harold Roach.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Supper Party, Buffet Style For Twelve

Well, I asked for it as you can plainly see:

"Dear Mary: I am writing to tell you how pleased I am to see your stuff in our home paper I am going to take advantage of your offer to answer questions here goes: what about a recipe—one of your own personal favourites—for the "piece de resistance" for a supper party for 12 persons. Something that can be served buffet style and eaten with the plate on the knees. Knowing something of your cooking and wanting a change from my own small repertoire I fully anticipate something good.

"Secondly, could you give a good aspic (not tomato base) which will include chopped vegetables (celery, pepper, cucumber, avocado, etc.) sufficient for 12 persons. Good luck. G. A."

How would you like to serve a real "company" Chicken Curry, G. A.?

Here's the menu I propose:

Ron's Chicken Curry
Chutney
Grated Fresh Cocoanut
Sieved Hard-Cooked Eggs
Homemade Yeast Buns
Vegetable Aspic Salad
Tomato - Cucumber Mayonnaise.
Custard Souffle with Fresh Frozen Raspberries.
Coffee.

Ron's Chicken Curry

Boil a fowl large enough to yield 6 cups when cooked tender, stripped from bones and skin and cut into ½ or ¾ inch cubes. In a large skillet melt 6 tablespoons butter and in it saute 6 medium tart apples, pared, cored and sliced. As you are sauteing the apples add 2 large sliced onions, preferably mild, and 1 finely minced clove of garlic. Saute all of these until golden but not brown. Mix together 3 tablespoons flour and either 2 or 3 tablespoons curry powder and add. Stir in 4 cups chicken stock, until it thickens a bit. Add ⅛ teaspoon cloves, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 3 tablespoons lemon juice and 1 tablespoon grated lemon rind, about 2 or 3 teaspoons salt, and 1½ cups seedless raisins (sultanas). Add the 6 cups cut up chicken, cover and simmer 30 minutes. Cook 3 cups long grain rice in 4½ cups boiling water and 1 tablespoon salt, in top of double boiler or over very low burner, tightly covered. Serve rice in a ring surrounding the curry. Garnish with hot ripe olives, shavings of candied ginger and parsley. Pass snowy white shredded fresh cocoanut, chutney and sieved hard-cooked eggs.

Aspic (in which to mould any savoury salad)

Mix together 2-3 cup spirit vinegar, 2 2-3 cups boiling water, 1½ teaspoons salt, 1-3 cup sugar; soaked 2 2-3 tablepsoons gelatine in 2-3 cup cold water and juice of a large lemon. Boil the first mixture. Stir in the soaked mixture. Strain. Cool before adding vegetables or moulding.

Custard Souffle

In top of double boiler cream 4½ tablespoons butter with ½ cup flour, and when blended stir in 1 cup plus 2 tablespoons hot whole milk. Cook stirring hard until thick and mixture forms a mass in centre of pan. Remove from heat and add 1½ tablespoons frozen orange juice concentrate, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ cup sugar, 1 teaspoon grated orange rind, and 1 teaspoon almond extract. Cool and beat in 4 egg yolks. Fold in 4 stiffly beaten whites carefully. Grease and flour large ring mould. Stand in pan of hot water and bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for about 45 minutes. Cool a few minutes before loosening with spatula, then turn out on large round platter or chop platter. Chill thoroughly. Fill centre with 3 pints frozen raspberries thawed —at serving time. This, after the curry, will bolster even your reputation.

Fashion Makes Copy Kittens In Mother-Daughter Togs

It's a likely story for mother and daughter this spring. For small girls are bound to "want one just like mama's" when they see the latest . . . prettiest styles.

It's the year of the feminine . . . The nicest thing about spring . . . it's special ever-new feeling . . . is captured with endearing charm in fashion for Spring. Mother's dresses are full-skirted . . . tiny waisted . . . heightened with lingerie touches, velvet and flowers. Small daughter is part of the springtime mood too.

Just like mother's: the directoire-influenced coat in gray flannel with deep pleats from the high back belt, shirred front yoke and bone buttons. The column coat, newer for big girls than the pyramid, is tops for tots in gray flannel with a narrow cut, pockets red-piped with turn-back cuffs.

Mama's favorite suit: the Spencer jacket with the full skirt does a repeat appearance for sister in navy wool with a high-rise skirt and stiff gay petticoat. The longer cardigan-type jackets are trimmed with gay braid . . . and there is one for brother too in matching colors.

Fabrics play no favorites . . . the young or the young-in-heart . . . all choose taffeta, plaid cottons, bright shantungs. Lilac chambray with lace-ruffled tucked yoke and puffed sleeves . . . old-fashioned as a country garden, comes in big and little sizes. Embroidered organdie and heavy embossed cottons fashion fancy things for young and old.

JOHNSON—In loving memory of Sidney Johnson, who died April 16, 1944.
They say time heals all sorrows,
And helps us to forget,
But time so far has only proved
How much we miss you yet.
God gave us strength to fight it,
And courage to bear the blow,
But what it meant to lose you
No one will ever know.
—Sadly missed by Jean, Ken and his wife.

PEARSE—In loving memory of Charles Pearse, who passed away April 16, 1948.
Just when his days seemed brightest,
Just when his hopes seemed best,
God called him from amongst us
To his eternal rest.
Sadly missed, but God knows best.
—Always remembered by mother.

WATSON—In loving memory of Carman (Chum) Watson, who passed away one year ago today.
Oft times our thoughts do wander
To the grave not far away,
Where we laid our darling brother
Just one year ago today.
—Sadly missed by brothers and sister.

Speeder Jailed After Tussle, Later Fined $70

A Toronto man was so angry at being stopped for speeding on Highway 7 Tuesday night after a 95 mile an hour chase, that it took OPP Constables Ralph Tremills and George Louth ten minutes to subdue him.

In police court today, Cyril T. Chaplan, 37, 11 Somerville Ave., Toronto, pleaded guilty to assaulting the officers in the course of their duty and also to speeding.

He was fined $20 and $2.50 costs or 20 days for assaulting the policemen and $50 and $2.50 costs or one month for speeding. If the fines are not paid, the sentences are to run consecutively.

"I'm going to appeal. When can I get out," Chaplan declared angrily after Magistrat W. R. Philp passed judgment.

Must Pay Fine

The magistrate told him he would have to have the appeal filed through a solicitor but would have to pay his fine before he could be released.

"You mean I have to pay now and may or may not get it back later," Chaplan asked incredulously.

When he was asked how he wished to plead in regard to the assault charge, Chaplan replied, "I refused to go and put up a fight. I guess you would call it guilty."

Constable Tremills testified that he and constable Louth saw the car pass them at the Westwood turn, at a high rate of speed. They gave chase he said and got within about 200 yards of the car but could get no closer. For about eight miles, Constable Tremills said the cruiser speedometer hovered between 95 and 100 miles an hour. They stopped Chaplan when he slowed down for a curve at the eastern edge of the city.

Became Abusive

After Constable Tremills asked Chaplan for his driver's and ownership permits and took it around behind Chaplan's car to take the information down, he said Chaplan became very abusive. First he said Chaplan claimed he had just received word his small daughter was ill, then later he changed it to his wife. When he was told to follow the cruiser into district headquarters in Peterborough so his story could be checked, Constable Tremills said he put up more argument and refused to get into the police cruiser.

"He began kicking and swinging at us and it took us ten minutes to get the handcuffs on him," Constable Tremills said.

"I never heard of anyone being put in jail for speeding," commented Chaplan. Magistrate Philp assured Chaplan there was nothing unusual about him being jailed for the offence in view of his conduct.

Crown counsel V. J. McElderry said he would offer no evidence on a third charge against Chaplan of careless driving.

Woman Charged As Drunk Driver

Believed to be the first woman to be charged with drunk driving in a Peterborough court in recent years, Miss Echo Rogers, of Norwood, pleaded not guilty when she appeared in police court today.

She is charged with driving a car on Highway 45 on April 12, while she was intoxicated. Neither the Crown nor Trevor Trevor Clarke, who is defending Miss Rogers, were ready to proceed and she was remanded on $200 bail until April 29.

Lucien Therrien, 105 Glebemount Ave., Toronto, pleaded not guilty to permitting Miss Rogers to drive the car when she did not have a driver's licence. Mr. Clarke also represented Therrien and asked for an adjournment to the same date as the drunk driving charge against Miss Rogers.

Montreal Whipped, Fan In Mourning

Tears of deep sorrow dripping off his nose onto the dollar bills as he paid off his bets, a local restaurateur today bemoaned the Canadiens' 3-0 loss to Detroit Red Wings Tuesday night.

"The Rocket let us down," he sobbed. This is the man who has boosted Richard's ability higher than a cost of living index.

As he adjusted the neat, half-inch, black band of mourning on his arm, the owner of the lunch counter rejected the rude suggestions of several patrons that he turn the Rocket's picture face to the wall.

Still Honored

The color photograph of the great Richard, still under glass in its place of honor by the door to the kitchen, has above it a Canadiens' pennant, now turned with the crest to the wall.

Also above it is a small bouquet of soberly colored flowers that this Canadiens' supporter found on his door this morning. A card attached to the flowers bears a message of sympathy.

The only consoling word he got was from a customer who said: "Don't cry; your tears are falling in my coffee."

Edible Casings

OSLO — (CP) — A new type of sausage casing made from Norwegian seaweed will be produced in a new factory in Germany. Result of two years of experiments, the new sausage-skin is edible and much lighter than cellophane.

Home Training, Example Need Of Education System

TORONTO, April 16—While schools don't teach reading now like they did when you and I and John Quincy Adams went to school," they still have a right to expect substantial support from the parents of their pupils.

"We parents should carry out at home the same objectives we set for our teachers to work for at school," Dr. Andrew D. Holt, administrative assistant to the president of the University of Tennessee told the Urban and Secondary School Trustees' Section of the Ontario Education Association yesterday in the King Edward Hotel.

Home help with lessons was advocated by Dr. Holt. "Have spelling games," he suggested, "and although methods of teaching arithmetic may differ, the multiplication table still has to be learned. The best way to teach geography at home is to take the kids on trips instead of parking them with Grandma. But keep children in school during the regular term. A winter vacation may suit you best. But don't haul the kids out of school for a trip to Florida. At least expose them to knowledge Maybe they may catch a bit."

Parents should recognize a child's limitations Dr. Holt believes. "We parents too often try to tell our children what they're going to do with their lives," he said. "We say to them, 'Bud, you're going to be a doctor because your great-uncle Fred was a doctor and you look like him.'

"So it's all settled," continued Dr. Holt. "Bud is going to be a doctor. But he flunks biology and loathes chemistry and can't get into medical school. Through a parental decision, Bud is a failure before he even starts. But only because he was supposed to fit a preconceived pattern."

Enjoy Life

Parents should teach their children how to enjoy life. "Most of us haven't enough time to mess around with our kids," said Dr. Holt. "But we should teach them to swim, ride, hunt, fish and to enjoy the wholesome pleasures of life. Otherwise they'll head for the unwholesome ones and we can start looking for the family around honky tonks and slot machines."

Pride of country is another point where home teaching must supplement school lessons, Dr. Holt held. "We can't build up a pride in our country in the minds of a child by tearing down the political figures of the land in the child's hearing," he said. "My daughter, who is just 11, came to me a while back and asked me why we didn't have communism in the States.

"Before I hustled off to a congressional committee to see who had been inculcating my child with the disease of communism, I asked her why she asked me a question like that," continued Dr. Holt. "And her answer shocked me. She said, 'But Daddy, you say such horrible things about the way this country is run, I thought maybe communism might be a better way of doing things!"

Finally, religious and moral training should be primarily a home matter, Dr. Holt believes. "We should not be embarrassed to talk about religion to our children," he said. "Rather, our meals should begin with a blessing and family worship should be part of the home routine. A child without a Christian background is like a ship without an anchor. He has nothing to support him in later life when storms arise."

Example Un-Inspiring

Children learn by example and sometimes the example of his parents isn't too inspiring, Dr. Holt stated.

"We want our children to be honest," he said. "But we say we're going to be busy when we want to get out of an unpleasant social engagement. We want children to be unselfish, but we take the breast of the chicken at every chicken dinner. We want children to be tolerant, but we abuse the race, religion or politics of our neighbors. We want children to be generous, but our donation to the Community Chest is 50 cents and our church collection is a dime a Sunday."

Mrs. H. Carleton Funeral Service

The funeral for Mrs. H. G. Carleton, the former Edith Walker 316 Margaret Ave., who died in Kingston hospital Friday was held from her residence Friday to All Saints' Anglican Church on Monday.

Mrs. Carleton was educated in Perth and trained as a nurse in Kingston General Hospital where she graduated as medallist in 1923.

She was a prominent member of the I.O.D.E. and was very interested in young people. She organized a Junior chapter of the I.O.D.E. named Mary K. Birdsall Chapter. Later a group of girls organized a new chapter and named it the Edith Carleton Chapter. She was made a life member of the 40th Northumberland Regiment Chapter, Norwood, 10 years ago.

Representatives of the Edith Carleton Chapter of the I.O.D.E. and other chapters of the Order attended the service in a body.

The Rev. M. P. Poole of All Saints' Anglican Church conducted the funeral service assisted by the Rev. R. E. Lemon of Brighton and the Rev. J. C. Beazer of Carrying Place.

During the service, Mrs. George Coleman sang a favorite hymn of Mrs. Carleton's, "Jesus, Lover of My Soul."

The funeral was widely attended and there were many flowers.

Pallbearers were Dr. W. J. Gordon, Edward Spurway, Grant Miller, all of Peterborough; T. P. Rork and Arthur Bitten of Norwood and Ernest Coulter of Roslin.

Burial was in St. Paul's cemetery, Roslin.

Queen Thanks Girl For Sympathy Letter

Nine-year-old Lorraine Chartrand, 190 Charlotte St., received a letter from Queen Elizabeth on Saturday. Lorraine is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Chartrand.

At the time of King George VI's death, Lorraine wrote a letter of sympathy to the Royal Family. The Queen's letter said the Royal Family was "deeply touched" by Lorraine's message.

Utilities Ask

Tuesday night at its annual meeting.

Opinion on the helpfulness of fluorine in water is divided among doctors in the society. A member said today that he thought it would be some time before there would be any definite viewpoint from the society.

Ross Dobbin, general manager of the Utilities in reply to the society's report, in a letter to Dr. W. X. Blackburn, now past president of the society, said: "While this office is not conversant with treatment of water to reduce the incidence of dental cases, it is interested in providing as high a quality of water as possible for the consumers."

Mr. Dobbin added that if the society "will recommend the addition of chemicals to the water for the purpose of improving it for consumption for the child population, this office would be most willing to co-operate, providing of course all such treatments are approved by the public health authorities."

OBITUARIES

MRS. MARGARET M. ROSS

CAMPBELLFORD, April 16 — Funeral service for the late Mrs. Margaret Masson Ross, of Campbellford, who died suddenly on Sunday at the home of her brother, Arthur Donald, was held on Tuesday at his residence. The ev. A. E. Toombs, of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, officiated; and pall-bearers were Donald Graham, Robert Morrison, Stewart, Jack and William A. Donald and Edwin Little. Flower-bearers were Tommy, Johnny and Billy Donald and Donald Little. Burial was at Mount Pleasant cemetery.

Mrs. Ross was born in Campbellford 75 years ago, daughter of the late Alexander Donald and Helen Masson. She has lived in retirement in Campbellford for the past 15 years. Her first husband, Dr. Alfred Sykes, practised medicine in the district for a few years following their marriage and then they moved to Edmonton where he died. She then took up residence in New York City, where she married the late Edgar Ross and upon his death 15 years ago returned to Campbellford.

She leaves two brothers, Arthur Donald, of Campbellford, and Frank, of Toronto. Mrs. Ross was a member of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church.

John J. Coughlin

Funeral services for the late John J. Coughlin, 63, who died suddenly Saturday were held from his late residence, R.R. 9 Peterborough Tuesday morning to St. Joseph's Church, Douro. Mr. Coughlin was clerk of Douro township for 21 years.

Requiem mass was said by the Rev. J. J. McCarthy. The Rt. Rev. Monsignor P. P. Butler, the Rev. T. J. Lynch and the Rev. Leo Leahy were present in the sanctuary.

The pallbearers were: John Allen, Charles Bolton, Michael Leahy, Charles Brown, Walter Garbutt and Edward Moloney.

Roland Tedford, Cletus Sullivan, Fergus Moher, Kevin Leahy, Bruce Dunford and Jeremiah Mahoney were honorary pallbearers.

Graveside prayers were said by Father McCarthy assisted by Father Lynch. Interment was in St. Joseph's cemetery, Douro.

Henry James White

The funeral for Henry James White, 628 Homewood Ave., who died suddenly April 8 in Lusk, Wyoming, was held Tuesday from the Comstock funeral home.

The Rev. C. G. Boyd of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church conducted the service.

Honorary pallbearers were George A. Gillespie, Hugh Campbell, Clarence B. Neal, Larry L. Tremblay, James Harkness, W. J. Ross. Active pallbearers were: Thomas McArthur, Leonard Bairn, Robert Goodfellow, Jack Baird, Ed Riley, George A. MacDonald. Burial was in Little Lake cemetery.

Arrest 21 Vandals

MADRID, April 16—(Reuters)—Police at Badajoz in southwest Spain have arrested 21 youths from a Roman Catholic college for breaking into a Protestant chapel and making a bonfire of the hymn and prayer books. There was a similar incident in Seville recently. The government is understood to have instructed police all over Spain to take action in such cases.

Children's Aid Supervises 147 Families

The Peterborough Children's Aid Society supervised 147 families during March. Of this total nine came to the society during the month.

Miss Rachael Young, superintendent of the society told the board members at their meeting Wednesday afternoon that these nine families had been referred to the society by a doctor, police, anonymously, a neighbor and personal application.

The problems presented in these families were mental defectiveness, poor housing, filth, non-support, inadequate income and drinking.

The society's staff held 185 office interviews and made 408 visits in March.

145 In Foster Homes

There were 145 children in foster homes supervised by the society and the Children's Home.

Unmarried parents cases under the society's supervision totalled 48 with nine coming to the society during the month. Three of the nine unmarried mothers requested assistance in planning for their babies. Four are making their own plans and two were requests from other agencies to interview the alleged father in regard to maintenance.

There were 29 hearings in Family Court. Of this number four were juveniles and seven were in regard to wardship hearings.

May Be Forced To Increase Water Rates 10%

Prospect of having to increase the water rate 10 per cent about midsummer was mentioned again at the Utilities Commission meeting Tuesday.

In the tentative discussion, Mr. G. R. Langley said: "When we talk about raising rates I think that is the place for us to find out whether there is any possibility of shaving costs."

Chairman Gordon Matthews and Mr. Fred Hills, third Commissioner, agreed with that suggestion.

"We might be able to make a saving of 10 per cent or 5 per cent," Mr. Langley said.

Check Four Items

He singled one item out of a list of accounts and proposed that it be broken down into its elements which then could be studied for an opening that might afford a saving to the Commission. It might be in materials, wages or otherwise. The other members suggested several additional items for scrutiny, and finally four were selected.

Ross L. Dobbin, manager of the Utilities, was asked to prepare an analysis of those items, a breakdown, for the next meeting.

Another report that is taking form has to do with the Commission's proposed supply of water to the Wallis Drive neighborhood on the west side of the city. Total cost is not yet available, but Mr. Dobbin mentioned a figure of $160,000 as incomplete.

Commission's procedure has taken the direction of referring application for water services, into that fringe of North Monaghan, to the township council as the municipality in which these properties are situated.

Seek Information On Former Teacher

Described as a young school teacher from Peterborough T. B. Braden founded the Calgary Herald in 1883. Mr. Braden along with A. M. Armour who hailed from Barrie started the newspaper in a tent and the first editions were printed on a Washington handpress.

Nothing more is known of Mr. Braden for two years later he sold the newspaper to H. S. Cayley who founded the daily.

Records of teachers who have served the Peterborough Board of Education since 1880 do not include the name of Mr. Braden thus it is assumed that he must have taught school somewhere in the Peterborough district. Should any reader of the Examiner know anything of this Mr. Braden, the information would be greatly appreciated by this newspaper and the editors of the Calgary Herald, who are writing a history of their newspaper.

Special Education For Retarded Children

TORONTO, April 16 (CP). — Education Minister Dunlop said today the Ontario Government will establish a plan for special education and training of mentally retarded children by next September.

"This is one problem we have to solve immediately," he said. "We hope to get something ready next month and put a plan in operation by September."

At present, school boards are prohibited from training children with intelligence ratings of less than 50. Dr. Dunlop said this regulation would be changed.

He said financial assistance would come from the provincial government to assist boards of education.

Says Too Many Gadgets Used In Schools

TORONTO, April 16 — (CP) — W. A. Mackintosh, principal of Queen's University, said Tuesday night that the increasing use of audio-visual aids in schools reminds him of the Roman circus —the object was to keep the crowd quiet.

He told the Ontario Educational Association's 92nd annual convention: "These gadgets have their place but they have a tendency to crowd out other activity. They provide stock answers where real answers are difficult."

Much recent criticism of education was due to the fact that Canada was in a period of great prosperity and there were opportunities for persons who were ill prepared for them. Their shortcomings became apparent.

In the present system of mass education there was a preoccupation with the average and below-average student. The gifted student— the seed-corn of the country's culture— should not be overlooked by teachers burdened with the others.

He said he hopes the government soon will implement the Massey Commission recommendations on university scholarships. There were many gifted students being prevented from attending university because they could not afford it.

THIS BRICK GARAGE in Montreal came tumbling down recently when a tramways bus ran out of control after a collision with a five-ton truck. Nine persons were slightly injured when the bus rammed the garage after smashing down a pole and demolishing a picket fence.

May Bar Children With Low Rating

TORONTO, April 16 (CP)—The Ontario government is considering changes in legislation which forbids children with an intelligence rating of less than 50 being educated in schools operated by boards of education.

Herbert Orliffe, Toronto Board of Education chairman, said Tuesday a delegation dealing with the question was favorably received at Queens Park.

Local boards of education and the provincial department now have no responsibility for "ineducables," as they are called. Any matters concerning them come under the Department of Health.

Excellent Record

NEW HAVEN, Conn., April 16 (AP) — John Alderhurst, interviewed on his 95th birthday April 3 at the iron works he had operated here since 1900, said he couldn't remember ever having had to stay away from work because of illness. He fell ill the next day, and was taken to a hospital. He died Tuesday.

Tree Disease Being Studied

TORONTO, April 16 — (CP)— A mysterious tree disease will be studied by Ontario Forestry experts at a new forest pathology laboratory to be built at Maple, 10 miles northwest of here.

Researchers have known of its existence for 20 years but still are looking for a cure. They call it birch-die-back.

The new $300,000 research centre at Maple is part of a Federal-Provincial operation against insects and diseases which prey on trees. Ottawa will put up an $100,000 annually to staff the laboratory.

Dr. L. H. White, a Dominion Forestry research man, will lead the work.

Birch-die-back begins in new twigs, then wipes out the branch, half the tree and then the tree dies. Some trees given up for dead have recovered.

The new laboratory is expected to be complete next year.

Queen's Plate Has Value Of $21,000

TORONTO, April 16 (CP). — The Queen's Plate, scheduled for May 24 at Woodbine Park, will have an estimated value of $21,000.

The Plate running tops the Ontario Jockey Club's 14 days of racing from May 17 to June 2. The spring session will offer approximately $200,000 in prize money.

Other important races are the William Hendrie Handicap, $3,000; King Edward Gold Cup, $3,000; Connaught Cup, $2,500; Woodstock Plate, $2,500; Victoria Stakes, $2,500; Woodlands Handicap, $2,500; Highlander's Handicap, $2,000; Victory Handicap, $2,000, and the Galloping Handicap, $2,000.

Claim 12,593 Casualties

LONDON, April 16 — (AP). — The North Korean Communists claimed Tuesday night they "wiped out" 12,593 United Nations troops during February and March —6,711 of them Americans. A Peiping radio broadcast of a Pyongyang dispatch said 192 planes were shot down and another 450 damaged during the same period. Such reports are generally regarded as exaggerations.

Returns To Tibet

HONG KONG, April 16 (Reuters)—The Chinese Communist-backed Panchen Lama, who claims spiritual leadership of Tibet, has entered the country, ending an exile imposed on his predecessor 30 years ago, Peiping radio said today. The 15-year-old Panchen Lama entered Tibet March 9 and was given a "warm welcome," the broadcast said. The Panchen's predecessor was refused re-entry into Tibet by Dalai Lama, political leader of the country.

Don't Expect Floods

BOSTON, April 16 (AP) — Government meteorologists say serious floods in New England are unlikely despite the heavy winter snowfall and recent rains. Portland, Me., weather officials said the Saco, and Roscoggin, Kennebec and Penobscot rivers are "not even close to flood conditions.

Say Robinson 3-to-1 Favorite

CHICAGO, April 16 (AP). — More than 19,000 fans, wild-eyed with anticipation of a bloody brawl, will pack Chicago Stadium tonight to watch reckless Rocky Graziano try to blast the middleweight crown off Sugar Ray Robinson.

If there are any late arrivals the scrap may be over before they see it. That also goes for millions of television viewers and radio listeners throughout the country. It will be wise to tune in on time for this one.

At 10 p.m. (E.S.T.) the mauling Graziano, his steaming right cocked for an opening, will start bulling his way in toward Robinson, the masterful stylist with lightning in each fist.

Most observers think the clash won't go more than eight rounds of the scheduled 15. Robinson is a 3-to-1 favorite and odds are even that he will score a knockout inside eight heats.

Robinson wears 11 inches of hemstitching around his eye from gashes opened by Randy Turpin when he lost his middleweight title to the Briton and won it back in a rematch last fall.

Rocky undoubtedly will be sniping at the old wound with the strategy that if he can't belt the champion down for the count he might bloody him up enough to score a technical knockout.

Havelock Chapter Holds Easter Tea

HAVELOCK, April 16 (ENS).— A successful tea and bazaar was sponsored Saturday by Prosperity Chapter No. 63 O.E.S., in the chapter rooms in the Masonic Hall when receipts amounted to $55.

Mrs. W. Smith poured tea at a lace covered table cloth with a potted plant. The guests who were served at quartet tables centred with an Easter novelty were welcomed by Mrs. Harry Anderson, W.M.

The fancy goods table was in charge of Mrs. C. McMillan of Norwood and Mrs. W. W. Hill. The home baking table where there was a large supply of cakes, pies and tarts was in charge of Mrs. L. H. Cooke and Mrs. W. Stevenson. A draw was held for a cake donated by Mrs. W. Goadsby, the winner being Mrs. Frank Ellis. Mrs. W. Nobes Sr., officiated at the draw. Mrs. Goadsby was in charge of the sale of potted plants.

Pats Tie Series

REGINA, April 16 (CP). —Regina hockey fans today are waiting with relish for Thursday's fifth game of the best-of-seven Western Canada Memorial Cup hockey final. They're waiting to see if Pats will manage to get out in front for the first time against the fighting Fort William Hurricanes. Pats scored three times in the last period Tuesday night without a reply from the Hurricanes to take a 5-2 victory and knot the series at 2-2.

Bar Windsor Doctor From Practising

TORONTO, April 16 — (CP) — The College of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario today barred Dr. John Emil Hett, 81, of Windsor, from the practice of medicine in Ontario. It was the second time in 15 years that the college has erased Dr. Hett's name from the list of practising doctors in the province.

Dr. Robert T. Noble, college registrar, made the announcement in the following statement:

"At a meeting of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario April 10, 1952, Dr. John Emil Hett of Windsor, was found guilty of infamous and disgraceful conduct in a professional sense and his name was ordered erased from the register.

"Dr. Hett has for many years professed to have a serum which will cure cancer, arthritis, diabetes and peptic ulcers, but he has refused consistently to divulge the formula of his secret remedy to any recognized research centre by which the curative values of his secret preparation could be assessed and thereby would be made available to all humanity."

First Struck Off

Dr. Hett's name was struck from the roll in April, 1937, when he was practising at Kitchener for refusal to reveal the nature of the serum. He was reinstated a year later after agreeing to divulge his formular before a special commission set up by the Ontario Legislature. The commission found the serum harmless but without "proved value."

It was reported at that time that the basis of the formula was a theory that cancer is caused by an ultra-miscroscopic virus and that an antibody could be developed to combat the virus.

Before the latest erasure, nine charges against Dr. Hett were considered by the five-man discipline committee appointed from the college's council. The council consists of 10 elected members, one representatives from each of the four universities in Ontario, one homeopathic representative and Health Minister Phillips.

Five charges were proved, three were not proved and on the ninth the committee decided to make no finding.

"Secret Remedy"

The committee found that Dr. Hett, while practising medicine in Windsor, used a "secret remedy" in his treatment of human ailments.

It found that he had consistently refused to disclose to duly-qualified medical practitioners generally the formula of the substance with which he treated patients.

Also proved was a charge that he published and distributed pamphlets and circulars containing "extravagant and unwarranted claims which evidence a desire to attract patients for financial gain" and that the pamphlets contained statements derogatory to the medical profession and calculated to bring scorn and derision upon it.

It also found that pamphlets bearing pictures of a school in which it was alleged a school for doctors was operated, while addressed to the medical profession but distributed to the public, "can only be deemed an effort to mislead the public and perpetrate a fraud upon it."

Not Proved

Not proved were charges that Dr. Hett made promises to cure, that he had incorrectly claimed other doctors endorsed his treatment and that he had made certain statements about the surgeons who operated on the late Edsel Ford and the late Ed Seagram.

The committee made no finding on statements in Dr. Hett's pamphlets concerning the 1938 commission, it had been charged they were misleading.

At the time of the commission investigation, Dr. Hett was operating a clinic in Kitchener, where he began his medical practice in 1891. Several years later, the Hett Cancer Treatment and Research Foundation obtained a federal charter and soon afterward Dr. Hett transferred his clinic to Windsor.

Council Gets Raise

Israel Charts New Canal To Rival Suez

MONTREAL — (CP). — A 270-mile canal competing with the Suez gateway between the Mediterranean and the Red Sea may be built by the new state of Israel.

Col. Aharon Hoter-Ishai, member of the Israeli Government Law Council, said in an interview here the canal is "definitely in the planning stages."

The canal would connect the Red Sea port of Eilath, a few miles west of Akaba, with the Mediterranean Sea at Askelon, and would have to be entirely dug out of the ground.

"But it isn't as tough a problem as it sounds," he says. "The Mediterranean is about 800 feet above the Red Sea and the land slopes evenly. It also could be used to irrigate the dry lands in the south of Israel."

Col. Hoter-Ishai is making a two-month tour of Canada at the invitation of the Zionist organization of Canada. He says that he had always wanted to see Canada for himself.

"My first action in the Second World War was with a Canadian outfit," he says. "We were attached to the Loyal Edmonton Regiment on the Italian front and I made quite a few friends in the Canadian Army."

The Israeli official says Israel is quickly recovering from the brink of bankruptcy, "but we still have a long haul ahead of us.

Much Progress Made

By next year the country should be producing at least 50 per cent of its food requirements. At the present time the country imports more than 85 per cent of its needs, he says.

He said Israel has more than doubled its population in the last three years and most of the immigrants came into the country with little or no possessions. "We are slowly opening up the country and I think we can handle a total of 6,000,000 people. Population today is slightly more than 1,500,000 including 160,000 Arabs."

Col. Hoter-Ishai said food rationing is still very strict in Israel and luxuries definitely are out.

The official, who organized the military courts in Israel and drafted military laws for the government, expressed the belief that Israel will continue to develop and grow. "But we need the help of Jewry all over the world," he said. "We are desperately short of dollars."

Alternate Landing

HONOLULU, April 16 (AP)—A big Pan American Airways stratoclipper with 38 passengers aboard made an alternate landing at Hilo, Hawaii, Monday after one of its four engines failed. The plane was en route from Los Angeles to Honolulu. The passengers, including four infants, were brought the 216 miles north to Honolulu by interisland plane.

ARTIST PAINTS GENERAL—A noted Canadian artist, Mrs. Lilias Torrance-Newton, R.C.A., of Montreal, is shown at work on a portrait of Gen. H. D. G. Crerar, wartime commander of the First Canadian Army overseas. Mrs. Torrance-Newton recently completed a portrait of Earl Alexander, former governor-general, which now hangs in the National Gallery. She began painting Gen. Crerar's picture this month, setting up a workshop in the General's home in Ottawa where he sat daily. The portrait will be presented to Gen. Crerar at a testimonial dinner to him in Toronto May 8, to be attended by some 700 veterans who served with him in the Second World War.

Easter Services Held In Apsley Churches

APSLEY, April 16 (ENS) — Easter services in both Trinity United and St. George's Anglican churches were well attended despite bad road conditions and inclement weather. Full choirs furnished music for both services. Mrs. Fitzgerald and Mrs. Herb Tucker sang a special Easter duet at Trinity. Miss Jones conducted the service and gave the sermon and the Rev. C. A. G. Spence gave comunion in St. George's.

In St. George's an Easter lily was placed on the altar by Mr. Spence and family in memory of their daughter Cecily (Mrs. Herb Lane), and an Easter lily placed by Mr. and Mrs. N. E. James and family in memory of Boyd James. Flowers were placed on the altar of Trinity United by Women's Association and Sunday school. Potted plants were also used.

Guild Sponsors Play

OMEMEE, April 16 (ENS) — "Hen-pecked Henry," sponsored by Christ Church Ladies' Guild gave a full house an evening of laughs Monday night in Coronation Hall, Omemee. It will be reproduced in Norwood on April 24, in Norland on May 13 and other invitations are being considered. The play was directed by Ted Roose, and the cast are all Guild members or husbands of Guild members, several of them well-known in former amateur performances.

Children Blamed For Warehouse Fire

BRANTFORD, April 16 (CP)—Children brandishing flaming sticks were reported seen in the vicinity of a warehouse Monday that shortly afterwards was destroyed by fire.

One fire department official said he was convinced that children started the fire that did from $9,000 to $10,000 damage to the Jones Transport warehouse Monday noon.

"It couldn't have started any other way," the official said.

In the section of the building where the fire broke out, there was no wiring or other equipment which might have started the blaze, firemen said.

Chess Wizard Awarded Law Scholarship

LONDON—(CP)—Abe Yanofsky, former Canadian chess champion studying for a law degree at Oxford University, recently experienced the biggest surprise of his thrill-packed career.

Returning from a team triumph over Cambridge University Chess Club, the Winnipeg prodigy learned he had been awarded the Viscount Bennett Special Study Scholarship, as Canada's oustanding law student.

"This will certainly be very helpful for next year and has proved a great thrill for myself and my wife," Yanofsky said.

But thrills have been a common occurrence in the chess wizard's life. He won highest academic honors at Manitoba University after abandoning medicine for law and came to Oxford under a Manitoba Law Society scholarship. And in 1946, at the age of 21, he amazed the chess world by scoring a sensational victory over the world champion, Mikhail Botvinnik of Russia.

Despite the demands of University studies, Yanofsky has participated in several major tournaments since his arrival in England. Last year he finished second to Svetozar Gligoric of Yugoslavia in the Hastings congress and was third to Max Euwe, the Netherland's former world titleholder and Alberic O'Kelly De Galway of Belgium at Beverwijk, Holland.

Abe said he has heard nothing definite yet about Canadian intentions to send a chess team this summer to Helsinki or to the interzonal tests in Stockholm next September. He said he would feel greatly honored, however, if the Chess Federation of Canada saw fit to invite him to represent his country.

Meanwhile, Yanofsky has made tentative plans to take part in the Southsea Chess Congress April 16-26 and the Ilford tournament late in May. Several leading continental players as well as the British masters, Dr. S. Fasekas and I. Bowen, will compete.

Yanofsky also is assured of further workout as captain of the Oxford county representative team. Playing first board for the county, Yanofsky has led his colleagues into the finals of the English championships to be played in London in May.

Davies Prize Won By Kingston Man

KINGSTON, April 15— (CP)—Awards of the Senator Davies poetry prize and The Whig-Standard essay prize for 1952 were announced Tuesday by principal W. A. Mackintosh of Queen's University.

The poetry prize of $500 goes to James Morris Soutter of Kingston, a second-year arts student, whose entry was a poem in free verse entitled "In Hospital."

R. Gordon Nodwell, of Orangeville, won the $500 essay prize with his essay on "The Role of the Press in a Free Society." Mr. Nodwell also is a second-year arts student.

Plan Air Cadets To Exchange Visits

READING, England, April 15 (Reuters)—Canadian, British and American air cadets will exchange visits next August under a three-way plan to be worked out this week at the Cookham Dean R.A.F. centre near here.

Britain will send 25 cadets to the United States and another 25 to Canada for a two-week trip while 25 American and 25 Canadian cadets will come to this country. Canada and the U.S. will also exchange cadets.

C. Douglas Taylor, of the Air Cadet League of Canada will attend the talks Thursday at the official residence of Britain's home command chief, Air Marshal Sir Ronald Ivelaw-Chapman.

Omemee Services

OMEMEE, April 16 (ENS). — In spite of an all-day Sunday rain, Easter services at Trinity United Church were exceptionally well attended. The Rev. V. E. R. Zufelt's morning discourse centred around "The Empty Tomb" and its significance to Christ's followers. Twenty applicants for church membership were received on profession of faith and 12 by transfer from other congregations. Mr. Zufelt's text for the evening service was "The Sting of Death is Sin." The choir's contribution to the services included "Easter Joy," "The Magdalene," and "Rejoice in the Lord."

He's Fed Up

SHREWSBURY, England (CP)—A headmaster of a boy's school here was critical of "progressive" trends in education. He said at the annual speech day he wonders whether new schools will have built-in dog-racing tracks and electronic machines to help in filling out coupons for football pools.

Report Flood Waters Drop In Sask.

Most of Eastend Still Inundated, Hope Worst Over

EASTEND, Sask., April 17.—(CP)—Flood waters were receding in Eastend today and one official said the 50 persons still in town were preparing to start cleaning up.

But about 25 miles northeast of the town of 800 population, Duncairn dam was under pressure from runoff waters flowing into the reservoir faster than it could be discharged over the spillways.

Hugh Robinson, provincial agriculture representative for the area, said the water level in Eastend dropped by about 12 inches during the night and high spots of ground in the town were beginning to show.

But most of the town was still under water. He said he could only guess whether the worst now is over.

Five head of cattle have been drowned in the flooding Frenchman's creek but no other accidents have occurred.

Phone Office Flooded

The telephone office in Eastend has been flooded and the only communication still operating is a direct line with Shaunavon, about 28 miles east.

Fifty persons were evacuated Wednesday but about the same number remained. Earlier 800 were taken out.

Welfare Minister J. H. Sturdy said emergency supplies are being shipped to Swift Current for use in the event the Duncairn dam goes out. The dam is 25 miles southwest of Swift Current.

The 5,000-foot-long dam holds 850,000 acre feet of water. Its capacity allows a safety margin rapidly diminishing under the rapid intake.

Radio Communications

Radio communications will be set up today between the dam and Swift Current. At least 10 members of the 14th Hussars Regiment will go on active duty to man the radio until the emergency is over.

Meanwhile Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Administration engineers warned that a new flood crest may still pound down the Frenchman River and Swift Current Creek before the wild rush of run-off water from the Cypress Hills begins to diminish in four or five days.

Run-off waters were slowly receding, but it will be some time before the reduced flow reaches Swift Current.

In Eastend, the main street of the 800-population town 200 miles from Regina, is an 18-inch waterway, down from the three-foot flood peak.

Fear New Crest

Sheriff T. L. Ferguson of Shaunavon, 28 miles east, the centre of Eastend flood relief efforts, late Wednesday night warned of the possibility of a new flood crest.

He said the Cypress Hills were choked with snow, and that if small creeks feeding the Frenchman River "let go all at once" a new flood crest would hit the embattled Eastend.

Truck Cut In Two

TORONTO, April 17. (CP)—A heavy truck was cut in two today a few miles west of Toronto when it was struck by a passenger train bound for Owen Sound. Jack Campbell, 30, of Toronto, driver of the truck, escaped any severe injury. The truck, owned by the Ontario Hydro Commission, was carrying more than $30,000 worth of refrigerators and electric motors to Stratford to be used in frequency-conversion work.

Borden Officials Lift Ban On Nearby Towns

BARRIE, April 17—(CP)—Army officials at Camp Borden today lifted a ban which placed all eating places and beverage rooms here and in several nearby towns out of bounds to Army personnel.

The ban was imposed Wednesday after a case of typhoid was reported at the camp. However, Maj. William Leitch said after a conference with Simcoe County medical officers today that it was "deemed unnecessary to enforce this ban."

Theatres were not included in the order which affected Barrie, Collingwood, Midland, Orillia and Penetanguishene.

One officer from the camp has typhoid and now is in isolation in a Toronto hospital. The wife of another soldier is under observation here.

It also was reported that no meat or vegetables were being sold in Camp Borden.

Meanwhile, all Army men must have typhoid inoculations before leaving the camp area.

See Strange Objects At Haliburton

Two Women Describe Phenomenon Looking Like Tadpole

TORONTO, April 17. (CP)—Strange things are reported these days in the skies over Ontario. Forty-five persons said they saw what appeared to be an unusual form of blimp hanging motionless above Hamilton Wednesday night. Gordon Cordiner said it hovered just off the lakefront for about 15 minutes and then disappeared.

Mrs. Marie Woodland said she was riding in an automobile with four other women along Burlington Beach when she saw the thing.

"It had a halo-like fringe of color around it," she said. "But the main body seemed black. It was like something out of this world."

Flying Teardrop

In Haliburton, Mrs. Wesley Baker and a neighbor, a Mrs. Henderson, watched what they described as a "flying teardrop." It circled high overhead, travelling swiftly, described a semi-circle and disappeared in five minutes to be followed by another.

Mrs. Baker said: "It was coming from the northeast, shaped sort of like a teardrop or a glorified tadpole. It had a long silver tail behind it that might have been smoke.

"Then I saw a second one following the first one. It was shaped exactly the same and seemed almost as though it was being pulled by the first one."

Air force men at North Bay have reported seeing flying amber-colored discs.

And at Windsor a mystery about red lights in the sky was cleared up when an airline announced it had installed a row of the lights on top of its planes.

Fred Brant Inquiry Begins At Public Hearing

Dressed neatly in a blue windbreaker and well-pressed trousers, Fred Brant arrived at the county court house today for the inquiry ordered by council to investigate the circumstances of his arrest and imprisonment. The 22-year-old Lindsay youth who has had part of both feet amputated as the result of frostbite, walked down the aisle of the court room without a trace of a limp and took a seat in the front row. The inquiry, scheduled to start at 10 a.m., was 20 minutes late in starting, until Brant arrived from the hospital in company with Detective Sergeant Bud Clarke and Major Harry Everitt of the Salvation Army.

Serving Five Days

Brant was serving five days for vagrancy when he was taken to hospital from a county jail cell in January. His feet were so severely frozen that gangrene had set in and two operations had to be performed, to amputate all his toes and about one-third of each foot.

City council appointed Judge F. J. MacRae of Whitby to conduct an inquiry into the case after it was revealed that Brant had been taken five miles out of the city in a police cruiser and left on the highway, after he had served a ten-day term for vagrancy. Five days later, he was again sentenced to five days for vagrancy and that night, was taken to hospital when it was discovered his feet were frozen.

Russell D. Humphries of Oshawa has been appointed counsel for the inquiry and 24 witnesses have been supoenaed to testify.

Needs Supervision

"I believe he will always have difficulty in society without some supervision," said Dr. Leslie Calvert who performed the operations on Brant's feet. Dr. Calvert was the first witness called and added that he did not mean that Brant should necessarily be placed in an institution. "I believe he should have a guardian," Dr. Calvert said.

Pressed by Mr. Humphries to estimate when Brant's feet had been frozen, Dr. Calvert said he could not say accurately other than it was at least 24 hours before he first examined Brant the evening of January 31. He said that gangrene does not set in until frozen parts of the body have been warmed and usually becomes apparent in about 24 hours.

As to Brant's future, Dr. Calvert said he will be able to walk without assistance from either crutches or special shoes. "The only thing he won't be able to do is run. He may leave hospital any-

Dikes Holding At Omaha, Touch And Go

OMAHA, Neb., April 17 (AP)—Dikes hemming the monstrously-high Missouri River along Omaha and Council Bluffs, Ia., still held the upper hand today, but the situation was touch and go.

River forecasters continued to predict a crest "sometime tonight" in this metropolitan area of some 366,000 persons.

Round-the-clock and almost inch-by-inch vigilance was being maintained along the 23 miles of primary levees which so far have kept the raging waters from the two cities.

The river level today passed the 29½-foot mark. Flood stage is 19 feet. The previous record high, in 1881, was 24.6 feet. The crest is expected to measure 31½ feet.

Meantime, the pattern of farmland flooding, evacuations and dike-raising work which the river set earlier upstream was being repeated along reaches southward almost to Kansas City.

Farmers all along the valley have moved livestock, machinery and household goods to higher ground. At least a dozen towns and cities in Nebraska, Iowa, Kansas, and Missouri—below Omaha—were fighting the water. Some as large as Elwood, Kas. (Population 1,200) had been abandoned almost completely.

The story was the same as it has been for almost 10 days as the Missouri, gorged by the rapid melting of heavy winter snows in the Dakotas, began sending its biggest known load of water downstream, hitting Bismarck, N. D., Pierre, S.D., and Sioux City, Ia., in turn.

The Missouri, which slowed its downstream march slightly Wednesday night, nevertheless was over the 28-foot mark early today, expected to reach a record crest of 31.5 feet tonight.

Veto Suggestion To Increase Pupil Discipline

TORONTO, April 17 — Strong opposition to a proposal for increased corporal punishment in Ontario's public schools was voiced here Wednesday by rural and township trustees attending the Ontario Educational Association Convention.

General sentiment at the meeting was overwhelmingly against the Fenelon Falls resolution asking that "teachers be given more privileges along the line of punishment to compel obedience."

The resolution said that a great many parents neglect to give their children any training in obedience at home and that their children are growing up without respect for any kind of authority.

Speaking in favor of the resolution, J. J. Thurston, a former M.P. for Victoria County, declared that children are not being taught to respect age and authority. He wondered if "equal rights for women have not lessened our respect for mothers."

Can't Touch Child

Mr. Thurston said he had learned that in some places a teacher is "hardly allowed to put her hand on a child."

The present school law provides for use of the strap, but states that punishment must be "that which a kind and considerate parent would give."

When the resolution reached the parent Trustees and Ratepayers Association later, it met similar opposition and was defeated.

Flying Saucers Possible Canadian Scientists Admit

OTTAWA, April 17. (CP)—Flying saucers? "Wel-l-l . . ." said the R.C.A.F. and top government scientists Wednesday. Confronted with new reports of saucer sightings by R.C.A.F. airmen, the experts wouldn't say "No" and came up collectively with a cautious "Maybe."

The new reports came from air force men at North Bay, 110 miles from the atomic energy centre at Chalk River, who told of seeing flying objects described as discs or saucers. The latest appearance was Saturday night last.

While an R.C.A.F. intelligence officer questioned the sighters on the spot, these reactions to the flying saucer phenomenon developed here:

Dr. Q. M. Solandt, chairman of the Defence Research Board: "We are as mystified as any one else . . and are keeping an open mind."

Dr. Peter Millman, Dominion astro-physicist: "We can laugh off these observations."

Dr. C. J. Mackenzie, chairman of the Atomic Energy Control Board: "These reports cannot be ignored as nonsense."

No Conclusions

An R.C.A.F. spokesman added: "The R.C.A.F. has come to no conclusions about saucers on the basis of what has been seen in Canada."

The air force has not yet received an intelligence report on the Saturday night occurrence. Two airmen at North Bay—W.O. E. H. Rossell, a 13-year veteran, and Flt. Sgt. Reg. McRae, Weston, Ontario — had told of seeing a bright amber disc in the sky over the airfield.

They said it moved across the field, reversed direction, and disappeared after a climb at terrific speed.

Want Ridgway To Succeed Ike

SAN FRANCISCO, April 17 — (AP)— Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, Supreme Commander of United Nations forces in the Far East, has been recommended by the joint chiefs of staff in Washington to succeed Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower in Europe, the Chronicle says today in a copyrighted story from its Washington correspondent, Vance Johnson.

Johnson says Ridgway's name had been suggested to the other 13 North Atlantic Treaty countries, and although approval is expected in the near future, the announcement of the selection might be delayed until after General Eisenhower departs in June from his North Atlantic Treaty forces command.

Field Marshal Montgomery, Deputy Allied Supreme Commander, will assume the N. A. T. O. command for the interval between Eisenhower's departure and Ridgway's arrival in Europe, the story says.

Present plans of the joint chiefs, Johnson added, call for the appointment of General Mark W. Clark, chief of army field forces at Fort Monroe, Va., as Ridgway's successor in the Far East, and for General Alfred M. Gruenther, now chief of staff to Eisenhower in Europe, to replace Clark. Gruenther was Eisenhower's personal choice for the top N.A.T.O. command.

Canada Ends State Of War

OTTAWA, April 17 (CP)—Canadian documents ratifying the Japanese peace treaty were deposited today with the United States government, thus formally ending Canada's state of war with Japan.

The treaty was ratified by parliament earlier this month.

The treaty becomes effective when a majority of the countries involved—including the United States—deposit the instruments of ratification at Washington.

With the Canadian instrument deposited, only one more is needed, and a number of additional countries already have ratified.

It is expected the treaty will become effective April 28.

Crippled Gunman Given Freedom

TORONTO, April 17 (CP). — Douglas Odam, 23, crippled for life by a police bullet during a holdup attempt a year ago, was today given suspended sentence on a charge of assault with attempt to rob while armed. He pleaded guilty a week ago and three additional charges were withdrawn.

Odam, with Orvold Fleming, 22, and John Hunter, walked into a police trap in a north-end dairy. Hunter was killed. Fleming was sentenced to two years in jail after recovering from bullet wounds.

Dr. A. Jousse, who has treated Odam, said he is paralyzed from the waist down and will spend the rest of his life on crutches.

Brampton Votes To Go "Wet"

BRAMPTON, April 17. (CP)—Brampton voted "wet" Wednesday.

Voters in this county seat of the long-standing "dry" county of Peel authorized the establishment of a liquor retail store and a brewers' retail store by throwing out a local option bylaw.

The 60-per-cent majority required on both questions was exceeded by 68 votes on the liquor store and 63 votes on the brewers' retail store.

Establishment of a liquor store received 2,635 votes compared with 1,644 votes against. The vote in favor of the brewers' retail store was 2,623 to 1,644.

A record vote was posted with 74 per cent of the 5,700 eligible voters going to the polls.

The vote revoked the local option bylaw which had been voted into effect in 1914 with the Canada Temperance Act. Since the Second World War two votes have been held in the county on the C.T.A. and on the second vote last November it was revoked.

New Zealand Volcano Erupts On Island

AUCKLAND, N.Z., April 17 — (AP)—Mount Ngauruhoe, one of three volcanoes in the central part of North Island, today erupted with a deafening roar and a burst of red smoke.

No settlements are close enough to be endangered but guests at Chateau Tongariro on nearby Mount Ruapehu were startled by the roar. An aircraft pilot said he saw the smoke rise to 20,000 feet.

The outburst brought to a climax a week of sporadic activity in which a crater was formed on the northern face of the mountain.

Hard To Get Jet Recruits

OTTAWA, April 17—(CP)—The R.C.A.F. is having difficulty recruiting enough aircrew to keep up with its expanding jet fighter squadron program, Air Vice-Marshal Frank Miller, acting chief of the air staff, said today.

"Canadian youths are not going into aircrew like they used to," he said in an interview. "We do not know if it is a reluctance to get into the jet flying field, but the fact remains that there is at the present time great need for air crew for this expanding air force of ours."

The situation in Canada, he said, corresponded with that outlined by Gen. Hoyt Vandenberg of the United States Air Force, who reported to Congress yesterday that the U.S.A.F. is finding it more and more difficult to persuade young recruits to fly the new types of combat aircraft.

Another R.C.A.F. spokesman said the lack of jet pilots has not yet reached the "serious" stage, but a gradual worsening of the situation could conceivably clog the R.C.A.F.'s expansion plans.

Sir Anton Prefers AntarcticToCivilization

LOS ANGELES, April 17 — (AP)—Sir Anton, believed to be the only Antarctic sea elephant in captivity, is finding out what humans have to endure in civilization.

Since he was captured in his native habitat and stowed on the Danish scientific ship, Galathea, Sir Anton has been fighting one affliction of civilization after another. Penicillin cured him of pneumonia, a switch in diet and a jolt of castor oil corrected an attack of acute indigestion.

But nothing could fix his claustrophobia. He doesn't like crates; simply pines away in them. So the Copenhagen Zoo, to which he is consigned, decreed that he should desert ship and hop a plane for the Danish capital.

He's winging his way there today. With him is a veterinarian who has instructions to spray the 200-pound pachyderm at regular intervals with water. The zoo doesn't want to risk losing its valuable animal.

Report Steelworkers Grow Restive At Long Delay

By ROWLAND EVANS JR.

WASHINGTON, April 17 (AP) —The United Steelworkers of America (C.I.O.) were reported growing restive today under pay scales put into effect 17 months ago and the government was believed about ready to give them an increase.

How much and how soon were questions Commerce Secretary Charles Sawyer was not answering. Sawyer, boss of the seized industry, had a tentative date today with Philip Murray, steelworkers' president, and Benjamin Fairless, president of the United States Steel Corporation. Sawyer met separately with the two men Wednesday—presumably to lay the groundwork for a government-imposed wage boost.

President Truman seized the industry eight days ago when repeated attempts to reach agreement on a new work contract failed. The union's scheduled strike was immediately called off.

The union is demanding a three-instalment 17½ - cent - an - hour wage boost, fringe benefits worth about 8½ cents and the union shop, which would require all workers to join the union.

Those are the settlement terms suggested by the Wage Stabilization Board, which studied the dispute for three months.

The industry's highest offer is 12½ cents in wages, five cents in fringes—but no union shop. The industry says it would need a price boost of $12 a ton—four times the increase the government says it will allow—to offset the union's demands.

Truman was severely criticized Wednesday by Senator Styles Bridges of New Hampshire, Republican Senate leader, for his steel seizure order. Bridges blamed the President for "helping create" the steel deadlock and raising "the gravest constitutional question since the war between the States."

Square Dancing Craze Sweeping Britain

LONDON, April 17 (AP) — Britain is in the grip of a square dancing craze and the shoe manufacturers couldn't be happier.

The eagerness to swing your partner spread rapidly after the visit of the Queen and Duke of Edinburgh to Canada last year when they were pictured joining the fun at a country-style dance at Government House in Ottawa.

Shoe and Leather Record, a trade paper, reported some manufacturers are working overtime to meet the demand for special dance shoes.

Queen Elizabeth wore black open-toed pumps with fairly high heels—hardly the most comfortable shoes for square dancing—as part of a costume hastily assembled for the Ottawa party Oct. 11. Pictures of her dancing were published in British newspapers at the time.

Soccer Pool Winner May Visit Canada

GODALMING, England, April 17 —(CP)—Mrs. Lilian Guest, who picked up a cool $200,070.25 in Britain's soccer pools, is thinking of using some of the money to visit Canadian soldiers who visited the Guests in the Second World War.

She and her husband Charlie, counting the money and planning what to do with it, mentioned two former regimental sergeants-major they would like to see again.

"But," said Charlie, "we have not made any definite plans for the trip. We are just talking it over."

One of the men is former RSM. Arthur Gardner of the Royal Army Service Corps, now living in Regina. Another is Buck Monteith of the same unit. They believe he is living in Weyburn, Sask.

May Mop Up Brain Cancer With A-Energy Sponges

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., April 17—(AP)—Science is investigating the possibility that special sponges, filled with radioactive materials, and inserted into the human brain, might kill off possible remnants of malignant tissue after all visible cancer was removed by surgery.

Doctors Loyal Davis and Stanton L. Goldstein said trials in human patients are under way and results will be reported at a future date.

Absorbable sponges made by gelatenous or soggy material—sometimes employed for checking haemorrhages—are being used. The radioactive materials for impregnating the sponges consisted of either gold or phosphorous. Both of these ray-emiting materials are produced by the U.S. atomic energy commission at its Oak Ridge, Tenn., plant.

Reporting to a scientific meeting of the American Surgical Association—an organization which includes top teachers of surgical technique—the scientists gave this outline:

The major difficulty in attacking cancers deep-seated in brain tissue is that when the visible tumor is removed by surgery, cancer tissue can remain hidden in the tumor "bed."

X-ray could be used to kill this remaining tissue, but its deeply penetrating rays might also destroy normal tissue in the brain.

Tests with cats showed that when sponges impregnated with radioactive gold or phosphorous were inserted in the brain, the tissue-killing power of the rays was limited to a tiny area around the place of insertion.

There was no apparent adverse effect on the central nervous system of the animals.

"It was concluded that this method was worthy and safe for trial in patients."

Town Paves Street For Queen To Walk On

PARAMOUNT, Calif., April 17 —(AP)—They're not going to roll out the red carpet for Queen Juliana of the Netherlands here Sunday. But they're paving a street for her to walk on.

The Queen and Prince Bernhardt are to worship in the $150,000 stucco and flagstone Emmanuel reformed church here.

The church and its parsonage were dedicated last June but the street in front of it is unpaved. The Paramount Chamber of Commerce decreed that the street wasn't up to the Dutch standard of neatness. So it got the county road department to pave the block.

Will Use Force If Government Creates Incidents

CAPETOWN, April 17. (CP)—An opposition leader told cheering thousands Wednesday night that the South African people will meet force with force if the Nationalist government creates incidents and then tries to stamp them out with autocratic power. Supporters of three opposition groups formed a united front at a rally in Capetown city hall and called on the government to resign. Observers said it was the biggest meeting here in 25 years.

The rally was called to oppose Prime Minister Daniel Malan's announced intention of curbing the power of South Africa's highest court, which has ruled out a key law in the government's white racial supremacy program.

Jacob Strauss, leader of the United party, chief opposition group, read a declaration proclaiming the united front "to fight for the restoration of democratic government in South Africa." The Common Front move was launched by Strauss; John Christie, leader of the Labor party; and Group Capt. A. G. Malan, National president of the Torch Commandos, a group formed with the avowed intent of unseating the Nationalist government.

Incidents Planned

Strauss implied that Premier Malan's Nationalist following hoped to create incidents that would lead to a crackdown.

The declaration was made as parliament adjourned in the midst of debate over the critical court-curbing bill.

"We declare," the joint statement said, "we will resist any attempted rape of the South Africa Act (passed by the British parliament in 1909 to form the South African Union), no matter how it is disguised.

"We shall see to it that such rights as they are extended to the less fortunate shall be defended and that the word of the white man as given by our greatest patriots and statesmen shall be honored."

Earlier, Louis Kane Burman, Torch Commando chairman, had disclosed in an interview that the opposition was closing ranks in a move to "save the constitution and defend the rule of law.

Pinned 24 Hours In Wringer

BAD AXE, Mich., April 17 (AP) An 82-year-old widow was in serious condition today, her arms mangled after being pinned 24 hours in a washing machine wringer.

Mrs. Bella Dundas was found by neighbors Wednesday standing in a foot of water in her basement, her arms caught tight in the washing machine rollers.

She said she had slipped while doing her washing. The washing machine continued to operate, water overflowing to the floor, during the 24 hours she was trapped.

Mrs. Dundas, who lives alone, said she had been conscious during the ordeal and had prayed constantly for rescue.

Give $150,000 To Study News

NEW YORK, April 17 (AP) — The Ford Foundation has granted $150,000 to the International Press Institute to study the flow of news into and out of the United States.

Lester Markel, chairman of the Institute's executive board and Sunday editor of the New York Times, announced the grant.

The Institute, he said, will carry on the survey jointly with the American Society of Newspaper Editors.

The Institute's secretariat at Zurich, Switzerland, will be the central point for the study of news about the United States published abroad.

News coming into this country will be studied through the files of news agencies, dispatches from special correspondents and direct inquiries among editors here and abroad.

Amendment Passed To Press Law

KARACHI, Pakistan, April 17 (AP)—Parliament today passed an amendment to the Press Law which Interior Minister Mustaq Ahmad Gurmani said guarantees that newspapers will not be owned by "foreigners who might influence public opinion."

The amendment requires that the sole owner of a newspaper must be a Pakistani, and that at least 75 per cent of the capital of a publishing concern must be held by Pakistan citizens.

12 Left Homeless

KINGSTON, April 17 — (CP)— Fire gutted a Kingston township clapboard dwelling Wednesday night, causing $5,000 damage and making homeless Mr. and Mrs. Normal Morie and their 10 children, ranging in age from two months to 15 years. Firemen were hampered first by being blocked at level crossings by passing trains and then when the water supply in a well near the house went dry.

Report Flood

Late Wednesday all but the handful of flood-fighters were evacuated, making a total of 800 persons removed from the town.

Previously, over 700 were evacuated. Some 300 are billeted in Shaunavon, the rest staying at summer farm homes around Eastend.

The cattle town, in a dustbowl in the "hungry thirties," is cut off from the outside world except by boat.

Travel By Boat

Sheriff Ferguson said two power boats, rubber boats and other supplies were taken to the small group in the town Wednesday afternoon.

"You drive down the road right up to the water, then transfer to boats," he said.

The Frenchman River was reported 20 feet over normal spring run-off levels. It drains most of southwest Saskatchewan from the Cypress Hills watershed to the Milk River near the Montana border.

The quick thaw melted snows faster than usual. Cypress Lake, a reservoir for one of the P.F.R.A. irrigation projects, overflowed and the surplus water swept down the creek.

No April-Made Cheese To Be Sold For Time

BELLEVILLE, April 17 (CP)—Ontario cheese exchanges meetings have been postponed and no Ontario April made cheese may be sold until present marketing conditions are clarified, O. N. Heath, secretary of the Ontario Cheese Producers' Association, said today.

Secretaries of the six Ontario cheese exchanges have been notified to hold no meetings until advised by the Marketing Board.

"The uncertainty created as a result of no government floor price being announced has made it necessary for the Marketing Board to delay sales of April made cheese," said Mr. Heath.

Must Pay Union

LONDON, April 17 (AP) — American actors playing on the British stage must pay a $100 "entrance fee" and five per cent of their pay to Britain's Actors' Equity, the stage union decided Wednesday. Equity secretary Gordon Sandison said "we intend to impose the same charges as they apply to us."

Want Security With Peace, Woodward Says

WINDSOR, April 17—(CP)—United States Ambassador Stanley Woodward said today that peace with security—not a phony peace—is the national policy of his country.

And the aim of the policy is to promote "conditions throughout the world which will make peace possible," to "set up an environment in which peace can flourish."

In a speech prepared for delivery to the Windsor Chamber of Commerce, the American Ambassador said there are two main threats to peace. One is the unsatisfied needs of men throughout the world. The other is Soviet Russia.

"We must understand that we cannot stand idly by and permit the free nations to go under, one by one, before the force of the Soviets' arms or subversion. We cannot permit ourselves to be lulled into complacency. The Communist threat is a direct threat to our way of life."

Mr. Woodward said "We feel that there is a terrible urgency to strengthen our arms so that we have the means to resist any possible aggression.

"Yet, while we rearm, we remain determined not to neglect our well-being or our program of preserving peace through economic aid to others. We know full well that our own security is intimately related to the economic strength of our friends . . ."

Change Your Garb Teachers Advised

TORONTO, April 17—Teachers were told Tuesday to put variety into their dress as well as in their teaching methods and speech, by G. L. Woodruff, principal of Hamilton Normal School and formerly of the Peterborough Normal.

"Get away from wearing the same dress every day or even the tie," he said.

Speaking to teachers of the Federal Government (Indian) schools of the O.E.A. convention, Mr. Woodruff also told teachers to get outside the four wall of the classroom "and make social contacts."

"It was reported yesterday in the press that 30 per cent of the teachers go nuts. Who wouldn't go nuts being in a classroom with four walls and kids all day?" asked Mr. Woodruff.

Flying Saucers

The only other reported sighting this year, the air force said, was on January 1 at North Bay, where two airmen told of seeing a saucer which they described as apparently moving at supersonic speed.

The air force declined to disclose its intelligence report on that incident.

"It's no good just laughing at these reports," said Dr. Millman. "We can't discover any conventional explanation that would cover [illegible] or o[illegible] objects.

"While caution is advisable, we must keep an open mind about them."

Dr. Mackenzie, until recently president of the National Research Council, said that at the first fantastic reports of saucers, "the temptation was to say it was all nonsense, a series of optical illusions."

"But," he added, "there have been so many reports from responsible observers, such as airplane pilots, that they cannot be ignored. It seems hardly possible that all these reports could be due to optical illusion."

Fred Waring Arrested

TRENTON, N. J., April 17 (AP) —Band leader Fred Waring was arrested on a reckless driving charge here Wednesday night. Police said the 52-year-old television performer exceeded the city speed limit and almost forced a police car from the street. Waring posted a $50 bond for his appearance in court April 22.

NEW CHARGES D'AFFAIRES —Thomas L. Carter, 56, of Toronto, has been appointed Charges D'Affaires at the Canadian Legation in Warsaw, Poland. He suceeds D'Arcy McGreer, 54, of Montreal, who was recently posted to Copenhagen as Minister to Denmark. Mr. Carter, who joined the External Affairs Department in 1945, has served in the embassies at Brussels and Rome and, since 1950, has been at departmental headquarters in Ottawa.

Prices Slip Steadily On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, April 17 — (CP) — Prices slipped steadily today in early afternoon stock market dealings after a sharp morning decline.

Industrials, golds, base metals and western oils showed little opening trend as Wednesday's slow recovery faltered. Within the first hour, however, support weakened in key sections and the market turned downward.

Steels, foods, refining oils and banks led industrials lower with losses ranging to more than a point. Papers, agricultures, constructions and miscellaneous issues weakened steadily.

Western oil losses outnumbered gains more than three to one. Anglo-Canadian, Calvan Consolidated, Dome Explorations, Jupiter, Model Oil and Pacific Petroleum dipped sharply.

Base metal leaders traded lower as Consolidated Smelters, East Sullivan, Golden Manitou, Hudson Bay, International Nickel, Quemont and Sheritt-Gordon slipped.

Senior golds made little headway. Junior producers and prospects posted a broad list of penny losses. Holding companies were mixed.

Make Private Visit

STOCKHOLM, April 17 (Reuters) — The Duke of Edinburgh will make a private visit to the Swedish royal family this summer, it was announced Wednesday night. The trip will be combined with his trip to Finland for the Helsinki Olympic Games.

Appoint Beaupre To Asst. Deputy Defence Post

OTTAWA, April 17 (CP)—T. Norbert Beaupre, the man who flew around the world as trade adviser to External Affairs Minister Pearson, today was appointed assistant deputy minister of defence production.

The popular young production department executive, formerly special assistant to the deputy minister, becomes the youngest official to hold such a post.

A 34-year-old wartime army officer from Montreal, he becomes one of the government's top-bracket armament advisers, with special responsibilities in the field of manpower, materials control and production of armament for North Atlantic countries.

Whenever the new deputy minister, Reginald Brophy, is away on trips, he will become Production Minister Howe's right-hand man, directing the intricate Canadian armament machine that is spread across the entire country.

Nothing New

Taking on big jobs is nothing new to the man called "Beaup" by his colleagues. Ever since his return from overseas military service, he's stepped from one to another, each time doing such a smooth and efficient job that he soon earned the respect and admiration of cabinet ministers.

The new assistant deputy minister served with the Royal Canadian Army Service Corps in England, Italy and Northwest Europe during the last war.

With his foot still itching to travel, he decided on a trade commissioner's job as a civilian career. He was posted to Washington in 1947, but soon was called home on special duty and in December, 1948, was named executive assistant to the deputy minister.

Trade skies were bleary for Canada in those days and "Beaup" had his problems, particularly in the sale of Canada's agricultural commodities.

His work caught the eye of Mr. Pearson. When the external affairs minister went to Colombo, Ceylon, to attend the Commonwealth conference to launch the six-year program of aid for south and southeast Aisa, he took the husky, six-footer along. They, along with other officials, continued a round-the-world trip in an R.C.A.F. aircraft.

U.S. Dollar Unchanged

MONTREAL, April 17 — (CP) The American dollar today opened at a discount of 1 27/32 per cent in terms of Canadian funds, unchanged from Wednesday's close. That is, it took $0.98 5/32 Canadian to buy $1 American.

The pound sterling was $2.75⅝ down 1/16 from Wednesday.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, April 17 — (CP) — Fairly aggressive buying attributed to export accounts contributed to a firm trend in barley prices in early trade today on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange.

However, other commodities were slightly lower due to light trade and limited commercial demand.

There were reports of substantial export sales of Canadian barley overnight.

Trading turned dull after the opening flurry.

11 a.m. prices:

Oats: May unchanged 90⅞B; Oct. ⅜ lower 81½B; Oct. not open.

Mother Blames Herself For Death Of Five

TORONTO, April 17 — (CP).— Mrs. Nina Aksiuk, whose husband and four children were asphyxiated early Monday in what police termed a murder-suicide case, has been moved to the Toronto psychiatric hospital with what doctors reported "severe mental shock."

The doctors said the 34-year-old woman feels she is responsible for the five deaths, caused when her husband, Serge Aksiuk, sealed all openings in the family's room in a boarding house and opened a gas vent.

Relatives are trying to arrange a mass funeral today for the five members of the family, which came to Toronto from Yugoslavia last January.

Police blamed the deaths on the husband's despondency which they said was apparently brought on by inability to get work and by family troubles.

Drop 95 Wreaths

PORTSMOUTH, England, April 17 (Reuters).—The submarine Alliance left port at dawn today to drop 95 wreaths on the English Channel spot where her sister ship, the Affray, sank with 75 men aboard one year ago today. The wreaths were from families of the crew and from the government.

Coe Hill Principal Moving To Ottawa

BANCROFT, April 17. (ENS)— Kenneth A. Foreacre, principal of Coe Hill public school for the past four years, has accepted a position on the Ottawa public schools staff, to be a classroom teacher.

Mr. Foreacre is well known in North Hastings as a past president of North Hastings Minor Hockey Association, North Hastings Teachers' Institute, and coach of the Coe Hill midget, bantam and peewee hockey teams. In 1950 and 1951 his teams from Coe Hill public school won the Rollins Trophy for the elementary schools softball championship of North Hastings. For the past four years he has been a member of the Coe Hill senior hockey and softball teams.

A native of Moose Jaw, Sask., he was a paratrooper in the Canadian army during World War II. Returning to school after military service he graduated from Toronto Normal School in 1948. Mr. and Mrs. Foreacre will move to Ottawa at the first of September.

Railways Told To Cut Freight Rate

May 1 Deadline Set By Board, May Be Challenged

OTTAWA, April 17. (CP)— Subsidized freight-rate reductions for western Canada have been ordered for May 1, but there is some possibility the form of the $7,000,000-a-year cuts will be challenged in the courts.

The controversial reductions have split the western governments into two camps. Informants here said Alberta may go to the Supreme Court of Canada in an attempt to get a bigger slice of decreases announced Wednesday night by the Board of Transport Commissioners.

The board in ordering cuts — amounting roughly to five per cent on some $150,000,000 a year on traffic moving between Eastern and Western Canada—worked out a compromise between opposing views of Manitoba on one hand and those of the three far-western provinces.

Manitoba had asked that the reductions be applied on a cents-per-pound basis, which would give that province the biggest share in the benefit of the federal subsidy. The other province wanted straight percentage decreases, to give progressively greater shares to provinces further west.

As worked out by the board, the system would leave Alberta—chief objector to the cents-per-pound scheme—getting perhaps $175,000 a year less than it would under the percentage basis.

Planned To Appeal

Spokesmen for both the Alberta government and the city and Chamber of Commerce of Edmonton, it was understood, told the board at closed hearings last month that deviation from the percentage theory likely would be appealed to the Supreme Court as not carrying out the intentions of the 1951 parliamentary statute authorizing the subsidy.

It was their contention that parliament meant there should be relatively greater reductions for those provinces most distant from eastern supply sources. Informants here said that view has not changed since the board made known its intention of prescribing a compromise between the conflicting viewpoints.

The board's ultimate plan, in a formal order issued Wednesday, was for the reductions to be partially by percentage and partially by cents per pound. They are to be on the basis of 2.53 per cent of existing rates plus 5.8 cents per 100 pounds.

Chief effect of the reductions will be to lower rates on goods going from Eastern Canada to Western consumers over the Northern Ontario rail "bridge" between the two regions. A major aim is to help reduce disparities in freight-rate levels as between east and west, in line with the federal government's rate-equalization policy.

Respirators Pose Problem For Cobourg Dept.

COBOURG, April 17 (ENS) —The question of respirators for the fire department still remains an unanswered question. At least there are too many answers for one to arrive at a definite conclusion.

Last week when a paint shop caught on fire at night, firemen were unable to get to the source of the fire because of the smoke. As a result all the fire department could do was pour water down the basement stairs and through a basement window until the level the water drowned out the fire. Had the firemen used masks they could have worked close to the origin of the fire and extinguished it in an hour at least instead of the several hours that were required.

Firemen said they had no respirators that were any good in the type of fumes which they had to contend with. Members of the town council said that the fire department has respirators and will not use them. The fire, water and light committee asked for new type respirators when the estimates were struck this year but these items were struck off when the council was cutting the estimates.

The fire department also wanted 2,000 feet of new hose but were turned down. After the fire at the paint shop there wasn't time to dry out the hose at the dryer in the fire hall, because there was not enough hose on hand to load on the fire truck while the wet hose was drying.

This year the fire dept. received delivery on a new $26,000 fire pumper.

Grass Fire Controlled Before Damage Done

CAMPBELLFORD, April 17 — (ENS)—Firemen were called to the property surrounding the Trent Dehydrates Plant about 5 p.m. Wednesday when a grass fire got out of hand and threatened nearby buildings.

The fire had spread over a wide area, and firemen stoood by, allowing the fire to burn the open grass, but prevented it from doing any damage. They used hand extinguishers to quell the flames.

Have Party Purge

VIENNA, Austria, April 17 — (AP)— Albanian Premier Enver Hoxha has disclosed that almost 6,000 members of the Albanian Communist party have been purged recently as unreliable. Hoxha said that those purged "for hostile activity, for concealing their shady pasts, or for shirking party work" amounted to eight per cent of the total party membership.

Firemen Busy

COBOURG, April 17 (ENS). — Grass fires have kept the fire brigade busy during the past two weeks. Firemen were called out Wednesday to extinguish a grass fire at the north end of Henry Street, and later a pile of railroad ties near Buchanan Street caught fire from a grass blaze.

Fairy Story Operetta Pleases Large Audience

St. Andrew's United Church Sunday School choirs presented the three-act operetta, The Fairy Cobbler, in the church hall Wednesday night.

This delightful musical adaptation of the well-known children's fairy tale with its tuneful melodies was performed exceptionally well by the cast of approximately 50 children. The majority of the group seemed to be enjoying themselves immensely and they had no difficulty in drawing their audience into the fun and enjoyment of the performance.

The story revolves around the party for the Princess Delmarie, played by Barbara Northrop, which takes place in the third act. All sorts of complications arise for the Queen Monarchia (the royal tyrant) played by Sheila Nicholls who rules all her subjects as well as her husband, King Martin, The Meek, with a heavy hand.

Complications

The painters strike, so the party has to be held in the royal garden instead of the palace. Percival, the court page, played by King Baker, tears one of the matched set of 100 royal napkins and it is this event which results in threatened tragedy for the royal household. It is decided that one of the fairies of the enchanted wood adjoining the palace garden will not be able to be invited. This fairy is Venefuletta, the bad fairy (Margaret Young), and she with her brother, the Fairy Cobbler, shoemaker to royalty and the court (Bruce Mason) and the Witch (Mary Jane Vilneff) plot vengeance against their royal enemies.

However Machiavello the Cat, and the brains of Fairyland (Rae Frost) becomes the hero of the play, frustrates the wicked scheme, and as in most fairy tales, all ends happily.

It is difficult to choose outstanding members from such a cast

Amendment Would Change Cobourg's East Section

COBOURG, April 17—First and second reading were given Tuesday to a bylaw which would amend the present residential bylaw affecting the swank east end of the town of Cobourg. At one time King St., particularly the eaternmost end, was the American summer colony where U.S. residents lived during the summer in homes of castle-like proportions.

In more recent years these homes have stood vacant and eventually the three largest were purchased by the provincial government as training schools for boys and girls. Apartment houses have been built in this end of the town and the trend has been away from the strictly residential tone of that section of the town.

Last year a religious denomination applied for permission to build a church in the east end and a few weeks ago council was advised that an advertising firm wished to acquire the vacant Hatfield Hall building on King Street east. This was followed by several petitions from east end residents against permitting the school building to be used by the advertising firm on the grounds that it would be the thin edge of the wedge to open up the whole east end for business purposes.

At the council meeting last night, Mayor Jack Burnet and Councillor Alan Field, both commented that some of the petitioners against the amending bylaw had changed their minds since the petition had been presented. The mayor said that there was no reason to fear that property values would drop in the east end if the residential restriction was lifted. Experience had shown that the effect had been to raise property values, the mayor said.

The original bylaw was passed in 1927 and the amending bylaw points out that since apartment houses have been built and private homes turned into apartments, and also since the Fellowship Baptist Church desires to build in the east end and the trustees of Hatfield Hall girls' school wish to sell the vacant building to an advertising firm, and whereas the province of Ontario now owns several buildings in the east end for institutional purposes, the council deems it in the public interest to amend the bylaw in order to protect more effectively the residential character of King St. east from further encroachments by gasoline service stations, stores and other businesses pending the adoption of an effective zoning bylaw.

The amending by-law stipulates that the Baptist Church may use certain land in the east end for the site of a church, Hatfield Hall can be used by the advertising firm and that the government buildings are exempt from the residential area restrictions.

The bylaw goes to the Municipal Board which can in turn direct that a public hearing be held.

The Bar Association Seeks To Choose Judges

In the current issue of the Canadian Bar Review appears an article by J. A. Clark of Vancouver, the president of the Canadian Bar Association which is of interest far beyond the bounds of the legal profession. In it Mr. Clark asserts that politics plays too great a part in the appointment of judges in Canada, and suggests that the Bar Association use its influence to have appointments made upon merit without regard to political service. And how is merit to be measured? By a committee consisting of the Chief Justice of the province in which the appointment lies, the Chief Justice of the Trial Division, and representatives of the Benchers of the Law Society in the province where the appointment is to be made. In other words, the lawyers are to choose the judges, rather than the Government.

* * *

We are opposed to any move which takes power from the elected representatives of the people and puts it in the hands of a professional association. The law is not the property of the legal profession; it is the concern of every citizen. Politics undoubtedly plays its part in the appointment of judges at present. There are a few judges—a very few—on the lower branches of the judicial tree whose appointments reflect no credit upon those who put them there. But we should like some evidence that in the higher provincial and federal courts there are men whose merit, as well as political service, does not command the full respect of the Bar Association? We do not like the tone of some of the things that Mr. Clark says in his article, as thus: "Is it not unthinkable that members of parliament who are not lawyers should consider it their perquisite to select and recommend the men who are to occupy these highest of high offices?" Is this to suggest that judges exist for lawyers rather than for the citizens who come before them in need of justice? And does Mr. Clark seriously think that professional ambition and professional jealousy would not make the method of choosing judges which he proposes as open to abuse as the political method now in use? And when he says that "the respect with which a man is held by bench and bar for his integrity, his legal attainments and judicial qualities should be the measure of his qualifications for a judicial appointment" does he not forget the great mass of citizens who maintain the courts because they need courts? It cannot be repeated too often that the law exists for the people and not merely for the lawyers.

* * *

We feel that Mr. Clark's references to "politicians" are not happy. They suggest that he is not as fond of parliamentary democracy as he might be, though in this he follows a trend observable in many phases of Canadian life today. He is persuasive, however, and appears to have won Saturday Night to his way of thinking, for in its current issue that paper says: "Ministers of Justice have long been unhappy about a situation which effectively narrows the choice of new judges to members of the party in power". We should like to hear more about this. What Ministers of Justice, specifically, have felt this unhappiness, to whom have they made it known, and have they ever used their powerful position in the Cabinet to alter the situation? There are several lawyers of acknowledged merit in the Cabinet at present; what do they think of Mr. Clark's suggestion? Is the dissatisfaction to which he so eloquently gives voice felt anywhere except in a section of the Bar Association?

* * *

A large number of judges now on the various benches in Canada are Liberal appointees. This must undobtedly be vexatious to ambitious Conservative lawyers, many of whom are undoubtedly qualified to adorn the judiciary. Is it this fact, by any chance, which is reflected in Mr. Clark's statement of his case? And does he suppose that if the members of the bar had a powerful voice in the appointment of judges, party politics would no longer carry weight in such appointments? If he thinks so, we respect his belief, but we do not share it. We think, on the contrary, that not only party politics, but a great deal of professional politics, would complicate the appointment of judges.

* * *

We do not say that the appointment of judges on political grounds is entirely satisfactory, though we think that the proportion of unworthy appointments has been commendably small. We do say, however, that the present method of appointing judges has a connection with parliamentary democracy, in which we strongly believe and which we do not wish to see weakened in any way. With all its imperfections, it is still the best way we have devised of governing our country. To allow a professional association, however high its principles and however worthy its aim, to usurp a prerogative of Parliament would be a backward step.

Too Soon To Add Fluorine

The question of adding flourine to Peterborough's pumped water supply has again been taken out for an airing. An inconclusive survey of teeth conditions had been made by the school dentist and its results have been reported to the local Dental Society.

It seems that the city's pre-school children have teeth in as good and bad condition as in comparable Ontario cities. Dr. Graham cautiously says in his report: "Any preventative measures that may be adopted to reduce the incidence of tooth decay would be a decided benefit to the health and welfare of the community". Of course, but this by no means endorses fluorination of the city's water. The Utilities Commission which apparently asked the Dental Society's opinion on it is no better informed than it was before.

The proper place to go for information and recommendations on matters of public health is the Board of Health, which of course has dental advice available to it, locally and provincially. The Medical Officer of Health has the matter of fluorination under continual scrutiny. The issue is not whether children's teeth decay—they do—but whether fluorination of the city's water will lessen the incidence of decay. If it will, then it would be proper to find out if the incidence locally (among adults and children both) warrants fluorination of the water.

It is not yet known whether fluorine is a positive municipal benefit. A ten-year experiment was begun in Brantford about seven years ago to determine this. A half-time analysis of results was published a year ago; this was inconclusive. Before Peterborough takes up this costly operation, it had better wait for a complete report from Brantford. There is no use in installing special equipment in the water works, treating the water in a somewhat costly process and then pouring millions of gallons of fluorinated water monthly into factories, baths, basins, garden hoses and sewers as well as drinking-water taps so that a few pints will trickle through a child's teeth in the hope that their decay will be retarded.

Revolution In Bolivia

A coup d'etat, and a somewhat bloody one, has been effected in La Paz, capital of Bolivia. The military junta which seized the government following the elections last May has been ousted by the revolutionaries, and the head of their party (the National Revolutionary Party) Victor Paz Estenssoro, is being proclaimed President following his return to Bolivia after six years in exile in Buenos Aires.

Revolutions in European countries excite more interest than revolutions in Latin America. Revolution is a characteristic of government in South American and Central American countries. One might almost say it is the way elections are conducted, for it is almost without exception the way new governments get office. Democracy is ill at ease in South America. One reason is the temperament of the peoples, another is the economic conditions — small minorities holding the wealth and control, the vast majorities living in unenlightened poverty. There are, too, intense racial problems in South America to disturb channels of government and give politicians demagogic weapons. The rabble can be easily aroused. An indication of the racial and economic problems in South America is given in today's Third Column, an account from Lima, the capital of Peru, written for this newspaper by a British observer now studying South American conditions.

NOTES AND COMMENT

A biologist says "You are closely related to every other human being on earth". So that's the reason for war!

"Walk ten miles a day and avoid stomach trouble" writes a physician. Then sit down for a few hours and grapple with your arch trouble.

An association of bakers says that cream puffs are not what they used to be. Neither is bread. And the bakers are the boys who can remedy the situation, if they choose.

A veterinarian writes: "It may surprise you to know that dogs can suffer a mental breakdown from associating with people". When we look at some of the people whith whom dogs associate, we are not a bit surprised.

Startling news! A new car design will bring back the spare wheel mounted on the back! Soon some brilliant designer will discover that a car doesn't really have to be shaped like a jelly bean, and we shall have cars again in which a man may sit without sucking his head down into his chest, to avoid scraping the roof.

Terrible Invasion Of Lima

By J. HALCRO FERGUSON

PERU, the historic land of the Incas and the Spanish conquistadores, has on its hands one of the most serious racial problems in the Western Hemisphere, much of which is —as often—an economic problem, while the rest is psychological or results from lack of mutual knowledge and comprehension.

I had an example of the results of the latter kind of race-prejudice at lunch one day with a local Peruvian Negro poet and journalist, who said to me, "It is not that people in Peru actively oppress citizens of other races, but that it never occurs to them to take other racial groups into consideration at all."

As far as this former vice regal capital of Lima, with its million inhabitants, is concerned, I would be disposed to disagree with him. There exists a small aristocratic class of pure Spanish descent (of which the President of the Republic, for one, is not a member), but among the middle and lower classes there is a mixture of Spanish, native Indian, Negro, Chinese and other blood, most of whom intermarry freely and who address one another often by slang words like cholo (Spanish-Indian), zambo (coloured) and negro without causing offence unless it obviously is intended.

✧ ✧ ✧

PERU, however, is two nations. Lima and the other coast towns, with their mixed blood and their contacts, cultural and physical, with the outside world, are one nation. The other is composed—one must necessarily generalise—by the Sierras, or Highlands, whose people are Indians, descendants of the people who once reached a high degree of civilisation under the Inca Empire and who still in great part speak the Quechua language of that Empire, but who today are mostly remarkably poor, scratching a miserable subsistence from their own inadequate soil or working for a bare living wage on large private estates. They profess the Christian religion, but in many ways have been left almost untouched by the advent of the Europeans over four hundred years ago. Most of them affect a style of clothing based on that which was in vogue at the time of the Conquest, few of them can read or write, and most of them are unaware of anything which is happening outside their own vicinity. They tend to be apathetic, resentful of outsiders, and to find their only escape from the hopelessness of daily life in the masticación of the coca leaf and in periodic bouts of drinking on the Saints' days which were once the pagan festivals of their ancestors.

Successive Peruvian Governments have attempted, with little success, to cope with the "problem of the Indian", but these attempts have generally ended with reams of advice from Parliamentary Commissions which have provoked a brief outcry in Parliament and Press and then have been pigeonholed and forgotten. The present administration is having to face another facet of this problem. For the first time, in large numbers, the Indian is coming to town.

✧ ✧ ✧

ENTIRE INDIAN families, impelled by the poverty of their highland holdings, pack up and take train or truck—or even walk—to Lima, to them the capital of the world, where they have heard it is possible to live like human beings. Usually they arrive with little or no money, and knowing nobody except some compadre (a word denoting some friendly person from outside) of whose very address they have probably only the haziest notion.

These pathetic people, in their strange, outmoded clothes, carrying with them all their possessions in baskets or wrapped in shawls, pour out of Desamparados Station in Lima, where they hope to bring up their sons to be doctores (clerks or professional men), and find themselves in a bewildering world of hooting taxis, clanking tramcars, tall buildings, electric signs with words they cannot read, and more people than they have ever seen in their lives—black people, brown people, white people, yellow people, hurrying along the pavements, whirling by on crowded buses, and taking no notice of the new arrivals at all.

And soon these new arrivals from the Highlands will find out other things about the city which nobody had told them. They will find that, even for the people who already live there, Lima has not enough houses, not enough food, not enough milk, not enough medical facilities, not enough jobs, not enough transportation, not enough schools, not enough anything. They will also find that the Limenos, preoccupied with their own problems, have not much time to bother about those of people who are to all intents and purposes foreign to them.

THE newspaper La Prensa, in an editorial on the problem, asks: "Where do these people go? To fill the crime pages of the daily Press? To fill districts like Santoyo and San Cosme, where the inhabitants live in the primitive and promiscuous condition of animals?" To set up new little street barrows and do business on a ten cent level? To aggravate even more the shortage of food? To crowd the tubercular wards of the hospitals? To form new gangs of juvenile delinquents? To beg in the streets: To increase the population of the prisons?"

The paper's questions are rhetorical, but the answers in too many cases are in the affirmative. The editorial ends: "And so from day to day there continues to pour into our capital a terrible, slow invasion, this mass of beings without horizons, without future, without a tomorrow, attracted by the lights of a city, which has become a dream in their hearts, full of motor-cars, electric lights, and radio stations, but which is almost always converted for them into a reality of subhuman existence, of the cough which brings up blood and of the iron bars of the prison".

✧ ✧ ✧

THE authorities plan to modernise the agricultural development of the country, and would like these people to be patient until their lands can bring a new prosperity, but plans are slow of realisation, and the very migration of the people from agricultural areas make them harder to carry out. But the Indians, after hundreds of years of uncomplaining poverty, have at last become impatient. As free citizens of the Republic, they have every right to come to the capital if they feel like it, and there is nothing anybody can possibly do to stop them.

There was a pile of stones in the road and a lamp on the top of it. An old fellow was in charge.

"What's the lamp for?" he was asked.

"So that motorists can see the pile of stones."

"But what's the pile of stones for?"

"To put the lamp on, of course."

Letters To The Editor

A LANDLORD AGREES

Sir: I agree with every word written in the tenant's letter of recent date.

The renting business is in a terrible mess —thanks to federal government regulation —keeping some rents too low and compelling landlords by law, to keep some of the very worst types of people in their homes—(a vote getting scheme), I guess.

The provincial government seems to be trying to regulate more justly to both sides —there is still much room for improvement.

All accommodation should be either under controls or none at all. The present set-up is cowardly, keeping some rents too low and letting others rise to cruel high levels.

Many landlords have an unjust discrimination against people with children. Sometimes people with children may take better care of a house than people without any. If the government would only take off the cursed eviction control laws landlords might be more liberal in their views—at least take a chance on taking in people with children—and overlook trivial inconveniences they may cause.

Yours truly,
LANDLORD

LIFE NEAR THE COLLEGIATE

Sir: I am happy to see Board of Education going ahead with the renting of the Queen Mary Auditorium to the Summer Theatre Group.

It seems to me that the only way we get to know that some people ever exist is to read of them objecting to something that is of great value to our community, in the opinion of a great number of our people.

It is too bad they do not live in the neighbourhood of the Collegiate. They would then have to put up with the "nuisance" the year around, maybe they, their sons and daughters have helped to contribute to this "nuisance."

Is it possible that these same people have parked in front of driveways while attending some function in the Collegiate Auditorium at night, say a safety meeting, concerts, plays by outside and local groups, basketball games or maybe a protest meeting against high taxes or something?

I believe that the majority of people realize that we have to give and take to get along in this old world and others than teenagers need education and recreation. A summer or winter theatre group can greatly help to bring it to our people.

I have attended many of the Summer Theatre plays and could not help but notice the quiet and orderly way in which the people left the scene, in contrast to the sometimes not so quiet exit from our neighbourhood, Collegiate Auditorium.

If some of the objectors have youngsters let them think of "nuisance" values in the light of these things for I do not believe we have many hermits that do not attend some recreation or educational activities.

Remember we all can help to eliminate interference with our neighbours; a little thought and consideration to others will go a long way toward a better understanding to all concerned.

J. H. HIGGINS.

HIGH MARK-UP ON BRITISH BOOKS.

Sir: Your editorial: "Profit on British Books" certainly interested one who has waged a "one man war" against this evil for years. The writer bought "The Spy" by Bernard Newman for $2.25, the price on the cover was two shillings and sixpence, at that time about 60c a mere 375 per cent increase. Vigorous protest and a visit to the U. S. distributors in Toronto got the price reduced by $1.

Just now books like Eastern Approaches, Popski's Private Army, etc., sell for $3.50, the English price of fifteen shillings, about $1.65 is printed on the corner of the cover, so that it can be readily snipped off, a practice which the city agent in my case was not slow to follow, so as to hide the 210 per cent increase.

Compare this with "A Soldier's Story" by Gen. O. Bradley which sells for $5 in the U. S. and for $6.50 in Canada, a difference of about 35 per cent. What puzzles me is why distributors are content with an increase of 35 per cent on U. S. books but extort about six times as much on English books. It may or may not cost a trifle more to ship from England rather than to rail from New York but the 600 per cent increase still roughly holds.

This is not a matter of mere money, the dissemination of English books is a strong promoter of better understanding between the peoples, but this is opposed by the action of these agents in demanding a profit about 600 per cent more than in the case of books from the U. S.

Yours truly,
C. W. HOLMAN.

OPPOSING TRENDS

Sir: I was much surprised on reading your report on a speech by Mr. Robert Carley, Lawyer, to the Peterborough Kinsmen in Saturday's Examiner, April 12th.

In his opening remarks he refers to a final show-down between "two opposing trends" e.g. Management and Labour. Here he cracks the 'nut' wide open but leaves the kernel dangling in the minds of his audience.

What are the two opposing trends?

His prediction of a stalemate may be quite correct, the reason being that neither Management nor Labour are in the driver's seat; Mr. Abbott is seeing to that by the use of the multiple Tax Whip.

"Consumer Paying". This is a very ambiguous statement. Who are the consumers? Almost three fifths of the consumers are wage earners and their families, by far the great majority of our people are employed persons.

The speech as reported is full of ambiguities and deceptive phraseology which no doubt means to some end, which the speaker may have in view; a Federal Election will be coming along soon and with these kind of speeches, Labour should not be surprised.

It is a fallacy in reasoning to say:—"the demands of Labour for higher wages is the cause of rising prices" and well do the advocates of these slogans know it.

In all literature written on the Principles of Economics and Political Economy this may be found;—"The optimism and activity which business men in general show in times of rising prices is found in the relation which they as a class hold to the labourers as a class; and they hire labour to advantage at such times, because the prices of commodities go up faster than money wages.

That wages go up more slowly than prices is one of the best attested facts in economic history and holds good of almost all sorts of hired persons—not only manual labourers, but clerks, overseers, teachers, salaried officials.

Of the fact there can be no question; when prices rise, the wages of hired workers do not rise as fast." TAUSSIG, Chp, 22

How Time Flies

APRIL 17

1922 Leonard Grime, Bert Giroux and Oren Robertson are top pupils at the Easter exams of the Collegiate upper school.

Miss Katherine E. Wallis, Peterborough sculptress, presents a marble group "Fleur et Racine" to the Children's Memorial Hospital at Montreal.

Albert Smoke, Peterborough Indian, is favoured to win the Boston marathon race.

1932 Allan Gallagher, 32, is fatally injured by an accidental shotgun charge when climbing a fence in Dummer township.

Citizens of Omemee decide against proceeding with plans to hold on Old Home Week celebration.

Dr. N. H. Sutton is elected president of the local curling club, and plans are launched to secure artificial ice.

1942 Sub-Lt. Wilson Breckon of Norwood was rescued from H.M.S. Dorchester, which was sunk last week by enemy action.

Local and district police are asked by Attorney General Conant to enforce the 40-mile-an-hour speed limit after May 1.

Coach Herb Galley's C.G.E. Generals win the senior girls' city basketball championship over the Quakers.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And there were certain Greeks among them that came up to worship at the feast: the same came therefore to Philip, which was of Bethsaida of Galilee, and desired him, saying, Sir, we would see Jesus. Philip cometh and telleth Andrew: and again Andrew and Philip tell Jesus.

And Jesus answered them, saying, The hour is come, that the Son of man should be glorified. Verily, verily, I say unto you, Except a corn of wheat fall into the ground and die, it abideth alone: but if it die, it bringeth forth much fruit . . . Now is the judgement of this world: now shall the prince of this world be cast out.

And I, if I be lifted up from the earth, will draw all men unto me. This he said, signifying what death he should die. (John 12: 20-24, 31-33.)

✧ ✧ ✧

And when they were come to the place, which is called Calvary, there they crucified him, and the malefactors, one on the right hand, and the other on the left.

Then said Jesus, Father, forgive them; for they know not what they do. And they parted his raiment, and cast lots. (Luke 23: 33, 34.)

A Coat of Arms

(Vancouver Sun)

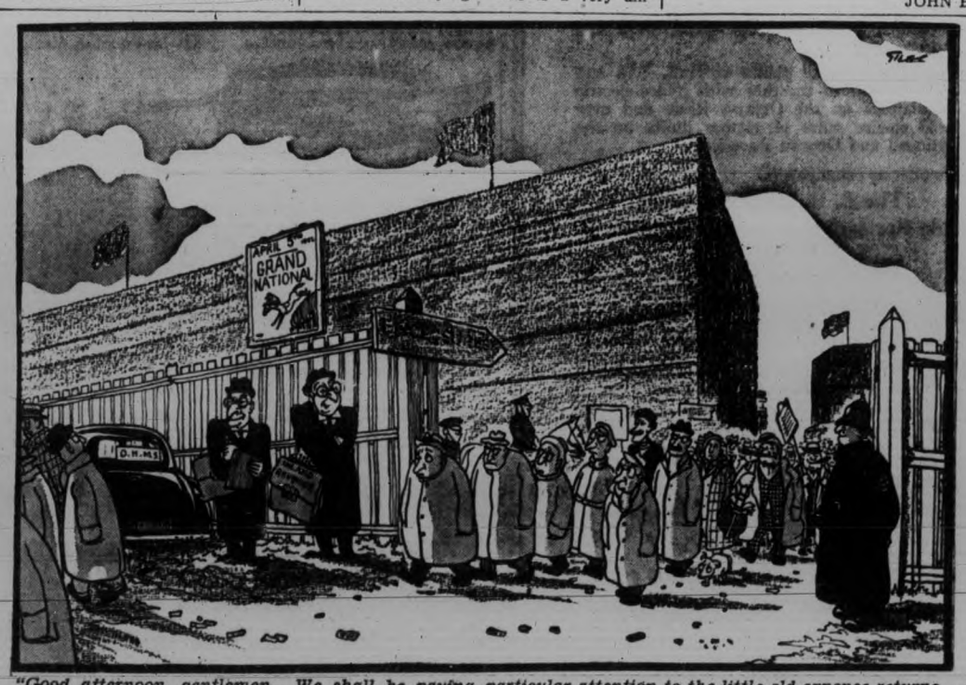
There will be some public agreement with Major J. S. Matthew's contention that Vancouver's coat-of-arms is an "heraldic hodgepodge" not worth registering with Britain's College of Arms.

As near as we can determine from a newspaper reproduction, this symbol of Vancouver is composed, in more or less heraldic language, of a slice of pie, proper, on a field of barber poles. Superimposed on the pie are two snakes, improper, on a railway spike.

The crest is a mediaeval casque surmounted by what looks like a baron's coronet surmounted in turn by a mast and a mainsail.

The sinister supporter is a moustached gent with an axe and what appears to be a Johnson bar. Dexter is a voyageur with a paddle and a bag of steamed clams.

What it means only God and the designer know.



"Good afternoon, gentlemen. We shall be paying particular attention to the little old expense returns up to and INCLUDING the races."

WANT GUT DAM REMOVED — Mayor Allan Lamport of Toronto has asked Transport Minister Chevrier to remove Gut Dam (arrows, middle) in the St. Lawrence river to lower the water level of Lake Ontario. Gut Dam, a small stone weir between two Islands in the river near Prescott, Ont., would be removed eventually under plans for construction of the St. Lawrence Seaway. It would be replaced by a larger dam controlling the river and lake level, located further downstream. Its removal would involve concurrence by the United States, since it runs across the river's international boundary. This aerial view looks westerly up the river toward Ogdensburg, N.Y.

Bicycle Racer Hit

BRONTE, April 17 — (CP) — Stephen Hogben, 65, who gained fame as a six-day bicycle racer in the 1930's, is in hospital at Hamilton in critical condition.

Hogben was struck by a truck Wednesday as he cycled to work at Hamilton.

In 1934, he established a Toronto - Hamilton bicycle - trip record, completing the 42-mile run in two hours and 13 minutes.

Mrs. Stephen Hogben, Jr., said her father-in-law cycles daily to his job in Hamilton, 15 miles away. He covers 200 miles a week.

Refused To Fly U.S. Lieutenant Jailed 2 Years

EL PASO, Tex., April 17. (AP) —Lieut. Verne Goodwin, U.S. Air Force pilot who refused to fly because "he felt he would be murdering his unborn child," was sentenced Wednesday to two years in prison.

Parker Cullon of Las Cruces, N.M., his father-in-law, immediately charged in an interview: "The air force has made an example of my son-in-law because of the other sit-down pilots."

Disobedience charges are pending against a dozen other air force officers who refused to fly at Randolph base, San Antonio, Tex., and at Mather base in California.

Because his wife was in a difficult pregnancy, the 29-year-old officer from Peabody, Mass., refused the assignment Dec. 17 to fly to England and back at the controls of an air force cargo plane.

Besides the sentence, the court-martial dismissed Goodwin from the air force and ordered his entire pay forfeited for the two years he will be in military confinement.

Run Over By Truck

MACKEY STATION, April 17 (CP) — A ride "with daddy to get some water" proved fatal Wednesday to two-year-old Garry Jennings of this town 45 miles west of Pembroke. He fell from his father's truck crossing a field and was run over by the rear wheel.

Writer Dies In Paris

PARIS, April 17 (Reuters) — Dr. Julien Besancon died here Wednesday 50 years short of the 140 he said he would live by devotion to wine, women and tobacco.

A Breton, he gained fame by books on the art of living.

His book "Stay In Harness," published after his marriage at the age of 79, was banned by the Family Defence Associations of Northern France because, in it, Besancon advised elderly men to make love as frequently as possible as an aid to longevity.

Strauss Backs Labor Party

CAPETOWN, April 17 (Reuters)—Jacob Strauss announced Wednesday night that his United Party will ally itself with the Labor Party and the Torch Commando to fight Premier Daniel Malan's Nationalist Party and "uphold the constitution."

Even so, Malan's following will still dominate parliament, since it has 77 members in the House of Assembly against 64 seats held by the United Party and six by Labor. The Nationalists hold 25 seats in the Senate, the United Party 15 and the Labor Party three.

The Torch Commando, an anti-Malan organization of war veterans, is powerful but has no parliamentary status.

Strauss made the announcement at a joint rally of the parties here one month after Malan started his fight with the Supreme Court over a ruling on electoral laws.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

The plunk of horsehide against leather, the smack of ball against bat, and the squeak of rusty muscles will soon be heard about the countryside. Amateur ball in these parts begins next month, but several weeks of stiff practising precede play. First meeting of the Petes' senior baseball club is tonight at seven in the Y.M.C.A., everyone interested being invited. That means club officials, players, prospective diamondeers, etc. Reports will be made, plans discussed for the coming season, and possibly election of officers for 1952 held at this time. A good turnout will really start the ball rolling.

* * * * * *

Present indications are that the Petes will be back in the C.O.B.L. this summer. Unofficial word wafted this way has it that there'll be a seven-club setup including the Petes, Trenton Flyers, Batawa, Belleville, Picton, Napanee and Kingston. Pro ball is out at Kingston and they seek a return to a good amateur senior loop. Belleville, started a comeback last year and should field a strong squad, while the Petes and Oshawa — the latter in a Niagara setup now — were too strong last season for the Viaduct League in Toronto. Flyers are bound to be good, but we can't gauge the strength yet of Napanee, Picton or Batawa. Anyway, that's how the league is shaping up at the moment.

* * * * * *

Some Gaps To Plug Up

Petes require some rebuilding to field a strong club again. They've lost leading hitter George Brabin from left field — he's in minor pro ball in the States. Doug Plunkett moved to Barrie and that leaves a mound gap. Andy Milne hit north for hockey and is not expected back. No word yet on the plans of Dick Golden, U.S.A. shortstop. So, several good replacements are required for the club shortly if they expect to toss out a contending C.O.B.L. crew a month hence, and if they hope to draw hefty crowds to floodlight frays in Riverside this coming warm spell. All of this will be discussed at tonight's huddle in the "Y," and a definite start made on reorganizing the Petes' ball team.

* * * * * *

Entries close for the Industrial Fastball League at an April 30 meeting — less than two weeks away. Raybestos, Quakers, Woollens and Norwood have shown interest to date, and a couple of more clubs are expected to round out a compact circuit. Bill Gunn is president this year; Howard Doxsee, vice-prexy; Don Isaac, secretary, and Ken Crampton the treasurer. The calibre of play in this lively loop keeps improving and it should be quite fast this summer. In Quaker Park, they have a swell setup for games, both for players and for the fans.

A Few Lacrosse Notes

There's a proposal to move the junior age limit up to 21 years at the annual O.L.A. meeting in Toronto on Saturday. Among other proposed changes is one calling for a full game suspension for any player joining in lacrosse fights. Ken Kingston of this city has been nominated for the Ontario executive, where he has served for several years. Jaycees here, under chairmanship of Art Smoke, are handling the sale of season reserved seat ducats at Miller Bowl, commencing tomorrow. They'll have 600 centre seats to sell, various Chamber members and several stores handling 'em. Seat plan is at the C.N.R. ticket office. It won't be long now.

* * * * * *

Hockey is officially over in Peter's borough until next autumn. Word has been received here that the O.H.A. ordered Lyndhurst Motors to play future home games in Toronto, so the proposed tilt here Friday is off. Stouffville, who won 4-2 last evening, objected to travelling to Peterborough to play a Toronto team in senior "B" semi-finals, and they were upheld by the O.H.A. Mayhap the Clippers didn't like that 5-0 loss suffered at the hands of Lyndhursts here early this week. Anyway, they can close up Civic Arena now as far as hockey is concerned, and maybe we'll get out of the doghouse with the wife, eh?

Hither and Yawning

Wood's rolled high this week in the Major Bowling League as Braund's No. 1 led teams in the Mercantile Loop... Girls' annual softball meeting is tonight at 7.30 in the Y.M.C.A.... Three teams likely so far in the men's loop, Lakefield, U.E.W. and East City; another executive meeting next Monday evening... P.C.V.S. cagers are entered in a hoop tourney at Queen's the last half of this week... Pat Wilson's Stratford Indians beat Pembroke 7-5 last p.m. to lead the Eastern Canada Allan Cup series three games to one... Weston rubbed out Belleville Hawklets handily to go into junior "B" finals... Miller Bowl is dry and should be ready anytime for lacrosse drills; maybe some of the boys will be out this weekend... Several former juniors will be working out with the Timbermen... Oshawa and Belleville arenas are about ready to resume running pro mat shows again... Passing thought (after polishing the car): Birds have no manners.

Indians Down Pembroke In 7-5 Triumph

STRATFORD, April 17 (CP). — Stratford Indians drew nearer to the Allan Cup finals Wednesday night when they downed Pembroke Lumber Kings 7-5 here in the eastern series.

The victory gave the Indians a 3-1 lead in the best-of-seven series with the fifth game scheduled here Friday night. A win would move Stratford into the Dominion finals against either Edmonton Pats or Fort Frances Canadians.

The Lumber Kings—champions of the Eastern Canada Hockey League—gave Stratford a fight over the whole 60 minutes of play. Tied 2-2 at the end of the first period, Pembroke broke loose in the middle session and took a 4-2 lead before bowing out in the final. The Indians outscored them 5-1 in the closing stanza.

Billy Flick and Bruce Burdett each notched a pair of goals for the winners while Mickey Roth, Jack White and George Aitken came through with singletons. Ken Campbell clicked for two in the Kings' cause, the others going to Roy Giesbrecht, Joe Fitzpatrick and Hub Anslow.

Two of Wednesday night's goals were of the confusion type. In the first, Ken Ducharme, a Stratford defenceman, knocked the puck into his own net and the goal was credited to Roy Giesebrecht. In the third period, George Aitken's tally was disputed by the Kings who claimed he kicked the puck into the net.

Here And There In Sports

By The Canadian Press

The hockey season may be fading in Ontario but there are still flashes of fire around the circuit.

The latest comes from Hamilton where the Aerovox Junior B team has been informed that Richard Collins, promising rightwinger, has been declared ineligible for further play this season with that team. The Ontario Hockey Association ruled Collins must be dropped because he signed and played with Weston Dukes earlier in the season.

Aerovox are in a semi-final playoff series with Waterloo and lead 2-1. But Waterloo didn't make the protest.

Bill Sherry, coach of the Hamilton team, said it was a well-known fact Collins had signed with Weston but had obtained his release. He charged that Weston, which will meet the winner of the Hamilton-Waterloo series for the O.H.A. crown, figures the Aerovox team is too strong for them. They have waited until the 11th hour to protest.

The Hamilton coach says that Toronto Marlboro officials, who run the Weston squad, knew all along that Collins had gone to Hamilton after playing for the Dukes.

Waterloo officials said they wondered why the O.H.A. was not planning to do more than make Aerovox drop Collins from the lineup. He had been a factor in wins over their team in the first two games in their playoff series with Hamilton.

Veteran runner Lloyd Evans of Montreal is the 14th Canadian to enter the annual Boston Athletic Association's annual marathon race which will be held Saturday. He finished fifth in both 1944 and 1945. In 1946, he ran seventh and repeated in 1948. He was 11th in 1947.

Outfielder Bob Kennedy of Cleveland Indians passed a physical examination for the U.S. Marines Wednesday and will be recalled to service May 29. He served three years during the Second World War. He has a captain's rank in the Marines Reserve Air Corps.

Baseball Convention Held April 25-26

ST. CATHARINES, April 17 — (CP) — The 35th annual Ontario Baseball Association convention will be held here April 25 and 26.

Considerable legislation will face the more than 250 delegates expected to attend. They will represent centres from Windsor to Ottawa.

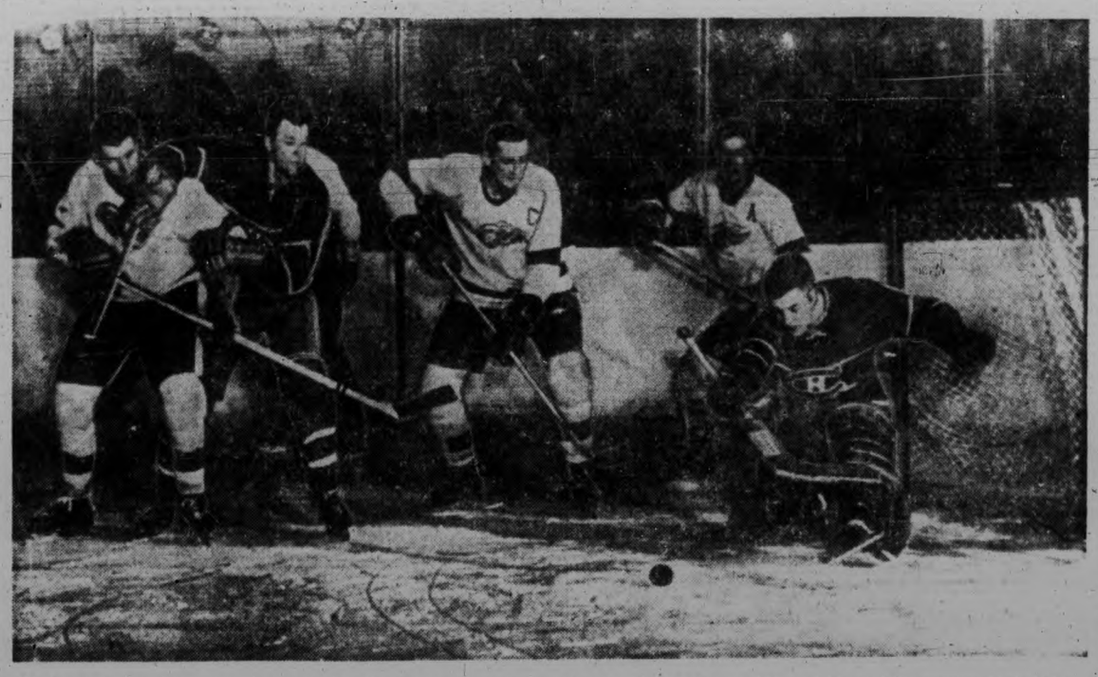
Twelve amendments to the constitution and seven new resolutions face the meeting. Chief of these are the levy on minor playing certificates, umpires, credentials, new populations areas, election of a secretary-treasurer, one U.S. import and annual conventions to be moved from April back to March.

Secretary Thomas Rowdon of St. Catharines has released the nomination list for the 1952 slate of officers.

G. Leonard On Top

Gord Leonard led men this week at Duffus' in the Mercantile Bowling League with a triple of 741 and single of 318. High for girls was Elsie Penrose with a 719 gross and top single of 293. Braund's No. 1 was best for teams with 3220 pinnage. They now have 67 and 24 extra points, Austin's having 56 and 18, Bond's 26 and three, Utilities 63 and 20, Loblaw's 75 and 15, Neill's 33 and eight, Crowe's 56 and nine, Prudential 61 and 13, Braund's No. 2 with 30 and nine, and A & P 53 and 11.

Braund's No. 1 blanked Neill's, Loblaw's did the same to Braund's No. 2, Crowe's beat Bond's 3-1, Prudential won 3-1 from Utilities, while A & P split with Austin's.



THE RED HORDE besieged Habs Gerry McNeil on this one in the last deciding game of the Stanley Cup series but the bunty custodian managed to turn aside this particular thrust. Left to right, Wings' Marcel Pronovost, Habs' Doug Harvey, Wings' Sid Abel and Ted Lindsay and spreading out, the Canadien goalie.

Springfield Cubs Crush Rochester 10-1

By The Associated Press

Jack Wallaesa, who led Springfield Cubs in virtually every batting department last year, may be setting his sights on another chance with Chicago Cubs.

The big outfielder has been up with the parent Cubs, but hasn't made the grade, although the Bruins reputedly need a long ball hitter. He crashed 14 home runs last year, and 25 the season before.

Wallaesa got into the spirit of things right off Wednesday on International League opening day, bashing a bases-loaded round-tripper in addition to single while his club was pasting Rochester Red Wings 10-1 behind the workmanlike hurling job of Bill Padget.

Barely Made It

Montreal Royals, favored to win the flag, had to go right down to the wire before whipping Syracus Chiefs 2-1 on a ninth-inning home run by Don Hoak. Tom Lasorda permitted the Chiefs only two hits, while Bob Keegan, on the mound for the losers, was tapped for but five safeties.

Toronto Maple Leafs rode to a 10-1 triumph over Baltimore Orioles on the wings of four home runs — by Ed Stevens, Charlie Grant, Lew Morton and Wilmer Fields. Vic Lombardi went all the way for the victory.

In another one-sided affair, Buffalo Bisons overwhelmed Ottawa Athletics 11-3. Hank Borowy, a veteran of 12 major league seasons, got credit for the victory, although he needed help from Ralph Poole in the eighth.

Campbellford Boys In Cage Tournament

CAMPBELLFORD, April 17 — (ENS)—The basketball team of the Campbellford High School is in Kingston this week, in competition with a number of other teams in the "B" section of the Southern Ontario basketball tournament. The players left on Tuesday.

The tournament is taking place in the gymnasium of Queen's University and the players taking part will stay in the dormitory and have access to the swimming pool and the gym.

Campbellford will play against Nepean, Napanee, Picton, Regiopolis, Brockville, Lunwell and Pembroke. The expenses of the players, with the exception of their meals, are paid by the schools.

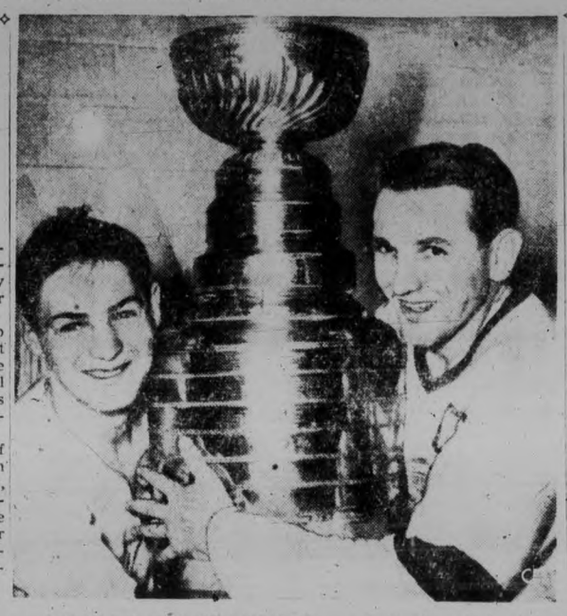
The local lads were accompanied by their coach, V. T. B. Rout, and their manager, Allan Wickens. To lose out on the playoffs, a team must be defeated twice and an award will be presented to the player most valuable to his team.

The Campbellford players are: Paul Bennett (captain), Charles Root, Ken MacFarlane, Robert Bibby, George Heath, Ted White, Robert Barnum, Hilliard Jones, Don Guerin and Paul Ibey.

J. Playford Leads

Jack Playford rolled high three of 844 and George Walton led in singles with 357 this week in the Major Bowling League at Playfair. Wood's topped teams with 3433 pinnage as Revenoors' 1262 was high single for squads. Six points went to Clapper's, Bickell and U.E.W. over Kawartha, Lillian's, and Stud., as 4-2 wins were taken by B. and E., Examiner, Revencors, Darling's, Selkirk, Mowry, Plazzas, Herb's and Wood's over Kingsmen, Sun Life, McLeod, Wonder, Brewery, Crowley, Odeon, Cherney and Campbell.

Good scores included: G. Walton 835, E. O'Toole (354) 800, B. Boon 805, B. McCarrell 771, J. Goodson 758, F. Hurley (336) 756, M. Doris (327) 747, A. Woodcock (313) 746, A. Bascihno (347) 737, N. Collins 737, C. Downer 728, E. Reynolds (319) 726, A. Mason 714, J. Latchford 708, and E. Young 706, with J. Playford also having a 304 single.



STANLEY CUP CHAMPIONS — Terry Sawchuk, left, starry goal-tender, and captain Sid Abel of the Detroit Red Wings clutch the historic Stanley Cup, emblem of the world's professional hockey championship after the Wings defeated Montreal Canadiens 3-0 in the final game of the best-of-seven series at Detroit. Sawchuk had four shutouts as Detroit won the championship in a record eight straight games. He blanked Toronto Maple Leafs twice and Montreal Canadiens twice. Abel is on the famed "production line," which includes Doug Howe and Ted Lindsay.

Sugar Ray Retains Championship Knocks Out Graziano In Third

CHICAGO, April 17 (AP). — Middleweight champion Sugar Ray Robinson, 32, but still a ring killer with a quick and paralyzing punch, today was ready for a shot at his third world title after a third-round knockout of challenger Rocky Graziano.

Robinson's execution Wednesday night of former 160-pound champion Graziano before a capacity Chicago Stadium crowd of 22,264 apparently was a stepping stone to a June New York showdown with champion Joey Maxim for the light-heavy crown.

Sugar Ray confessed he went "head-huntin' early" to pulverize Graziano in a brief but blistering bout which paid $82,208 to Robinson and $68,507 to Graziano.

"I figured that against a fighter like Rocky, you got to hurt him quick to keep him from getting cocky," said Robinson. "You toy with a slugger like him and later when you clout him, he thinks it's accidental. So I sailed into him on every opening."

Made Miscalculation

It was a miscalculation that dropped the curtains on eager, wild-swinging Graziano.

"See, I bounced off the ropes in the middle of the third round and clouted Robinson good with a right and down he goes," grimmaced Graziano in his dressing room. Robinson went down for a no-count midway in the third round.

"A little later, he drives me to the ropes with a left to the body and I figure to bounce off again and give it to him good. But, wham, he blasts that right and it catches me right on the button and the fight is over."

May Skip Bout

Sugar Ray, who still considers himself the welterweight king (he automatically vacated that crown when he beat Jake La Motta for the 160-pound title) as well as the middleweight champion, may skip a scheduled middleweight title defence May 16 at New York against Paddy Young to take on Maxim.

Robinson's intense pride and the prospects of another lush gate possibly comparing with Wednesday night's net $194,028 gave solid support to the report of a June clash with Maxim.

Robinson declared himself not interested in tackling Maxim at 175 pounds. He weighed 157¼ against Graziano.

But George Gainford, Robinson's manager, hinted that Sugar Ray considers himself capable of whipping much heavier foes and is desirous of joining Bob Fitzsimmons and Henry Armstrong as triple ring champions.

Surprises Experts

The champion won the first round by a shade, booming a two-fisted attack to the surprise of most experts who expected him to retreat until Graziano ran out of gas.

The second round was pretty much a standoff, although Graziano started clubbing with his wicked right until Robinson hastily back-pedaled.

The third round found Graziano getting a little cocky. When he floored Robinson with a right that spilled the champion so quickly it looked as if he slipped, Rocky had made a fatal mistake.

Robinson quickly jumped up and pumped the left-right combination that put the lights out for Rocky. Graziano courageously tried to get his collapsed body upright, but he didn't make it until after referee Tommy Gilmore had counted 10.

Golf Tourneys Offering $413,000 Prizes

CHICAGO, April 17. (AP) — Professional golf's richest spring and summer tournament program, a 21-meet schedule carrying $413,000 in prizes, today was announced by the Professional Golfers' Association.

The schedule, opening with the Pan American open at Mexico City May 8-11 and closing with the Kansas City open Sept. 25-28, is topped by George S. May's combined world championship and all-American open worth $100,000.

The Canadian open championship will be held July 16 to 19 at the St. Charles country club in Winnipeg. It's worth $15,000.

The all-American at May's Chicago Tam o'Shanter course, July 31-Aug. 3, will pay $25,000. It will be followed by the "World," Aug. 7-10, which has a $75,000 purse and a $25,000 first-place payoff. Second richest summer event is the $40,000 Nation P.G.A. tourney at Louisville, Ky., June 18-24, followed by the $18,000 Inverness round robin at Toledo, Ohio, June 26-29. The remaining 17 events will be for $15,000 purses.

Golf's top prestige tourney, the National open, is scheduled at Dallas, Tex., June 12-14.

The P.G.A. estimated that for the first nine months of 1952, including four months of the winter tour, a total of more than $600,000 will have been paid in purses. A prospective fall tour will add another $100,000.

Elliott's 2-Homer Debut Gives Giants 5-3 Victory

By JACK HAND, Associated Press Sports Writer.

Bob Elliott's crashing two-homer debut chased the Monte Irvin blues out of the Polo Grounds. New York Giant fans, dubious of the value of a 35-year-old Boston Brave cast-off came to the Polo Grounds on Wednesday night to be shown. Elliott sure showed them. He made Irvin's ankle fracture seem less tragic.

First a home run deep into the upper left field seats in the fourth inning. Then No. 2 into the right field seats in the eighth. Elliott sprayed new optimism into the Giant cause.

Just a few hours before Elliott ruined opening night for Robin Roberts, the doctors sewed together Monte Irvin's torn ligaments. They said the 1951 runs-batted-in champ might be ready to pinch hit in late July. Elliott's performance and this optimistic report on Irvin restored some of the glow of the miracle of '51.

Elliott's home runs plus steady four-hit pitching by Sal Maglie made New York's first night opener a success with a 5-3 win over the Phillies. It was Sal the Barber's ninth straight over the whiz kids.

Dodgers Paste Braves

Boston Braves absorbed a 14-8 pasting from the slugging Brooklyn Dodgers. The Brooks flattened Max Surkont in the first inning and kept it up all day for 20 hits, including five by Duke Snider and a homer, double and single by Roy Campanella.

Seven errors helped the Dodgers pile up an early 12-3 lead. Chris Van Cuyk wound up with the win although he was lifted for a pinchhitter after allowing the Braves to close the gap to 12-7 in the fifth.

Stan Musial drove home three runs with a homer and double in St. Louis Cardinals' second straight night victory over Pittsburgh, 6-5. Rookie Bobby Del Greco of the Pirates made three hits.

Cincinnati and Chicago had an open date in the National.

Quell Athletics

Vic Raschi got the world champ New York Yankees off winging in their drive toward a fourth straight pennant with an 8-1 romp over Philadelphia Athletics. Big Vic owns a lifetime 21-1 record against the A's. He needed help from Johnny Sain when he developed a wild streak and walked two straight in the ninth after pitching two-hit shutout ball for the first eight frames.

Hank Bauer's homer in the fourth inning started the Yanks on the way.

Cleveland and the surprising St. Louis Browns kept step in their two-way tie for the American League lead. The Indians nipped Chicago 1-0, on rookie Jim Fridley's homer and Bob Lemon's three-hit pitching while Rogers Hornsby's Brownies clipped Detroit 5-4.

Floyd Baker, supposed to be a "good field, no hit" man, won a night game for Washington with a bases-loaded single off Boston's Ellis Kinder with two out in the eleventh, 4-3. Irv Noren's double and two walks loaded them up. Julio Moreno went all the way for the Senators.

Hornsby got some help from Tommy Byrne, that good hitting pitcher, for the Browns' second straight win. Tommy doubled home the first run as St. Louis rallied with three in the seventh inning to tie. They won with two in the eighth on Tom Wright's single, a triple by rookie George Schmees and double by Hank Arft.

Boy 14 Holds Off No. 2 Player 5 Hours

LONDON, April 17 (AP). — Fourteen-year-old Keith Stanley, who taught himself chess from a textbook two years ago, held off the world's number two player for five hours in a match that started as just a joke.

Russia's David Bronstein, who ranks second in world competition, took on 21 chess players in a mass game. The 14-year-old sat in to pad out the lineup and to see what would happen.

The other 20 opposing Bronstein fell quickly by the wayside but after two hours the boy had exchanged two pieces without giving away any advantage.

"I offered Bronstein a draw at the 40th move but he said "no'," Stanley related later.

For three more hours the duel went on. Bronstein took off his glasses, wiped his head with a handkerchief and plotted each play carefully until he finally forced Stanley to give up.

"The boy," Bronstein said, "is very good."

Stanley said he didn't really like chess. "I prefer playing cricket."

Capacity Crowd Attends YW Swimmers Bunny Tea

Tickets for the Y.W.C.A. Bunny Tea were just about as much in demand and just about as scarce Wednesday afternoon as the tickets for a big playoff game. Three hundred of them went on sale four weeks ago but some mothers delayed just a little too long and so found themselves and their children in a line-up of "those without tickets" at the Y "box office."

With some effort the seating accommodation was increased to 320 and one or two ticket holders didn't make it in time, so a few extras were admitted, but still there were mothers, very much in disgrace, endeavoring to think of some alternative treat as they turned disappointedly homeward.

Y Swimming Department officials feel that the only solution is to make their fourth annual Bunny Tea next year a two-day affair—and even at that, perhaps they had better take reservations now. They also know that double the quantity of orange drink thought necessary should be served, for there's no telling how many refills some guests can hold.

Members of all the swim classes and clubs participated in the arrangements of this tea which is their department's project for raising the allocation for World Service Fund. They made cookies in the shape of bunnies and put in raisin eyes and noses and made boxes full of sweet-tooth sandwiches with jam, honey and peanut butter and such fillings. Each serving plate was fixed with a pile of sandwiches one side, cookies the other and a big paper bunny as the divider. Ice cream cups came as dessert.

Four little girls in bunny costumes were handing out felt bunny favors to each little guest as they entered the tea room, and when they were leaving they each got a balloon. They also got candy baskets centred with a big bunny shaped candy.

A big felt bunny, made and donated by a man who is confined to hospital, was the draw prize. Nancy Johnston, a member of the crippled children's swim class, drew for the bunny and it went to Edward Zacks, one of the twin sons of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Zacks.

Entertainment featured a dramatized presentation by the Little Women's Club of the Y called "Story Book Children." Mrs. Irene Campbell told a delightful children's story bringing in a mixture of the fairy tale characters who were on hand to act out their parts.

Catchy songs "Skip to My Loo" and "Three Little Kittens" were sung by "Four Hits and a Miss," Anne Grant, Barbara Woodcock, Anne Webb, Mary Lou and Catherine Waterman, with Betty Lapp as their pianist.

Accordionists were very well received in a group of selections arranged by their teacher Mr. Lawson. So was the puppet show from the South End Library, presented by librarian Mrs. J. R. Henderson.

Swimming director, Miss Phyllis Alexander, had splendid assistance from her committee members in staging this party. Mrs. B. Epston was the general convener and arranged the program. Mrs. D. T. Diplock was in charge of serving. Mrs. Don Wood was hostess in the Green Room and Mrs. J. E. Watters who acted as M.C., was hostess in the recreation room. Mrs. Walter Perks had charge of tickets.

Harriman Possibility For Nomination

NEW YORK, April 17 (AP) — A Democratic dinner honoring W. Averell Harriman may thrust him into the presidential spotlight.

Harriman, director of the Mutual Security Administration, will be guest of honor at the $100-a-plate affair sponsored by the New York State Democratic Committee.

The dinner reflects strong support among the committee's membership to give Harriman the state's 94 votes at the Democratic presidential convention in Chicago.

The state's 62 Democratic county leaders meet here Friday to discuss "the presidential situation" —full of more party question-marks since Governor Adlai Stevenson of Illinois said Wednesday he "could not accept the nomination for any other office this summer."

Dam Removal Too Dangerous

OTTAWA, April 17. (CP) — Transport Minister Chevrier said Wednesday in a telegram to Mayor Allan Lamport of Toronto that removal of the Gut dam on the St. Lawrence river might cause "highly undesirable" conditions on the lower river.

He was replying to a wire from the mayor asking that "all water barriers" on the river be opened to lower the current high water level of Lake Ontario.

The minister said that removal of the dam as quickly as physically possible could not have an appreciable effect on the lake level during the period of high water this year.

Also, he expressed doubt that it could be done without permission of the international joint commission, which controls boundary waters.

Textile Workers Union Has First Deficit

NEW YORK, April 17 (AP) — The Textile Workers Union, the third largest group in the C.I.O. with a claimed membership of more than 400,000, reported its first deficit Wednesday.

During the last two years, the union said, its expenditures exceeded its income by $426,422.

The 13-year-old union blamed "numerous and expensive strikes, reduced dues collections resulting from mass unemployment, heightened employer resistance to new organization, increased costs for all T.W.U. operations."

Tons Of Falling Rock Crush Miner To Death

KIRKLAND LAKE, April 17 — (CP) —John Piekos, miner from Larder Lake, was crushed to death Wednesday under tons of falling rock while removing a block from an ore chute.

Piekos was removing a piece of wood in an ore chute when he apparently dislodged some overhanging rock which broke through the timbering.

He is survived by his widow and one son.

Brant Inquiry

time now and the operations should not interfere with him doing most types of work."

Mental Condition

Questioned regarding Brant's mental condition, Dr. Calvert said he had observed Brant carefully since February 1. Dr. Calvert said he could not be accurate without the evidence of a psychiatric examination but he had found Brant "somewhat backward."

At the beginning of the inquiry, Judge MacRae stated that the inquiry had been called under section 258 of the Municipal Act, to investigate all matters touching the Fred Brand case which has received such publicity recently in the Peterborough Examiner but not limiting the investigation. The inquiry is to include an investigation into "the facts of his several arrests in Peterborough, his imprisonment, treatment at the police station and county jail, his release and alleged conveyance outside the city, also his general record as a citizen, in order that the citizens of Peterborough may be given all the facts in connection with the case."

Except for the testimony of Dr. Calvert and constable John Conlin, who arrested Brant in a Hunter St. alley the morning of January 13, the other witness heard at the morning session dealt with Brant's conduct and wanderings before he was arrested in the city.

On November 24, William McColl, Apsley lumber camp operator said he took Brant to Dr. Long in Bancroft to be examined for a blister on his right foot. Mr. McColl said the doctor said it was frostbite and gave him some salve to use on it. He said the last time he saw Brant was on November 28, when he drove him to Tory Hill and left him on the highway. Brant had been working at the camp for several weeks, but Mr. McColl said he was not much use to him as a workman and he let him go because he was afraid he might get lost or injured in the bush.

He said he gave him $21.96, when he left.

Employed To Cut Wood

Neil Quinlan, a farmer near Campbellford, said that Brant was employed at his farm from December 11 to January 9. He said that Brant was employed to cut wood, and that he noticed that there was a slight sore on Brant's foot about the size of a nickel. He told him to bathe it nightly, which he said Brant did not do. Since he was afraid Brant's feet might get frozen worse, he said he told Brant to lay off for a week and look after his feet which were frostbitten. On December 22, Mr. Quinlan said he gave Brant three pairs of socks and a pair of rubber boots and tobacco as a gift and some spending money besides. He said he had also given Brant three pairs of socks previously and that when he left on January 11, after being of little use for a month, he gave him another $5.

Employed Near Campbellford

O.P.P. Constable Donald W. Erskine of Campbellford said he has known Brant for two years. For some time, he was employed by a bachelor farmer who lived north-east of Campbellford. He said that during that time, he had been called several times to the shack where Brant and the farmer lived. On one occasion he said, Brant had chased the farmer down the road with an axe. On other occasions he said he had been called because the farmer had chased Brant. He said that on several occasions, Brant had phoned him to collect wages from the man and that each time, the farmer would pay Brant $2 or $3.

The last time he had seen Brant Constable Erskine said was when he arrested Brant and the farmer the latter part of July at 2 o'clock in the morning for stealing hay. Both were mentally examined by Dr. Kells, Cobourg psychiatrist, Constable Erskine said, and the farmer was sent to a mental hospital, while Brant was released on suspended sentence and ordered to return to Lindsay. On his way back to Campbellford that day, Constable Erskine said he saw Brant standing on the highway hitchhiking toward Campbellford.

He said Brant spent some time living in the shack in January and that he saw Brant in a Campbellford clothing store with Mr. Quinlan in December.

Brant's record was introduced after Constable Erskine had given the bulk of his testimony. It revealed two convictions for car theft and another for joyriding between October 1945 and August 1949 for which Brant served a year in the Boy's Training School at Guelph and three months for joyriding. He was sentenced to five days for vagrancy in Cobourg in October.

After Brant's record was produced Constable Erskine added that Brant had entered the home of two elderly Campbellford ladies on one occasion and prepared his breakfast in their kitchen. They had never seen him before, but they were too frightened to do anything about it, he said.

Constable John Conlin testified that when he arrested Brant in the Hunter St. alley on January 13, he was shabbily dressed and stated he had not eaten for two days. He was wearing rubber boots and was taken to the police station for his own good, because he was in dire need of food and lodging, Constable Conlin said. He made no complaint about having sore feet when he was arrested, Constable Conlin said.

Identification sergeant William Aggas was called and introduced a series of photographs taken of the shack where Brant is said to have lived with the farmer. The photos were taken on April 14 of the exterior and interior. They showed that the interior was filthy, and in a state of complete disorder.

William Robertson, 344 Aylmer St., a C.P.R. employee at the depot, said Brant spent most of one night "in the latter part of January" in the waiting-room of the depot.

"He stayed there from 11 p.m. until about 3 or 4 in the morning. He wasn't dressed too well and he didn't sleep at all that night. I spoke to him and asked him what he was doing. He said he was waiting for a farmer he had a job with, said Robertson.

Brought Into Station

Constable Wilfred Perry told the inquiry he saw Fred Brant January 13 when he was brought to the station and placed in cells.

Brant gave his age as 24, and his address as St. David St., Lindsay.

Just Hungry

"Brant didn't complain of anything except being hungry. He did mention it was cold outside," said the Constable. "He made no comment about any physical complaint."

When Constable Perry took Brant up to court the following day, he noticed nothing wrong with his feet.

Sergeant Gordon Trennum said he had never seen Brant.

"If a prisoner made any complaints they would come to you wouldn't they?" asked Mr. Humphreys.

"Yes, But I received no complaints about Brant," said the Sergeant.

Sgt. Trennum said he did not remember if he was in charge of the station on January 14. Mr. Humphreys refreshed his memory with the station duty book.

Jail Governor

Stanley Johnston, governor of the county jail, told the inquiry he received custody of Brant on January 14.

Brant made no complaints about sore feet to Mr. Johnston, but complained later to a turnkey that he had "a sore toe, or something like that."

Called Doctor

"We called the jail doctor, Dr. Ralph Clark. He came on the 16th and ordered that Brant's toe be dressed and vaseline put on it.

Dr. Clark didn't see Brant again and, said the governor, Brant made no further complaints.

Brant came back to county jail on Jan. 31, after being arrested and sentenced to five days. He had no complaints when he came in that time, said Governor Johnston.

Walked Awkwardly

"He made no complaints, but he walked awkwardly."

"On January 31, he examined his feet and found they were both frozen", he said. "I was called in by the turnkey who was changing his clothes and I saw his feet then."

When the condition of his feet was discovered Dr. Clark was called.

No complaints were made by Brant, Governor Johnston reiterated.

Dr. Clark came up about 4.30 the afternoon of Jan. 31 and made an examination of Brant's feet. He then ordered him into hospital.

"What about his clothing asked Judge McRae."

Wore Three Pairs Socks

"He had three pair of socks on. They were ordinary work socks, but they were pretty badly worn. The outside pair had holes in them."

"What about boots?" asked His Honor.

"He was wearing rubber boots, not knee-high ones."

Wilson Wood, a turnkey at the county jail, said Brant told him on Jan. 15 that he had a sore toe —the small toe on the right foot.

Changed Dressings

Dressings on Brant's toe were changed every second day, said Wood.

The sore on his toe seemed to be improving when he left, Wood told the inquiry.

"When he came back on Jan. 31, I asked him if his toe was better, and he said, 'Yes, I went to a doctor in Omemee . . and it is fine.' "

Sgt. Leo Murphy said he was desk sergeant in charge of the station on January 23. Brant asked for a night's lodging, said the sergeant. Brant gave his age as 21 that night, the sergeant said, and his address as St. David St., Lindsay.

Plain clothes man Constable Douglas Farthing said he took Brant to the cells.

Fitted Description

"It struck me that he answered the description of a man I was looking for. I asked him if he knew a James Abraham. He said yes, then said no.

On January 23 a note was put in the book saying he should not be released until interviewed by Det.-Sergt. Clarke.

Murray Metcalfe, 268 London Street, an engineer with the city engineer's office, gave temperature readings for several dates.

Jan. 23 low was three degrees below zero, he said. He mentioned that the radio station gave the low that night as eight degrees below.

At 8:30 a.m. Jan. 24 the temperature was still "minus three."

Temperature rose that day to 10 degrees above zero, he said.

Between Jan. 23 and 31 the coldest registered was 10 degrees below zero, the night of January 28-29.

Questioned Brant

Det.-Sergt. W. A. Clarke said that on January 24, at 9 a.m., he questioned Brant.

Brant said he had no place to go and would like to spend more time in the county jail. In the 20 minutes Det.-Sergt. Clarke spoke to him, Brant made no complaint about his feet.

"He didn't strike me as having anything wrong with him. He walked with a bit of a slouch, and that seemed to be all," said Det.-Sergt. Clarke.

"I learned Brant had been in the habit of frequenting the Campbellford area as well as the Lindsay area."

Brown Shoes

A pair of brown shoes were found near Campbellford in the latter part of January, he said, shortly after a woman saw a man, barefooted, in her kitchen.

"I made inquiries about these shoes to see if they had any connection with Brant. The woman from Campbellford was unable to identify Brant in the hospital, but he was all cleaned up then."

Sgt. Clare McGillen told the inquiry that on January 24 "The Chief Constable asked me to take Mr. Brant outside the city limits, and tell him to go on to Lindsay, because that was where his home was.

Had Friends

"I took him outside the city. We talked all the way out. When we got outside the city, about 2½ miles, Brant asked me if I would mind driving him out to the cheese factory, as he had friends out there."

The pair of brown shoes found at Campbellford were shown to the sergeant and he said they were "very similar" to the ones worn by Brant on January 24.

"What time of day did you put him out?" asked Mr. Humphreys. "About 10:25 in the morning."

The weather was clear and the temperature about four to eight degrees above zero.

SAFE ON MAN-MADE ISLAND—Missouri River flood waters rose to within inches of the top of the dike protecting the Municpal Auditorium in Sioux City, Iowa. The dike was hastily set up to save the $4,000,000 building when the flood first threatened and has so far succeeded. In the eight Midwestern states hit by the floods, 65,000 persons were homeless.

Warns Educated People Must Travel Lonely Road

TORONTO, April 17. — When you begin to lose interest in jazz, movies and comic strips, you are becoming educated, Prof. A. R. M. Lower of Queen's University, told Wednesday's O.E.A. meeting. "But you must realize, it has no cash value and you will be cut off from many of your fellows," he added.

The educated man has to expect a certain amount of loneliness, he said. His knowledge has disqualified him from becoming rich because he could not face the hurly-burly of commercialism and its emphasis on trivialities.

"The truly educated man could not bear to spend his time trying to sell soft drinks," he said.

He quoted a letter to a newspaper which decried the time spent in schools on Latin and literature, poetry and other time-wasting subjects. Why fill the students with culture when it won't earn them a living? the writer asked. That, said Prof. Lower, is the typical attitude of Canadians.

Provocative Talk

When he finished speaking, he was thanked by a University of Toronto professor for being not only provocative, but annoying.

Here are some of his points:

1. About 99 per cent of all Canadians are Philistines, whom he defined as people who take a low view of a high subject—people who are unaware of the subtlety of things; who take a crass view of men and life.

2. It is mockery for teachers to praise democracy in class while they themselves are slaves of despotism. He explained that he meant that teachers are not only servants of the public, but within schools and universities they are under absolute rule of the principal.

3. A liberal education, defined facetiously, is one whose excellence is measured by its uselessness.

4. There is probably little history really taught in schools. Most history teaching consists of a dull encounter with certain elementary facts. Most students know very little history.

5. In his long experience, he has rarely found teachers who are really interested in their subjects. In Canada, where reflection is at a discount and action at a premium, too many teachers snap up small executive tasks and turn their back on scholarship. Education will always be a catch-as-catch-can affair as long as this attitude exists.

6. Teachers can only teach if they are students of their subject, but most of them are so busy learning how to teach they have no time to learn what to teach.

Exhibition Officials Drop Ticket Draws

OTTAWA, April 17 (CP)—The Central Canada Exhibition has decided to discontinue a five-year-old practice of offering early ticket purchasers a chance to win a new car, refrigerator or washing machine.

Previously, holders of tickets purchased in advance of the exhibition were entitled to participate in draws for prizes. This year tickets will be sold in advance but no draw will be held. As in other years, the advance tickets will sell at three for $1. Those who wait to buy their tickets at the exhibition grounds will pay 50 cents a ticket.

The directors said that one reason for discontinuing the draw was the need for additional revenue.

Voters Reject Plan To Take Manitoba Hydro

WINNIPEG, April 17 (CP). — A provincial government proposal to take over Manitoba's hydro-electric industry was rejected by Winnipeg electors Wednesday, ending five years of power negotiations.

Final returns from a special referendum showed 35,404 persons voted "no" against 18,932 in favor, a majority of almost two to one.

Only one-third of the city's 163,000 eligible voters bothered to cast ballots. Suburban residents had no vote.

The ballot asked if electors favored "Plan C" of the Hogg report, a scheme formulated four years ago to prevent a future power shortage.

Under the plan, one of four presented by a Royal Commission headed by Dr. T. H. Hogg, Toronto consultant engineer, the provincial government would have bought out the combined assets of Winnipeg's two power-generating utilities.

This would give the government a monopoly on power development in Manitoba. The government, after taking over four power dams owned by City Hydro and Winnipeg Electric, would combine their output with power from a government dam at Pine Falls.

City Hydro, municipally-owned, and Winnipeg Electric, a private company, valued their assets at more than $130,000,000, including Winnipeg Electric's transit system.

No Final Figure.

Winnipeg-appointed auditors estimated the assets of the two firms at about $80,000,000, but no final figure ever was reached.

The government proposed to coordinate power from the utilities' Winnipeg river dams with the Pine Falls plant and promised to build another $20,000,000 plant if the plan was approved.

A municipal commission would have been set up to govern distribution of electricity, gas and the transit system.

In favor of the plan were the provincial government and all but one member of Winnipeg city council. Opposing were the citizens' volunteer committee, a newly-formed body, and Alderman H. Scott.

Winnipeg newspapers split on the issue with The Winnipeg Free Press in opposition.

Young Driver Survives 1,700-Foot Mountain Plunge

VANCOUVER, April 17 (CP)—Udo Wiegand regained consciousness Wednesday and said: "It must be a miracle that I'm still alive."

Doctors at the Vancouver General Hospital agreed.

The 21-year-old German immigrant plunged 1,700 feet down a mountainside at Bralorne, B.C., 24 days ago when his truck went off the road. He rode the truck 1,200 feet down the cliff and then was catapulted another 500 feet down when the truck smashed against a jutting ledge.

"I don't remember much. I was falling with the truck. We seemed to be floating through space and I guess we were. I don't think I'd been hurt when I suddenly blacked out."

He paused for a few seconds to get his breath.

Just Miracle

"I don't remember when I hit. I must have bounced around a lot in the truck. After that, I must have hit a lot of rocks on the rest of the way down. I can hardly believe I fell 1,700 feet. It must be a miracle that I'm still alive."

Wiegand lay for 10 hours at the foot of the cliff beside a creek before rescuers reached him. He has several skull fractures, multiple fractures throughout his body and extensive external injuries.

His feet are so badly injured that doctors say they may have to be amputated. There are so many bandages on him he looks like a cocoon. There are terrible scars on his face.

"I can't remember what happened during those 10 hours while I was at the bottom of the cliff. I think I was conscious but I don't remember any pain. I don't think I thought of anything at all. I didn't even care if somebody came to get me or not. Once I tried to think of what had happened to me but nothing stayed in my mind and I gave it up.

"I still didn't know what happened until the nurse told me."

His nurse said that while Wiegand hovered between life and death he mumbled that he had smashed up his father's car and that his father was angry and wouldn't come to see him in hospital.

Nationalists Outposts Watch Red Activities On Mainland

By BILL BOSS,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

CHINMAN, Fukien Province, China, April 17—(CP)—This tiny Nationalist outpost is Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's nearest holding to the Communist mainland from which he had to flee.

Chinmen is an island, due west of Formosa and about 250 miles northeast of Hong Kong off the China coast. At its closest point it is a bare two miles from Communist territory.

Other Nationalist-held Islands extend some 500 miles along the shore of China. In area they are almost nothing; but they have a considerable military importance.

Red tape was slashed by the highest Nationalist authorities in Taipeh, Formosa, to make my visit possible. Mine was the first to Chinmen by a foreign newspaper man. The fact Canada still recognizes Nationalist China was a powerful factor in the decision to let me come.

Chinmen is a two-hour flight from Taipeh by Nationalist Air Force plane. Later I flew in a Harvard training aircraft from Chinmen, over Red-held Amoy on an island nearer the coast, to look down on the mainland.

I saw the island's military installations, inspected the troop-training program and interviewed the garrison commander.

As air bases, Chinmen and the other small islands enable the Nationalists to make daily checks on military activity on the Communist mainland. The Nationalists would have immediate knowledge of any build-up of transport or men for an invasion of Formosa or the coastal islands themselves.

Twice Beaten Back

As garrisons, the islands are a constant worry to the Reds who twice have suffered bloody losses in assaults on Chinmen and other bits of Nationalist land. Strangely, the Communists lately have left the islands alone, abandoning their once-regular shelling.

The islands are useful for various kinds of operations against the mainland. Frequent Guerilla raids have been launched from Chinmen.

Conceivably the islands some day might be an invasion springboard if the Nationalists attempt to regain the mainland.

Chinmen resembles the British south coast during the Second World War. Its beaches are lined with barbed wire, cunningly concealed in low-lying shrubs. The island is mined, and girdled by a string of manned concrete pillboxes.

Behind the defences lives an island population of about 20,000, mostly farmers. Most soldiers are billeted among the people but relations between the two groups seem amicable.

The Army has under way a program of public works to keep the soldiers busy. Chinmen airport, for example, was built by hand with spades, rakes, buckets and two sone rollers. Most roads on the island were built the same way. While I was there, three infantry battalions were working on one stretch supervised by Army engineers. Elsewhere fortifications and other installations were being built—all by hand.

But the accent continues on military training.

Off duty there is a program of education ranging from elementary classes for the numerous illiterate to university courses in economics, engineering and philosophy.

As examples of Nationalist China's Army of today, these troops manning "front line" are impressive.

HUNDREDS OF EMPTY OIL DRUMS FLOAT around the industrial district of St. Paul, Minn., adding increased hazards to trains trying to move on flooded tracks. The barrels came down from an oil firm's stock pile, upper left, as the rising Mississippi river engulfed much of the area. Workmen push the drums out of the way as two engines, belching heavy smoke, inch along the flooded rails.

Civic Ultimatum

LONDON —(CP)—The Camberwell Council refused to help Lewisham Council pay costs of repairing a railway bridge leading to a popular shopping centre in Lewisham. The Lewisham council says the bridge mainly serves shoppers from Camberwell and unless the decision is changed it will be torn down.

Artificial Quakes

AUCKLAND, N.S. —(CP)—New Zealand scientists are making small artificial earthquakes to learn more about the real ones which are a danger in some mountainous areas. They are exploding depth charges off the coast and measuring the response on land instruments, in an effort to fix the centre of real earthquakes more accurately.

He couldn't be happier if he made Heinz Baby Foods himself

Babies don't need to make their own special foods. Neither do mothers. They rely on another chef—the Heinz chef—and with good reason.

The Heinz chef knows that babies are mighty particular eaters. So he does everything he can to meet their sky-high standards. The vegetables he chooses—and he chooses everything from tomatoes, celery and peas to squash and yams and kale—are glistening-fresh and garden-grown from special seed in rich and fertile soil.

The fruits he selects—juicy, sun-kissed fruits from many lands—range from prunes and peaches, apples and oranges, to ripe figs, fancy dates and tropic pineapple. Choice dairy produce too, and meat and grains that cannot be surpassed —these are the good, good things that Heinz prepares especially for babies.

Almost any food a doctor may recommend for an infant will be found by mothers among the famous family of Heinz Baby Foods. And all are cooked the way the doctor would desire—so that minerals and vitamins are retained in high degree. You can't fool an expert—so get your baby's opinion of Heinz Baby Foods. The way he'll enjoy them, the way he'll thrive on them, will tell you how superior they are.

Won't Ration Newsprint Now

WASHINGTON, April 17 (AP) — The International Materials Conference announced Wednesday that newsprint will not be rationed at this time because the free world supply of pulp-paper has come into balance with demand.

The pulp-paper committee of the Materials Conference said its 15 member governments including Canada unanimously accepted its recommendation that allocation of newsprint in 1952 is estimated at 8,928,000 metric tons, with requirements estimated at 8,920,000 metric tons.

The committee ... the improvement over the tight newsprint supply position which previously forced allocation was due to increased production of supply countries, through "more efficient use of existing mills and addition of new capacity."

The estimated 1952 free-world newsprint supply is about four per cent, or 343,000 metric tons more than the 1951 level.

THESE ARE TWO of the pictures printed in the Peiping People's Daily, March 15, as "proof" of charges that the United States is waging germ warfare in North Korea and China. At top are what communists term "germ-carrying flies dropped by the United States invaders." Below is pictured "one type of germ bomb . . . that splits into two pieces upon landing thereby spreading germ-carrying insects." The New York Times published April 3, what it called conclusive evidence of the falsity of these communist photo charges. The Times quoted American experts as saying that the top picture here was of harmless insects, just dead flies, and quoted the U.S. Army as saying the "germ-carrying bomb" was a non-explosive bomb used to carry psychological warfare leaflets.

Elmview W.I. Wins Drama Festival

COLDSPRINGS, April 17 — (ENS) — Coldsprings hall was filled to capacity Monday night for the district drama festival of West Northumberland Women's Institutes.

Four one-act plays were presented. Harwood Branch, "Ada Gives First Aid"; Elmview, "Among Us Girls"; Grafton, "The Amazing Arabella"; and Wicklow-Vernonville, "Crosswise."

A splendid and realistic portrayal of the various roles was given by all members.

The Elmira branch, with their presentation of "Among Us Girls," won the honors for the best production.

Mrs. W. A. Hoskin, Cobourg, first vice-president of the district, was chairman for the evening.

Judges for the competition were the Rev. A. W. Smith, Gore's Landing; the Rev. H. Robins, Grafton; the Rev. P. C. Brown, Camborne; Mrs. Jones and Robin Mallory, Cobourg. Mr. Robins was critic, and M. F. Ames, Gore's Landing, gave the judge's report.

Other members on the program between plays were: piano solos by Ruth Deviney, Vernonville, and Mr. Douglas Hoskin, Grafton. Marilyn and Eleanor McClelland, Bethel Grove, favored with vocal duets, "It Is No Secret" and "Peter Cottontail." They were accompanied by their mother, Mrs. O. McClelland.

Four more one-act plays will be presented Thursday night at Baltimore hall. The winner that night will compete with Elmview on April 25.

2 Plead Guilty To Theft Counts

Two Peterborough men who pleaded guilty to theft charges a week ago and were remanded in custody were sentenced by Magistrate W. R. Philp in police court Wednesday.

Frank W. Booth, 22, of Crawford's Grove, was sentenced to four months definite and two months indefinite for the theft of a car radio and a quantity of gasoline.

Booth pleaded guilty to the charge which alleged he removed the radio and gas from a car owned by Richard Condon which had been left parked on Highway 7 on April 3.

Today, Booth claimed he did not steal the radio and gas but admitted he was a party to the theft. He denied that he had damaged the car in breaking into it. O.P.P. constable Thomas Fitzpatrick, who carried out the investigation, said there was some damage to the car.

Booth had a record of convictions for theft, shopbreaking, housebreaking, receiving stolen goods and breaking and entering which began in March, 1945. He has served several jail sentneces and one reformatory term for the offences.

Claude Ruttan, 33, 1013 High St., who pleaded guilty to stealing a billfold from the T. Eaton Co., was given one year suspended sentence. He was also ordered to report to Major Harry Everitt of the Salvation Army each month.

Ruttan also has a record of theft convictions, but Magistrate W. R. Philp pointed out that the last time Ruttan was convicted of theft was in Smith's Falls in May, 1945, when he served 30 days.

British Sailors Silent About A-Tests

FREMANTLE, Australia, April 17 (Reuters)—Sailors came ashore from Britain's secret atom-test ships Wednesday night under orders to "keep mum" about their voyage and their eventual destination.

As if they had had a rough trip—their ships berthed 24 hours later than had been expected—the sailors replied: "We don't know."

Even Prime Minister Robert Menzies didn't know. He told a press conference that Australia had agreed with Britain on the need for secrecy about the test and added:

"I don't know where the test is being held and I am not asking. This is a matter of vast importance."

The two ships—the Narvik and Zeebrugge—left Britain in February with equipment and technicians. They are believed to carry 400 tons of equipment and 1,000 RE's.

Security officers and detectives mingled with the crowd as the ships moved into a sealed-off berth in a shed and barricaded at each end by a high gate.

Sail For Destination

After taking on food, water and fuel, the ships will sail for their secret destination.

In February, when Prime Minister Churchill announced that Britain would test an atomic weapon in Australia this year, it was thought the test would take place at the Woomera Rocket Range in Central Australia. But lately there has been speculation that the site chosen was Christmas Island, in the Indian Ocean.

The Sydney Morning Herald said Wednesday the fact that Britain had sent out landing ships and Royal Marines had suggested that an island site was likely. The newspaper added that September had been mentioned as a possible month for the test.

TOP ECONOMIST—A. F. W. Plumptre, External Affairs Department's top economist, leaves for Paris in July to become the number two man on the permanent Canadian delegation to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. The 45-year-old Montreal-born head of the department's economic division will become an associate of Arnold Heeney, deputy minister, who has been apointed chief of the delegation.

Indian Work Topic Of Speech To Y.P.U.

COLDSPRINGS, April 17 — (ENS) — "Indians and Indian Work" was the subject of the address given by Mr. Herbert Lander at the Coldsprings Y.P.U. meeting Tuesday night in the Sunday school rooms.

Mr. Lander told how the first Indians came to the western province from Asia. In 1934, Mr. Lander started preaching to the Indians in Alderville and Hiawatha. Alderville got its name from a Dr. Alder who practised there many years ago.

Mrs. Everett Jamieson was convener for the program, and gave the call to worship. Scripture reading was given by Edna Jamieson. Mediation by Sheila Ritchie. Mr. Brown led in prayer.

Helen Ritchie sang a solo, accompanied by pianist Mary Jibb. Mrs. E. Jamieson read a poem, "The Cross." Collection was received by Ivan West.

There were 32 in attendance. Robert Turner, president, conducted the business. Lorene Timlin, secretary, read the minutes of the previous meeting.

Eunice Minifie, invited the society to her home for the next meeting on May 1.

Plans were made to serve lunch to the "Commodore" and "Videoettes" on April 23 in St. Paul's Church.

Recreation was conducted by Mrs. Jamieson.

Lakefield Auxiliary Packs Bales For Needy

LAKEFIELD, April 17 (ENS). —The Women's Auxiliary of the Church of St. John the Baptist had a busy time Tuesday afternoon when they packed three bales for the needy. One bale, which contained boys' clothing, will be sent to All Saints' School at Prince Albert, Alberta. The second bale, which contained babies' and girls' clothing, will go to the Save the Children Fund in Toronto, and the third, which contained good used clothing, was for white settlers, and will be shipped to the Women's Auxiliary House, Toronto, for distribution. A quilt was also sent to the Empty Stall for the Diocesan annual meeting in Toronto.

Before packing the bales a short devotional period was held with the president, Mrs. Charles Stenner, presiding. The opening hymn was followed with prayer by Mrs. Stenner and Mrs. John Sanderson read the Scripture.

Afternoon tea, served by Mrs. Stenner, brought the meeting to a close.

Well-Used Instruments

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask.—(CP) —The city band, formed soon after this pioneer mission post became a city, reports many of its instruments now are in a state of crystallization. They have been in stant use for more than 70 years.

New Air Raid Warning System Developed In US

NEW YORK, April 17.(AP)—A dial-operated air raid warning system by which the whole country could be alerted in two minutes was shown Wednesday to stockholders of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company.

Equipment for the automatic warning network was displayed in an exhibit set up for the annual meeting of the firm, parent company of the giant Bell system.

The improved warning system was developed by Bell to enable civilian defence authorities to flash instantaneous warnings to vital installations around key points.

Heart of the system is a special device, with a dial similar to that of a telephone, making it possible to dial any one of three different types of alerts.

Immediate Action

If an attack was imminent, a civilian defence worker would spin the dial to "red." Immediately, bell signals for a "red" warning would sound in police, fire and other key installations, as well as hospitals. A red light also would be illuminated on the receiving device. The signals flash over private circuits connecting all points.

The chief item up for action by A. T. and T.'s more than 1,000,000 stockholders was a request by directors for authority to raise up to $550,000,000 in new money to continue the Bell system's huge post-war expansion program.

A VOTE FOR IKE—Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll of New Jersey points out Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's name on the state's preferential primary ballot before casting his vote at Haddonfield. Driscoll's backing of Eisenhower has drawn bitter blasts from supporters of Senator Taft. A record vote ranging from 600,000 to 1,000,000 was forecast for the election, the last in which Ike and Taft meet. With the results nearly completed, Eisenhowe- had a wide margin.

Mrs. Kidd Heads Bailieboro W.I.

BAILIEBORO, April 17 (ENS)—Officers for the 1952 term to represent Bailieboro Women's Institute were elected at the April meeting held Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Dawson Rutherford. Mrs. H. C. Howson conducted the election.

Following are the names of the newly elected—President, Mrs. Russel Kildd, 1st vice-president—Mrs. H. C. Howson, 2nd vice-president—Mrs. C. Barnard, recording secretary—Mrs. H. Fair, corresponding secretary—Mrs. A. Stewart, treasurer—Mrs. J. Johnston, district director—Mrs. R. Eagleson, directors—Mrs. Blanche Dawson, Mrs. A. Montgomery, Mrs. W. Mrs. Russell Kidd, president, presided. Minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary, Mrs. A. Watt.

A highlight of the meeting was the presentation of a life membership pin to Mrs. Blanche Dawson who has been a member of the Bailieboro Institute for the past 30 years.

Mrs. George Fletcher reported that $32 had been raised in the quilt fund.

Financial report was read by Mrs. A. Watt stating total balance is $394.34.

Mrs. James Whittington reported for the home economics and health department. Guest speakers had been Miss Jean Noble, home economist and Mrs. Phyllis Kingdon, registered nurse of Peterborough. Fifteen dollars had been donated to the girls' cereal club.

Mrs. John Gaynor, reporting for agriculture and Canadian industry, stated the papers on care of homes had been given. Mrs. Armstrong of Millbrook had been guest speaker.

Mrs. H. Howson on behalf of the citizenship and education committee reported that five dollars had been sent to the flour for Greece fund and $25 for the tractor fund. Grants were used for books for school children: Mr. Leo Copp had spoken on United Nations at a special meeting.

Community activities report was given by the secretary in absence of the convener, Mrs. Ralp Greer. Sixty dollars had been raised for the Salvation Army and a donation sent to the Crippled Children's Fund. Progressive euchres had been held to pay for service charge on the village lights.

Mrs. H. Fair reported for the historical research saying that a special meeting on antiques had been held with a guest speaker.

Plans were also discussed for the children's party to be held on Wednesday afternoon in Bailieboro school.

Suicide Pact

MONTREAL, April 17 (CP)—The bodies of two sisters, believed to have died from poison in a possible suicide pact, were found Wednesday in a mid-town rooming house. They were identified as Lucille Cote, 20, and Emilienne Cote, 21, of Thetford Mines, Que.

North Monaghan council received seven applications for the post of assessor, Monday. Appointment was postponed. Department of Highways approved expenditure this year of $8,000 on township roads.

ARCHBISHOP'S VISIT

Archbishop W. F. Barfoot will pay his first official visit to the Archdeaconry of Peterborough Friday, May 2. He will be welcomed at supper of the Great Chapter in St. John's parish hall at 6 p.m., followed by service at 8 p.m. at which he will preach.

BUYS DRUG STORE

Lorne W. Johnston, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Johnston, Norwood, has purchased the pharmacy business at Newcastle which has been carried on by Mrs. J. S. Dyer since the death of her husband more than a year ago. An aircrew veteran of the R.C.A.F., he received his degree in 1951.

HIGHER AND WIDER

From the foot of Sherbrooke St. this morning the Otonabee River had raised its level to the average height of spring flow along the Engleburn bank. It had assumed a broader expanse above the C.P.R. bridge with all the appearance of the widest rivers in the province.

CURLING AT BELLEVILLE

Curling returns to Belleville tonight after a long lapse of the game. Kingston Club is lending 40 sets of stones and is sending its icemaker to mark the rings. Games will be played to the end of April. Eleven men have joined the new club. Scores of others are interested, and have been invited to get in on the brief season.

WINTER NOT SEVERE

The forebay at the Utilities dam was frozen over only 14 days this past winter, R. L. Dobbin, manager, recalled to the Commission members. That bit of information reflects a comparatively mild season, for those who like their Canadian winters. But, for the Utilities management it caused more trouble than usual from anchor ice.

SUMMER CAMPS

The 28th Technical Squadron R.C.E.M.E. of Peterborough will go into camp July 26 at Barriefield and remain until August 2, it was announced today by the Central Command at Oakville. In camp at the same time will be squadrons from Windsor, Ottawa, Belleville and Oshawa.

GO TO PICTON CAMP

Seven anti-aircraft units from central command are scheduled to go to camp this summer on June 21 and remain at Picton until June 28. Along with the Peterborough 50 Heavy Anti-Aircraft Regiment will be units from Ottawa, Kitchener, Pembroke, Brockville, Kemptville and Merrickville.

LAKES OPENING

Winter has departed from Chemong Lake. The surface sparkled in the April sunlight this morning, ruffled by a light wind. Wallace Shearer reports that he walked on the ice of Mississauga Lake Good Friday, and from Gilchrist Bay it was said Stony Lake might not be open for another ten days or more.

FINIS AT ARENA

At 11.20 o'clock Wednesday night Walter Smillie, manager of Civic Arena, cut off the electric power operating the ice-making plant. That was the end of the winter in records of the rink. Circumstances might have extended it longer through the Lyndhurst series, but the swallows are here, the bluebirds' notes are heard in the country and spring is taking possession of the land.

BEAGLE CLUB 2-DAY MEET

Peterborough Beagle Club is holding a two-day meet on Saturday and Sunday with headquarters at the Fireside Inn at the highway 7-Chemong Y intersection. Starting each morning at 8, the 13-inch animals will be run on Saturday and 15-inchers on Sunday—both will run on hare. Six prizes will be awarded winning dogs. Judges will be J. Shewchuk, J. Tiede, H. Armstrong, J. Howard, G. Haig, H. Heslip, and A. Lacey.

FLIERS' FANCIES IN SPRING turn to the wild blue yonder as gusty winds dry the wet spongy hilltop grass near the partly-finished Skyboro airstrip, Chemong Road. Wednesday afternoon Alex Ingram, Easter vacationing Otonabee township schoolteacher, decided to give it a whirl and take his friend Allen Wickins of Campbellford for a hop to Kingston. Prior to attempted take-off they are shown studying a route map. However the ground was too soft to give "lift" and the jaunt had to be abandoned; they will try again as soon as the sod is firm.—(Examiner Staff Photo)

Changing Times

City parks blossomed but with bright red benches today. The Parks Department was apparently affected by spring weather. Other years the benches were painted a sober dull green. But parks' dwellers are in no danger of getting their clothes striped with red. The workmen take away the heavy slats of the benches, leaving the cement ends behind and return them when they have been painted and dried.

Scouts Organize Children To Fight Fire

Boy Scouts organized a group of schoolchildren in the southwest of the city Wednesday afternoon to fight a large grassfire threatening some bushland in North Monaghan township.

The fire burned nearly three acres of grass and scrub brush, just west of the city boundary at Erskine and Orpington Road. The city fire department was called but the truck and crew returned when they saw that the fire was over the boundary.

About two dozen children from Grove, Confederation and St. John's Schools used cedar branches, sacks and old clothes to put out the creeping flames.

Prominent in the firefighting were the Scouts of St. Alban's Mission: Ronnie Steel, Ted Coulson, Michael Hurley, all of McKellar St.; and Bob Merritt, Little St.; Richard Lindsay, Orpington Rd.; and Don Kinniburgh, Hamilton.; Jack Pulkinghorn, O'Connell Rd., and Roy Wood Orpington Rd.

Two others—Jerry Black, of McKellar St., and Larry Heard, of Little St. — were Rangers, affiliated with Grace United Church.

Larry Heard ruined a jacket in his zeal to put out the fire.

City firemen were kept busy with six other grass fires.

These were at Amour Hill, on the C.P.R. right-of-way at Mark and Maria Sts., behind the Waddell property at 1093 Monaghan Rd., a vacant lot at Monaghan Rd. and Hawley St., C.N.R. right-of-way between Hunter and Douro Sts., and a vacant lot behind 127 Sophia St.

Farmers Vote To Decide Whether To Form Own Egg Marketing Board

Rural Polls Open 3 Days Across Ontario Hope To Follow Pattern Set By Cheese Producers In Province

Producer con... the marketing of eggs and poultry is the issue on which farmers are expected to mark their ballot at rural polls which opened at 9 a.m. today and close at 9 p.m. Saturday. Farmers have been contending for years and exhorting their own audiences that they should assume the business of selling their own products. To demonstrate that it can be done, Ontario cheese producers have set themselves up in merchandising and wholesaling to the extent that last year they sold most of their surplus of cheese to Great Britain without benefit of governmental agency.

There are other rural marketing schemes which have emanated from the wishes of the people themselves.

Must Be Petition

The government of Ontario provides, first that there must be a petition for the taking of the vote. That was done, and it was Vivian S. Milburn, secretary of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture, who presented the armful of signatures to Hon. T. L. Kennedy, Minister of Agriculture.

The result was that arrangements were undertaken for the voting that began this morning across the province on the question of producer control of the marketing of poultry products.

Ontario Federation have explained that they simply took the position of co-operating heartily with the Ontario Poultry Producers' Association. That statement was inspired by criticism of the whole scheme by some of the leaders of the pountry industry in this province.

Eligible Voters

Eligible voters are: farmers who are over 21 years of age and have produced eggs in 1951 or will be producing eggs in 1952.

The OPPA directors decided that, if approved, the scheme would not be put into effect in Ontario until at least two of the western provinces have adopted similar marketing plans.

Opposition

As an example of the opposition which has been raised against the plan of marketing eggs and poultry is the following letter received today with the signatures of four prominent producers in this area. They are: G. A. Brethen, Clare Telford, Stanley Andrews and D. A. McNeil.

They explain why they are voting "no" on this scheme. The text follows:

"1. The one per cent. per dozen levy on all eggs sold through egg-grading stations is a large slice of our income. Under normal conditions, the net return per hen per year will average about $1. Good production is about 15 dozen eggs per hen per year. That modest one-cent levy, therefore, proves to be 15 per cent. of our net income from egg production. It means $15 for each 100 hens on the farm. Compare this with the two cents per $45 hog levy in the hog scheme or the 1/10 cent per pound on poultry meat.

"2. And what will be done with the million dollars that this will represent in Ontario? Kenneth Betzner, president of the association promoting the scheme, stated at Hensall recently that it will be added to another million dollars collected on the prairies and used to gamble on the egg market. They will buy to strengthen the market when eggs are low and sell them when prices are good. All this means is that they will do exactly what a highly experienced and competitive egg trade has been doing as long as we have been in farming. And they have gambled with their own money —not ours.

"3. Under this scheme we will be given a permit 'to produce eggs.' Does this mean controlled production by the board? The scheme also gives the board authority to inspect your premises, examine your books and even order you to keep eggs at home at certain periods. This looks like dictatorship to us.

"Because of increased volume of hogs and eggs due to the western farmer being forced to feed a huge quantity of unmarketable grain, and also to the abnormal production of eggs in Ontario this year due to heavy buying of late season chicks, an abnormal surplus has resulted which promoters of this and similar schemes make no promise of being able to rectify or correct. The present Ontario cheese producers, in fact, after a good year in 1951, finding themselves at present faced with a huge surplus of milk and no export market for cheese, have been forced to reduce their cheese price five cents per pound and ask the Government for a floor price on cheese to prevent further losses.

"While heartily in favor of any attempt to stabilize production of eggs that would level off seasonal low and peak prices and thereby improve the position of both producer and consumer, we will vote 'no' to any scheme that will allow any organization to make a compulsory levy on the poultry producers to gamble by buying and selling eggs under abnormal conditions like the present, which more highly experienced and better-equipped agencies are losing huge sums of their own money trying to correct.

"(Signed) G. A. Brethen, D. A. McNeil, Clare Telford, Stanley Andrews."

Ex-Policeman Pleads Guilty To Break-in

LINDSAY, April 17—A former member of the Lindsay police force, Thomas Bolderstone, was remanded Tuesday for sentence until April 22 after being convicted of breaking into a Lindsay house.

Bolderstone said he was intoxicated at the time and had contemplated no offence. Through his counsel, R. I. Moore, QC, Bolderstone asked for another chance.

Crown Attorney Lorne Jordan disagreed with this suggestion and said that because of the accused's experience with the police department, he should have been less apt to become so involved.

Bolderstone told court of spending that afternoon and evening drinking beer, wine and liquor, and said he could remember nothing from 8.30 p.m. until he was arrested. Crown Attorney Lorne Jordan said this was a "convenient lapse of memory."

Child Scalded Sent To Toronto

COBOURG, April 17—(Special)—The 20-month-old daughter of an African missionary was rushed by provincial police Tuesday night to the Hospital for Sick Children, Toronto.

She is Ruth Wright, who was scalded on the forehead, leg and hand when she fell into a steaming pan of water at the home of her grandparents.

Had Pneumonia

Ruth's father, William E. Wright, said she was receiving steam treatment for pneumonia. She was left alone for a few minutes, and crawled to the edge of the bed, falling from there into the nearly-boiling water.

Ruth, who was born in Nigeria, did not take well to the sudden change of climate and contracted pneumonia shortly after the family's arrival in Canada.

Mr. Wright, a member of the Sudan Interior Mission, said his family had arrived on furlough early in December. They were staying with his wife's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred E. Smith, Cobourg.

Thieves Steal, Damage $1,000 In Chemong Property

By the time a well-organized gang of summer-cottage thieves had finished Tuesday night they had stolen or damaged nearly $1,000 worth of property belonging to Gordon Griffin of 312 George St. Mr. Griffin was the hardest hit of three summer cottagers on Chemong Lake who were victimized by the gang.

All three cottages are on the west shore of the lake, half a mile north of the Chemong Causeway.

One of them is owned by Joe Sullivan of Ennismore township, and the other by Harold Wiggans of Lansing.

OPP Constable Harold Armstrong is investigating.

Used Truck

The thieves apparently backed up a truck as near as they could to Mr. Griffin's cottage. They forced a west window to gain entry and then started to clean out furnishings.

Included in their loot was a space heater valued at $150, a mantel model radio, four chrome chairs, an electric tea kettle, electric toaster, blankets, sheets, rugs and even some gay sport shirts left in a drawer by Mr. Griffin.

The boathouse was broken into and a canoe, valued at $100, was stolen; so were paddles and some sails for the canoe. A lawn mower, powered by a gasoline motor, was also taken.

A heavy refrigerator was bolted to the kitchen floor and the thieves toted this away after breaking it away at the base. However it was so badly damaged by the time they dragged it through the house and got it outdoors that they abandoned it near the cottage.

The damage done to the interior of the house during this stripping process is almost as disconcerting to Mr. and Mrs. Griffin as the loss of their valuables.

Wrecked Floor

To remove the refrigerator through a convenient door the thieves ripped down a log partition between the kitchen and the living room. The linoleum of the floor was ruined by gouge marks from the weight of the refrigerator.

A built-in sink and cupboard were torn from the wall and left on the floor. Broken crockery was tramped into the floor.

"I'd almost as soon see the cottage a pile of ashes as the way it is," commented Mr. Griffin. His wife is even more despondent.

The breakin and theft was discovered Wednesday afternoon when the Griffins, who visit their cottage the year round, went out for a visit.

Chest Stolen

A chest of drawers with a mirror attached is the only thing that is known to have been stolen from Mr. Sullivan's cottage. Mr. Wiggans has not yet been located, so there has been no inventory made on his loss either. Both these cottages were entered by forcing a door.

"If you want to hang onto your possessions these days you have to sit right on them," said Mr. Griffin.

Rev. W. B. Greenwood Superintendent

The Rev. W. B. Greenwood of Belleville, formerly of Peterborough, Wednesday afternoon was re-elected district superintendent.

The elections took place at the annual district conference of the Pentecostal Assemblies of Canada being held at the Pentecostal Church on Dublin St. About 120 ministers and lay delegates are attending from 88 churches in the Eastern Ontario and Quebec district.

Other election results:

The Rev. Gordon Mill of Kingston, assistant district superintendent; and the Rev. Richard A. Bombay of Oshawa, district secretary-treasurer.

Chairmen of five sectional presbyteries will be elected later today.

Six students will be ordained at a special service tonight. They are Hudson Taylor Hildsen, Port Hope; William Cameron Stevenson, Marmora; Ernest William Zilch, assitant pastor of the Stone Church in Toronto; Donald Ira Rogers, Coboconk, William Albert Bowler, Port Perry, and Laverne Samuel Poirer, Brownsberg, Que.

The Rev. W. B. Greenwood will preside at the ordination service; and the preacher will be the Rev. George Griffin, Danforth Gospel Griffin.

Hospital Asked To Refer Patients To VON

The need for some type of referral system between hospitals and V.O.N. branches was emphasized Tuesday afternon by Miss Grace Versey, national office supervisor of the Victorian Order of Nurses of Canada.

Miss Versey, who is in Peterborough on the routine spring supervising visit, spoke at the monthly meeting of the V.O.N. Board of Directors Tuesday.

The national supervisor explained that systems of this type are already operating satisfactorily in some centres. She said hospitals should refer cases to the V.O.N. where it was thought there was a need when people left hospital.

Help At Factories

Another project that some V.O.N. branches have adopted was industrial part-time work, she said. V.O.N. nurses visit smaller industries for specified periods each day or week where the services of a full-time nurse aren't needed. The service given includes first aid and health counselling.

Miss Versey went on to explain that this project in industries was consistent with the order's policy to experiment where needs arise in a community and fulfill these needs until an official organization steps in.

One of the V.O.N.'s major experimental projects has been its lead in the public health problem of the aged.

The national supervisor also reported that at least two branches were being opened in Newfoundland and one in Quebec.

HENRY A. SHARPE of Smith township, president of Peterborough Federation of Agriculture, set an example by voting early this morning on the proposed producer marketing scheme for the poultry industry of Ontario. Alex Huston (left) of Otonabee is in charge of the poll at the local office of the Ontario Department of Agriculture. It opened at 9 a.m. today and closes at 9 p.m. Saturday. Control of the marketing of eggs and poultry is the question before the farmers of the province. Peterborough polls extend from Springville to Apsley and Westwood to Lakehurst. Frank C. Paterson is returning officer for Peterborough.—(Examiner Staff Photo)

Kemptville Man '52 Grand Master

LINDSAY, April 17 (ENS)—G. D. Beckett, of Kemptville, was elected Wednesday Grand Master of the Grand Black Chapter of Eastern Ontario of the Royal Black Knights of Ireland at the annual communication here.

A feature of the opening of Grand Lodge proper was the impressive memorial service for the late King George VI and the ceremony of administering the oath of allegiance to Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II. Reports showed the chapter to be numerically strong and financially healthy. The ceremony was conducted by the Grand Chaplain, Bro. Athol Caldwell, of North Gower. Officers elected were as follows: Grand Master, C. D. Beckett, Kemptville; Deputy Grand Master, R. G. Darling, Lakefield; Associate Deputy Grand Master, J. M. Robertson, Ottawa; Grand Chaplain, Athol Caldwell, North Gower; Grand Registrar, W. A. Chambers, Manitowoc; Deputy Grand Registrar, J. Swardfager; Grand Treasurer, A. H. Smith, Ottawa; Grand Lecturers, E. P. Mills, Smiths Falls, Harry Deyell, Omemee; Grand Censors, George Smith, Ottawa, W. Fallis, Millbrook; Grand Standard Bearers, Herbert Wallace, South Mountain, R. Gibson, Picton; Grand Pursuivants, W. J. Nicholl, Belleville, George Barns, Cornwall; Grand Marshal, Percy Chase, Lindsay; Grand Auditors, J. A. Holden, Peterborough, and H. P. Leslie, Britannia; Grand Committee, O. W. Hoy, James Daynard, H. W. Ross, G. F. Kinnard, Russell McFarlane, Lorne Little, James Stephenson. Deputy Grand Chaplains, Rev. K. Crawford, Enterprise, and John Hodgson, Ottawa.

V.O.N. Nurses Make 463 Visits In Month

V.O.N. nurses made 463 visits during March.

Miss Harriet McGeary, nurse-in-charge of the Peterborough branch of the V.O.N., in her report at the board of directors meeting Wednesday afternoon, explained that 306 of these visits were for nursing care and 141 educational visits.

During the month 93 patients were cared for and 71 of this total were new patients. Forty-two of the new patients were admitted for nursing care and 29 admitted for instruction.

The eight graduate nurses that were with the branch during the month made 64 observation visits.

BLUNT REQUEST—"U.S. Go Home" is the grim anti-American sentiment smeared in paint on car owned by a civilian employee of the U.S. Air Force at Chateauroux, France. Similar crudely-scrawled remarks have appeared in several places in Europe where American forces are stationed. Nationalist fanatics, or Communist sympathizers are believed responsible for the signs.

Asks For Duel Actor Arrested

PONTIAC, Mich., April 17 — (AP). — A disgruntled amateur actor was arrested Wednesday on a charge of violating an 1816 statute by challenging three of his former associates to a duel.

Carl O'Brien, 22, an unemployed shoe salesman, was released under $10,000 bond for an April 22 hearing.

Police said the specific charge "challenging to fight a duel" had not been invoked in Michigan since the turn of the century. Conviction would carry a maximum penalty of 10 years in jail, a $5,000 fine, or both.

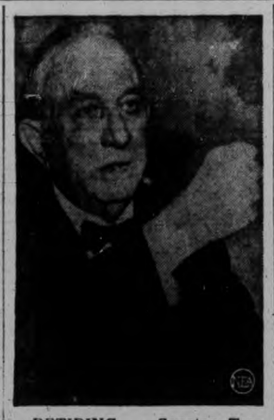
Authorities said O'Brien, a former member of the Master Players, an amateur theatrical group, was expelled two months ago for "hamming up rehearsals."

O'Brien suggested sabres, knives or pistols as weapons for the duel, but left the choice up to his selected opponents— William Fogle, Harold Person and Milton Stephenson, all members of the actors' group.

In court Wednesday, O'Brien said his challenge was "all a hoax" and said, "I've been too dramatic."

Drowns In Pool

ST. CATHARINES, April 17.—(CP)—Elsie Schlamp, 16, was drowned Wednesday at an indoor swimming pool here. She was missed at the end of the swim period and searchers found her body at the bottom of the pool.



RETIRING — Senator Tom Connally, Texas Democrat, announced in Washington that he has decided to retire rather than face a stiff re-election battle. The chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, he has served in the Congress for 35 years.

Useless 5 Months

ROANOKE, Vae, Va., April 17 (AP)—H. E. Moore told the Atlantic States Shippers' Advisory Board here Wednesday the proposed St. Lawrence Seaway will be practically useless five months of each year. The project was referred to as the "international ice follies" and the "great St. Lawrence skating rink," in a critical talk by Moore, of Syracuse, N.Y.

Movie Column

Everyone Must Fit Pattern In Hollywood Actor Complains

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, April 17—(AP)—Another Stanley Kowalski has hit Hollywood. This one is neater than Marlon Brando, but his ideas about the movie town have a similar bite.

The new personality is Bonar Colleano, an American who played opposite Vivien Leigh in the London stage run of "A Streetcar Named Desire." He came here from England to play an American soldier in "The Dirty Dozen."

Colleano (pronounced Koleeno) has some of the dynamic qualities of Brando. Asked for his impressions of Hollywood, he said, "I'm not one of those guys who come to Hollywood to knock it. After all, I've only been here six weeks, and it's my first visit.

"But, it seems to me that Hollywood is too insular. The studios expect everyone to conform to their kind of thinking.

"They import some of the greatest talent in the world. Then they don't allow that talent to express original ideas. Everybody must fit the pattern of what has gone on before.

"If I could move Hollywood's climate to London, I'd like it fine."

Colleano's own history is unusual. He possesses a dual citizenship—British and U.S. The reason for this is that he was born in New York of Australian parentage.

Real Name Sullivan

The Colleano name sounds Italian, and he could pass for a Latin. Actually, he is about as Italian as Barry Fitzgerald. The family's real name is Sullivan, and Grandpa Cornelius Sullivan was born in County Cork. A circus man, he landed in Australia and settled there. He started his own circus down under, taking the Colleano name to make it sound European.

There are preforming Colleanos all over the globe. Con Colleano, Bonar's uncle, is the famed tightwire artist, now with Clyde Beatty's circus. Aunt Winnifred is a well-known aerialist, and another uncle is currently performing an act in Las Vegas. Bonar spent most of his childhood touring the U.S. with his parents, who were acrobats.

"I'm the only member of the family who went legit," said Bonar, who is 28. That happened after he went to England, where he has lived since 1936.

During the war, he enlisted in the U.S. Air Force, taking his training in England. He was invalided out after a unique accident.

"I fell out of a B-29," he reported. "I hate to ruin a good story, but I have to add that the motors weren't turning at the time. The plane was on the ground."

SACRED TREE

The oak tree and all its fruits, including mistletoe, were sacred to the ancient druids of Britain.

Girls' Club Joins Coldsprings W.I. At April Meeting

COLDSPRINGS, April 17 (ENS) —April meeting of the Coldsprings Women's Institute, was held Tuesday afternoon in the hall with an attendance of 60. Mrs. Wm. Maughan, second vice-president presided over the program.

The meeting opened with community singing after which Mrs. Melville Dines gave current events.

A trio composed of Marlene, Ray, and Linda Turk sang "Down Yonder" and "Peter Cottontail."

Mrs. Milton Lacey, leader of the "Cotton Pinkers" girls club addressed the meeting, after which Mrs. Willard Jibb, one of the club members, gave a three-minute comment on "Cottons may be smart." Four members of the club presented a short skit on, "Posture is important for summer cottons". A dress parade followed, each member displaying the dresses she made the past year. Those taking part were: Misses Norma Lang, Dorothea Bowman, Elva Willis, Mrs. A. Bowman, and Mrs. W. Jibb.

Miss Elaine Minifie, played a piano solo. Mrs. Roy Bray gave a talk on her bus trip, which she took to Florida in February. She also displayed souvenirs and trinkets, she had purchased while there.

Miss Edith Hoskin spoke on historical research. Mrs. Hilton Minifie, convener, moved a vote of thanks to those taking part. Mrs. A. Linton, first vice president, conducted the business. Mrs. H. McKinley, secretary, reported a balance on hand of $421.37. The amount of $41.40 was realized from the National Youth banquet.

Elmview and Harwood branch are to unite with Coldsprings for the district conference "We call it Human Nature" to be held at Coldsprings on April 28.

Miss Anne Moffatt, gave the auditor's report. It was moved and seconded to buy an electric water heater for the hall, from Paul Harris. Mrs. M. Dines, and Mrs. K. Harper, were appointed a committee to see about getting an electric stove for the hall kitchen.

Members are to start a house plant for the fall bazaar. It was voted to send flowers to Mrs. Hilton Eagleson, district president, who is ill in Toronto hospital.

BARRED FROM PRACTICE —The College of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario has barred Dr. John Emil Hett, 81, of Windsor, from the practice of medicine in Ontario, for what is described as "infamous and disgraceful conduct in a professional sense." It was the second time in 15 years that the college erased Dr. Hett's name from the list. The announcement of the disbarment said Dr. Hett has refused consistently to divulge the formula of his "secret remedy" for cancer, arthritis, diabetes and peptic ulcers. In Windsor, Dr. Hett said he has "no intention of quitting practice."

BREAKS ICE JAM—The United States coast guard cutter Mackinaw helps the steamer Canadoc break clear of heavy floe ice in St. Mary's River. The ice, 20 feet deep, filled the channel between Neebish Island and the Michigan shore about 25 miles below Sault Ste. Marie, Ont. Upbound traffic was halted as the coast guard tried to clear nearly 100 downbound freighters through two narrow channels.

Have Special Centre

RENFREW, April 17. (CP) — Health Minister Phillips said on Wednesday that within 10 years every hospital in Ontario will have a special centre for chronic and convalescent cases. Dr. Phillips opened one such unit, first in the province, at Victoria Hospital here.

May Vote Against Liberals Threat Of Catholics In B.C.

VANCOUVER, April 17 (CP).—The British Columbia Catholic Education Association said Wednesday in a statement: "The outcome of the Liberal convention will determine whether the Liberals intend to receive the Roman Catholic vote or refuse it."

The association warned, in effect, that it will ask Roman Catholics to vote against the Liberals in the June 12 provincial general election if the Liberal convention April 23 backs Education Minister W. T. Straith on his stand in B.C.'s separate schools dispute.

Mr. Straith told the B. C. Teachers' Federation convention here Monday night: "I would not wish to administer the Department of Education under any but our present system: . . . The trend on this democratic continent is against any change in our system of public schools. . . We do not have the cleavages on religious and racial lines as in the other provinces where separate schools are maintained. And we don't wish to reverse that process."

The association statement said: "The misuse of the phrase 'separate schools' is becoming a common source of confusion and tends to mislead the general public. We in B.C. have always had separate schools, our children have been separated from the B.C. school system almost completely and we are asking for integration.

"We have repeatedly called to our defence the innate human rights that have been recognized by the other provinces of Canada, by the British North America Act and the United Nations declaration of human rights.

"Mr. Straith's statements reported in the daily press as being the official policy of the Liberal Government is a direct denial of these educational minority rights."

Under the present school system, the provincial government builds and maintains public schools. Religious groups wanting their own schools must pay for them themselves and, generally speaking, receive no financial help from the government.

Rector Dies

BALA, April 17. (CP)— The Rev. William S. Swaison, for many years rector of the Anglican Church of the Redeemer at nearby Rosseau Bay, died here Wednesday. A native of England, he came to Canada as a young man and served for many years as a missionary in northern Ontario. He is survived by a son, Robert of Rosseau, and a daughter, Mrs. Floyd McGary of Pickering.

Barbara Brent's BUYS AND WHYS

A WEEKLY INFORMATION SERVICE

MONTREAL, April 17th—Another beautiful Woodbury bride, Betty Savage, was married recently. Betty's pearl-pink satin gown matched her luminously clear, exquisitely smooth complexion. Her beauty secret? The mild, creamy lather of WOODBURY FACIAL SOAP leaves skin radiantly smooth, younger-looking. While some soaps tend to dry sensitive skin, Woodbury actually softens it! You see, to every cake of Woodbury, skin scientists add a beauty-cream ingredient . . . the same softening oil used in fine face creams. It's intended to help replace the natural oils you wash away. Try Woodbury Soap! See how bride-beautiful you can be! And try the Woodbury big Beauty Bath Size—for all-over loveliness.

Don't Let A Lovely Spring Day Catch You With The "Blues". Chase them away with a glass of sparkling SAL HEPATICA before breakfast. And you'll agree — Sal Hepatica effervescent salts are pleasant to take — gentle as can be. When hubby or son isn't feeling "just right" either, suggest they try Sal Hepatica — it's been a faithful family laxative for over 60 years. Another beauty about Sal Hepatica is that you can use it safely merely as a refresher in the morning — or at night when your system feels the need of a more thorough remedy. So next time you're shopping—ask for a jar of Sal Hepatica and send the box top or label, with your name and address, to me — Barbara Brent, 1411 Crescent St., Montreal, P.Q. — and I'll send you a FREE, generous 25c size jar of MUM Cream Deodorant!

Are You Sensitive? No, this isn't a personality quiz, but just a friendly tip to those with easily irritated skins. If that includes you then you'll especially welcome the caressing softness of FACE-ELLE tissue handkerchiefs. I have reliable information that it's the only alkaline (non-acid) tissue in Canada . . . and remember, it's acidity which adds to nose discomfort when you have a heavy head cold! So get the tissue that's always kind to your nose . . . that's always a comfort to use because of its gentle softness, extra strength and faster absorbency. It is these qualities which make the brand name so important when buying tissue handkerchiefs. Remember the brand name "Face-Elle" and you will be more than satisfied with what you get!

They Wouldn't Believe Me . . . you should have heard them—"but, Barbara, that refrigerator looks brand, spanking new!" It does too, thanks to my wonderful FRIGEN Enamel. Gone are the days when paint-worn stoves, refrigerators, toilet seats and medicine cabinets were major tragedies. Now, with this economical Frigen Enamel you may give a durable, factory-bright finish to all such household appliances. You see, Frigen is something unique in enamels—designed to give a factory finish—it takes 3-4 hours to dry—and comes with paint, brush, sandpaper—in fact all you need in one handy package. Ask for guaranteed Frigen Enamel at your paint dealer's.

"After The Ball Is Over" it's fun to have the crowd in for a late evening snack—sandwiches, coffee and cake. And you'll usually find it's the cake that adds the finishing touch . . . especially when your cake is fluffy and light, moist and delicious . . . the kind of cakes you have with SWANS DOWN CAKE FLOUR. Swans Down cakes are always tempting, and melt-in-your mouth. Swans Down Cake Flour is specially made for better cakes. It is sifted and resifted until 27 times as fine as ordinary flour. Remember — men love Swans Down cakes, and the girls who bake them.

You Haven't Really Tasted Steak 'til you've tasted steak with AC'CENT on it! All the succulent steak juices come alive with vivid, natural flavour. And not with steaks alone, does Ac'cent perform its flavour magic. It gives you more true, sparkling flavour in many familiar foods. What is Ac'cent and what exactly does it do? Well — until quite recently, it was almost a trade secret of chefs and gourmets. It's a master seasoning (pure monosodium glutamate) that doesn't change or mask the flavour of good food—it simply heightens and sustains it. Ask for a shaker of Ac'cent today — it's like no other product on your grocer's shelves . . . and discover new, thrilling flavours in your favourite foods.

April Showers may dampen our spirits and even our homes . . . but WINDSOR SALT is always free-running—there's never a suspicion of a lump, large or small. And that's just one of the things I know you'll like about Windsor Salt. Try it in all your recipes that call for salt. Use it in your baking . . . bread, biscuits, muffins, waffles and doughnuts. Sprinkle Windsor Salt on apples, grapefruit and melons for a real adventure in good taste. I always use Windsor Salt to brighten the flavour of food, in the kitchen and at the table. In fact, I'm putting it on my shopping list right now. Why don't you?

Designed For Living in comfort through the warm summer months . . . in fact, dorothy-jeanne Maternity Fashions are designed to keep you neat and lovely while you're waiting at any time of the year. You'll be delighted with the dorothy-jeanne Maternity Fashions, I know . . . every type and style of garment — all featuring adjustable double zippers to give you waiting room. See the versatile rayon suits — the pretty dresses of imported, washable cotton — the smartly tailored skirts, slacks, shorts, clam diggers and separate tops. These "figure flatterers" come in the newest colours and sturdy fabrics. And you'll like their small price — suits and dresses — just $17.00 to $29.00.

At Mary's Bridge Party the talk was about babies and what they should eat. And I wasn't surprised by the popularity of HEINZ PRE-COOKED CEREALS. They're grand for babies . . . and for mothers, too. You see, they're already pre-cooked for baby — so all you have to do is add warm milk or formula and serve. But most important of all—Heinz Pre-Cooked Cereals are truly good for baby. They're nourishing and easy to digest. And all three contain needed calcium and other minerals to help build strong, sturdy young bodies. Ask your dealer for Heinz Pre-Cooked Cereals — the brand new Rice Cereal to which Vitamin-B1 has been added . . . and the old favourites Barley Cereal, Oatmeal Mixture and Cereal Food. And ask for Heinz Strained Baby Foods and Junior Foods, too.

Out Of Sober Winter Clothes into the gaiety of Spring suits and dresses . . . I'll wager you're busy right now—remodelling and making your Spring wardrobe. So here's a tip—be sure to use LIGHTNING SLIDE FASTENERS for the exciting "couturier" look that will be the envy of your friends. Yes, Lightning Fasteners give the professional "finishing touch" to all the clothes you make. They fit so neatly, smoothly into skirt and dress seams to give you wonderful figure flattery. And you'll find just the size, length and colour of Lightning Fastener you want—for every fashion-wise costume you make . . . No. 702 for dresses, 805 for your skirts. And remember, every Lightning you buy has Lightning's exclusive automatic lock! It never slips down!

Here's A Gal Who Likes A Bargain — Me! Particularly when it's a genuine, "get-up-and-shout-about-it" bargain like BLUE BONNET MARGARINE. Just compare Blue Bonnet with any spread at any price. Don't you agree with me that it's "tops" in flavour and economy? And it gives you "full value" in nutrition, too. I use Blue Bonnet in all my cooking and on bread and toast — it's as good melting hot as fresh from the refrigerator. And I like the Yellow Quik bag that Blue Bonnet comes in. Makes it so easy to colour. Just press the colour button on the bag and knead gently. In just two minutes your Blue Bonnet Margarine is golden-yellow — ready-to-use . . . no messy dishes—no extra work.

Out Of The Blue . . . the whitest wash you've ever seen! And it's so easy, even a bride can do it! The secret is Blue. Just swish a little Blue in the final rinsing and that does the trick. Blue is kind to your finest fabrics —so you're not taking chances when you use it to get your washing snowy white. And the cost? Think nothing of it! . . . a few pennies a month, that's all. Yes, Blue prevents yellow tinge. And it's marvelous for rinsing white hair, too!

Yes, for the whitest wash, it's RECKITT'S Blue.

Buying Spree Causes Aussie Headache

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

A buying spree on the heady profits of high wool prices seems to have caused Australia's present trade headache.

During the spree, Australia bought more from other countries than she sold to them. In the cold light of the "morning after" she has sharply reduced this buying. The United Kingdom will feel it most, but Canada's already-slimming Commonwealth trade will feel it too.

To take wool prices first: defence and stockpile buying from many parts of the world sent them soaring until March, 1951, they reached an all-time high of 314 pence per pound for 64s, a fine grade. Then demand eased, and by March last prices were down to 110 pence for 64s, though they have since strengthened.

Australians, their pockets pulging, bought heavily during the boom, both at home and from overseas, and the overseas buying, by making more goods available, probably helped to combat high prices.

Buying Continued

However, the buying continued after the inflated wool prices and their rich overseas earnings, had dropped. Goods, foods from the United Kingdom, Western Europe and Japan became much more readily available than heretofore and came pouring in; heavy equipment ordered, in some cases years ago, started to appear on the docks. Australia found its overseas money reserves dropping at a fast rate.

Finally, in March, the government had seen enough, and put on import restrictions.

The cuts, apparently, have not resulted in immediate shortages, because a large stock of imported goods had been built up.

Glad of Restrictions

Some importers are glad of the restrictions, because they were getting over-stocked. Not only were goods pouring in but, as in Canada, credit restrictions, added to high prices, had made it increasingly difficult for people to buy.

Even without government restrictions, the overseas buying appears to have slowed down soon—which was, of course, what the government had expected it to do. But it wasn't happening quickly enough, and so the government stepped in.

On the whole, with Australians apparently not noticing much difference in their supply of goods, one might ask, "Whose headache is this anyway?"

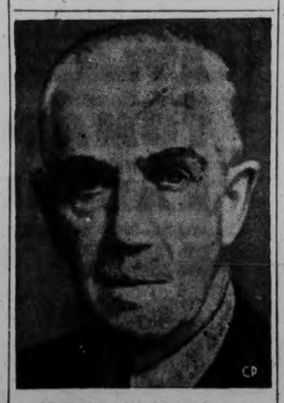
Reverse Stand, Approve Seaway

NEW YORK, April 17 (CP). — The Herald Tribune says today it has reversed its stand and now approves joint construction of the St. Lawrence seaway by Canada and the United States.

"The St. Lawrence is a common border," the Tribune says in an editorial, "and by every concept of statesmanship, neighborliness, and international relationships it ought to be developed as a common responsibility."

"This newspaper has opposed the undertaking of a major public works project in a period of full employment and high defence spending; but Canada's resolve to go ahead immediately has changed the situation."

External Affairs Minister L. B. Pearson and Transport Minister Lionel Chevrier announced Monday after a meeting with President Truman that the way was cleared for immediate submission to the international joint commission of Canadian plans for developing the seaway and power project.



BRITISH ARCHITECT—Andrew Graham Henderson, president of the Royal Institute of British Architects, has arrived in Canada to attend the annual meeting of the Royal Architectural Institute of Canada in Vancouver later this month. His visit marks the first time a president of the British Institute has visited a Commonwealth country during his term of office. Mr. Henderson will also visit federated chapters in various Canadian cities.

Worry of FALSE TEETH
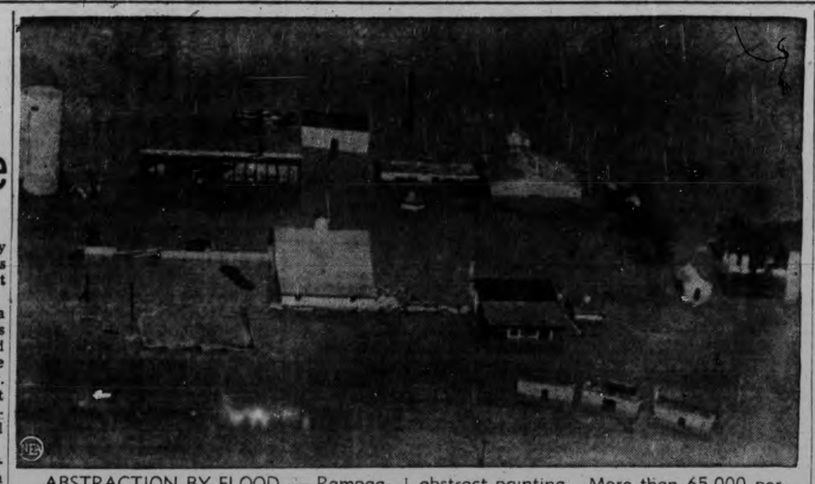
Slipping or Irritating?

Don't be embarrassed by loose false teeth slipping, dropping or wabbling when you eat, talk or laugh. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH on your plates. This pleasant powder gives a remarkable sense of added comfort and security by holding plates more firmly. No gummy, gooey, pasty taste or feeling. It's alkaline (non-acid). Get FASTEETH at any drug store.



ABSTRACTION BY FLOOD — Rampaging flood waters of the Missouri River overran this South Dakota farm, near Jefferson, giving the scene the appearance of an abstract painting. More than 65,000 persons have been left homeless by the floods, which are ravaging an eight-state area.

PUSSY'S LONG HIKE

LAC DU BONNET, Man. (CP)—A crooked-tailed cat that was taken by air to Little Grand Rapids some months ago returned on foot to its former home here. Easily identified by its disfigured tail, the cat had walked about 200 miles in a little over 100 days.

Ask Federal Assistance With Educational Grants

TORONTO, April 17. (CP)—The Ontario School Trustees and Ratepayers Association Wednesday asked for federal grants to the provinces for education. The association, meeting in conjunction with the Ontario Educational Association, said in a resolution the cost of education has become a burden on property owners and the province.

J. J. Thurston of Victoria county said the Federal government should assist in the establishment of a curriculum for the whole country.

"We don't want citizens of 10 different provinces, but citizens of Canada," he said.

Mr. Thurston pointed out that federal intervention might mean some federal control.

The trustees and ratepayers will also seek the abolition of legislation permitting the establishment of separate schools for negro children in the province.

The Rev. G. H. Thomas of Markham, sponsor of the move, said the legislation was contrary to democratic principles. He said any form of discrimination is an offence to morals and harmful to community harmony.

To Discuss Salaries

The O.E.A. agreed to seek a conference with the Ontario Teachers' Federation to discuss salaries. Highway Minister Doucett of Ontario will be asked to sponsor legislation which would compel motorists travelling in either direction to stop when a school bus halts to pick up or discharge passengers.

Winding up its section of the conference, the Rural and Trustee Group in a resolution, urged the provincial government not to allow separate schools for immigration groups.

Canada, Japan Plan Statlus When Treaty Becomes Effective

OTTAWA, April 17. (CP) — Canada and Japan will place their resumed diplomatic relations on embassy status as soon as the peace treaty becomes effective April 28, officials said Wednesday.

Before the war with Japan started in 1941, the two countries exchanged ministries, a notch below the embassy level. At present, Canada has a "mission" in Tokyo, while Japan has an "agency" here.

Immediately after the treaty takes effect, these will be changed to embassies. At the start, officials said, they will be headed by charges d'affaires. Within a few months, ambassadors will be appointed.

First acting head—charge d'affaires—of the new Canadian Embassy in Tokyo will be Arthur Menzies, 36, China-born and Japanese-educated head of the Canadian liaison mission there since 1950.

No Choice Yet

The government has not yet made a choice for its first ambassador, and it was understood there is still doubt as to whether he will be a career external affairs man or one from outside the government.

The present staff of Canada's mission to Japan is seven. This likely will be enlarged under the new setup.

Japan's first embassy chief as charge d'affaires will be Katsushiro Narito, 48, now head of the Japanese Government overseas agency here, which has a staff of six.

He has been with the Japanese Foreign Office since 1929, serving in London, Moscow, Berlin, Manchukuo and Tokyo. He has been in charge of the agency since it opened last June.

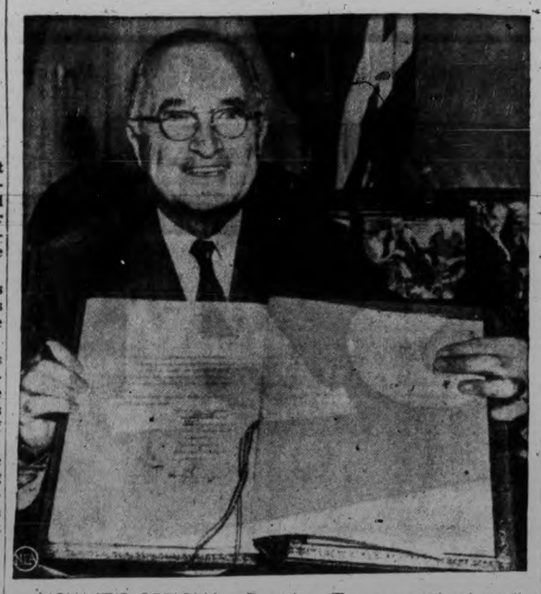
Big Office Building

VANCOUVER, April 17 (CP)— An 18-storey, $5,500,000 office building, designed as a nerve centre for major industries in British Columbia's record business expansion, will be built in downtown Vancouver. It will be the first major office building constructed here since the 20-storey Marine Building was completed in 1931.



NOW IT'S OFFICIAL—President Truman smiles broadly as he holds up the Japanese peace treaty which he signed in a brief ceremony at the White House. The President's signature constituted this country's formal ratification.

Driving Courses Urged In Schools

TORONTO, April 17—Courses in automobile driving should be included in the curriculum of high schools and universities, Inspector Vernon Page of Toronto Traffic Division told the Urban Principals' Association of the OEA Wednesday at lunch at Chez Paree.

"I wouldn't try to teach my children their schoolwork," said Insp. Page. "And I wouldn't teach them to drive, either. That is a job for a professional teacher. There should be a course in behind-the-wheel driving and theoretical classroom training incorporated in our high school program."

Primary schools can help by emphasizing safety in their schools, Insp. Page suggested. "One of every two children in public school today will grow up and drive a car," he said. "You in the teaching profession should realize that you can do more than most adult groups to help promote safety.

"Trying to improve today's drivers is like trying to build a solid second floor on a shaky foundation," continued the inspector. "The people who are driving cars today have no safety consciousness acquired in childhood," he said. "By taking advantage of our public school teaching setup, we can educate our children to be better, safer drivers than we ourselves are."

GROWING CITIES

Canada now has 34 cities with populations of over 30,000 compared with 27 in the census of 1941.

STEADY INCREASE

An estimated 382,000 babies were born in Canada in 1951, highest total in the country's history.

BRIGHT FUTURE PREDICTED — British critics have predicted a bright future for Canadian actress Frances Hyland. Miss Hyland, 24, a native of Shaunavon, Sask., who grew up in Regina, has the leading role of the London stage play, "The Same Sky," a play about a mixed marriage. Miss Hyland's debut was called "extraordinarily impressive" by a Daily Express critic and The Times called her portrayal of a Jewish girl in love with a Gentile soldier "excellent."

Country Life Hard

TORONTO, April 17 — (CP) — J. Yeltzi, of Milverton, told the Ontario Education Association Wednesday he met a young Toronto teacher who felt the life of a rural school teacher is hard.

"He said they are too closely watched in the country," said Mr. Yeltzi. "In Toronto a teacher can get drunk and get away with it so long as he stays sober in school."

Nylons Plentiful, Also Cheaper In British Shops

By MURIEL NARRAWAY, Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON—(CP)—Britain's Easter brides can count their blessings in this 12th year of austerity.

Despite all the hardships that British women have come to take practically for granted, there's at least one big boon—nylons are more plentiful.

For the first time since nylon stockings topped the hosiery trade popularity poll during the Second World War, women can walk into stores and choose from several varieties in fully-fashioned 15-denier hose.

This is a novelty which everyone appreciates. For so many years, just finding top-grade nylons has been a feat in itself, without regard to size and color.

Now, sheer stockings in the latest spring shades cascade temptingly from pretty Easter eggshells over counters decorated with chickens, daffodils and mad March hares. And the price has just been cut from 17s 6d to 10s 6d for top-grade hose.

Well-known brands with trade names that were almost forgotten can be obtained in sunny tans, so appropriate with the latest golds and almond greens of spring dress styles. There are also smoky browns and greys for the pastel-shaded suitings that will be worn at many spring race meetings.

Britain's nylon shoppers can safely be happy— for the moment. Even if they content themselves with seconds — imperfect and sub-standard hose— these are still marked by reputable brands. Seamless stockings and 30-denier hose are also available at cut prices.

"Of course," said the buyer of one Regent Street store, "We don't know how long supplies will continue."

More Help for Brides.

Another advantage for the Easter bride is that some lines of wearing apparel destined for export are being diverted to the home market— at prices acceptable to the most stringent trousseau budget.

One good find for brides with clever fingers is a range of cheap export materials selling at less than 3s a yard. These are suitable for dresses and soft furnishings.

Another cause for jubilation is the fact that this year's "tax" brides, as those marrying in March and April are commonly called, are the last to buy trousseaux under the 10-year-old utility scheme that became part of every-day life in post-war Britain.

Th old utility scheme gave place March 17 to new "D" scheme. This means that instead of utility goods being sold without tax and non-utility goods with tax, a scheme of graded taxation will cover all goods prices above certain low margins.

It's too early to say exactly what the effect will be. But it seems certain that next year's brides will pay more for the same quality.

The Easter brides are commonly called "tax" brides in Britain because of the annual rush to get married before April 5, start of the next tax year.

SWIM CHAMP — Twenty-two-year-old June Taylor, of St. Catharines, has won the 1952 United States National Solo Synchronized Swimming championship. The contest was held at Des Moines, Iowa. It was the third successive win for Miss Taylor.

How To Cook Calf Brains

By MARY MOORE

Some of my thoughts I do keep to myself, but one of them I can express now because of these two letters:

No. 1, "Dear Mrs. Moore, I am a steady reader and never miss your recipes, they are all good, but I never see any recipes on how to prepare calf brains. I fry them in butter with onions, salt and pepper, but I'm sure there is a much more delicious way to cook brains—maybe you could help me. V. M.

No. 2, "Dear Mary: I've been doing the shopping for our family of five (I happen to be the father) and I see brains for sale (not the kind we need most!) in our local shopping centre. If I knew how to cook them I'd buy some and serve them up to the family. Would my wife ever be surprised! Do not get me wrong—I'm doing the shopping to help her—not to watch the shekels—the steak for five of us for Saturday night's bust-out cost $2.40. Bill Bell.

Isn't that terrific? I bet he's a wonderful husband.

The thought I am going to expose is this: I've lamented that the average Canadian is a little leery of these "organ" meats. Britishers are not,—here's my chance to give you the low-down on making them into table delicacies.

Brains should always be parboiled in salted water to cover with 1 or 2 tablespoons vinegar added, for 12 to 15 minutes—until they are "firmed." Plunge in cold water to chill quickly.

Breaded Brains

Separate the brains into about 1½-inch chunks. Dry them. Dip in fine sifted crumbs, then in beaten egg, then in salted and peppered crumbs. They may be pan fried in butter until golden, or they may be fried in deep very hot fat until golden, turning once. The latter is better. They are delicious served with tomato sauce.

Tomato Sauce: Boil 1 20-oz. can tomatoes with 1 bay leaf, 1 slice onion, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, ½ teaspoon salt, for 10 minutes, then thicken by stirring into it a paste made of 2½ tablespoons flour and 2½ tablespoons cold water. When thick and serving time arrives, strain this into bowl or gravy boat.

Scrambled Eggs With Brains

Cut chilled parboiled brains into ½ inch cubes. Brown them in frying pan in 2 tablespoons butter (for ½ lb.) but do not burn them. Meanwhile beat 5 eggs until very frothy, add 2-3 cup milk and ½ teaspoon salt. Pour into the hot pan containing the brains and let cook until a layer at bottom of about ¼ inch sets, then push to sides of pan to allow liquid part of eggs to flow over bottom. Continue "layering" the scrambled eggs until they are set. Serve on hot platter on crisp triangles of toast and garnish with parsley. This is a delicious and well-known English breakfast.

Brain, Casserole Or Ramequins

Clean and parboil brains (see above) and cut into ¾ or 1-inch cubes—about 1 pound. Melt 3 tablespoons butter, add 4 tablespoons flour, and pour on gradually 1¼ cups chicken stock or clear liquid from canned chicken soup, diluted. Stir until thick. Reheat the brains in this sauce and add 1-3 cup heavy cream and 1½ teaspoons beef extract or a bouillon cube. Season with salt, pepper and lemon juice. Fill small baking dish or individual ramequins, cover with a layer of buttered fine crumbs and bake at 375 deg. Fahr. until browned and bubbling. Served with spinach and carrots this is an economical and pretty supper.

Mrs. Walter Forsyth of 493 Cross St., is quietly celebrating her 77th birthday today, April 17

✧ ✧ ✧

Mrs. Ethel Nickerson and granddaughter, Sally, of Birmingham, Mich., are guests of Mrs. Rowsh of Springville, for a few days.

✧ ✧ ✧

Mrs. Vic Farrant, Caddy St., has now returned to the city after spending the past three weeks visiting at Sault Ste. Marie, Michigan and Manistique, Michigan.

✧ ✧ ✧

Word has been received by Mrs. G. Bills of 576 Wolfe St., of the death at Birmingham, England, of her brother, Mr. Harold Wain, who is formerly of this city.

✧ ✧ ✧

Mrs. J. A. Corbett of 307 Rubidge St., is in Toronto to attend the annual dinner of the associates of the Laura Secord Candy Shops being held today. Mr. John D. Hayes, president, will be host.

✧ ✧ ✧

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. A Burke, Jack and Theresa, 295 King St., have returned home after spending Easter with Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Dowdall and family, of R.R. 2, Perth.

✧ ✧ ✧

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Rose, Morrow St., have returned home after a pleasant Easter week-end spent with their sons-in-law and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Sid Turner of Owen Sound and Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Aitken of Toronto.

✧ ✧ ✧

Those from out of the city who attended the funeral last week of Miss Audrey Rose included Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Rose from Brantford, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Moore and son, Mrs. George Moore Sr., Mrs. George Moore Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hewlett, and Mrs. Charles Lewis, all of New Toronto, and Mr. Edward Rose and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Rose of Bowmanville.

The Chi Rho Fellowship of St. John's Anglican Church, held an evening of carpet bowling in the Parish Hall Tuesday. Refreshments were served afterward by Miss Margaret Dainton. Plans are being made for a wiener roast to be held later in the spring.

✧ ✧ ✧

Forty tables have already been reserved for the mixed card party being held this Friday evening at the Y.W.C.A. by the Gym Auxiliary. A special invitation is extended to the husbands and friends to attend this event and bridge, canasta and euchre will all be played. There are lovely prizes to win and there will be nice refreshments. Mrs. Marlow Banks and Mrs. Stan McBride are in charge of arrangements.

✧ ✧ ✧

Arrange Annual Banquet

Civic Hospital Alumnae monthly meeting was in the nurses' residence Tuesday evening and was largely attended. Final plans for the annual banquet to be held May 15th at the Empress Hotel were discussed. All city and district graduate nurses are invited and are asked to make reservations early. Guest speaker will be Professor Karl Bernhardt, professor of psychology at the University of Toronto. The regular meeting has been cancelled for May owing to the banquet and the June meeting will be held in the form of a picnic. Members will be notified later of the time and place of this. Regret was expressed at the resignation of Miss Doris Swain, treasurer of the Alumnae. Mrs. William Clark was appointed to the office in her place. A social hour followed the meeting with lunch being served by Mrs. G. Wade and committee.

✧ ✧ ✧

Fete Bride-To-Be

Mrs. Gordon Bennett of Peterborough and Mrs. Harold Rowan of Springville were joint hostesses at the latter's home for a miscellaneous shower in honor of Miss Dianne Cullen, a bride-to-be. Those present were: Mrs. A. Stevens, Mrs. Frank Stevens, Mrs. G. Whitfield, Mrs. Clarence Johnston, Miss A. Brown, Mrs. B. Visee, Mrs. D. Cathcart, Mrs. M. Cullen, Miss Dianne Cullen, Mrs. B. Sargent, Mrs. Richard Earle, Mrs. W. Bowles, Mrs. O. Murray, Mrs. Milton Clysdale, Mrs. Cecil Derry, Mrs. Frank Berry, Mrs. Gordon Wyatt, Mrs. Bill Thompson. Contests were enjoyed and after the presents were opened by Miss Cullen, lunch was served.

King's Own Class Holds Lovely Tea In Wesley Hall

A very lovely Easter tea was held by the King's Own Bible Class of St. James' United Church on Wednesday afternoon. Setting was the classroom in Wesley Hall which had been so charmingly decorated for the occasion.

Large life-like colored bunnies and chickens were standing around among the tea tables and little yellow chickens were nestled in the tea table centrepiece. Streamers in the mauve and yellow Easter colorings highlighted these symbols of the season.

The serving table was centred with a silver basket of yellow daffodils set in a bank of mauve frills and yellow candles in silver holders were tied with mauve ribbon, and all set on a hand-crocheted cloth. Small tables were each centred with a little mauve nest filled with eggs and a fluffy little chicken.

This event was convened by Mrs. G. Harris.

Class resident Mrs. L. Gibson and vice-president Mrs. B. Hooey were receiving at the door.

The tea pourers were four past presidents, Mrs. H. F. Doig, Mrs. A. Clark, Mrs. E. Kitney and Mrs. G. Pearson.

Servers at the small tables were Mrs. B. Pitchford, Mrs. J. Finnie, Mrs. S. Davies, Mrs. L. Hess, Mrs. E. Emery, Mrs. W. Stanbury, Mrs. N. R. Gilders, Mrs. G. Morrison, Mrs. H. Allen, Mrs. L. Bristow and Mrs. G. N. Webb. Mrs. F. Pollyblank and Mrs. J. H. Freeman were making tea and Mrs. E. Robinson and Mrs. E. Kent were replenishing the plates.

An interesting feature of the bazaar was the post office where there were parcels that came from as far as California. They were selling for 50c each by Mrs. H. Ball and Mrs. W. A. Poast but the contents of most were worth more than that.

Mrs. G. Rowe and Mrs. L. Bird did a flourishing business at a home cooking table and Mrs. W. Wright and Mrs. H. Turner were selling home made candy.

Dutch boy and girl crib quilts were among the many nice things for sale at the miscellaneous table where Mrs. M. Fowler and Mrs. C. Murduff were in charge.

International Air Seen In Summer Fabric Design

Picking a fabric for the home-sewing of summer cottons takes an international aspect these days. Fabric designers have produced motifs that cover many imaginary miles, from continental Europe to the South Pacific.

Traces of the Orient appear in the floral bands of one Persian-inspired cotton print. The idea for this came from an old Paisley design originally handblocked on silk. From Mexico, there's a novel cotton woven with serape stripes. This means that a foreign flavor has been added to the stripes that are going everywhere this year in the good company of gingham, chambray, seersucker and pique.

Siam is represented by a print that depicts a stylized native man with fancy feathered headdress in three confetti colors. And veins of gold flash on a metallic print inspired by old French brocades.

Japanese silks provide the idea for pastel prints with dainty, simple floral imagery. Another Far Eastern print shows a geometric all-over stamp resembling the rising sun.

Batik-type prints are back, looking new in a range of impressionistic moderns. All of these prints are sanforized providing real insurance against shrinkage.

Teachers Give Cradle Roll Tea At George St.

Annual tea for the Cradle Roll of George St. United Church was held on Wednesday afternoon with the teachers being hostesses to the children and their mothers. Mrs. A. Clark, superintendent of the cradle roll department, and Mrs. G. Dainard received and ushered to the tea room.

Other teachers in charge were Mrs. J. Ellicott, Mrs. M. Nelson, Mrs. E. Lowes, and Mrs. P. A Tidman

The mothers were served tea from a most attractive table with cut linen cloth and centrepiece of white violets set on silver. Those presiding were past teachers, Mrs. A. Fitzgerald, Mrs. A. Ingram, Mrs. W. Woodward and Mrs. E. H. Brown.

Servers of the refreshments for all guests were Mrs. L. Brown, Mrs. F. Baker, Mrs. D. Gillespie, Mrs S Kelcey, Mrs S Bowman, and Mrs M Holmes and Mrs. James Tinney was the tea maker.

The program opened with an address of welcome given by Mrs. J. W. Rayment. Mr. Charlton McBride, Sunday school superintendent, was present and spoke in encouragement of the teachers in this work. Mrs. E. H. Brown led in a short prayer.

Two choruses were sung by the children and Patsy Montgomery and Donald Ellicott sang several Easter songs.

Children's movies shown after refreshments were "Slip's Music Lesson," and "Adventures of Mother Goose," with Ralph Brown the projectionist.

Mrs. A. A. Mathews told a delightful children's story about "The Little Bear Who Said No."

The happy afternoon concluded with Mrs. Clark extending thanks to all who had helped her.

Hand-Made Decorations Attract At Knox C.G.I.T. Tea

CGIT girls of Knox Unted Church took advantage of the Easter holiday to stage a lovely afternoon tea on Wednesday. They had been planning it for many weeks past however, and had already sold 250 tickets so they were quite sure of financial success, though it was their first effort. It turned out a very great social success too, favored by the first really perfect spring weather, and many more friends decided to enjoy their hospitality.

Shirley Killingbeck, president of the group, and Mrs. Donald Hubbs, the leader who acted as general convener of the tea, were assisted in receiving by Mrs. H. G. Douglas and Mrs. Howard Clegg.

Entering the tea room held a bit of surprise for the unforewarned. The hostesses in middies and dark skirts were performing their duties in a veritable flower garden and it was all of their own making, except for two baskets of several pastel shaded spring flowers sent to them unexpectedly.

Crafts leader Miss Ellen Thexton originated the very attractive decorating plan for the girls and she herself made adorable bird houses as wall decorations, fixing each with a gilded bird hovering at the entrance. There were also gilded butterflies near flowering tree branches on the walls.

Small tea tables each had an old-fashioned doll in a flower-garden as centrepiece and the main tea table was decorated unusually with four tall white candles set into clusters of simulated blue delphiniums, pink roses and sweet peas.

Tea pourers were Mrs R. Laing who started CGIT in Knox Church, Mrs. A. Huffman a former leader, Mrs. H. Trotter and Mrs. P. Killingbeck, the president's mother.

Servers, under the direction of leader Miss Phyllis Kidd, were Meuretta Rosborough, Donna and Beverley McDougall, Daisy Panter, Dorothy Ann Johnston, Lois Williams, Marjorie Drummond, Esther Brown, Lou Ann Kempt and Jean Sarginson.

Plates and tea pots were being replenished by Carol Menzies, Frances and Joan Clarke and Shirley Sedore with Mrs. J. Kempt and Mrs. S Thexton assisting.

Crafts including novelty articles made of felt and pottery clay, knitted and sewn articles, were offered for sale by Margaret Johnston and Dorothy Drummond. Small baskets of Easter candy were for sale by Arlene Williams and Irma Fairley.

Tickets were taken at the door by treasurer Betty Revill.

'Saddle Shoe Shuffle' at YW

"Saddle Shoe Shuffle" was the name of this year's Easter dance of the girls' Friday Night Supper Club, and saddle shoes were really featured in decorations in the Y.W. recreation room for Wednesday evening.

The name of the dance was spelled out in big shiny blue letters at one end of the room and side walls were scattered with cardboard "saddle shoes" and posters, mostly drawn by Don Hillis, depicting some of the teen crowd and their favorite footwear, while some of the real favorite shoes that have covered a good many miles in their day were mantelpiece decorations.

A pair of saddle shoes was given as the door prize, through the generosity of Mr. C. G. Collins, and the winner of these was Miss Joanne Watson.

Miss Lois Bearne, president of the club, acted as the M.C. and ably handled the evening's special events.

Birthday dance winners, both having birthdays in October, were Yvonne Rosebush and Jim Excell and they also won an elimination dance. A second elimination dance was won by Jack Adams and June Adams. A "statue" dance was won by Helen Bradley and Ron Sargent, and Sheila Young and Jim Wilkinson were winners of the "squat" dance.

The girls attending were: Janet Langley, Gail Wood, Shirley Wylie, Flinda Simmons, Eileen Armstrong, Evelyn Doherty, Betty Crowe, Barb Jobe, Ann Lancaster, Joanne Curtis, Millie Hayward, Roberta Hayward, Gwen Mitchell, Betty Anne Wilkinson, Yvonne Rosebush, Maureen Fletcher, Helen Bradley, Eileen Todd, Joan Krogh, Joanne Watson, Beth Davidson, Joyce Beals, Pauline Zacks, Shirley Frost, Lylia Finnie, Beverley Goodman, Pat Hamilton, Sheila Young, Maureen Moncrieff, Helen Lancaster, Beth Powell, Lorraine Derry, Jane McIntyre, June Adams, Nancy Zolyomy, Caryll Lang, Gertie Phillips, Janet Estlick, Sally Poole, Margaret Ann Fuller, Joan Hastie, Beverley Brooks.

Ceramics Experts Bring Old Skills To Kootenay

NELSON, B.C. — (CP)—Chinaware of excellent quality, hitherto imported from Germany and Britain, may soon appear on Canadian markets stamped "Made in Canada."

Mr. and Mrs. Carl-Louis duBellier ceramic manufacturers of wide reputation in Europe, arrived here recently to transplant an old world art from Germany to the Kootenays.

Complete equipment for manufacturing ceramics, including a 12-ton electro-kiln, was shipped here from Germany.

In their shop, they plan to turn out ceramics from simple designs for daily use to elegant, luxurious designs—using local clay.

At present they are preparing to test Kootenay clays for pottery, and British Columbia tiles for handpainting and glazing.

The story behind this husband and wife team in pottery dates back to 1798 when their ancestors moved from France to Bavaria. Manufacturing skills were passed from one generation to the next. Thus, their name became well known in studios of world-famous China manufacturers such as Rosenthal, Hutschenreuther, Royal Meisner (Dresden) and others.

Moved To Hamburg

Three years ago Mr. and Mrs. duBellier moved their business from a Bavarian tourist centre where United States occupation soldiers bought most of their products, to the northwest seaport of Hamburg.

The move was carried out with the intention of possible emigration to Canada and to transfer the entire enterprise to their new country.

"We chose Nelson for our new home partly through the suggestion of friends who had settled here earlier, and partly because we were attracted by the mountain scenery which has so much in common with the Bavarian Alps," Mr. duBellier says.

"By bringing a new industry to this district, we hope to be able to share in making Nelson known to our neighbors to the south, who come every year as tourists to B.C."

With their know-how in the ceramic art, the duBelliers combine skill in decorating porcelain, and plan to finish white china in attractive hand-painted designs according to the tastes of their customers.

They also have plans for an art school to give residents and visitors a chance at trying their hand at these centuries-old skills.

What's Right?

You make a social blunder.

WRONG: Keep dwelling on it in your own mind, wondering how you could have been so stupid and finally deciding that you just have not the social graces and probably never will have.

RIGHT: If the blunder necessitates an apology, make it. But then put the incident out of your mind. It won't linger in the minds of others and shouldn't in yours as everyone makes social blunders occasionally.

St. John's P.T.A. First Bazaar Is Pleasing Success

First public project of the Parent-Teacher Association of St. John the Baptist parish was the Easter week tea and bazaar held Wednesday. Result was so pleasingly successful that it is quite likely this will become an annual event.

More than 250 guests attended, the main crowd arriving just after three o'clock. They literally swept the goods for sale from the tables so that late comers found little, if anything to choose from.

A big money-maker was the draw with two large grocery hampers the coveted prizes and a set of tumblers and a small bedroom lamp as consolation awards. Tickets had been distributed during recent weeks by the members and by the school children, under the convenership of Mrs. Carmen DeCarlo.

Winner of the $25 hamper was Mrs. Neil Masterson, 823 Park St.; the smaller hamper went to Mrs. D. Rose, 303 Maitland Ave.; Mrs. Michael Sheehan, 3 Stewart St., won the glasses and Mrs. Reginald Mongraw, 41 Morrow St., the lamp.

Door prize was a fancy waste-paper basket and went to Mrs. W. T. Jones, 734 Monaghan Rd. The draws were made by Mrs. Francis McCarthy, elderly member of the parish.

The school auditorium was divided by a flower-clustered small white picket fence into tea room and bazaar room. Beautiful Easter lilies were effective in the room and the tea table was lovely with a bouquet of pink carnations, double tulips and snapdragons. Tea pourers were Mrs. Wm. Grady, Mrs. Ahern, Mrs. A. Torpey and Mrs. M. J. Murray.

Small tea tables were decorated with ornament flower holders. Mrs. E. Woodhouse was in charge of the serving and arranging plates and was assisted by Mrs. V. Anglesey, Mrs. Fergus O'Connor, Mrs. Wilfred Jones, Mrs. Jack Quirk, Mrs. Patrick Griffin, Mrs. Clayton Buckley, Mrs. J. Hodson, Mrs. W. Russell and Mrs. W. Prindible.

The candy table was in charge of Mrs. Helen Shaughnessy. Mrs. John Cairns convened the home baking table with Mrs. J. J. Daly and Mrs. Charles Boulter her assistants. Mrs. J. Philcox was in charge of the aprons with Mrs. Doug. Simmons assisting.

Mrs. Frank Hurley, general convener of the affair, received at the door until the arrival of the president Mrs. H. J. McLarnon who had been in Toronto to attend the convention of the Ontario Education Association. Also receiving was Miss L. Cavanagh, member of the teaching staff.

Mrs. Lorne Ritchie was at the treasurer's table.

Four delegates from Peterborough YWCA left early this morning for St. Catharines to attend the Ontario and Quebec Y-Teen Conference. They are Misses Lois Bearne, Millie Hayward, Sally Poole and Barbara Clark. Accompanying them is Miss Marion Foster, Y program director, and Mrs. Thos. Cook will join them Friday.

Theme of this year's conference is "The Y and I" and workshops and discussions over the three days will centre around this topic.

There will be a Blue Jeans Party tonight. Luncheon on Friday will be in First United Church and a sightseeing trip to Niagara Falls is scheduled for the afternoon. Lunch on Saturday will be in Knox Presbyterian Church.

Delegates are expected also from Brantford, Cobourg, Cornwall, Guelph, Hamilton, Kingston, Kitchener, London, Montreal, Niagara Falls, Ottawa, Port Arthur, Quebec, St. Thomas, Sherbrooke, Toronto and Windsor.

Chapter News

EDITH CARLETON CHAPTER

Ten members of the Edith Carleton Chapter, I.O.D.E., and four invited guests were at the meeting held Wednesday evening at the home of Misses Wanda and Wilma Deyell, Princess St. Two new members taking the oath of allegiance to the Queen during the evening were Joyce Campbell and Wilma Deyell. Regent Miss Mary McRae presided.

Tribute was paid throughout the meeting to the work of the late Mrs. Edith Carleton whose funeral on Tuesday afternoon was attended by the members in a body.

It was decided to postpone holding a raffle until fall. A rummage sale will be held in about two weeks time. Plans were sketched for holding a fashion show on September 30 and October 1st.

Delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses.

The next meeting will be at Mrs. Robert Stalker's home on Steele Ave. in May.

DOROTHY DIX

Other Woman Always Loser In Back-Street Love Affair

DEAR MISS DIX: For three years I have been desperately in love with a married man who has two children. He is twenty years older than I. The feeling is not one-sided, nor is it a schoolgirl fancy. I've passed my thirtieth birthday and am too mature for that.

Running around with someone else's husband is no joke. I do not approve and therefore I've hesitated to be seen with him, although I'm not happy with anyone else. I do not believe in divorce, neither does he, and we don't want to hurt his wife. She is a fine woman and deserves something better than to be tossed aside. I've gone out of my way to procure work elsewhere, but have had to come back here to finish the job.

Serious talks to each other help for a few minutes, but a handclasp or kiss puts a stop to it all and love wins again. I want him for my husband, he wants me for his wife. Why can't I have him without hurting his wife?

The only answer for me seems to be to marry a chap who has proposed to me. I've told him of the situation but he wants to marry me anyway. He claims that understanding will help us overcome the problem. I certainly don't love him, as my heart belongs entirely to the man I can't have, but I do admire him. Do you think it would work? M. E.

ANSWER: Your letter, which I have somewhat curtailed, gives a fair and honest picture of your problem. Aside from the ethics and morals involved, which I will not discuss, as preaching is rather out of my orbit, the situation is one that can result in nothing but tragedy for you.

As you view the affair now, from a vantage point completely enveloped in rose-colored clouds, the disaster is very well hidden. You probably regard "the wife" as the party of the triangle most deserving of piety; actually, it is you! She has the security of her position and, while her husband may not love her, he certainly holds her in great respect and admiration, judging from what you say.

She has her children! She can afford to wait until the affair blows over. The man has nothing to lose either way. He enjoys the ardor of love, then goes home to the affectionate atmosphere of his own home. You alone are the loser; with no security in the future at all.

Your doubts are lulled by, as you say, a handclasp or a kiss. Doesn't that seem an inadequate return for the payment of your whole heart and soul? You will emerge from the love affair with a broken heart, possibly a damaged reputation, a cynicism that will darken your whole future—while husband and wife resume the normal course of their lives as if nothing had happened. Is that fair to you? No! But it is the almost inevitable procedure.

There are three solutions to the problem. Either you break with your sweetheart, which I am sure you consider impossible at the moment; you frankly tell his wife of the situation and see if she will agree to a divorce, and your subsequent marriage; or—continue as you are! Frankly, I believe you will probably choose number three, the line of least resistance, and the path that will bring you to certain disaster.

Love is, indeed, a wonderful emotion, but there is something to be said for self-respect, too.

As for your second suitor—don't give him any further encouragement until you have completely cleared up present difficulties.

If you want concrete advice for what it's worth, I'll tell you to end your affair at once, let the other man's devotion help to bind up the wounds, and in less time than you think, you'll probably be ready to love him as he deserves. Put yourself in a position where you can look the world in the face and owe apologies to no one. You're a fine, intelligent person, worthy of something a great deal more than a furtive love affair, however noble it may seem at the moment.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I've been going steady with my boy friends for five years. I've tried to change him, but have had no success. He drinks quite a bit and is very nasty when he does; when he isn't drinking he's fine. He wants to get married on a shoestring, spending now whatever he makes. He could save on his salary, but believes in a good time while he can have it. Do you think he'll ever change? He's in his middle thirties. MARY L.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Mary, you're headed straight for the saddest matrimonial disaster you could manufacture. Better wake up. Your letter outlined some of the worst faults a husband could have—and not one redeeming quality. A man who is improvident in his middle thirties certainly will never make a responsible mate. Believe me, single blessedness is far more desirable than marriage to a man you can't trust or depend on.

6—In Memoriam

TAYLOR—In loving memory of my dear husband, David Taylor, who passed away six years ago on April 17.

Gone, dear father, gone forever,
How we miss your smiling face,
But you left us to remember
None on earth can take your place.
A happy home we once enjoyed—
How sweet the memory still—
But death has left a loneliness
The world can never fill.
—Sadly missed and always remembered by his wife, Harriet, and daughters, Mabel, and Vera, Mrs. David Taylor.

7—Cards of Thanks

I wish to express my sincere thanks to the attending doctor, nurses who attended me in Civic Hospital, Rev. Mathews, for their kindness, and to my friends for their many acts of thoughtfulness and for sending flowers, fruit, candy and cards during my illness.—Norman T. Routley.

Teachers Uphold Single Pay Plan

LONDON, Ont., April 17 (CP) —Male teachers at Ontario public schools are going to stick by their single salary schedule, whether other teacher organizations like it or not.

This was decided here Wednesday at the provincial assembly, Ontario Public School Men Teachers' Federation.

Secondary school teachers have opposed such a schedule, which, where adopted by school boards, puts them on the same scale as public school teachers, and abolishes their privilege of bargaining separately with trustees.

Adoption of the single salary scale by several Ontario boards resulted recently in their being blacklisted by the Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Federation.

A single salary scale provides that one schedule of pay apply to all teachers employed by one administrative body, on the basis of qualifications, experience, and responsibility, irrespective of grade taught.

The assembly doubled membership fees from $10 to $20. Earlier, it had approved a budget of about $70,000, based on the higher fee. A move to scale memberships, with a minimum of $10 and a maximum of $15, was defeated.

National Survey Of V.O.N. Work

A National Survey Commission which has been appointed to examine the place of the Victorian Order of Nurses in Canada will meet in Peterborough May 2.

The meeting will be attended by five members of the commission, Mr. Wilson Gemmell, president of the Peterborough V.O.N., who has been appointed assessor for the Peterborough district and two official delegates from each of the eight branches in the district.

In Peterborough, as in all the meetings across Canada, the survey commission will try by the means of questionnaires and discussion to examine the role the order is playing in Canadian life. Two of the main questions to be discussed will be: Is your branch filling a necessary place in the community? Have you any difficulties in administering the branch, professionally or financially?

The question of establishing a provincial Victorian Order organization will also be disclosed.

The members of the commission are the Hon. Wilfrid Bovey of Montreal; the Hon. Mr. Justice Colin Gibson of Hamilton; Mrs. Jack Pembroke of Montreal, Dr. N. L. Burnette of Ottawa, Miss Esther Robertson, executive assistant of the survey commission, is also expected to attend.

The branches included in the Peterborough district are: Peterborough, Owen Sound, Barrie, Gravenhurst, Lindsay, Collingwood, Orillia and Huntsville. As well as official delegates, the meeting is open to all members of the boards of directors of district branches who wish to attend.

A. D. Vaisey will attend as secretary.

The meeting will be held in the general committee room of the city hall and will be closed to the public. The findings and decisions will be made public when the commission has completed its visits to all districts in the country.

Mrs. George R. Record

The funeral for Mrs. George R. Record, the former Elizabeth Jane Hogan, 216 Caddy St., who died Sunday was held Tuesday from the Belleghem funeral home.

Mrs. Record leaves two sons, George of Toronto and Earle of Peterborough; one daughter, Mrs. Walter Rye (Florence) of Birdsall; three brothers, Maynard Hogan of Hammond, B.C., Warren of Windsor, Walter of Seattle, Wash., and two sisters, Mrs. Eli Robinson (Irma) of Port Coquettan, B.C., and Mrs. Han Goth (Bertha) of North Dakota; four grandchildren.

The funeral service was conducted by the Rev. B. S. Morwood of Mark St. United Church.

Pallbearers were: Thomas, Stanley and John Record, Cecil Mounce, Frank Harvey and Charles Prophet. Burial was in Little Lake Cemetery.

Police Seek Man In Vampire Slaying

FERRARA, Italy, April 17 — Police today sought a 45-year-old man in connection with the "vampire slaying" of a 13-year-old boy.

The body of the boy, Franco Nagliati was found Monday morning. Police said he had been choked to death, his throat cut and blood sucked from his jugular vein.

A group of boys said they saw the victim on Easter Sunday with a man about 45.

2,000 Homes Burned In Japanese Blaze

TOKYO, April 17 (AP) — A roaring fire, out of control and fanned by high winds, today destroyed more than 2,000 homes in Tottori City on southern Honshu Island and still was burning after six hours, Kyodo News Agency reported.

No deaths were reported but at least 10,000 persons were made homeless.

Br.-Israelites Predicts No Red Empire

Biblical prophecy precludes the possibility of a Communist empire dominating the world, W. H. Freeman, of London, England told a British-Israel audience Wednesday night.

About 50 British-Israelites and friends went to the Y.W.C.A. to hear Mr. Freeman, an area commissioner of the British-Israel World Federation, who is now completing a lecture tour of Canada.

His subject was "What Is Behind It All?"

Mr. Freeman's prop as based on Daniel's interpretation of the dream of Nebuchadnezzar, King of Babylon. The king dreamed of a golden image with a head of gold, breast and arms of silver, belly and thighs of brass, legs of iron, and feet partly iron and partly clay.

Five Great Empires

This is symbolic of five great world empires, said Mr. Freeman. They are Babylonian, Chaldean, Greek, Roman and British.

Of the British Empire it was predicted that it "shall stand for ever" (Daniel 2: 44).

"If the fifth empire (i.e. the British) is to last forever there cannot be a Soviet empire," said Mr. Freeman. "The Word of God says so."

"Even in this country there are people who feel we are gradually going downhill and that we are only awaiting the knockout blow," said Mr. Freeman. "We thank you for your sympathy but we don't want your pity."

The climax of the British Commonwealth has not yet been reached, said the speaker, and that will only come about when prophecy has been fulfilled.

"We only hear of other peoples as they come into contact with the Anglo-Saxon people."

Send Along Parcels

For a blueprint and policy Mr. Freeman urged the British-Israelites to chapters 33 to 39 in Ezekiel.

The speaker's theological discourse was interlarded with anecdotes on life in present-day Britain:

("Keep sending those food parcels"; and "We used to laugh when Goering demanded of the Germans 'guns before butter,' now we're doing the same thing.")

A question period followed the main address.

Thomas Smith presided, both introducing and thanking the speaker.

Wedding Guest Causes Uproar

NEW YORK, April 17 (AP)—The 51st guest at Lawrence Jones' wedding reception put him in quite a dither. She was Jones' undivorced first wife.

The story was revealed in Queens County Court Wednesday when the Assistant District Attorney obtained a warrant charging Jones with bigamy.

This is the sequence of events as told by the District Attorney:

Jones, 24, married wife No. 1, Doris Jones, 29, in 1947. They have two children.

Last July Jones met Audrey Hauck, 23. They were married April 5 and a reception for 50 guests was held at Audrey's home.

The reception was well under way when Doris Jones arrived. Jones hustled her off to a hotel, telling her he would straighten everything out. Then he went back to the reception, claimed his bride and took her to a hotel.

Jones' present whereabouts are not known.

Visitor Steals Plate

USK, WALES, April 17 (Reuters) Easter visitors who paid 25 cents to look around one of England's stately homes were all "nice people"—at least they looked that way. Lord Raglan let them in to admire his country estate, Cefn Tilla Court near the Welsh border. Lady Raglan showed them round in groups of five. Today the family discovered that a 100-year-old dinner plate bearing the family crest has vanished from the dining table.

Killed By Blow

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., April 17 (AP)—Ray Callihan, 14-year-old high school student, was killed today when a schoolmate struck him on the head with a baseball bat during an argument. John Dale, 17-year-old Bearden team manager, admitted striking young Callihan with the bat when Callihan refused to move away from the playing field. Dale was taken to the juvenile home. No charge has yet been placed against him.

Sues For Divorce

LOS ANGELES, April 17 — (AP) Movie actress Celeste Holm has sued for divorce from A. Schuyler Dunning, airline public relations executive. Miss Holm, 33, asked custody of their son, Daniel, 5, and a financial settlement from Dunning, 38. The couple was married in New York in 1946 and had a trial separation 10 months ago.

Forged Ration Cards

LONDON, April 17 (Reuters)—Many arrests have been made in Czechoslovakia following the discovery of a widespread plan for issuing counterfeit food ration cards, Prague radio said today. The radio said that during the last 10 months forged ration cards "sufficient to feed thousands of mouths" were seized.

gested that 15,000 young people from Britain be brought to Canada for training as public school teachers as a means of easing a shortage of rural teachers.

The O.E.A. public school section was told that from 70 to 75 per cent of Ontario public school children receive some form of school health service.

A. P. McNabb, Toronto public school principal, was elected president of the O.E.A., succeeding C. W. Scace of Brockville. Dr. Margaret S. McCrady of Guelph and A. B. Lucas of London were named vice-presidents.

Whole Village Helped But Child Dead

BETHANY, April 17 (ENS)—A master at 10 of the English language and a brilliant student at Bethany public school, little Waltraud Rajaki was buried Tuesday in St. Mary's cemetery.

Waltraud came to Canada as an immigrant from Germany about three years ago. Little more than a year ago, she was stricken with leukemia, the most incurable disease that attacks the red blood cells and destroys them.

She was taken to the Hospital for Sick Children, Toronto, and for some time was given the best of care. Church and community organizations in the village contributed to help pay her medical expenses.

Hope At Christmas

Hopes shone bright last Christmas when she came home, apparently with some chance for recovery. At the annual school Christmas concert, she and her sister Ingrid appeared to sing a duet, "Silent Night," in their native German.

But soon after that it became tragically clear that she was not to recover. Her health failed rapidly, and last Saturday she died. Her cheerful smile in spite of long hours of suffering was something to marvel at, friends and neighbors declared.

The Rev. T. S. Gault, of St. Paul's Church, took as the theme of the funeral service "Suffer the little children to come unto Me, for of such is the kingdom of heaven."

Surviving her are her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Rajski, her sister and her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Schilling, all of Bethany.

when all performed so admirably. But special mention should be given to Bruce Mason for his confident portrayal of the slighted cobbler. This boy's singing was also a highlight of the evening. Sheila Nicholls as the queen; Robert Hunter, as the king, King Baker as the royal page; and Rae Frost as the cat were also outstanding in their roles and Barbara Northrop made a delightful princess.

Speaking generally, the most amazing characteristic of this performance was the success of each member in the cast in making himself clearly heard, both in speaking and singing.

Also noteworthy were the colorful scenery and costumes.

Other members of the cast were: Vernon Chiles, head painter; Bill Vickers, second painter; Dorothy Rowan, Lucinda; mistress of the robes; Katherine Lewis, head cook; Mary Elizabeth Laigg, second cook; Judy Donaldson, Rosaline; Roberta Weaver, Christobel; Murray Mann, first elf; Danny Donaldson, second elf; Terry Northrop, lord mayor; Joan Kent, a woman guest; fairies, Sharon Hutchinson, Christine McNab, Marilyn Darling, Kathryn Magee, Barbara Davies, Jacqueline Fulton, Gayle Jones, Janet McLeod, Sarah Waddell, Shirley Woodcock; painters, Peter Faulkner, Murray Mann, Bob Stickles; cooks, Arlene Chiles, Margaret Earle, Joyce Jeffries, Diane Fletcher, Sarah Waddell; elves, Roy Bacon, Leslie Mann, Carl Lewis, Robert Black; guests, Leona Davis, Diane Fletcher, Margaret Earle, Joyce Jeffries, Roxy Rusk, Roberta Weaver, Harold Holman, Alan Osborne, Bob Stickles.

Mrs. John A. McColl is to be congratulated in her direction that made this performance such a success as are all the others involved in its production. They are: Scenery, Miss Dorothy Watson, assisted by Betty McCausland and Miss Margaret Munro; costumes, Mrs. C. H. Wishart and Mrs. Albert E. Hutchinson, assisted by the mothers of the choir members; properties, Col. H. C. Ritchie; make-up, Miss Edythe Nicholls, Miss Mary Tudhope; flowers, Mrs. Ida Gatz; prompter, Miss Margaret Munro; accompanists, Terry Northrop and Walter Morrow; ushers, Miss Patsy Tudhope, Miss Rolene James, Miss Clarabel James.

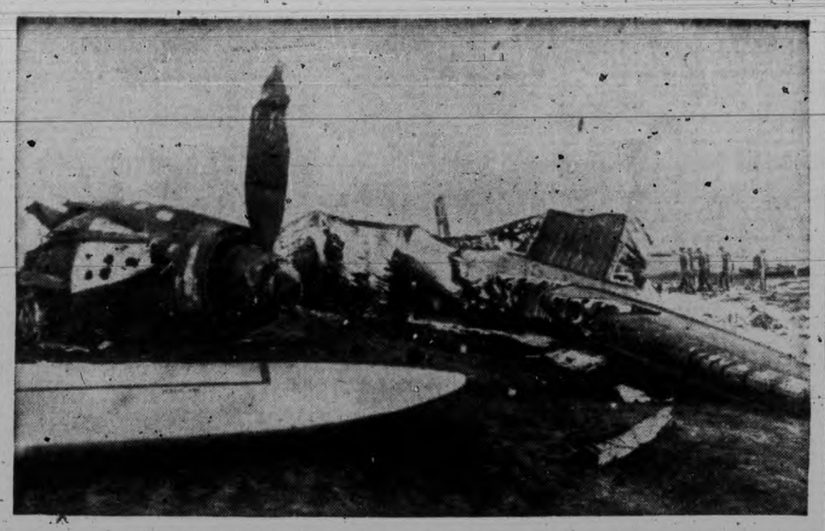
The third performance of "The Fairy Cobbler" will be given in St. Andrew's Church hall, Friday evening.

Death Accidental

GALT, April 17 — (CP) — An inquest jury decided Wednesday night that the death April 9 of Clifford J. Devine of Hespeler was accidental. Evidence was that Devine was unhooking a chain on a slow-moving railway car at an industrial plant here when his foot became caught and he was run over.

Robberies Reduced

MEXICO CITY, April 17—(AP)—Police said today a roundup of 60 known criminals last week had reduced robberies in Mexico City by 60 per cent.



THESE TWISTED CHUNKS are all that remain of a sleek B-36 bomber that crashed on takeoff recently near Spokane, Wash. Fifteen men died in the explosion and fire that followed the crash. Two survived with serious burns. The $3,500,000 B-36 is the largest military aircraft in production in the U.S. It has six engines supplemented by four turbojet engines in pairs under the outer wings.

Charge Sabotage In Greek Force

ATHENS, April 16 (delayed)—(AP)—The newspaper Kathimerini said today a large-scale Communist conspiracy of infiltration and attempted sabotage has been discovered in the Greek air force.

Acting Premier Sophocles Venizelos declined to confirm or deny the story, but said there was a ban on publication of such reports and Kathimerini would be prosecuted for breaking the ban.

The ministry of aviation in a press statement said a Communist attempt at infiltration of an Athens air unit occurred three months ago. The danger now has been eliminated, the statement added.

Kathimerini in its published story said a Greek air force officer, fearing arrest, escaped to Communist Albania in a training plane a few days ago.

Earlier the ministry of national defence had banned publication of reports relating to any discovery of "a Communist organization in the royal air force and loss of a Harvard training plane."

Kathimerini said 18 officers, a non-commissioned officer, 10 other ranks and a large number of civilians have been arrested.

Russians Have Centre For Western Soldiers

BERLIN, April 17—(AP)—The Russians have set up a community in the east-zone city of Bautzen for Western soldiers who desert to the East, a British soldier said today.

Pte. Dennis Eggleton told reporters he lived in the community for weeks and saw British, United States and French deserters who have settled down in small apartments given them by the Mayor of Bautzen on Russian orders. They got jobs and "stateless-person" passports.

Eggleton faces a court-martial on charges of desertion. He returned to West Berlin Wednesday night after 4½ years in the Soviet zone. He told interrogators he left his post as Goslar in October, 1947, and slipped into the Russian zone because he was "tired of army life." The Russians arrested him and held him in prison at Halle until last February, he said.

Institute Opened

COPENHAGEN, DENMARK, April 17—(AP)—Copenhagen university opened an institute today for research in neurophysiology and the field of isotopes. The Rockefeller Foundation contributed $140,000 to aid in the construction of a three-storey building and promised to support the institute with $28,000 for the next five years.

Marine Wages Losing Battle

WITH THE U.S. FIRST MARINE DIVISION, KOREA, April 17 (AP)—A United States marine is waging a losing battle to see his mother before she is deported from the United States.

Sgt. Johannes (Dutch) Meulenkamp, a combat rifleman for 10 months in Korea, has begged in vain that either his mother not be sent back to Holland immediately, or that he be allowed to see her before she goes.

Next month, or in June at the latest, "Dutch" will be rotated back to the States. But his mother, Mrs. Maria Cornala Louwerenburg, has been ordered by immigration authorities to leave the country by May 1.

She must return to Holland because her visa has expired. She now lives in Mill Valley, Calif.

"Dutch" went to the U.S. in 1947. A year later, his mother and sister, Delia, sailed for America. But his mother had obtained a divorce in Holland, and there was no one to support her request for her first citizenship papers.

Art Collector Dies

PETWORTH, England, April 17—(Reuters) — Lord Leconfield, 80, Britain's largest private landowner and a famous art collector, died Wednesday night. His title will pass to his brother, Hugh Syndham, 74. Distribution of his 150,000 acres in England and Ireland has not yet been made known. He had two adopted children.

Demands Tass Reporters Barred In U.S.

WASHINGTON, April 17 (AP)—A renewed demand that representatives of Tass, the Soviet news agency, be barred from the Congressional press galleries was made at the opening convention session of the American Society of Newspaper Editors.

Reminding the society that William Oatis, Associated Press correspondent, remains imprisoned in Czechoslovakia, A.S.N.E. president Alexander F. Jones told 350 editors:

"Our State Department seems to consider that American citizens can only be protected by paying ransom or invoking economic sanctions.

"I am not proud of our course in allowing our reporters in Iron Curtain countries to become harassed, frightened, useless representatives of our free press. We are taking it lying down."

With assent of A.S.N.E.'s board of directors, Jones last fall called on the standing committee of correspondents to bar Tass representative from the Congressional press galleries on grounds they were not "bona-fide representatives of the press of their country. The standing committee declined, saying Tass' membership was 'consistent with the American concept of a free press.'

Some Disagreement

Jones, who is editor of the Syracuse, N.Y., Herald-Journal, disclosed today that some members of the A.S.N.E. board disagreed with him, but declared:

"As certainly as I stand here, the present intolerable press relations between the U.S. and the nations behind the Iron Curtain cannot long continue—with our reporters in Moscow being held as virtual hostages and subjected to every indignity, William Oatis in prison in Czechoslovakia, and Pavlov, the Soviet delegate at the Paris meeting of U.N. declaring that the next American correspondent arrested will consider Oatis fortunate to be only in prison.

"This while Mikhail Federov, head of the Tass bureau here, an aeronautical engineer sent from Moscow to head a spy ring, uses a Russian government communications system without censorship.

"Tass is not a news agency as we know the term. Only last week, Tass was thrown out of India."

20,000 Homeless

DAR ES SALAAM, TANGANYIKA, April 17 —(AP)—One African was killed by a falling tree and nine Arabs were feared to have drowned in high waves when cyclonic winds hit Lindi on the southern Tanganyika coast Monday. About 20,000 Africans were left homeless.

Finds Troops So Healthy Dentist Twiddles Thumbs

SILVER CITY Y.T., April 17, (CP)—The army has chased the phantoms from this ghost town where 60 years ago miners toiled for gold. But they'll be back in July.

Operation Eager Beaver reached the halfway point Wednesday and the worst was over for the 450 Canadian and U.S. Army men.

They came to Silver City, 150 miles north of White Horse, in January to build an airstrip and test equipment against the Arctic winter.

In July, when the exercise is completed and reports have been sifted for their last [illegible] bit of information, the army [illegible] up stakes and allow the ghosts to drift back to Silver City.

The troops, under command of Major E. D. Taylor of Vancouver and Lt.-Col. H. D. Brown of the U.S. Army, are tearing and blasting hundreds of tons of muskeg, rock and perma-frost to build the airstrip which may never be used and test themselves and their equipment under the worst possible winter conditions.

Minor Problems.

Major Taylor says he and his men have had several minor problems to contend with, such as 46 below zero temperatures when oil on tractors and bulldozers became as thick as glue, heaters broke down and the men had to work 24-hour shifts for two weeks to determine how they and their machinery could stand up under pressure. Not only that, but the beer froze.

The exercise involves for the most part testing of new and classified equipment. If it will work here, it will work anywhere, the army reasons. Some modifications are made on the spot. Sometimes something designed for one job is found more useful in another.

Snowshoes hang beside each bunk in the huts. Near the spot where miners grubbed in the ground for gold, Canadians and Americans have pounded out a volleyball court in the frozen ground.

There's little sickness here and the common cold is rare. The dentist has occupied his time by filling a set of hollow chessmen which were too light and kept falling over.

On the ice, of near-by Kluane Lake, the men built another airstrip for the heaviest aircraft in 68 hours. The main airstrip on shore will be 6,000 feet long.

Much of the machinery is housed in sheds built on the spot from wood cut in the portable sawmill.

The men do their laundry in modern washing machines, run by generators which also supply light. There are carpets on some bunkhouse floors and the men have chickens every Sunday.

Protests Ban On Clergyman

CHICAGO, April 17 — (AP) — A clergyman-editor declared today the Voice of America has refused to transmit radio addresses by Evangelist Billy Graham and Bishop Fulton J. Sheen, noted Roman Catholic lecturer and author.

Dr. James Deforest Murch of Cincinnati, editor of "United Evangelical Action" magazine told the convention of the National Association of Evangelicals that the government-sponsored overseas network has not given a well-rounded picture of American religious life.

Dr. Murch told the convention: "Information reaching me indicates that Evangelist Billy Graham's messages have been ruled out by the program directors on the basis that his appeal for conversion to the christian gospel is too strong."

He said he believed Bishop Sheen's addresses "have been rejected because of their being 'too positive' in christian philosophy and ethics."

Mr. Murch presented a resolution asking the convention to protest the religious policies of the Voice of America.

University Plans Grant Degree To Thos. Costain

LONDON, Ont., April 17 (CP)—Brantford-born Thomas B. Costain, world-famed historian-novelist and editor, will be granted the honorary degree of Doctor of Letters (D. Ltt.) at the spring convocation of the University of Western Ontario.

Mr. Costain will be one of three honorary graduates to receive degrees May 31 when the university's 156th convocation will be held.

The honorary degrees of Doctor of Laws will be conferred on Dr. Charleton Hale, for many years professor of medicine at the Medical School, and A. G. Hooper, superintendent of secondary education for the Ontario Department of Education.

Dr. G. E. Hall, Western's president, said the university in conferring the degree on Mr. Costain, wished to recognize the author's contributions to the popularizing of Canadian and British history through his novels and non-fictional works. The degrees to be conferred on Dr. Hale and Mr. Hooper is a continuation of the university's polity of recognizing the teaching profession "as a very important part of our whole society," Dr. Hall said.

Wide Experience

Mr. Costain, who was born in Brantford, has published an impressive list of historical novels and histories. Following his early education in Brantford, he spent two years as editor of the Guelph Daily Mercury after which he was appointed editor of McLean's Magazine, Toronto. In 1920, he became associate editor of Saturday Evening Post, a position he held for 14 years. From 1934 to 1936 he was eastern editor for Twentieth Century Fox Films and in 1937 was appointed editor of "American Cavalcade."

Since 1939 he has been advisory editor for the publishing house, Doubleday, Doran & Company, New York City.

Among his books are "The Black Rose," "The Moneyman," "High Towers," and "Son of a Hundred Kings."

Dr. Hale, "a man who has given outstanding service to the university and generations of medical students," was professor of medicine at Western's Medical School from 1925 to 1944.

A graduate of McGill University, Dr. Hale was made a Fellow of the American College of Physicians in 1924 and in 1931 was elected Fellow of the Royal College of Physicians (Canada).

The awarding of honorary LL.D. to Mr. Hooper marks many years of service to secondary education throughout Western Ontario, and particularly the Windsor area.

Mr. Hooper taught at Ridley College, Strathroy, Lindsay, Kelvin Technical School, Winnipeg, and Guelph. He was principal of Windsor Collegiate (now Patterson), and later principal of Kennedy Collegiate at Windsor. He was appointed supervising principal of all Windsor Collegiates.

25 Years In Marmora, Couple Leave Village

MARMORA, April 16 (ENS).—The home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Vansickle was the scene of a gathering Monday evening when about 60 friends of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac McNutt, representing the congregation of Marmora Free Methodist Church and immediate neighbors, tendered them a farewell party on the eve of their departure for Peterborough. The evening was spent in singing and games with the following ladies taking part: Mesdames Stewart Hardy, Eldon Vansickle, Russell Wells, Kenneth Snider and Elmer Phillips. At the oppointed time Rev. G. H. Bache read an address and the guests of honor were presented with a tri-light lamp and electric clock for which they returned thanks in neat speeches. They have been residents of Marmora for a quarter of a century and will be greatly missed by a large number of friends as disclosed in felicitous remarks which followed the presentation.

Lunch was served before the gathering dispersed.

Bridge To Span Narrows, Recalls Curse

By IRVING C. WHYNOT,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

HALIFAX (CP)—Work has started on the long-planned Halifax-Dartmouth bridge regardless of the 19th century curse of death imposed by a Micmac Indian who hasn't been wrong yet.

The $8,000,000 bridge project financed jointly by the Provincial and municipal governments, will span the famed narrows of Halifax harbor and provide a link with the neighboring town of Dartmouth.

At present the trip is made by a 10-minute ferry crossing or a 20-mile drive around Bedford Basin, assembly point for Atlantic convoys during two world wars.

The bridge, expected to be ready for traffic by 1954, will be the third to span Halifax Harbor.

The Micmac, who apparently had a habit of foretelling the future, foresaw all three, and predicted their end.

He did it in rhyme:

"Three times shall fall
"Like a dying breath;
"In a storm—silence—and
"Last in death."

The first span was built in 1884 and sure enough, true to the Indian's words, was swept away during a violent storm in September of 1891. Historians said it was one of the worst storms in the history of the province.

A second bridge was built within a matter of months, despite objections from the Dartmouth mayor and council.

On a calm summer evening in 1893 this bridge slowly slipped from its moorings and was found the next morning drifting in Bedford Basin. The Micmac had been right again.

Sixty per cent of the cost of the new structure will be borne by the Provincial government, and the remaining 40 per cent by the city of Halifax, town of Dartmouth and Halifax county.

Besides being a traffic convenience, boosters say it will do much to help relieve Halifax's overcrowded housing problem.

Halifax, built on a peninsula, has no place to expand but Dartmouth already growing steadily, can spread for miles.

The bridge would provide the easy link for commuters.

Urge 8-Cent Increase

TORONTO, April 17—(CP)—A conciliation board, in a majority report, has recommended a general wage increase of eight cents an hour for 5,000 Canadian Westinghouse employees at Hamilton. The award is 22½ cents short of a demand by Local 504 of the United Electrical Workers, Ind.

Four-Child Average Family In Canada Survey Shows

By ALLAN HARVEY,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, April 17—(CP)—Canada now has a four-child average family and her long-term rate of natural increase in population will probably be greater than that of Ceylon, Malaya or some Latin American countries, says an economic survey published in London:

The reference to Canada occurs in "Halfway to 1960," an article by Australian economist Colin Clark published in Lloyds Bank review, and is cited to support the author's prediction that from now until 1970 the world's population will increase at the rate of approximately 1¼ per cent a year.

Using what he admits to be highly simplified and approximate terms, based on new French methods of determining population trends, Clark says that only England, Sweden and Denmark now adhere to the two-child average family of the 1930s. In Scotland and Australia the figure is 2½ and there is a three-child average in the United States, France, Switzerland, Norway, Finland, Netherlands, Italy, New Zealand and among the whites of South Africa.

"Canada, with Spain and Portugal, now shows a four-child average family," writes Clark.

"It appears that these latter figures, ascending, now have passed the gradually-descending figures of many Oriental countries such as Japan, India and Russia, in which the average size of family now appears to be at or below four—and, of course, the Oriental mortality rate is far higher."

Long-term Increase

In another passage, Clark says that in countries such as Canada and Spain, the long-term rate of increase now probably exceeds that of the most rapidly-increasing Oriental countries, such as Ceylon, Malaya or Latin America.

(Latest figures show the Canadian birth rate has increased from 22 per 1,000 of population in 1940 to 26.8 in 1950. A rate of 35 per 1,000 would be regarded as extremely high for a western civilization.)

The trend towards increased world population contrasts with a contraction of world food supplies. Although some countries have increased productivity in agriculture, there is only a slight increase, or a definite decrease, in Asiatic countries, thus widening, the gap between what Clark calls the "haves" and the "have-nots."

The pressure on world food supplies is increased by a growing demand for farm products, as living standards rise, and by a decline of rural manpower in most countries. In Canada and Australia, for instance, the male rural labor force dropped about 20 per cent between 1940 and 1950.

If the decline is to be checked, Clark contends, "rural producers will have to receive a further increase in their incomes of 50 per cent or more relative to the incomes of industrial workers."

Gunman Shoots Policeman In Hamilton Street Battle

Brant Inquiry Ends, Judge's Finding To Be Given Later

The Fred Brant inquiry ended Thursday afternoon, after 24 witnesses had been heard. Judge F. J. MacRae of Whitby said he would give his report "in due course," and made no comment on the hearing. Asked to testify by R. D. Humphreys, counsel for the investigation, Fred Brant said: "No. I don't want to answer any more of your questions." Earlier, his sister, Mrs. Irene Higgins of Haliburton, said that people had "asked Fred a lot of stupid questions up at the hospital and got him all confused."

Brant's feet were frozen some time between January 24, when he was released from city police cells, and January 31, when he was charged and convicted of vagrancy a second time.

Parts of both feet—all the toes, and an inch of each foot—were amputated at Civic Hospital.

First Arrest

Brant was first arrested January 13 and the next day was sentenced to 10 days in jail when he pleaded guilty to a vagrancy charge. He was released from county jail January 23, and spent that night as a lodger in the city police cells.

Next day, he was driven to the Central Smith cheese factory on Highway 7 northwest of the city, and released. Sgt. Claire McGillen drove him to the cheese factory in a city police car.

Police Chief Thompson said he signed the first information charging Brant with vagrancy on January 14. He said he next saw him the morning of January 24, when he walked into police court in a lineup of prisoners (he had spent the night of January 23 in the city jail as a lodger). There was no charge against him, and Chief Thompson said he told the court officer to "take him out."

Ordered To Leave

Judge MacRae then asked Chief Thompson what he knew about Brant being taken out of the city. "I told Sgt. McGillen to get rid of him and take him out of town which he did," Chief Thompson replied.

The next time he saw Brant was on January 31, when he was again sentenced for vagrancy, Chief Thompson said. "There was no complaint registered by Brant to me or any of my men. I had no knowledge of his feet being frozen at any time." Chief Thompson added he had had no further contact with Brant since January 31.

Mrs. Higgins, who is older than her brother, said: "Fred is back-

Five Arrested For Thefts At Petawawa

PEMBROKE, April 18—(CP)—Four civilians and an army engineer captain were arrested today on charges of conspiracy and theft as a result of investigation into large-scale thefts from the nearby Petawawa Military Camp.

The R.C.M.P. listed the five as Jack Jacobson, David C. Hawhenney and Amos Durant, of Brockville, Morrie Eisen, of Pembroke, and Capt. Donald W. Baldock, Royal Canadian Engineers, stationed at Petawawa.

All five are doubly charged under the Criminal Code with conspiracy and theft. They were arrested today on warrants here, at Petawawa and Brockville.

They are expected to be arraigned here before a justice of the peace who will set a date for preliminary hearings.

Not Finished Inquiry

Capt. Baldock, 28-year-old native of Brandon, Man., and graduate of University of Manitoba, joined the army in 1944 and was promoted to captain in 1950. He has served at Chilliwack and Vernon, B.C. and on the Alaska Highway.

It was indicated that the five arrests do not climax the investigation. More may develop as the probe continues into reports that goods worth $1,000,000 were stolen from the camp, 118 miles northwest of Ottawa.

Earlier reports indicated that two officers might be arrested today, a major and a captain of the engineers. The four civilians were said to include representatives of a salvage company.

The thefts are said to have included a large number of new electric stoves and electric refrigerators to a value of possibly $50,000.

The investigation has been placed in charge of Sgt. H. C. Sandrock of R.C.M.P. headquarters, Ottawa. The Mounties were brought into the case at the request of the Defence Department. The Army Provost Corps is working with them.

The defence department announced last week that the investigation started some time ago. However, a spokesman declined to give details other than that scrap metal was involved in the thefts which might run to hundreds of tons of goods.

Sources here reported a railway spur line built by the Canadian Pacific Railway to the military camp was torn up and carried away within the last 12 months.

Fear 28 Dead In Plane Crash

LOS ANGELES, April 18 (AP)—A non-scheduled airliner carrying 25 passengers and a crew of three crashed and burned, police reported, in suburban North Whittier Heights.

Police said a rancher located the ship, missing more than six hours, and said it was "down and burning."

There were no immediate reports of casualties nor of how the crash occurred.

The aircraft was last heard from at 3.33 a.m. PST (6.33 a.m. EST) when it was in contact with the Los Angeles International Airport control tower, presumably attempting an approach and landing in murky weather.

The Civil Aeronautics Administration said the ship was operated by North Continent Airlines and the flight originated in New York.

Churchill Up Around After Heavy Cold

WESTMERE, Kent, England, April 18 (Reuters)—Prime Minister Churchill was up and around at lunchtime today with another illness apparently licked.

Temporarily laid low with a heavy cold on his chest, Churchill was on his feet once more dealing with state papers, it was learned.

Lord Moran, the 77-year-old Prime Minister's physician, called on him earlier today.

Churchill caught cold during the Easter weekend, coughed and sneezed until mid-week until it broke up.

His doctors put him to bed at his country house here, banned him from going up to the House of Commons in London, and ruled out a number of other engagements.

Order Envoys Home For Talks

LONDON, April 18 (Reuters)—Britain has instructed her ambassador in Cairo, Sir Ralph Stevenson, and the Governor-General of the Sudan, Sir Robert Howe, to return to London immediately for consultation, the Foreign Office announced today.

A Foreign Office spokesman said the London meeting may enable a policy to be worked out "on the lines of which it is hoped negotiations can be resumed."

Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden is bringing Howe back from the Sudan probably to talk over the recent British move to grant self-government to that territory—in the face of Egyptian demands for control of it.

The self-government moves almost upset Anglo-Egyptian negotiations.

The two diplomats are expected back this weekend. Their homecoming follows talks Eden has been having with the Egyptian ambassador here, Abdel Amr Pasha.

Malan Says South Africa To Have National Election

CAPETOWN, South Africa, April 18 — (Reuters)—Prime Minister Daniel Malan said today South Africa will have a national election next year.

He told the Assembly he will place his fight with the country's Supreme Court before the voters within 10 or 12 months from the end of the current session, due in a month or so.

He is not required to call an election until the end of next year. But he has been under constant pressure from the opposition for an earlier poll.

Malan made his announcement during a House debate on the constitutional dispute which has gripped South Africa since the Supreme Court ruled last month that one of Malan's color bar laws—one placing mixed-blood voters on a special list to vote for special candidates—was unconstitutional and therefore invalid.

The Prime Minister has defied the ruling and is contending no court should have supremacy over parliament. He plans a bill to make this law.

Malan told the House today he will campaign on this issue.

If the opposition wins, his administration will resign itself to the result, he said.

"We will go to the country," Malan said.

"I challenge the opposition, when the general election comes, to go to the people on this issue with all its implications.

"We can go to the people and if the people decide against us, if they accept what the opposition asks them to accept—to make the sovereign will of the people subject to the decision of the appeal court—then we will subject ourselves to the peoples wish."

In the last general election, in 1948, Dr. Malan's Nationalist-Afrikander coalition won 79 of the 153 seats in parliament. The United party of the late Field Marshal Jan Christiaan Smuts won 65. The pro-government Labor party won six. Three native representatives, who vote with the United Party, were elected later.

7 Missing As 2 Planes Crash At Sea

One Man Feared Lost Son of Former Peterborough Man

HALIFAX, April 18. (CP)—Planes and ships dodged freakish weather off the Nova Scotia coast today, searching for possible survivors from two navy planes which apparently collided and plunged into the Atlantic ocean Thursday night.

There were no indications that any of the seven men aboard the planes survived. One search vessel reported finding wreckage—"apparently of two aircraft"—but no sign of life.

One of the missing men, Lt. William J. Hutchinson, 29, of Dartmouth, N.S., is the son of Mrs. Hutchinson of Bowmanville and the late Mel J. Hutchinson. His father at one time was city editor of the Examiner.

His mother left this morning for Nova Scotia to be with Lt. Hutchinson's wife Margaret and their daughter Pat, 4, who joined the flyer about six weeks ago.

Posted In February

Lt. Hutchinson was in the Navy's Fleet Air Arm during the Second World War and returned to it after being discharged about six years. He was posted to H.M.C.S. Shearwater at Dartmouth N.S. last February.

The pilot has a brother Jack in Toronto, two sisters, Mrs. Angus Cameron (Margaret), Johannesburg, South Africa; and Mrs. Kenneth C. Bley, Virginia.

Air force and naval planes were thrown into the hunt and every available ship was sent to sea.

The seven men from the fleet air arm's base at Shearwater were aboard two Avengers, torpedo bombers being used as anti-submarine craft. The accident occurred about 79 miles off Shelburne on Nova Scotia's southwestern coast.

A flight of Avengers was carrying out exercises in the area at the time.

Early plans for an air search were stalled by zero weather but the ceiling lifted a few hours later and the air force said it planned an all-day sweep of the area.

4 Men Tie Up, Rob Night Watchman

SUDBURY, April 18 — (CP) — Four men Thursday night tied up a night watchman and stole $21 in cash and vacation-pay stamp books valued at approximately $3,000.

They took the money and stamp books from the office of the Foundation Company of Canada at the building site of the new Sudbury district home for the aged on the city's northeastern outskirts.

The watchman, Joseph Leclair, 61, was trussed with wire. He escaped from his bonds a few minutes after the four men left but, fearing they were lurking nearby, stayed at the office without calling police until workmen arrived this morning.

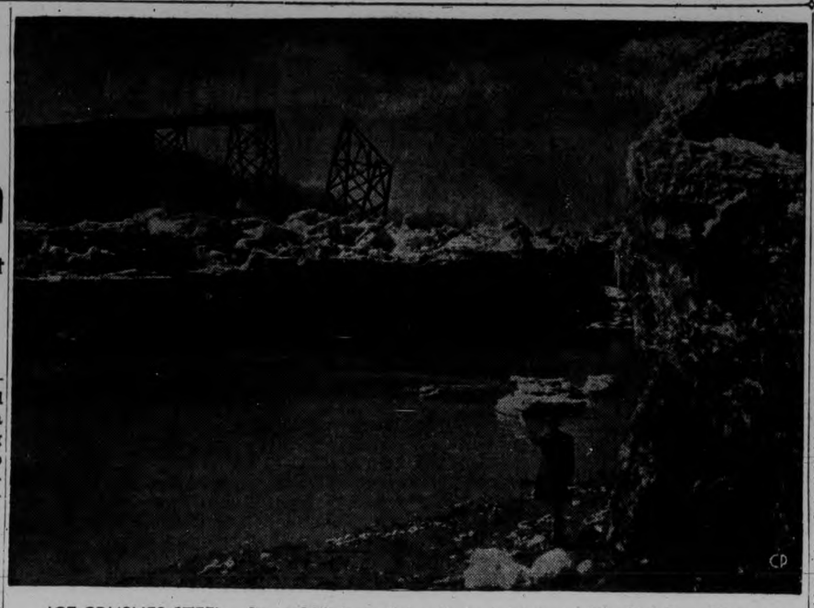
Treasure Hunter Finds Sailing Ship Wreckage

DURBAN, South Africa, April 18 (AP)—A treasure hunter says his expedition has located the wreck of the sailing ship Grosvenor, sunk in 1782 with a multi-million-dollar cargo of gold, silver and jewels.

Dr. Nico Bartman, leader of searchers using the ship Steenbok, said Thursday that South African diver Tom Devonshire found cannon and box-shaped objects about 40 miles north of Port Saint John, on South Africa's southeast coast.

Bartman said Devonshire was unable to loosen the sunken objects but that his technical adviser said they definitely were from the Grosvenor. The Steenbok will go back to the site in a few days and try to locate th etreasure.

Other expeditions have made unsuccessful searches for the wreck of the ship, which sank on a voyage from India to England.



ICE CRUSHES STEEL—Some 900 feet of steel span on this Canadian National Railways bridge near Ardley in central Alberta were ripped out and carried as much as a mile by ice jams. The Red Deer River rose 25 to 30 feet within a few hours. One 50-foot span was left standing but piers were moved and the C.N.R. is preparing to replace the 1,000-foot-long bridge.

232 Prisoners Seize Wing, Hold 9 Guards

RAHWAY, N.J., April 18—(AP)—A rebellion of more than 200 convicts raged at Rahway State prison farm today in sympathy with a four-day mutiny at Trenton State Prison 40 miles away.

A band of 232 prisoners grabbed control of a two-storey dormitory wing Thursday night and held nine prison guards as hostages. It was the fifth prison outbreak in New Jersey in three weeks.

Guards and State police regained control of the ground floor of the wing this morning by a ruse.

The convicts yelled down that one of their number had served his term and was due to be released today. They asked if he would be released if they let him out of the dormitory.

Prison officials told the rioters to send the man down to the first floor and remove part of the barricade at the entrance to let him out.

When the rebels did this the guards broke through and swarmed into the ground floor. The rioters retreated upstairs and piled up more barricades.

Prison officials were unwilling to use tear gas to quell the mutiny because of the hostages.

The farm superintendent was asked by newspaper men if the man whose term was up would be released on schedule. The superintendent declined to commit himself, saying "naturally, the prison routine is upset."

The Trenton convicts are demanding the ouster of Warden William H. Carty and an investigation of the prison. They released an ill hostage Thursday night and arranged a mediation meeting with prison officials for today.

The Rahway rioters made a similar request for a prison inquiry early today after a wild outburst of breaking windows, beds and furniture in the dormitory wing.

The rioting started about 9 p.m. Thursday night after an earlier report of "noisy and unruly" activities in the wing during the afternoon. It was the fifth prison disturbance in New Jersey in the last three weeks.

When the outbreak started, guards managed to remove 118 men before the others barricaded the entrances, trapping nine guards on the second floor.

Jeweller Pays $15,200 In Son's Odd Kidnapping

MIAMI, Fla., April 18. (AP)—A wealthy Miami jeweller paid $15,200 "ransom" for the safety of his six-year-old son in a strange abduction which State-Attorney Glenn Mincer today classified as a kidnapping. The perpetrators of the plot never placed their hands on the boy, Richard Richter, while they duped his father, Daniel Richter, into paying $15,000 in Jewels and $200 cash. But Mincer said they face the death penalty for their clever, perfectly-timed deal.

Mincer said he will take the case before the grand jury and request a kidnapping indictment against unknown persons. It was not necessary, he reported, for the kidnappers to actually seize the child. Their action in causing the child to disappear from his usual haunts and convincing the father that he must buy his safe return was a kidnapping under the law.

While police and the F.B.I. marshalled forces to meet what they thought was a genuine kidnapping, the child was riding in a taxicab from a private school at Miami Beach to Doctor's Hospital in Coral Gables, a distance of about 12 miles.

Police said the plotters used the school, the taxi company and the hospital as unwilling dupes in their shakedown.

A man who said he was "Dr. Henderson" called the Yellow Cab Co., at Miami Beach and asked them to pick up Ricky Richter at Coburn school and drive him to the hospital to be with his "gravely ill" mother.

Driver Picks Up Boy

Almost simultaneously, a woman's voice called the school authorities and said a taxi would arrive soon to pick up the boy.

Car driver Bert Walowitz, 24, was sent to the school and picked up the boy. A telephone call then went to the father's office in downtown Miami.

The caller told Daniel Richter he had Ricky in his custody and that no harm would come to the child if the father co-operated.

The caller gave him five minutes to verify the story.

Richter called the school, learned his son was gone, then decided to notify police. While detectives were en route to Richter's jewelry store, his phone rang again.

"He gave me instructions to take the jewels and money to a phone booth in the Ponce de Leon Hotel," Richter related.

Richter went to the hotel. He was called to the phone at the desk and the same man told him

Communist Councillor Indicted For Spying

STOCKHOLM, April 18. (Reuters)—Arthur Karlson, 57, Communist member of the town council and police board in Halmstad, West Sweden, was indicted today on charges of spying for Russia.

Five other members of the Communist party are already in custody awaiting trial next month for espionage for Russia.

A sixth Communist, Mrs. Villy Nordstrand, 35, president of the Porjus (North Sweden) "peace committee", arrested on a similar charge earlier this month, has been released.

Truman Calls Columnists Liars

WASHINGTON, April 18 (AP)—Another of those Truman letters turned up Thursday. In this one, President Truman says columnists Drew Pearson, Walter Winchell, Westbrook Pegler, George Sokolsky and John O'Donnell are liars.

The letter was made public by James F. F. Byrnes, governor of South Carolina and former secretary of state, in connection with a magazine article in which Byrnes charges Truman himself with being careless with the truth.

Would Jazz Up Religious Music

LONDON, April 18 — (AP) — Religious music needs jazzing up—even if it means using a bebop trio — the Church of England newspaper says today.

It calls for a revival of "stunt Evangelism" to make the "music of heaven" as familiar to the people as the tunes crooned by Bing Crosby.

"It must be taught them, even if it has to be done through percussion band, drum and fife, bepop trio or any other instruments that are understandable to them," the newspaper says.

The publication is not an official organ of the church, although it often reflects the church's views.

It says:

". . . What a stroke of spiritual genius it was when the Salvation Army took to singing the truths of the gospel to the popular tunes of the day. The errand boy and the scullery maid caught them and repeated them. Many of these simple folk gained a fundamental theology from their knowledge of these hymns."

Uniforms Out Of Mothballs For Big Khaki Reunion

TORONTO, April 18. (CP) — The old army uniforms are coming out of mothballs for the biggest cross-Canada khaki reunion since VE-Day seven years ago.

Virtually every unit and formation in the wartime First Canadian Army will be represented at a dinner in Toronto, May 8, to honor Gen. H. D. G. Crerar, its commander.

Seven hundred officers will squeeze into their dress uniforms—if they can—or wear civvies or dinner clothes. Probably 50 will be army nurses.

The dinner, where speeches will be few and short, is getting to be a secondary part of the affair. Plans are being made for get-togethers of scattered messes. Tables are being labelled with formation signs, the old "Maple Leaf Up" and "Maple Leaf Down" signs that directed wartime traffic are being resurrected. Officers are being indexed and cross-indexed so they can find each other.

Thirty or more major-generals or better will deck the head-table but the bulk of the activity and attendance will be majors and down. Two side-rooms will house a continuous showing of sound films of west front and Italian campaigns and an exhibit of enlarged still-photos of Canadian action.

The Royal York, where the "do" is scheduled, will echo with the screams of bag-pipes from every Ontario Highland Regiment—and of some of the listeners, the boys are saying it will be an affair to remember.

40 Bullets Fired Near Store; Suspect Charged

HAMILTON, April 18. (CP) — A charge of attempted murder was laid today against 27-year-old Louis Cote of Hamilton, arrested as the man who shot down a police constable in an early-morning gunfight on a downtown street. Cote, with two bullet wounds in his leg and ankle, was taken into custody in his rooming house shortly after the shooting. An emergency operation was performed on Constable Raymond Houlihan, 33, who is reported in critical condition. He was shot in the groin, arm and chest in a gun battle in which more than 40 shots were fired.

Police said Cote opened fire from an automobile on Constable Houlihan and Constable Joseph E. Gratz. The two officers were in a police cruiser and recognized the man at the wheel of the other car.

They forced the car to the curb and as they approached, police said the driver pulled two .45-calibre revolvers from the glove compartment and opened fire.

Returned Fire

The constables returned the fire and the man jumped from the car and escaped on foot.

Cote was arrested five blocks away in a Cannon Street West rooming house. He was captured without a struggle and taken to hospital with wounds in his left thigh and left ankle. His condition is good.

Police who entered the rooming house were led by acting chief of police Leonard Lawrence. The shooting took place on King Street West, near Bay.

Police said the man's car was loaded with ammunition.

One report said the car was stopped after the two constables noticed it cruising slowly in front of the Lloyd's Glass Company store. A second report said the man was stopped after he went through a red light.

The last rites of the Roman Catholic Church were given to Constable Houlihan in hospital. A short while later his wife, Marion, and eight-year-old daughter, Karen, were brought to his side.

Questioned On Holdups

Police said they were questioning Cote, a former paratrooper with seven years' army service, in connection with a recent wave of drug store holdups.

A senior police officer said he had "no idea" why the gunman pulled a gun. The officers were following long-standing instructions to check any rented car being driven after midnight.

Constable Gratz said he walked to the side of Cote's car and noticed him fumbling on the seat. The man came up with a revolver and started firing.

Sawyer Has Session With Steel Officials

WASHINGTON, April 18—(AP)—Commerce Secretary Charles Sawyer, Federal boss of the steel mills, conferred for 80 minutes with officials of the seized industry today, and then announced he will meet with C.I.O. president Philip Murray.

Sawyer told reporters "I'm not saying anything at the moment," but it was generally believed that the possibility of boosting the wages of 650,000 C.I.O. steel workers is up for primary discussion.

One company official told a reporter after the session with Sawyer that to him the situation looked as black as ever.

The steel executives were headed by Benjamin F. Fairless, president of the U.S. Steel Corporation.

Two Canadians Flee Yugoslavia Make Plane Land

GRAZ, Austria, April 18 (CP)—Police said six persons, including two Canadian citizens, all claiming to be anti-Tito, forced a plane flying within Yugoslavia into Austria today and landed at Graz.

The Canadians, said to have been unable to get exit permits to leave Yugoslavia, were identified as Mariancu Nikolajev and his brother Johann. Johann, 23, was said to have been born in Alberta.

Police said the pilot was forced at pistol point to fly off his course from Zagreb to Ljubljana.

The six persons were taken into custody by British occupation authorities and the plane continued its flight to Ljubljana.

The Nikolajev brothers were accompanied by their mother and their sister, Sofie. The mother and sister were said by police to be without Canadian citizenship but were in possession of Canadian immigration papers.

Aided In Plot

The refugees were aided in their plot to escape by two men identified as Josef Bokic and a lawyer, Mela Mrviyovic, of Nicic, near Belgrade.

British occupation authorities confirmed that the plane made a landing at the Graz airport and that the refugees were taken into custody.

"The party claimed they were political refugees," a British spokesman said. "If this is proven true, they will be sent to a displaced-persons' camp for processing."

The plane's stewardess refused permission for the baggage of the refugees to be unloaded at the airport after the plane landed.

The refugees told police that they held up the crew of the plane and the remaining five passengers in the plane with two pistols and a kitchen knife during almost the entire length of their trip from Zagreb.

Winning Battle Of Missouri

OMAHA, Nebr., April 18 (AP)—The mad Missouri threw its worst at Omaha and Council Bluffs today with an army of workers still winning the battle to hold the great river in its strait-jacket of dikes.

The river crest was so long and so subject to fluctuations that it couldn't be pinpointed. But river forecasters said the river is at its cresting stage and will continue to crest all day.

At 9:30 a.m. EST the level was 30.24 feet, compared with the flood stage of 19. Some minor rising and falling will occur before the level begins to drop some 24 hours hence, the weather bureau said.

The predicted high had been 31.5 feet. But at this near-phenomenal level even the action of the wind can raise or lower the gauge readings by a foot or more.

Two Canadian Pilots Missing In Britain

NORTH LUFENHAM, Rutland, England, April 18 (CP)—Two Sabre-jet fighter planes from the R.C.A.F.'s No. 410 (Cougar) Squadron collided in mid-air today over the east coast of England. Both pilots were reported missing.

Observers in an R.A.F. Lincoln bomber reported that paracutes were seen after the collision. Other reports said a pilot was seen waving from a dinghy.

Aircraft, marine launches and lifeboats went to the crash scene in the Wash, an indentation in the coastline between Lincoln and Norfolk counties.

The collision apparently took place as the two planes prepared for a run over the Wainfleet bombing range.

U.S. System Of Hazard Play Under Attack

WASHINGTON, April 18 (AP) —Sen. Paul Douglas (Dem-Ill.) blasted the system of extra hazard pay for some military men Thursday, saying it places a "price tag" on morale of fighting men and creates a "super-elite."

He announced that he is introducing legislation to equalize such pay. His bill would cut it to not more than $50 a month, with rank no basis for paying it. He said he is in favor of abolishing it entirely.

Douglas declared that the air force system of paying $50 to $210 a month in hazard pay, and the marines' insistence on taking only volunteers, creates "snobbishness" and is unfair to the infantryman, whom he called the "neglected man" (Douglas served in the marines in the Second World War.)

Douglas said, that under present law, those being shot at in front lines are considered to be facing no extra hazards, but a flying officer on a routine flight from Washington to Chicago gets "anywhere from $100 to $210 a month extra."

Handicap Recruiting

Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, chief of staff of the air force, and other high ranking officers, have testified before a Senate Preparedness subcommittee that reducing extra hazard pay for fliers would seriously handicap the air force recruiting program.

The anxiety of the air force over the possibility of a serious shortage of fliers has been heightened by a wave of stay-down strikes by airmen who have refused to take up their planes.

Vandenberg listed three causes for the present stay-down strikes —a rising death rate in military flights, insufficient hazard pay for airmen and the fact that reserve officers who were recalled to duty thought they were being asked to do more than their share.

The latest protest came from eight reserve officers at Randolph Field, Tex.

They said that the base is seething with discontent; that there is deliberate discrimination against reservists in the B-29 combat training program; that regular air force officers and instructors are sending reservists to Korea but staying home themselves. They asked Congress to investigate.

Make Little Headway On Afternoon Market

TORONTO, April 18 — (CP) — Prices made little headway today in early afternoon stock market dealings after checking Thursday's decline.

Western oils and selected penny golds attracted speculative interest but turnovers were moderate. Industrial dealings remained in selected issues. Volume for the first three hours was 2,044,000 shares.

Steels, and miscellaneous issued led industrials upward with a scattered list of fractional advances. Agricultures and textiles held gains and losses in balance but utilities, banks and retail stores were weak.

Western oils posted a slim majority of gains. Commonwealth petroleum, New British Dominions, Pacific Petroleum, Trend and Peace River pushed upward.

Base Metals were mixed. East Sullivan, Eureka, Labrador, Quebec Manitou and Step Rock strengthened while Golden Manitou, Noranda and Sherritt-Gordon weakened.

Senior golds showed little trend. Junior producers posted a majority of penny advances but prospects and holding companies were mixed.

Bullets Crash Through Train

A serious or even fatal injury would probably have resulted if anyone had been sitting in the dining car of the Ottawa-Toronto C.P.R. express when it crossed the canal bridge Tuesday night.

The train pulls into Peterborough at 5 in the evening. Fortunately no one was in the dining car when a bullet believed to be either a .22 calibre bullet or a B.B. pellet whizzed through a dining car window. Another smashed a window in the baggage car.

Both the parlor car steward and another member of the train crew reported seeing "five or six boys" standing near the tracks where they cross the canal at the eastern end of the city.

Police said today that six teen age boys questioned at the scene by constables Douglas Farthing and Donald Mackay a few minutes after the incident was reported will likely be charged with trespassing on railroad property.

Constable Farthing said that three .22 rifles were taken from the lads and that it was later learned two of the boys who did not have guns, had hid them under the bridge. There, two air rifles were found; it is believed the other boy also has an air rifle he said.

Further investigation of the incident is being carried out by C.P.R. investigator Walter Ramsay.

Mrs. M. O'Brien Named Vice-President

Mrs. Margaret O'Brien of Peterborough has been elected vice-president of the Ontario Federation of Catholic Parent-Teacher Associations. Hugh Gadbois of Ottawa has been re-elected president.

E. L. Dubois of Hamilton Wednesday night urged Protestant, Roman Catholic and Jewish parent-teacher groups to provide local censorship of "indecent" literature on news stands.

"We are told that it is not possible to decide what is obscene, that nude pictures and smutty literature can be defended as art," he told the Federation.

"Though we don't want any more censorship or controls than can be helped, somebody must decide and something must be done."

Following is the list of officers Hugh Gadbois, Ottawa, president; Mrs. Margaret O'Brien, Peterborough, vice-president; Mrs. Harry Boyd, Ottawa, secretary; P. McManus, Windsor, treasurer. Teaching councillors include: Dorothy Price, Sudbury; Mary Flynn, Hamilton; Margaret MacMartin, Westport; and Alicia Martin; Windsor.

4th Fire In 2 Days On Armour Hill

A booster line and three handpumps were used by city firemen shortly before noon today to put out another grass fire on Armour Hill. here have been four fires there in the last two days. "A couple more and all the grass will be burned off," Fire Chief George Smith philosophized today. Earlier today firemen used two chemical extinguishers to put out a flooded oil burner at the home of Miss Aikins, 184 Dalhousie St.

Floods Easing In Sask. As Water Drops

REGINA, April 18 —(CP)— Growing evidence today indicates that the worst is over for flooded areas of southwest Saskatchewan.

The threat to Duncairn Dam, 25 miles upstream from Swift Current on the Swift Current Creek, appears much lessened.

And in swamped Eastend, 200 miles southwest of Regina, the waters that forced evacuation of most of the 1,000 residents are still sliding back into the Frenchman Creek.

The evacuees, quartered in Shaunavon, 28 miles east, will be kept out of the town until clean-up work is completed.

Situation Improves

Dr. L. B. Thompson, director of the Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Administration, returned to Regina Thursday night after a survey of P.F.R.A. dams at Duncairn, Eastend and Val Marie, focal points in the flood area.

He said there was a "general easing" of the situation. All P.F.R.A. dams were in good shape.

Water in the Duncairn Dam, earlier reported rushing in so quickly that a safety margin in the dam was rapidly disappearing, had only risen 1½ inches Thursday.

Dr. Thompson said the Duncairn reservoir had a freeboard of six feet from water level to the top of the dam. A flight over the Swift Current watershed in the afternoon had shown a drop in the water intake.

Five Separate Jet Battles

SEOUL, April 18 (AP).—Communist MIG fighters crossed the Yalu River from Manchuria today for the first time in five days and tangled with United States Sabre jets in five separate battles.

The U.S. Fifth Air Force said its airmen shot down one Red jet and damaged two. Allied losses, if any, are reported weekly.

The five actions pitted 58 Russian-type MIGs against 70 Sabres. American jets seldom outnumber the Reds.

Fifth Air Force fighter-bombers hampered all week by bad weather were attacking enemy rail facilities five miles north of Kwakson, about 45 miles from the Manchurian border, when five flights of MIGs appeared.

On the ground, Communist patrols continued to feel out United Nations defences. They concentrated on the western and central fronts.

Hawkesbury Teachers Hand In Resignation

HAWKESBURY, April 18 (CP) —All 23 members of the Hawkesbury Separate School Teachers' Association have resigned, it was learned today.

Board chairman Andrew Sabourin was not available for comment.

It was understood the lay teachers took the action after they had failed to receive notice from the board of consideration of salary demands.

The teachers had asked for a raise in minimum salaries from $1,300 to $1,500, and from $1,800 to $2,300 for maximum salaries.

Mrs. J. C. Harrison

The funeral for Mrs. James Charter Harrison, the former Annie Elizabeth Florence Kitney, 733 George Street North, who died on Monday, was held Thursday from the Kaye Funeral Home.

The Rev. C. G. Boyd of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church conducted the service.

Pallbearers were four grandchildren, Leslie Patterson, Raymore Turnbull, Ronald Barrick, John Harrison, and two sons-in-law, Robert Murray and John Pilling. Burial was in Little Lake Cemetery.

to put the jewels and cash in a bag in a locker at the Greyhound bus station, place the key with a wad of chewing gum under the counter of a certain telephone booth, and leave.

Switches Booths

The father rushed to the bus station, placed the bag in a locker, and since the designated phone booth was being used, placed the key in another booth.

Detectives reached the bus station as Richter left. Apparently while the detectives watched the originally-designated phone booth one of the extortionists slipped into the other, around a corner, and took the key, opened the locker and left with the bag.

About the time Richter returned to his store, a puzzled doctor at the hospital called and asked if he had a son, Ricky. The boy was at the hospital and the cab driver was waiting for his fare. Richter said the whole sequence of events took about an hour.

Law Unconstitutional

SAN FRANCISCO, April 18 — (AP)—The State Supreme Court Thursday declared the California Alien Land Law unconstitutional. The ruling puts an end to racial discrimination in holding real estate and permits alien Japanese to own homes and other real property in California. The law was enacted in 1920.

The pound sterling was $2.75¼, down ¼ from Thursday.

L. Cadesky Buys Otonabee Farm

Louis Cadesky of Louada Manor Farm in Harvey township, fronting on Pigeon Lake, has bought the farm owned by the late Leonard Clancey on the Crowley Line in Otonabee.

Ken Hunt, manager of Louada Manor establishment of Shorthorn cattle, confirmed rumors of the transfer today. He did not discuss the purpose of this purchase near the city, but it has been suggested that Mr. Cadesky may be planning to move some of his pure-bred Shorthorns nearer to Peterborough.

The Examiner recently reported the arrival at Halifax of the imported Shorthorn bull "Calrossie Armada" for which Mr. Cadesky paid $23,520 (7,900 guineas). After a month's detention in quarantine, this young bull will be delivered to Louada Manor Farms. It was bought at the Perth sale in Scotland.

"Armada" is one of a group of Shorthorns bought for Mr. Cadesky. Some of them have not left Scotland.

The late Leonard J. Clancey bought the 200 acre farm from David Crowley. It is south of Downer's Corners on the Crowley Line which circles the high hill, just west of the C.N.R., and a landmark of that suburban part of Otonabee.

Suggests Ottawa Aid Highways

TORONTO, April 18 (CP) — Hugh A. Lumsden, retiring president of the Ontario Motor League, today suggested that the federal government be asked to study how greater aid can be given to provincial highway systems.

Addressing the league's meeting, he said that, although the Ontario government is spending more on roads than ever before, "it seems to me that our roads are deteriorating more quickly than they can be constructed and maintained."

The work on highways was well managed and directed but tremendous increase in traffic, coupled with a scarcity of cement and steel made it appear that greater aid was required.

"I think the time is overdue when the dominion government should bear an increasing part of the burden of construction and maintenance," he said.

Mr. Lumsden, who is completing his second year as president of the 45-year-old league, deplored the classifying of automobiles as luxuries for taxation purposes.

OBITUARY

DOUGLAS ROY REVOY

Douglas Roy Revoy, infant son of Donald Revoy and the former Pearl Hockaday, R.R. 4, Lakefield, died Thursday in the Hospital for Sick Children, Toronto, after being ill since birth.

Mr. and Mrs. Revoy have three other children, Neil 7, Donna 5, and Darrel 3.

The funeral will be held Saturday at 2 p.m. from the Kaye Funeral Home. The Rev. H. Kaye, of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Lakefield, will conduct the service. Burial will be in Little Lake Cemetery.

Development Of Power Vital To US—Saunders

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., April 18 (CP)—Robert Saunders, Ontario Hydro chairman, said Thursday night that development of Ontario power resources is vital to United States defence.

Addressing a "United States-Canada goodwill dinner" arranged by the Kiwanis club, he said:

"I shudder to think what would have happened if we in Ontario had not been able to supply the essential industries with power during 1950 and 1951 and make available to your armament industry the products that were so essential."

Delegation Asks Board Repair Buckhorn Road

A delegation of Buckhorn residents and people who live along the Buckhorn road from Highway 28 to the village asked the Suburban Road Commission Thursday to repair the recent development road.

Thomas Mason, Buckhorn, headed the 13-man delegation and read the brief petition which was signed by more than 190 people.

In the petition the people requested the commission to repair and keep in good condition the 12½-mile stretch from the highway to the village.

"We feel that the money spent by the Provincial Government two years ago to widen and lay a good road-bed has been wasted so far, unless proper care and maintenance is carried out," the petition read.

The petition added that the road is practically impassible from Highway 28 to the village and that it is impossible to travel at more than 10 to 15 miles an hour," with any degree of safety and we urge immediate action."

Now Terrible

Mr. Mason, speaking on behalf of the people said that they felt "tremendous improvement had been made in the road proper but that the present condition is terrible."

He asked the commission why the road is in the condition it is, why it had not been kept up, and why the road can't be made improved for normal use.

Mr. Mason said that some people in the Buckhorn area travel through to Burleigh and down to Peterborough rather than use the pot-holed road.

J. A. (Bert) Middleton, a member of the commission, which is a joint county-city body, agreed that the road was in poor condition, saying "no doubt it's been pretty rough this spring."

"There was a lot of money spent on that road last year and there's not too much money to spend on roads this year. More than $15,000 was spent on the road last year and I thought it was in pretty good shape last summer," he added.

Must Dry Out

County engineer, Jack Kean, explained that the road couldn't be patched when it was wet, saying that the gravel just keeps coming out. He said that they were trying to save the prime coat of oil put on last year.

Mr. Middleton told the delegation that the commission has tried several times to have the department of highways take over the road, but without much success.

The commission suggested that the delegation go to the department of highways with the petition along with the commission, requesting that the stretch become a provincial highway and come under its maintenance division.

The delegation accepted this suggestion and will be petitioning the area further to sign on more ratepayers and also the many cottagers in the district who use the road.

For this year the Buckhorn road will be ripped up and gravelled, said Engineer Kean, and probably next year it will receive another layer of oil.

Credit Unions Multiply In Last 10 Years

WINDSOR, April 18 (CP). — Credit unions have been multiplying in Ontario with "tremendous" speed in the last 10 years, A. S. Dalgleish, Hamilton, president of the Ontario Credit Union League, said today.

He told a convention of the Ontario Credit Union League that more than 600 unions with a membership exceeding 200,000 had been established in Ontario since 1942. Only about 40 existed prior to that date.

There were more than 2,000 credit unions with a membership exceeding 1,000,000 in Canada.

Some 500 delegates from many parts of Ontario are attending the convention.

Won't Tag Tourists For Night Parking

LONDON, Ont., April 18 (CP)— Tourists won't be tagged for all-night parking under a policy decided Thursday by the city traffic committee, city officials said today.

The policy to extend "courtesy" in the realm of parking law enforcement was promised by the committee.

Chief Constable Earl Knight said all motorists "with a good excuse" could obtain relief from parking fines by writing or telephoning a police station.

Make Second Trip

The air force sent two search planes into the area at dawn but they were called back because of bad weather. They took off again when the weather cleared.

Although the Atlantic is a chilly 40 degrees at this time of year, any of the men who managed to clear themselves from the wreckage would have a good chance of survival.

Each carried a life-jacket. A self-inflating dinghy is standard equipment of each parachute harness.

In addition each Avenger carried a three-man dinghy, which is also self-inflating.

The Navy released names of the missing following notification of next-of-kin.

Reaches Wreckage

The cruiser Quebec, object of a "search and air strike" as it steamed here from the west coast, reported late Thursday night it was in the midst of wreckage, "apparently of two aircraft," but had found no survivors.

The destroyers Haida and Iroquois and a high-speed motor launch left here early today to comb the area and the frigate La Huloise was diverted to the crash scene. The destroyer Crescent was expected to leave momentarily.

Dutch Queen Comes To Canada

OTTAWA, April 18 —(CP)— Queen Juliana of the Netherlands next week will pay a "sentimental" visit to Canada, a country she considers a second home.

Originally, the Queen, who spent most of the Second World War in Ottawa, was scheduled to make a formal state visit to Canada following a similar visit to the United States. Plans were changed when Canada decreed a period of mourning following the death of King George VI.

The external affairs department Thursday issued arrangements for her "unofficial" one-week visit. The program sets out details for the first three days, starting Monday. No functions are listed for Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

An official said the Queen had expressed a desire to be alone for a few days and to be "just another human being."

During her "free" time she may visit some of the nearby spots with which she became familiar during her wartime stay.

U.K. Considers Naming Ridgway

LONDON, April 18 (AP)—The diplomatic correspondent of the Press Association said today that Britain is considering a recommendation that Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway be named to succeed Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower as Supreme Allied Commander in Europe.

Ridgway now is Supreme Commander of United Nations Forces in the Far East.

Asked about the Ridgway report, a Foreign Office spokesman would only say "no comment."

The San Francisco Chronicle reported from Washington Wednesday that the United States is polling the other members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization on possible appointment of Ridgway.

Prime Minister Churchill recently told the House of Commons that Britain would welcome another U.S. general as head of the Allied forces.

C.A.H.A. Rejects Montreal Plea To Bar Stewart

KEMPTVILLE, April 18 (CP)— The Canadian Amateur Hockey Association has disallowed a protest by Montreal Canadiens against a replacement for Guelph Biltmores in the Eastern Canada Memorial Cup hockey final, vice-president W. B. George announced today.

Canadiens protested Guelph's use of Ron Stewart as replacement for Ray Ross, who refused to sign a professional contract after signing a "C" form with Cleveland Barons.

Last Tuesday, Frank Dilio, registrar of the Quebec Amateur Hockey Association, said Canadiens agreed to accept a decision of C.A.H.A. officers regarding the Guelph replacement but protested the manner in which the Guelph club and professional hockey had acted in the matter.

Mr. George's announcement said that the "majority of the C.A.H.A. executive has disallowed the protest of Montreal Canadiens."

See Possible Reconciliation

LOS ANGELES, April 18 (AP) —Joan Bennett and producer Walter Wanger estranged since he shot her agent, Jennings Lang, last Dec. 18, acted like a loving couple as he kissed her goodbye Thursday night at International Airport.

Miss Bennett was off to New York, where she will prepare to tour in a play. Next Tuesday Wanger will learn what if any penalty is to be imposed on him for seriously wounding Lang, whom he accused him of breaking up his home.

Wanger parried questions about a possible reconciliation. "There is nothing I can say about this now. Too much is still at stake" he said.

Owen Sound To Vote On Liquor Store

OWEN SOUND, April 18 (CP) —Voters in Owen Sound on June 21 will express their opinion on the establishment of a brewer's warehouse and a liquor store in the city.

The vote comes three years and two days after the last local option vote here.

On that occasion five questions were put to the people and all were defeated. Men's and women's beverage and dining lounges were included in the retail stores.

The June 21 date was announced here Thursday on confirmation from the Liquor Licence Board.

P.U.C. Asks Lots For Substation In Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD, April 18 — (ENS)—The Campbellford Council met in special session Wednesday evening with a delegation from the Public Utilities Commission to discuss the sale of a number of town lots.

Chairman James Benor of the P.U.C. spoke for the group and said the commission tried to purchase the lots from the town in February of 1950 and that the town did not want to sell them.

The lots in question are situated on the northwest corner of Market St. and Doxsee Ave. and have been used for many years to store poles and other pieces of equipment owned by the commission. The town recently entered into a deal with the Brewer's Warehousing Company, offering the lots for sale for the purpose of constructing a brewers' warehouse.

The P.U.C. chairman said he did not know of the deal until after it had been entered into, and for that reason did not bring the matter up before. The commission owns one lot and has a six months' option on an adjoining lot on the southwest corner of Market and Doxsee and said they would be willing to trade the lots with the town as the first lots were more suitable for their purpose.

Plan Substation

The chairman divulged that the P.U.C. intends in the relatively near future to build a Hydro substation on the lots. The local power house is working at capacity most of the time and even now has to purchase power. There is not sufficient water to operate a third generator at the power house, and the commission can build a hydro sub station a lot cheaper than they can install a new generator. According to their figures a new generator would cost about $450,000.

Councillor George H. Free took the stand that he did not consider it a good idea to erect a sub station in the center of the town, and suggested the outskirts as a better location. The P.U.C. representatives had various arguments against locating the proposed station on the outskirts, the main one being that the centre of the town would be handier for distribution and that they could tie in with other high tension lines already in existence in the area.

Mayor W. A. Kingston said that he believed it was the general feeling of council that if the two lots in question were necessary to the commission, the council would certainly co-operate to the fullest extent by trying to make other arrangements with the Brewers Warehousing Company.

The group decided to leave the matter in the hands of a joint committee made up of the property committee of the council and manager P. C. Denyes and commissioner A. J. Meyers of the P.U.C. The committee will arrange a meeting with the brewery interests and see what they can work out. They will then bring in a report at a special meeting to be called later by the mayor.

Sponsors Fete Hockey Teams

CAMPBELLFORD, April 18. — (ENS)— About 125 youngsters, comprising the six teams entered in the town hockey league during the past few months, were entertained Wednesday evening, when the sponsors of the teams got together and put on an evening of entertainment for the boys.

Both local dairies provided chocolate milk for the affair, a local soft drink manufacturer saw to it that the kids had plenty of 'pop' and this, together with mountains of hot dogs and umpteen gallons of ice cream, disappeared quickly once the youngsters got going.

F. F. Long, former mayor of Campbellford, entertained the boys with his feats of magic. His audience on Wednesday evening kept him on his toes throughout the long performance. The kids adopted an "I don't believe it—ya gotta show me" attitude, and had Mr. Long repeating tricks while the youngsters watched from all angles to learn the secret.

Dr. W. W. Baker of the Campbellford Rotary Club presented the Campbellford Cloth Trophy to coach Rus. Ayrhart and captain Wilfred Jones of the Fish and Game team, who emerged victorious from the winter sport.

A presentation was made to Don Free on behalf of the boys in appreciation of his refereeing duties during the season.

Bruce Grills showed a number of movies to the lads. The affair was held in the Legion Hall, and after the activities were over, a number of the boys went to the Legion lounge room to watch Sugar Ray Robinson knock out Rocky Graziano in the third round to complete their evening of entertainment.

The committee thanked the Legion for the use of their hall for the evening, and expressed the thanks of the sponsors to all who helped in any way to make the evening the success it turned out to be.

Audience Has Happy Time At Quiet Week-End

People who have seen the wartime London stage version or the movie (recently in Peterborough) of Esther McCracken's famous domestic comedy, "Quiet Weekend," will have to adjust their previous conceptions to the amateur Canadian stage presentation as given in their parish hall by the All Saints' Dramatic Club Thursday evening to an overflowing house. Once the adjustment is made the All Saints' version is seen to be good, with special qualities of warmth, freshness and humor.

By comparison with the rest of the play, the first act seemed dull. Perhaps this was because it is a very English play, and also one designed for cosmopolites (both actors and audience). It takes at least one act to become adjusted to the Canadian intonation, set and clothes, and the touch of a Kawartha cottage weekend.

Difficult Play

It is a difficult play, primarily for suave professional actors. The first act depends greatly on gab and stage business to keep it going, since it is largely used to set the situations and characters for the rest of the play. If the gabbing is not slick and the actors not deft, the first act falters. By contrast, acts II and II are full of situations and movement, which, if the timing is good, come off amusingly. They did Thursday night.

Douglas Weir, playing the role of the wooing, diffident bachelor Adrian, gave the star performance of the evening. He used his voice well; it and his face were mobile (though his make-up when he first appeared made him seem sinister). He has a sense of the stage and a command of it.

Other Highlights

Among many other highlights of the performance these might be mentioned: The touching, youthful midnight scene between Denys (Don Ketchabaw—handsome but rather young-looking for the part), and Miranda (played by Marilyn Galbraith, a good young actress); the tension and humor when the two gentlemanly poachers come back later in the same scene—Adrian and Arthur Royd (Frank Booth was rightly British for the part, but played perhaps a bit too quietly); the well-timed, well-staged hustle and bustle at the very end; the well-cast maid, played by Hilda Booth with amusing naturalness; the matronly good-heartedness and poise of Edith Abraham, who played Mildred Royd. The realistic puff of fireplace explosion at the end of act I needs a bigger bang.

The effectiveness of the production could not have been achieved if all the well-rehearsed cast had not carried their weight as well as they did: Barbara Outram, effective as the hardly-teen-ager Sally; Florence Townsend as Marcia, the Royds' married daughter; her husband, Jim Brent (played by Joe Gatfield); Grace Webb as Sally's mother; Eleanor Carroll as the sophisticated Rowena of the many gowns; Phyllis Weir as Mary Jarrow, and W. A. Brown as the handyman, Sam Pecker.

Well-Lit Stage

The set for the small stage was well contrived and built, pretty, and notably lit—even to the flies. The emphasis on back-lighting was interesting and had a good bright result. Stage manager was Eleanor Carroll.

The pact, smoothness and discipline of the production attested good direction. The director was W. A. Brown. Its freshness seemed indigenous. Actors and audience had a happy time thereby.

An act of the play had been scheduled for performance at the Peterborough Drama Festival, now postponed to the autumn. It is to be hoped that the group will keep this entry alive for it; and also try its hand at a one-acter.

The play is being repeated tonight. I recommend it as a good, enthusiastic Anglo-Canadian collaboration.—T.J.A.

Airline Meeting Postponed To April 22

WILMINGTON, Del., April 18—(AP)—The annual meeting of Colonial Airlines stockholders has been postponed until April 22.

A spokesman for the company announced Thursday that the recess was arranged so that election inspectors can complete a count of 9,000 shareholder proxies.

Colonial shareholders were asked to vote on two issues—sale of the company to National Airlines and selection of a board of directors.

Seymour Liberals Elect New Chief

CAMPBELLFORD, April 18 — (ENS)—The Seymour Township Liberal Association held their annual meeting and election of officers in the parish hall here Tuesday evening. A large turnout, comprising people from all parts of the town and township were on hand.

Reg. Seymour was again elected chairman of the association, and the election of officers and ward chairman resulted in the following being named: Honorary president, Marshall West; president, Reg. Seymour; 1st vice-president, Ed Forrestell; secretary-treasurer, B. M. Hoey.

The following is a list of the ward chairmen of the eight polling subdivisions in the township: Ward 1, West's School, Thomas O'Rourke; Ward 2, Connelley's, D. Rutherford; Ward 3, English Line, Earl Godden; Ward 4, Menie, Leo Fry; Ward 5, Petherick's Corners, Clare Ingram; Ward 6, Stanwood, William Allen; Ward 7, Meyersburg, William Bateson Ward 8, Trent River, J. Town Council Sells Two Of Last Three Lots

CAMPBELLFORD, April 18 — (ENS). — A by-law transferring the deed to a lot formerly owned by the town, and recently sold to Joseph Maddocks of Campbellford was passed at a special meeting of the Campbellford Council held in the Council Chambers on Wednesday evening. All members of the council were present, and Mayor W. A. Kingston was in the chair.

An offer of $400 from Dr. Ross Richardson of Campbellford, for Lot 16A on the east side of Doxsee Avenuet was accepted and the solicitor was to be instructed to draw up the deed.

This leaves the town with only one other lot to sell, and they hope to interest an industry in this one.

Call Press Strike

ROME, April 18—(Reuters)—The Italian National Press Federation, meeting under the presidency of elder statesman Vittorio Emanuelle Orlando, Thursday night called a 24-hour strike for higher pay April 23. Communist and non-Communist unions joined in this action to ensure that no morning or evening papers will be published in Italy April 23. A printers' strike is called for the same day.

Three Grass Blazes KeepFiremenHopping

CAMPBELLFORD, April 18 — (ENS)—Grass fires gave local firemen the busiest day they have had in some time on Thursday when three calls for assistance sent the smoke-eaters to various parts of the town to quell stubborn blazes that had spread to reach proportions much greater than well-meaning residents intended.

About 2 p.m. the squad was called to 'Candy Mountain' where fire had spread over a wide area. This was allowed to burn until it reached close to some buildings, then was quelled.

Later in the afternoon the firemen went to the corner of Centre and Second Sts. where a similar fire got out of control. This was also allowed to burn its way over a field and was then extinguished.

About 9.40 p.m. the brigade made a fast run to a field at the rear of the Mount Pleasant cemetery property, near the home of Robert Ingram, when a grass fire got beyond the control of residents. This was dealt with quickly. Scores of residents chased the fire truck to the scene of the last fire, and caused a minor traffic jam in the vicinity of the cemetery.

North Bay Fireman Charged With Assault

NORTH BAY, April 18—(CP)—Capt. William Long, second in command of the North Bay fire department, has been charged with assault by fireman Clyde Denham, who alleges Capt. Long punched and kicked him in a scuffle early Tuesday after the fireman's annual ball.

Denham said he was told the case would be heard in court today. He said he had been suspended from the fire department without pay, pending a city council investigation of the affair.

It was reported that Capt. Long has also been suspended pending the investigation.

Pravda Makes Hay

MOSCOW, April 18—(AP)—Pravda says today the United States government is willing to spend a billion dollars for a new atom bomb plant but unwilling to spend funds needed for flood control. Peterborough A Major Urban Centre

We are again impressed by the speed of the Census Division of the Bureau of Statistics in analysing, editing and publishing its 1951 census figures. The latest bulletin to reach us is a census of metropolitan areas, and Peterborough may perhaps be flattered to find itself included in this category—as an "other major urban area"—other than the big shots like Toronto, Montreal, Edmonton and the like. The census-takers find that Peterborough, Fort William-Port Arthur and a dozen "other major urban areas" possess "some but not necessarily all of the characteristics of metropolitan areas."

* * *

The real metropolitan areas, fifteen of them, as listed alphabetically are: Calgary (139,105), Edmonton (173,075), Halifax (133,931), Hamilton (259,685), London (121,516), Montreal (1,395,400), Ottawa (281,908), Quebec (274,827), Saint John (78,337), St. John's, Nfld. (67,749), Toronto (1,117,470), Vancouver (530,728), Victoria (104,303), Windsor (157,672) and Winnipeg (354,069).

* * *

One wonders at the inclusion of St. John's and Saint John in this list of metropolitan centres, for each is well under a hundred thousand in population. Perhaps the census officials were bowing to regional pride; not to have found a metropolitan city in either New Brunswick or Newfoundland might have piqued Maritime sensitivities. But they could have used Sydney-Glace Bay in Nova Scotia, which is listed as an "other major urban area," like Peterborough, and possessing a total population of 104,224. This includes the entire urbanized area of Glace Bay and Sydney and their mining peripheries. Apart from Glace Bay-Sydney, Canada now has thirteen metropolitan areas with populations greater than a hundred thousand; and it has two centres with populations in excess of a million.

* * *

Peterborough's urban population includes the 38,272 in the city proper, 772 east and north of the city in part of Douro, 739 in part of North Monaghan (chiefly along Highway 28), 510 in the part of Otonabee closest to the city, and 898 suburbanites in part of Smith township. This makes a total Peterborough urban area of 41,191, according to the census of last year.

* * *

Compared with Peterborough, Brantford's urban area has 52,231 people (the city itself is smaller than Peterborough —36,727). Kingston (33,459) has an urban area totalling 49,327; Oshawa (41,545) 51,582; St. Catharines (37,984) 67,065—this figure includes Thorold and Port Dalhousie; Sarnia (34,697) 41,303. Sydney (N.S.), Sherbrooke, Three Rivers, Shawinigan Falls and Moncton are the only major urban areas other than metropolitan centres in Canada which are not in Ontario. This province has ten.

* * *

As Peterborough continues to spread out, perhaps by the 1961 census its "urban area" will include Lakefield, Chemong Park, Bridgenorth, Keene, Omemee, and Warsaw, and much more of the surrounding townships than the statistics now take in.

Another Threat To Peace

We have received from a city in the mid-western U.S.A. a circular which offers us a book called Speeches For Every Occasion for a mere $2. The publishers offer to accept Canadian dollars at full par value, which in the light of the present situation, is uncommonly generous of them, and they promise that with the aid of their book "almost anyone can be an interesting and entertaining public speaker". They urge us to get out from behind the 8-ball, where we are presumably cringing, and become a leader and a respected and envied speaker. Their book contains more than 100 different speeches, and they point out that for less than 2 cents a speech we can possess this invaluable treasury of oratory for use at banquets, civic functions, clubs and lodges; they will see us triumphantly through any occasion when we have to be, in their striking phrase, "patriotic, religious or inspirational". They also provide a section of comical remarks, which can be adapted to any number of occasions.

We are not going to buy this book, for as we have said many times before, we think that too many speeches are made, and that less than one per cent. of them are of any interest or value. We strongly suggest that the censor who lurks in obscurity in the Department of National Revenue, forbid the importation of this book into Canada. There are still a few Canadians who are too shy, or too conscious of the fact that they have nothing much to say, to make speeches, and nothing should be done to tamper with their praiseworthy modesty. If, by the circulation of this dangerous volume, everybody in Canada were to become a public speaker, life would become utterly intolerable.

For many years we have had a speech all prepared, hoping that a time will come when we have the good sense and courage to deliver it. It runs as follows:

Ladies and Gentlemen: It is kind of you to ask me to speak, and I thank you for the compliment. However, I have nothing to say worth hearing. I could speak, of course, for forty minutes if I had the effrontery to do so. I suggest that in stead, we all compose ourselves comfortably in our chairs and sleep for forty minutes, by the end of which time you will all be refreshed and inspired as you could never be by any words of mine. I thank you.

Mr. Jolliffe's Gloomy Forebodings

Mr. E. B. Jolliffe, the Ontario leader of the C.C.F., has been looking into the future, and what he sees there, while not exactly displeasing to him, causes him to speak gravely. Within the next four years he is sure that the Frost government will "on its own record convict itself of incompetence and ineptitude," and the province will "witness a melancholy procession of scandals" in provincial affairs; he thinks that these scandals will perhaps "come in the fields of liquor administration and stockateering."

Novelties in politics are always welcome, and we applaud Mr. Jolliffe for his originality in condemning the government in power for things which it has not yet done, but which he thinks that it may do at some future time. That phrase "a melancholy procession of scandals" pleases us particularly; it suggests riots of crime and malversation such as one encounters in the world of Elizabethan and Jacobean drama, in which everybody wallows helplessly in evil until, at the end, the stage is strewn with corpses and only one virtuous man —possibly Mr. Jolliffe himself—remains alive to restore virtue and order to the scene. It would give us a considerable thrill to witness something of the kind at Queen's Park, but we have no real hope of it.

The Frost Government is a moderate, efficient, well-ordered government, running the affairs of Ontario like clockwork. It is a well-mannered government, for it does not impose upon the minorities which face it in Opposition, and it is on the most cordial and cooperative terms with the Dominion Government. We do not like its attitude toward education and the Hope Report, but these are small matters when compared with its virtues. We cannot conceive of a government less likely to make our flesh creep with a melancholy procession of scandals. If that is what Mr. Jolliffe foresees, we should like to borrow his crystal ball, for there is nothing we enjoy more than a good, hair-raising experience in the world of fiction, which has not the smallest chance of coming true.

Something Funny In The Air

There is something funny about the "flying saucers"; even senior Canadian scientists admit that they are bewildered. Strange objects have been seen in the sky over North Bay, over Hamilton, over Haliburton. The "flying saucers" —in the air literally and figuratively for several years in the United States—are right above us here. Dr. Mackenzie, chairman of the Atomic Energy Control Board, Ottawa, says: "These reports cannot be ignored as nonsense." Dr. O. M. I. Solandt, chairman of the Defence Research Board, says: "We are as mystified as any one else . . . and are keeping an open mind."

Personally, we are keeping an open eye. We should like to see one of the things, since seeing is believing. We have not even seen a picture of one.

We shall not attempt to guess where they come from, where they go, or what they are. We leave them as "Flying Saucers," a not unsatisfying image to describe something weird and wonderful which is, it seems, indescribable. They say that one American air force man gave chase to a saucer, got within its orbit, and that was the last that was even seen or heard of him, his plane and the saucer. Perhaps men in Mars had a giggle about it.

One may be permitted some complacency in this day and age that even the high priests of science, the oracles of all modern knowledge, are unable to explain the air-borne crockery of some mad tea-party of flying Dutchmen.

NOTES AND COMMENT

A physician says that talking to oneself is not a sign of insanity. It may easily reveal a fondness for intelligent conversation.

American papers hail Queen Juliana as "the most outspoken, down-to-earth ruler likely to visit America for years to come." And in those respects a pleasant change from the boys who are now declaring their willingness to rule the U.S.A.

Notes And Queries

By ALPHA

Questions are solicited for this column particularly those relating to local lore and tradition.

DEAR ALPHA: How did the township of "Asphodel" come to be known by that beautiful name?

ANSWER: I can only guess. Mr. Howard Pammett suggests in his Examiner history of the county that it was named for the flowers along the edge of Rice Lake. I did not know that there were any asphodels in Ontario at all; perhaps the first English settlers found a flower which they thought resembled an asphodel.

The asphodel, related to the daffodil (in fact the word 'daffodil' is a corruption of 'asphodel') is a native of southern Europe. The poets call it the flower of the Elysian fields (Homer, for instance) and connect it with the legend of Proserpine who was carried off by Hades (Pluto) while gathering flowers in the vale of Enna in Sicily, and made Queen of Hell. I suspect that the real reason for naming the south-easterly, smallest township of the county Asphodel was its loveliness. First English settlers, with a knowledge of classical poetry and hope in their hearts may have so named their newfound Elysian fields.

The township has borne the name since before 1820. Richard Birdsall surveyed it in 1820. On July 17th of that year, Hillier the secretary to the Lieutenant-Governor, wrote to Surveyor-General Ridout (incidentally, his name gave Ridout Street to Port Hope): "I have submitted to the Lieutenant-Governor your letter of the 6th inst. enclosing copies of the two letters from Messrs. Burnham and Birdsall on the survey of the township of Asphodel". Zaccheus Burnham (ancestor of the Peterborough Burnhams) received title to 1,820 acres in Asphodel township.

It is a small point of interest that in 1828 King's College got a grant of 790 acres in Asphodel. King's College is University College in the University of Toronto, and the first college in Ontario to get a royal charter, which it did in 1828. (Queen's was the first to open its doors). One of the ways in which Bishop Strachan expected to get money and buildings for King's College was from the rent or sale of these grants of Crown Land, all over the province. They were somewhat similar to Clergy Reserve grants. Another 200 acres of Asphodel were granted to the Canada Company, John Galt's land-development company which opened much of western Ontario, including land around the present city of Galt.

ALPHA: What do you consider some of the reasons for the drawl of the Americans of the Southern States; as compared with the clipped speech of the New England states?

ANSWER: Chiefly laziness . . . easy-going speech in an easy-going climate. That is a stern northern judgement; perhaps I should say that their speech is relaxed, in keeping with a relaxing climate . . . You may have noticed that babies and very old men slur their words, do not finish syllables and generally are indolent of tongue. Further, you must remember that there is African negro blood in southern American speech; it is not the first time in history that the masters have succumbed to the speech of the slaves and conquered. It happend in England in the 12th-14th centuries, when Anglo-Saxon not Norman French became the speech of the kingdom.

PERFUME AD: I was intrigued by an advertisement (complete with pictures of the American lovely) for perfume in a current issue of a sophisticated American magazine; so much so that I want to divulge it all, word for word here & now—except to change the lady's name and name of the perfume. (Incidentally, it has become old-hat in advertising to call perfume "parfum" in French style.)

'I WANT A DRESS AS PERSUASIVE AS MY PERFUME . . . Mrs. Zukel Bloombottom, distinguished in New York society for her slim grace and superb clothes, considers perfume almost as essential as the air she breathes.' (Alpha says; wot a stink!) 'Her favourite is SIN by Leero—a scent so beloved, she asked a famous designer to interpret its delectably daring mood in a momentous evening dress!' (The picture shows Mrs. Bloombottom, all grinning teeth in this momentous dress—it looks like a good, ordinary black ornamental cheesecloth dress to Alpha.)

'The ad. continues thus (bracket included): 'SIN does something almost hypnotic to the woman who wears it. She finds herself saying and doing unexpected (Oh say! says Alpha) delightful things. She feels exciting . . . and she is.)'

Then follows a picture of a bottle of this hypnotic perfume, and under it this ecstatic explanation: 'SIN (the perfume) imprisoned (ah! Alpha, how suggestive that word is) imprisoned in its lovely Leero bottle, a permanent fixture on Mrs. Bloombottom's dressing table. She says: "SIN has a fine, reckless quality, I especially love it at night".'

Next to the picture of the bottle is a picture of Mrs. B. in the gown she wanted as persuasive as the perfume; and a nondescript beside her, the dress designer. 'SIN (the dress) gets designer Hapcracked Hoopla's final inspection. She says: "One whiff of SIN inspired me!"'

Alpha is going right out on George Street to buy a good big whiff of SIN, bottled or unbottled, leaving Mrs. Bloombottom to her charity balls . . . Such is the persuasive force of advertising . . . No wonder that the distinguished English Literary critic Ivor Brown wrote glowingly in the Examiner a couple of weeks ago about the imaginative, colourful and stimulating contribution of advertising copy-writers to this scented world's prose.

❖ ❖ ❖

SIR: A report published in the Examiner this week tells that less than three hundred dollars have been subscribed to the Fred Brant fund. That seems to be small, considering the hue and cry about him? And did the Toronto weekly paper "Flash" contribute anything?

ANSWER: For all its pious protestation, Flush did not come across with the stuff that talks. I agree with you that the total is small; if everybody in and out of town who wrote to the newspaper or talked angrily about the inhuman treatment, had contributed a few dollars, Fred Brant would have been able to live the rest of his years in easy street. The fact is that people soon realized that the case was not as black and white as it first seemed. Fred Brant has been dogged by bad luck and not blessed by nature.

❖ ❖ ❖

SIR: When I was a lad I recall a building at the east end of Fradette Avenue in the south-end of the city and was told that it was the old Belmont Club. As it was on the river bank, was it a boating club?

ANSWER: Will some kind readers with a sporting past please come forward with a concise history of the Belmont Club—it existed not so long ago that many readers must have sharp memories of it. I think it was a boating club. Rye's dancing pavilion and boat house also used to be in that area; and there was also the old T.A.S. Club, a temperance and outdoor society which I think Bishop O'Brien did much to advance.

FOR THE RECORD: The sun is with us again and for more hours of the day. For instance, today in Peterborough it got up at 5:26 a.m. and goes down at 7:04 p.m. The early rising sun, due to continue ever earlier until mid-June, will be given a flip a week from Sunday morning. Then it is due to get up in Peterborough at 12 minutes past five, but that morning (1 a.m. Sunday, April 27th) Daylight Saving time begins and we turn the clocks on an hour—so the sun will rise at 12 minutes past six. However, it will set an hour later, at 8:10 D.S.T. on the same Sunday. Since we cannot have spring without the sun, it behoves us to pay some attention to its comings and goings.

HIGH PRAISE FOR POLICE

Sir: These days when everybody is taking a poke at the police because of the Brant case, my family thinks it is time somebody mentioned a few of the good things they have done.

I will start by telling of the time a faulty furnace in our house on Princess Street, Peterborough, gassed the whole household. Something woke me, I was dreadfully sick, and finding it impossible to rouse my husband or his brother I called the police department. Their prompt response saved four lives that night. Constable Mesley was one of the policemen who answered our call but I am sorry I don't remember the others. I do remember they worked with us nearly all night, making sure the gas was all gone and the furnace behaving before they left.

Another time we had two small boys living with us. They were terrified of policemen for some reason dating before we knew them. We had a "brave and wise?" neighbour woman who threatened she would have them put in jail everytime they had an argument with her own little darling, which was almost every day. Our boys aged 5 and 6, were so scared they were afraid to go to sleep at night, and when they did, woke up later screaming from a nightmare.

They were really in a bad way. At the end of our tether my husband suggested that I talk to Mrs. L. McGuire who was then the police matron. Mrs. McGuire suggested that when I had the boys with me I make a point of asking directions of a policeman, this I did, then after a while different policemen made a point of speaking to the boys, cracking a joke with them, and so on. Then one wonderful day Mrs. McGuire and a policeman, I believe it was P.C. McGillen drew the police car up alongside the boys on the street and talked to them for a while, showing them the telephone in the car, and then inviting them to ride around the block. Can't you imagine how the other kids envied them. I can still see the swagger with which they rejoined their playmates. Sometime later, when at the Exhibition, the elder boy, who was most frightened of policemen, strayed away from us and got lost. He went to a policeman and asked him to help him find us. I will never forget how kind and patient those policemen were to those two frightened little boys, and I hope there is a special place in heaven for that grand Lady, Mrs. L. McGuire.

Again, I remember two suspicious characters hanging around our place of business. It was a holiday weekend and we had quite a lot of cash on hand. It was nearing midnight and the place was beginning to empty, I thought of calling the O.P.P. but hesitated lest I be imagining things. Finally I did call, explaining to the desk man that I might be only imagining things and feeling a little foolish. The desk man said instantly "Better be safe than sorry, madam, we will take care of it." and they did.

Over and over again we are told. Don't be afraid to call us at anytime. We are here to be of service to you—that is our job.

As recently as this week my husband called on Inspector Stringer of the O.P.P. Peterborough branch, for advice concerning a problem. He got the help he needed, and we are very much impressed by the courtesy and consideration with which we were received and taken care of by the entire staff of the O.P.P.

These are only a few instances where the police have leaned over backwards in their efforts to help people. We don't know anything about the Brant case, but we would be willing to bet that the police are not to blame.

Yours truly,
THE CUMMINGS FAMILY

CHARITY OR WORLD'S END

Sir: Enclosed please find a five dollar donation for the Fred Brant fund and also a two dollar donation for the Crippled Children's work. It is written the earth is the Lord's and the fullness thereof the world and they that dwell therein. I understand the authorities turned Brant adrift in the dead of winter: who had no employment, no money, no home to go to and only half clad and no where to sleep. Both church and state listen if the Lord God of hosts lets the world stand any longer all jails through the universe is to be open and free to all unfortunates like Fred Brant until they get employment and somewhere to sleep. Unity and brotherly love is to rule the earth for the Lord God of hosts as He hangs on Calvary Cross at the time of the crucifixion. If not the final end forthwith in a very short time. It is written a short work will the Lord make upon the earth. Temper lain and the nations have got no power or authority in the earth. All governments were broken on Calvary's Cross at the time of the crucifixion. The only power that be, is of God. All power is given to the Lord God of hosts in heaven and in earth. Apparently neither church nor state don't seem to be much use to the Lord God in the world. They don't seem to understand the sacrifices. War is a curse in the earth. In fact there is none of them fit to win a war because there is none of them that has anything right. Why should they win a war?

Yours very truly,
FRANK WILSON

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

There was a man of the Pharisees, named Nicodemus, a ruler of the Jews: the same came to Jesus by night, and said unto him, Rabbi, we know that thou art a teacher come from God: for no man can do these miracles that thou doest, except God be with him.

Jesus answered and said unto him, Verily, verily, I say unto thee, Except a man be born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God . . . That which is born of the flesh is flesh; and that which is born of the Spirit is spirit . . . Verily, verily, I say unto thee, We speak that we do know, and testify that we have seen; and ye receive not our witness.

If I have told you earthly things, and ye believe not, how shall ye believe, if I tell you of heavenly things And no man hath ascended up to heaven, but he that came down from heaven, even the Son of man which is in heaven. And as Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness, even so must the Son of man be lifted up: that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have eternal life.

For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life. For God sent not his Son into the world to condemn the world; but that the world through him might be saved. (John 3: 1-3, 6, 11-17.)

Restrictions

(Letter in the Ottawa Citizen)

Editor, Citizen: The municipal government tells me what books I may and may not read. The provincial government tells me the kind of liquor I may have (mostly water) and the prohibitive price I must pay for it. The federal government tells me what radio programs I may or may not listen to and charges me $2.50 a year for the privilege. My cigarettes are curtailed by the simple expedient of pricing them out of my reach and, now, they are going to use my money (taxes) to buy up all the surplus meat and cheese and put in away where I can't get at it.

I'm getting that I hate to pass a hydrant —I'm just a dog.

SPIRIT OF SPRING

What a chore our pioneers had to heat the home . . . the woodpile that never grew less . . . the hauling and tugging of timber.

How much easier it is today. We sit in a living room chair . . . reach up to a wall thermostat . . . and instantly the furnace floods our home with warmth and comfort.

IT'S BETTER LIVING TODAY

Our ancestors, by genius, foresight and hard work, made life easier for us today. Let us in turn do all we can to make living better for those to come.

TREE OF DISASTER—Resembling a grotesque tree, the heavy black lines on Newsmap above trace the courses of the Missouri and Mississippi Rivers, now swollen with flood waters, and their most important tributary "branches." Black arrows show how spring rains and melting snows in Montana, the Dakotas and other upland areas are carried by one river after another into the overburdened Mississippi and Missouri mainstems. Diagonally shaded lines enclose the six major areas pour water down into the Missouri and Mississippi valleys. Not indicated are the myriad twig-like brooks and leaf-like swamps, ponds marshes that feed — often with disastrous results — America's biggest river basins.

Bette Davis Doing Show With Durante

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, April 18—(AP)—Bette Davis is the latest great lady to fall for the television charms of the noted lover, James Durante.

The schnoz has entertained such noted figures as Ethel Barrymore, Margaret Truman, Sophie Tucker, Gloria Swanson and Helen Traubel on his show, most of them making their TV debuts with him. This called for some investigation.

"What is this strange power you have over these women?" I asked him.

"It is my own natural ability, coupled with a rare adeptitude and knowin' what to do at the right time," answered Durante, blushing modestly.

Miss Davis more or less confirmed this statement when I asked her why she was making the plunge into TV. "It's as simple as that. Besides, I love working with Jimmy. He's marvelous."

At the rehearsal, everyone was amazed at how Miss Davis showed up early and co-operated with any directions. They were expecting her to toss a tizzy on the hour every hour. She even had all her lines memorized.

"It's not easy for me," she confessed. "It has been 20 years since I learned a part for the stage. In pictures, we only have to learn a few pages every day. That's why television is going to be tough for picture actors."

Does she have any future plans for TV?

"None whatsoever. I'll just wait and see what happens. I'm in no hurry."

Would she do a live show?

"No. I think most of TV will be on film eventually. That's the only way you can ensure quality. But I don't think shows like Jimmy's should be anything but live. They lose their spontaneity on film."

"She's Great"

Durante himself had nothing but praise for the actress.

"Bett and I did a pitchuh together once—'The Man Who Came To Dinner.' She's great. We wanted to give her a chance to do a little drama on this show, but she didn't want to. She wants to play it strictly for laughs. She's doin' a song numbuh with me, too."

He added that all his leading ladies have been co-operative and hinted the reason is because of his irresistible charm.

Return of Ships

VANCOUVER, April 18—(CP)—Return of Atlantic-to-Pacific shipping services is planned to offset high rail rates from eastern Canada, it was reported here Thursday. Two shipping services plan to revive the movement, discontinued during the war. In the last few months rates on vessels have dropped sharply.

Subhas Bose's Spirit Stirs Millions In Restless India

By TOM A. CULLEN
NEA Special Correspondent

CALCUTTA, INDIA —(NEA)— The violent spirit of a man dead seven years has returned to stir the minds of millions in this giant, restless nation.

Th man was Subhas Chandra Bose, a leader of Indian opposition to British rule, who went over to the Axis powers in World War II, and who died in the crash of a Japanese plane carrying him to safety in 1945.

The brilliant, British educated fighter for India's place in the sun lived and died during World War II in a storybook manner which appeals strongly to many Indians still favoring an aggressive Indian nationalism.

The Bristish arrested Bose at the outbreak of the war, but he was released on a sort of parole after he went on a hunger strike. In 1941, he gave the British the slip and turned up in Berlin.

When the British crown colony of Singapore fell to the Japanese, Bose left Germany in a Nazi submarine. He arrived in Singapore early in 1943, after a hazardous three-month trip, and immediately took command of all Indian troops captured on the island bastion. Soon he had welded them into an army of seven or eight divisions.

These troops, fighting under the flag of the Free India Government which Bose had proclaimed, and which Germany, Italy and Japan promptly recognized, invaded Indian soil with the cry "On to Delhi!"

SUBHAS BOSE: It's hard to convince people he died.

But the tide of war changed—it was the beginning of the end for the Japanese—and Bose's army retreated out of India, sick, ragged and living largely on grass.

Three days after the Japanese surrendered, the Nip plane carrying Bose to Japan to escape British capture crashed in Formosa. Bose's body was cremated by the Japanese and his ashes are enshrined in a temple in Tokyo.

Today, the memory of Bose inspires a fiery and almost religious fervor in the heart of millions of Indians, who, like Bose, believe that the path of India should be along forceful lines.

Many of these millions believe their fabulous leader didn't die in the wreckage of the plane on Formosa. They place him variously in China, Russia, Indo-China, and Malaya. And the believers are confident that he is not only alive but will return to save India at some critical time.

So persistent and strong is the belief that Bose still lives that Prime Minister Nehru was forced to refute it recently with an official report to Parliament containing an eye-witness account of Bose's death.

And so strong is the Bose cult, that Nehru, whose dislike of the fiery nationalist is an open secret, has felt compelled to describe him publicly as a "great Indian patriot."

But it's hard to kill the feeling for a man like Bose. Reminders of him are everywhere.

Few cities of India do not have a street named for him. His birthday is observed as a holiday in West Bengal. In Calcutta and other cities his picture is hawked on the street corners.

Bose is dead. But in death his strength is greater than it was in life.

Toronto Lawyer's Club Removes Color Ban

TORONTO, April 18—(CP)—A meeting of the Toronto Lawyers' Club Thursday night was closed to the press and members were reported pledged not to disclose what was discussed.

Reporters, however, said they listened to the entire discussion. The loudspeaker system used by speakers could be heard all over Osgoode Hall.

The club decided to remove the words "white" and "Christian" from its membership qualifications. Male lawyers of any religion or color now may belong but women are still barred.

57-Mill Tax Rate

WINDSOR, April 18—(CP)—City council Thursday night struck a 1952 tax rate of 57 mills, expected to bring in revenues of $10,304,110—about $1,100,000 more than was collected on a 55-mill rate in 1951. Biggest single item in the budget is $1,539,777 for debt retirement.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

St. Kitts' scribe says: "We hear unofficially that Roy (Pung) Morton, former senior Athletic star of the late 30s, will be the new coach of the Toronto senior lacrosse team in the coming season. We also understand that Tom (Tank) Teather, one of Morton's teammates in those golden years, is in almost top physical condition and will be a bulwark of the Athletics' defence again this year." One must give the Garden City credit for developing a lot of top talent in the gutted-stick game, losing many stars to other centres, and still going ahead and producing classy O.L.A. senior crews. Several of their aces have settled in Peterborough, though this city from now on should be producing its own lacrosse stars year after year.

* * * * * *

At the senior ball meeting last eve in the "Y", a lot of angles were discussed. Cy Whatley said the C.O.B.L. would re-organize next Monday p.m. in Belleville and 'twas expected that a seven-team loop would result. They would be Kingston, Napanee, Picton, Trenton Flyers, Batawa, Belleville and the Petes. The Quinte crew already are on the Prowl and have Ralph (High-Pockets) McCabe back from U.S.A. pro ball as a playing manager, and have also added Sonny Mulholland from Kingston. Kingston, the Flyers and Petes should be okay, but we can't say yet what the other three will be like. Lakeshore League refused 'em in intermediate "A" as being too strong.

Hefty Ball Plans Afoot

Several of last year's Petes officers are out, but others are interested and a strong executive is likely to be offered at next Thursday's meeting when the nominating committee of Alex Sinclair, Dr. Cliff McKee and Cy Whatley bring in a slate. Cy reported that Max Swanston and Tommy Holyman—two former C.O.B.L. stars—would act on the 1952 executive. Lloyd Grose, an invaluable worker since the war, agreed to stay on and will be one of three at the Belleville meeting Monday. Jack McNamara and Cy Whatley go, too. Len Symonds said he would be unable to act this semester. The club would welcome a sponsor to start the team off, but failing that will start digging for finances.

* * * * * *

Though the Petes, who led the Viaduct League all last summer, lost three players, they should come up with another good club this year. Indications now are that George Brabin will toss up his pro ball in the States and return to Peterborough. George (Red) Sullivan is interested, and is a mighty fine diamondeer. Doug Loucks may quit intermediate play at Lindsay for a return to a senior mound. Several good juniors are coming out, and a few proven imports would round out a real contending club back in the Central League after an absence of two years. Some work is necessary to get re-organized properly but it looks like we'll be seeing senior "A" ball under the arcs in Riverside ere the end of May. More again.

Enlarging Lasses' Loop

Girls' softball should get a definite boost here this summer if present plans are followed out. A meeting last night showed that two or three local teams will be in with Belleville, Cobourg and probably Lindsay. Aslo, there's a fair chance that Bowmanville and Oshawa will join up to make it a Lakeshore Girls' League. Marines and Ashby's will be back as Peterborough entries and either Westclox or Burtol's. So, there could be a neat eight-team Central Ontario setup for the lasses, one that would create plenty of interest in the various centres. Local lasses' executive will be meeting next week to deal with this and draw up a slate of officers.

Stouffville Clippers play Lyndhurst Motors of Toronto at East York tonight, that game being transferred from Civic Arena by the O.H.A. The latter body also ordered this senior "B" semi-final series cut to a best-of-five set of games in order to get into the provincial finals next week. Clippers lead two games to one, but we think it'll be all tied up again tonight, as Lyndhursts showed a goodly gallery here plenty of class in their 5-0 win last Monday. The series has attracted considerable local interest as part of it was staged at Civic, and because Clippers had previously erased the Petes in quarter-finals.

Regina Waltzes To 6-1 Win

REGINA, April 18 (CP). — Regina Pats, favored at 3 to 1 before the series, have justified the faith of their backers by going ahead for the first time in the best-of-seven Western Canada Memorial Cup hockey final.

Sparked by Gordon Cowan and Eddie Litzenzerger, the Pats Thursday night waltzed to a 6-1 victory over Fort William Hurricanes to take a 3-2 lead in games.

Pats twice came from behind to tie the series before going out in front. They won the middle game of three played in Fort William, then won the fourth, played in Regina.

Thursday night's game was a close tussle for two periods before Pats broke loose for a trio of third-period goals.

Litzenberger scored the only goal of the first period with only 37 seconds left to play. It was Pats' 20th shot on goal in the period. They had forced the play in the Hurricane zone almost entirely.

Ties It Up

Then Eddie Kachur tied it up for Hurricanes halfway through the second period with two Pats in the penalty box. He broke through the middle and slid the puck under Bob Tyler.

About five minutes later, Litzenberger came up with the winning goal when he grabbed a rebound by Johnny Reeve and fired home a low shot.

Cowan took Litzenberer's smart relay near the end of the period, then held back his shot momentarily and beat Dave Gatherum in the Hurricane net.

Papp's brilliant rush led to Reeve's goal during a third period scramble. Then Schneider fired through Gatherum's legs two minutes later. Papp got a clean break at 13:35 from his own blueline and made no mistake to close out the scoring.

Litzenberger wound up with two goals and one assist while Cowan had three assists to go with his single goal.

Seven Players Fined For Fraternizing

CHICAGO, April 18 (AP). — Seven members of the Chicago White Sox and Cleveland Indians Thursday drew automatic fines of $5 each invoked by umpire Bill Summers for fraternizing.

None of the players was identified. Summers said the incidents took place before Thursday's game at Comiskey Park. He said action was taken under the new rule set up by the American League this year which president Will Harridge has ordered to be enforced.

A crowd of 16,218 at Toronto's Maple Leaf Gardens saw the Maple Leafs beat Detroit Red Wings 3-1 to climax an amazing comeback in the Stanley Cup final, 10 years ago today. After losing the first three games, Toronto won four in a row to capture the world's professional hockey championship. This year they lost to Detroit four straight in the semi-finals.

Logan Plays Baseball

HAMILTON, April 17 (CP). — Tip Logan of the Hamilton Tiger-Cat Football Club is going to turn his hand to baseball this summer. Logan, top scorer in the Big Four last season when he played end, has lined up with the Guelph Maple Leafs in the Intercounty Senior loop. Frank Gnup, former Hamilton grid coach, persuaded Logan to sign with the Leafs. Gnup is general manager of the Guelph club.

Canadians Whip Edmonton 7--1

FORT FRANCES, April 18 — (CP).—Fort Frances Canadians stand a single point away from a berth in the Allan Cup hockey final after Thursday night's convincing victory over Edmonton Pats in the fifth game of the Western Canada final.

Vern O'Donnell paced Fort Frances with a goal-a-period performance. Walt Christiansen scored two with singles going to Frank Eizensopr and Art Johnson.

Harry Allan, replacing Ed Zukiwiski as centre, scored Edmonton's lone tally in the second period.

Four of the Fort Frances goals came in the first period. Christiansen counted the first when he flicked in Mike Hupchuk's rebound, followed by O'Donnell, Eizensoph and Johnson.

Lord Layton Tackles Yukon

It will be Lord Athol Layton against Yukon Eric in the feature wrestling event at the Brock next Tuesday.

It shapes up a hot session when this pair hook up and it will be interesting to consider what the reaction of the noble Layton will be when he discovers his judo slash, which has caused his opponents plenty of trouble, may be practically useless against the Gibraltar-like Alaskan.

Layton has been able to brush off most of the best onslaughts of his rivals up to now, but it's highly improbable he'll be able to be no nonchalant about such weapons as, for instance, Yukon's chest smash, woodsman's chop or Kodiak Crunch.

What's more, Eric has encountered rough rivals in the rings and backwoods before and has always been able to take care of himself. This will be Layton's first appearance since he was conked with a chair by an irate fan three weeks ago.

Brazil And Bockwinkle

A special match, which the fans demanded, brings together Warren Bockwinkle and Bobo Brazil. This will be a 45-minute time-limit affair. Brazil and Bockwinkle gave one of the best exhibitions of wrestling seen here in a long time, and it was only natural that the fans wanted them back. Their last meeting was a draw and the extra time may produce a winner.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Sugar Ray Robinson, who sweetened his world's middleweight championship position on Wednesday night by knocking out Rocky Graziano in the third round was being pursued today to accept a match with Joey Maxim, world's light-heavyweight champion.

The fight would be held either in New York or Chicago around June 25.

But Robinson balked on signing for the fight at a meeting Thursday with Jack Kearns, Maxim's manager. He said Kearns wanted "all the money" but added he might take the match if he could get the right terms. He went to his Chicago hotel to wait and see.

Robinson collected $78,631 for his bout with Graziano. Rocky pocketed $67,192. The official crowd was 23,361, a world's indoor record for a boxing bout.

A controversy over the amount of the gate receipts was settled Thursday with the Illinois State Boxing Commission announcing that the gross was $257,188 and the net $197,825.

A Vancouver report that the Dominion Football Association is considering abandoning soccer playoffs this year was denied in Winnipeg by George Anderson, secretary of the association. "There has been no such talk," he said.

Chuck McCullough, Saskatoon Quakers' centre and captain, will be lost to his team for the balance of the Pacific Coast Hockey League championship series with Victoria Cougars. He suffered a shoulder separation, X-rays showed Thursday, in Wednesday night's third game of the series. Saskatoon leads 2-1.

Tillsonburg Livingstons, Canadian senior basketball champions, have turned down a challenge from Kitchener-Waterloo Blues, Dominion intermediate titleholders, for an all-Canada series. Livvies said they have scheduled a full slate of exhibition games prior to their May playoff series with the Canadian intercollegiate winners. The playoff is for the right to have the bulk of the winners' team on the Canadian Olympic squad. The University of Alberta meet the University of Western Ontario for the national intercollegiate crown next month.

Yugoslavia's two star tennis players, Dragutin Mitic, 34, and Milan Branovic, 26, said Thursday at Rome they have decided not to return to their homeland. "We are not in accord with the Yugoslav government," Branovic said.

Tom Casadrande, $40,000 bonus pitcher assigned to Baltimore Orioles of the International League by Philadelphia Phillies, was "absent-without-leave" on Thursday because of a "misunderstanding." He disappeared from the team over a disagreement with the Phils, he said in a telephone conversation from his home.

Big Jim Thorpe was made Big Chief Powerful Man by British Columbia Indians when he arrived in Vancouver Thursday. The greatest all-round athlete of the century is to be a guest at the British Columbia Buckskin Gloves amateur boxing competitions.

KINGSTON, April 18 (CP). — Campbellford Collegiate and Regiopolis College of Kingston were the two latest schools to bow out of the Queen's Easter invitation basketball tournament.

Brockville College downed Regiopolis 43-37 last night while Pembroke Collegiate defeated Campbellford 39-20.

Copper Cliff gained the finals of "C" section by downing Port Hope 39-26 in the second game of evening play. Linwell dropped Ottawa Nepean into the consolation series with a 44-32 win in "B" section.

Peterborough Out

Niagara Falls had little trouble in disposing of a Peterborough team 64-25, to enter the "A" section finals tonight. Earlier in the day Peterborough downed Belleville 36-26.

Further games will be played in the consolation series today for the right to meet Copper Cliff, Linwell and Niagara Falls in their respective sections.

If the team entering the finals from the consolation series has already played the winner of the regular series, that team will carry the same point handicap by which they lost in their first meeting, into the second game.

If the two teams have not met before and the consolation team should win, there will be a second short game to declare a final winner in this double elimination scheme of play.

Red Wings Trip Springfield 5-2

By The Associated Press.

Don Richmond, 32-year-old third baseman of Rochester Red Wings, is off to a fine start in his bid to become the first batter in International League history to lead the circuit in hitting three straight years.

Richmond collected three hits Thursday night as the Wings posted their first victory of the infant season with a 5-2 decision over Springfield Cubs. Richmond has banged out five hits in 10 trips so far. He led the league last year with a .350 mark and topped the loop in 1950 with a .333 average.

Syracuse Chiefs and Baltimore Orioles also posted their first triumphs of the season. The Chiefs edged Montreal Royals 4-3 and the Orioles turned back Toronto Maple Leafs 3-2.

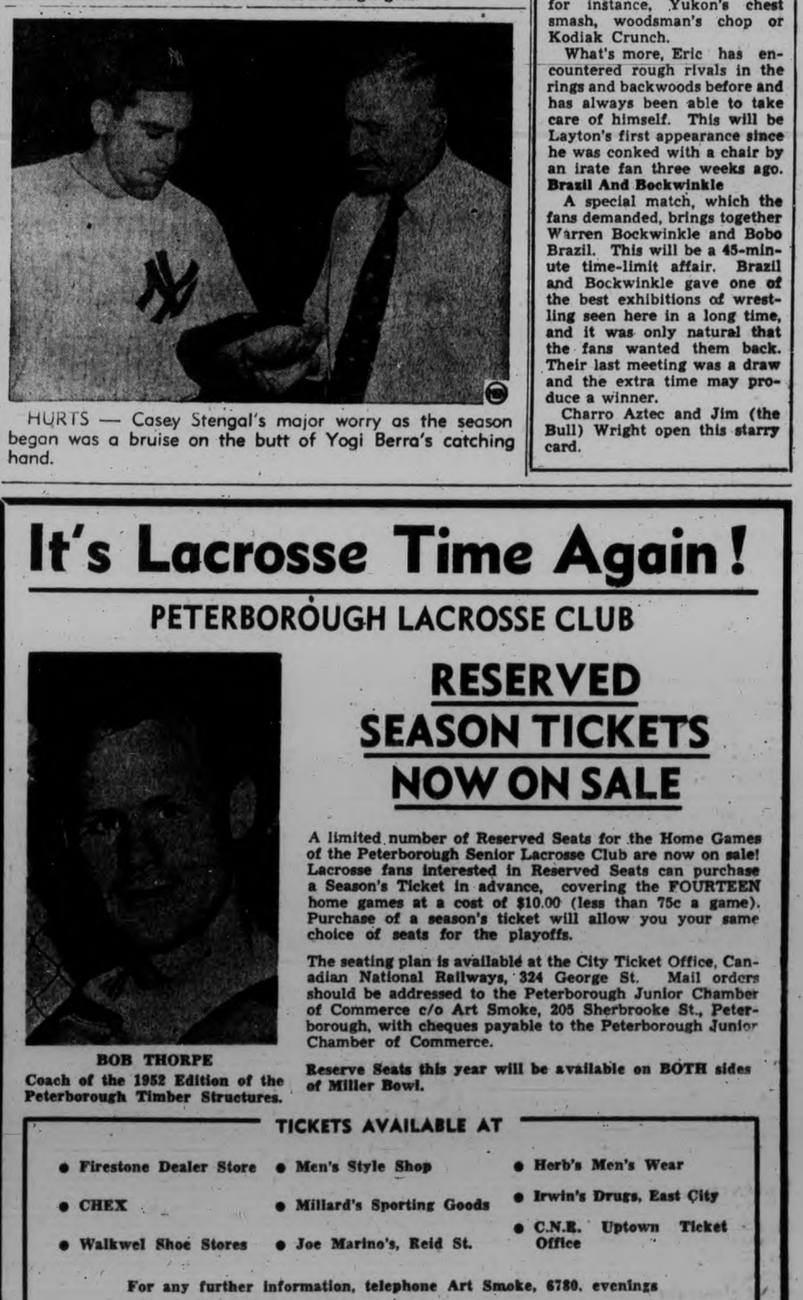
Former Royal Johnny Welaj banged out three hits including a game winning single in the ninth and stole two bases to feature Syracuse's triumph over Montreal.

Paul Stuffel, one-time Leaf, limited Toronto to five hits while Baltimore jumped three Toronto pitchers for seven. Al Lakeman led Baltimore's attack with a pair of doubles and a single.

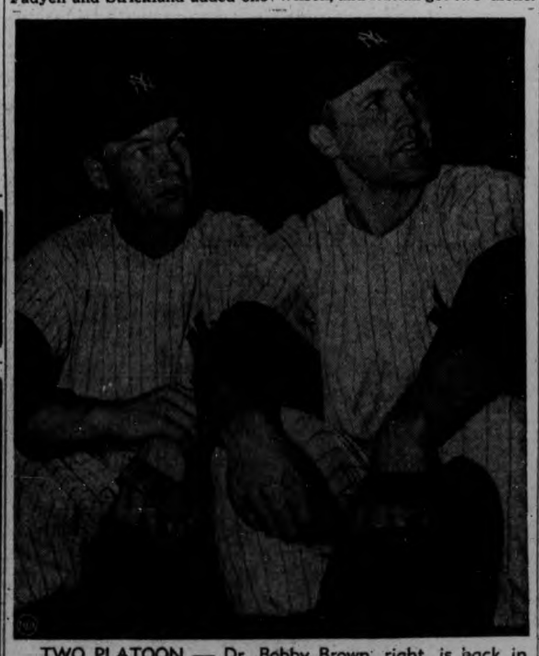
M-H Midgets Win

Martin-Hewitt midget "A" puckists wound up the hockey season here Wednesday with an 11-7 exhibition win over the Campbellford midget "C" squad, the team that recently won the Bay of Quinte juvenile tourney after taking O.M.H.A. midget honors. The locals got seven of 11 penalties.

Brooks scored early from McFadyen and Strickland added one from Roberts and Whitnell. Heffernan hit the mark from Blodgett, while Wilson tallied for the C's from Dooker. In the second, Godfrey, Heffernan and Brooks counted, an assist each going to Floyd and Gardner. Garvey notched three for the visitors with Wilson aiding on three, and Ruttan and Dooker one each. In the third, Godfrey, Heffernan, McFadyen, Roberts and Gardner scored, Brooks helping twice, and Floyd and Godfrey one each. Garvey tallied for the C's from Wilson, and Ruttan got two alone.



HURTS — Casey Stengal's major worry as the season began was a bruise on the butt of Yogi Berra's catching hand.



TWO PLATOON — Dr. Bobby Brown, right, is back in Yankee uniform ready to pinch-hit and alternate at third base with Andy Carey until called up by the Army Medical Corps.

St. Louis Browns Clicking Subdue Detroit Tigers 3-1

By JACK HAND, Associated Press Sports Writer

"There's only one place to finish and that's first." Rogers Hornsby committed this sage comment before the season opened. His precocious St. Louis Browns act like he meant it. Running neck and neck with Cleveland for the American League lead, they sound like the big noise of the early season. The long-abused Brownie fans float in a purple haze of contentment after three straight wins. Let Cleveland and Brooklyn, the pre-season favorites, terrify the opposition with 17-hit binges. The spunky little Brownies make five hits do the same work.

First Ned Garver. Then Tommy Byrne. And now Bob Cain, going the route against Detroit for a club that got only one complete game in three from 13 pitchers last season.

Cain, acquired from Detroit in a spring deal, rubbed it in Thursday by whipping his old Tiger mates, 3-1. He allowed nine hits but most were harmless singles. His mates ruined Hal Newhouser's comeback hopes. Prince Hal, making his first start since last July 14, spoiled an efficient job by throwing home run balls to Les Moss and Bob Nieman in the last two innings.

Wasted Hits

Cleveland wasted many of its 17 hits in running over Chicago for a third straight triumph, 5-3. Despite the heavy barrage that included a 425-foot homer by Luke Easter in the fifth, the Tribe gave Mike Garcia only a one-run lead going into the ninth.

Shaky fielding by Ray Boone, Bobby Avila and Al Rosen helped the powerless White Sox make it close.

Bobby Shantz, smallest pitcher in the league, beat the world champion New York Yankees with his left arm and bat to give Philadelphia a 3-1 decision over Eddie Lopat. The five-foot-six pitcher scattered nine hits and gave his team the lead run with a looping single in the fourth, breaking a 1-1 tie.

The Boston "rookie" Sox turned the heat on Washington for a 9-2 romp with freshman Faye Thorneberry hitting a bases-loaded home run off Don Johnson in the six-run sixth.

Newcomers Sam White, Ted Lepcio, Bill Henry helped him drive in eight of the nine runs. Lefthanded Henry was the winning pitcher.

Brooklyn Clicking

Brooklyn continued to pound the ball in three wins at Boston, the Dodgers hammered 48 hits for a team batting average of .378.

Want to see some batting averages to arch your eyebrows? Give a look at the Brooks.

Roy Campanella .583, Duke Snider .571, Jackie Robinson .545, Carl Furillo .533, Billy Cox .389.

Furillo had four singles, Andy Pafko a homer and double and Robinson three singles, a walk and one hit by pitcher. No wonder Johnny Schmitz who used to be easy for the Braves, had an 8-2 romp.

Connie Ryan, an ex-Giant and more recently an ex-Red, slashed a two-run homer in the 11th inning to give his new Philadelphia Phil pals a 5-3 victory over New York Giants.

St. Louis was dumped from the unbeaten class by Pittsburgh's rookie-studded Pirates 5-3. Three Cardinal errors and Peanuts Lowrey's base-line tumble that ruined a promising rally helped Lefty Joe Muir register his first big league win. Ralph Kiner had three of the six Pirate hits.

Kenny Raffensberger, who always finds Chicago an easy mark, shut out the Cubs with five hits for Cincinnati's 3-0 edge. Raffy's lifetime record against the Cubs now is 21-9. Grady Hatton and Bobby Adams hit home runs off loser Bob Kelly.

Providence Clips Hornets 5-1

By The Canadian Press.

Providence Reds are still in the thick of the fight for the American Hockey League championship and the Calder Cup.

The Reds, for whom a loss would have meant elimination Thursday night, moved within a game of deadlocking the best-of-seven series by downing Pittsburgh Hornets 5-1. Pittsburgh leads the series 3-2.

Sixth game will be played at Providence Sunday night.

Harvey Bennett, Providence goalie, turned in one of his best performances of the year. He was credited with 45 saves.

The Hornets' lone goal came in the second period when Rudy Migay scored to give his team a short-lived 1-1 tie. Pete Kapusta scored the first Providence goal at 13:43 of the opening stanza.

After Migay had knotted the count at 2:22 of the second period, Paul Gladu sent the visitors ahead to stay at 17:00. Little more than a minute later Zellio Toppazzini made it 3-1 for Providence.

In the final period, Moe Morris scored an unassisted goal and Ray Powell, the league's leading scorer came through with an insurance tally.

Thinks Gold Price Boost Coming, But Not At Once

TORONTO, April 18 — (CP) — James Y. Murdoch today said he believes an increase in the price of gold "is inevitable," but indicates that he does not expect it for a while yet.

Mr. Murdoch, president of Noranda Mines, Ltd., spoke to the annual meeting of Pamour Porcupine Mines Ltd., a Northern Ontario gold-producer and Noranda subsidiary, of which he is also president.

He said a gold-price increase "certainly will not occur while the United States retains its present policy, and it might well be two or more years b[efore] there is any relief on this score.

He expressed confidence that the Canadian govrnent "will continue to pursue a course of taking more effective steps in Canada to assist the industry, and advocating, in international circles, the justice and necessity of a higher price for gold.

"Were it not for this feeling of confidence and recognition by Ottawa of the serious position of the industry, I would recommend that Pamour be closed down immediately."

Credits Help

Pamour, he said, would have had a loss of 1½ cents a share last year, were it not for credits under the emergency gold mining assistance act of 5.27 cents a share and investment income of two cents a share.

Mr. Murdoch said the decline in value of the United States dollar in relation to the Canadian dollar, from an average of 5.25 per cent premium last year to around a two per cent discount, means a reduction in the price of gold of $2.50 an ounce (the official price for gold is $35 an ounce U.S. currency).

Other Canadian gold mines, he added, are no less critically affected than Pamour. "In fact, the entire Canadian gold industry is in a precarious position and it is possible that before adequate relief is afforded, a number of mines will be forced to close, some of which may never be reopened."

Speaking later at the annual meeting of Hallnor Mines, Ltd., another gold producer in Northern Ontario and Noranda subsidiary of which he is president, Mr. Murdoch said Hallnor now is selling its gold in world markets, as permitted under the federal government's action last Oct 1. He added:

"South Africa and Canada, in attempting to assist their gold-mining industries have, in my opinion, taken constructive action which will ultimately benefit all the trading nations of the world in breaking away from the restrictive controls and currency regulations of the international monetary fund.

Hopes Ottawa To Act

"It is to be hoped that Ottawa is not going to let the matter rest here merely because this would be the pleasure of the United States treasury, but will take action and permit the sale of fine gold, rather than debased gold (as at present) in the free markets. This would enhance the value of our production by about 50 cents an ounce.

"The government should also revise the Bank of Canada and the Currency Acts to rescind the provision for the seizure of gold at the old price of $20.67 per ounce. This obsolete provision is a serious deterrent to the purchase of Canadian gold by other nationals for safekeeping here.

"Eventually the price of gold will have to be adjusted and some day the important trading nations of the world will, I feel certain, return to a gold standard. Our government should work towards these ends and, in the meantime, there are a few steps which it can take immediately and these, I trust, will be taken without unwarranted delay."

RAF MARSHAL IN CANADA—Marshal of the Royal Air Force, Viscount Trenchard, centre, and Lady Trenchard arrive in Ottawa to begin a three-week visit to Canada and the United States. They will visit a number of cities in Canada before leaving for the U.S. On hand to meet them were Air Vice Marshal F. R. Miller, right, vice chief of the Air . . Staff, and Air Commodore A. P. Revington, R.A.F. senior liaison officer.

General Calls Pilot Row Teapot Tempest

EL PASO, Tex., April 18 (AP) —Spreading controversy marked the case of the balky United States Air Force pilots today, although Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg called it a "tempest in a teapot."

Relatives of Lieut. Verne Goodwin, air force co-pilot sentenced to prison for refusal to fly, said they planned to carry his case to the President if necessary.

Goodwin was sentenced to two years in prison for refusing to fly in a C-124 transport plane to England last December. He said he feared it would have caused his wife to lose their unborn child.

But at Birmingham, Adjutant Gen. Walter J. (Crack) Hanna of Alabama said Goodwin's sentence was too light. "If those old, worn-out, gold-brick pilots in Texas had the proper leadership," he said, "they would never have pulled their so-called sit-down strike."

Too Much Fuss

Vandenberg, air force chief of staff, commented on a more general situation. He said a "small" number of airmen "is not indicative of anything as great as it seems to appear on the surface."

The mother of another air force officer charged with refusing to obey orders to fly, said in Dallas that her son is "a nervous wreck and very sick" because he is afraid to fly.

In Merced, Calif., Frank C. Hilton of Reading, Pa., national commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars said punishment of such men was tragic.

Hilton blamed the country's state of unpreparedness after the Second World War and told a public meeting:

"We have had to call back men who flew and served their country and were just getting themselves established in normal civilian life.

"It is those men who are objecting to flying duty and its hazards for a second time."

Home Economics Teachers Attend 2-Day Workshop

TORONTO, April 18. — Teachers from all over the province are going to school this week at two-day workshop for supervisors and teachers of home economics at all levels, elementary, intermediate and senior. The scheme got underway Thursday morning at the Ontario College of Education.

The workshop is being offered to home economics teachers of Ontario to provide an opportunity to develop the family-centred view as a basis for curriculum planning evaluation and classroom procedures, explained Miss Ruth Deans, head of the home economics department here.

Special emphasis is being placed on techniques that will contribute to greater facility in the teacher-pupil planning method. It was interesting to watch these techniques demonstrated by the 120 teachers (out of approximately 500 in the province) who have come to attend the workshop. More applications were received, but a larger number could not be accommodated, it was explained by Miss Deans.

Leader of School

Leader of the school is Mrs. Gertrude S. Capps, supervisor of home-making education, Detroit public schools and a member of the faculty of Wayne University.

Attractive, blonde Mrs. Capps has a rich background of training and experience in her own State of Michigan, also in Iowa and Kansas. And she has some interesting things to say about the subject of home economics which Ontario groups, including the Home and School, are so anxious to get into the secondary schools of this province.

"We prefer to call the subject 'homemaking' because it conveys the idea of helping young people to participate effectively in home life now as well as to prepare for their future responsibilties," she said.

Home economics is regarded more as the professional aspect of the subject and the mechanics for teaching it, she added.

Popular Subject

Homemaking is a required subject in grades 7 and 8 and an elective in high schools, she explained. "It is a very popular subject with students and parents, and especially in the higher economic levels of the community," she said. "It is less popular with students of lower income groups where there is a feeling that homemaking tends to train for domestic service, which for so long has been one of the types of work in which such people have been engaged."

"Students in these groups prefer Latin or other classical subjects which lead to work of more dignity and prestige than domestic service," she said.

"We give these groups homemaking training, of course, but we have to gild the lily to get it across. We are working hard to help such groups, to make them see that the study of homemaking is necessary for effective, living and carries just as much prestige and dignity as Latin or similar subjects," she said.

Mrs. Capps said she was enjoying her experience of attending C.E.A. sessions and "found Ontario teachers very progressive and interested in points of view similar to our own."

Associated with Mrs. Capps in the workshop are Miss Marian McMillan, head, family life education, Wayne University, Detroit, and Mrs. Elizabeth Hanson, co-operating teacher, College of Education, Wayne, at Holcomb elementary school.

Egyptian Dancer Welcomed Into Family

HOUSTON, April 18—(AP)—Samia Gamal, shapely Egyptian dancer, twirled with joy at the home of her mother-in-law, Mrs. Bonner King, Thursday.

The redhaired dancer had just met her mother-in-law, embraced and kissed her. All was forgiven.

With her was her husband, Sheppard (Abdullah) King, III.

Mrs. King threatened to disinherit her son at the time of his marriage in Egypt five months ago. Two nights ago, in a long distance call to Las Vegas, Mrs. King told Samia: "I am your mother."

"Nervous," Egypt's curvaceous beauty said, "I've been nervous for five months. Now it's all over."

Mrs. King said:

"I think she's charming, if that's what you want to know."

U.N. Group Asks World Ban Crime Comics

By HORACE CASTELL

MILAN, Italy, April 18—(Reuters)—"Blood and Sex" comics are turning the youth and adolescents of today into young ruffians and potential criminals.

That is the conclusion reached by a group of scientists, educationists and legal experts at a conference here on press, radio and cinema for children. The meeting was held under the auspices of the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization.

To fight what they called the "scourge" of comics, the delegates urged governments to institute a system of supervision of the literature children of their countries read.

(Crime comics are banned in Canada under a new section to the Criminal Code, passed by parliament two years ago. Sex comics were not mentioned in the amendment, but when its sponsor, E. D. Fulton (P.C.-Kamloops), asked last year for action against sex books, Justice Minister Stuart Garson said they were covered by Section 207 of the code. This section states that it is an offence to make, manufacture, sell or expose for sale any obscene book or other printed matter tending to corrupt morals.

(While the code is a Federal statute, enforcement of its provisions is up to provincial Attorneys-General.)

Censorship Worry

One of the main problems faced by the conference was how to screen publications for children without infringing on freedom of the press.

The delegates, who represented 24 countries, unanimously opposed news censorship of any kind.

But the conference proposed the establishment of a special international committee of "UNESCO" with branches in all member countries to urge governments to ban publications likely to "exercise a harmful influence on the upbringing and development of children." Canada is a member of "UNESCO."

The delegates condemned "the murders, blood, sex, horrors, evil, gangsters, robbers, bandits" which are fed to modern youth through "various kinds of sensational comic papers sold all over the world."

One delegate summed it up like this: "Some comics turn man into a gorilla, woman into a Hollywood film star, a face into a mask, Conversation into fights to the death, arguments into revolts, color into blotches, nations into sub-human beings, shouts into cries, heroes into bandits. And every full-stop is turned into an explanation mark."

Task of the proposed committees would be to replace "murder, blood and sex" by clean, healthy adventure stories and educational reading.

Although publishers of "blood and sex" comics point out that the villain always gets his due, the delegates said the penalty is usually preceded by a whole series of hideous deeds, all described in minute detail, before the police get their man. And, they added, adolescents are more excited by the deeds than by the final punishment.

As to films, the conference proposed the creation of a second international committee, also with branches in member countries of "UNESCO," to rule on which movies shall be shown to teenagers and children.

On radio programs for children, the conference decided that on the whole the programs for juveniles are not harmful.

A BOATLOAD of rescue workers ties up to a flooded house on the outskirts of Council Bluffs, Ia., to rescue an unidentfied man who had to chop his way out of his home through the roof. Note the rubber boots on the rooftop as the man makes an attempt to go back through the hole and bring out some belongings. More than 100,000 people are homeless in the U.S. as three rampaging rivers continue to spread in a wave of destruction across eight states.

Lakefield Plans Clean-up Drive

LAKEFIELD, April 18 (ENS).—Lakefield is to have a "clean-up, paint-up" week from May 5 to May 10. This was decided at a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce held Tuesday evening in Memorial Hall with the president, Harold Hamblin, presiding. Suggestion for this move was made by W. Sheppard, convener of civic improvements. Mr. Sheppard will make a survey of the village and suggest to householders improvements of unsightly spots.

A letter was received from the Hon. Harold Scott re a meeting with the local Chamber as soon as the present session of the Legislature is over, concerning the algae problem in the Kawarthas.

Dr. R. H. Campbell reported that he and Dr. J. O. Wilson were making a routine dental inspection of the public school.

W. A. Killoran reported on industry and the question of approaching the Canada Cement Co. regarding the re-opening of the plant in the village. No definite action was taken at the meeting but the matter will be open for further discussion.

The secretary, Mrs. William O'Brien, was instructed to write the Department of Mines and Fisheries asking that the season for bas sand lunge fishing be opened on midnight of June 29, rather than July 1.

Mr. Hamblin announced a meeting to be held in Peterborough April 22 and 23 at which representatives of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce will be present, and to which officers of the Lakefield Chamber had been invited.

Can Try Case In New York

ALBANY, N.Y., April 18 (AP)—The Court of Appeals decided Thursday that a legal battle over ownership of the $10,000,000 far-flung Bata shoe empire should be tried in New York State courts.

Jan A. Bata, of Brazil, half-brother of the Czech founder of the shoe firm, Thomas Bata, had contended that New York courts had no jurisdiction in a case brought against him by the founder's widow and son, Mrs. Marie Bata and Thomas J. Bata, both of Batawa, Ont.

Mrs. Bata and her son had asked the State Supreme Court to account for them the huge business interests and deliver the firm's property and proceeds to them.

But Jan Bata refused to answer the complaint on the ground the New York court had no jurisdiction. The state's highest court unanimously rejected that plea today.

5,000 Pickerel

BEAVERTON, April 18—(CP)—An estimated 5,000 pickerel have gathered in the Trent Valley Canal near here below a spillway but police and conservation officers are keeping a 24-hour watch to make sure no fishermen come near them. The fish come up to spawn and soon will return to Lake Simcoe.

B.C. Teachers Brand Queen's Professor "Nut And Crackpot" For Criticism Of Work

VANCOUVER, April 18 (CP)—Delegates to the annual British Columbia Teachers Federation convention here Thursday branded a Queen's University professor a "nut and a crackpot."

Prof. A. R. M. Lower, a leading historian, said in Toronto Wednesday teachers are "emasculated citizens, incapable of teaching citizenship." He said teachers "are so busy learning how to teach they seldom have time to find out what they are talking about."

Eric Woodman, North Vancouver teacher, said: "I think he's nuts. I think he's sounding off to stir up the teachers."

Prof. Lower also said that it is doubtful if students become good citizens through studying history. He said at least half of his own classes—the women—couldn't understand the nature of responsible government.

Miss Hilda Cryderman, student counsellor from Vernon, B.C., said this was an admission "of his own shortcomings as a teacher."

TWO MONTREAL BOYS, both victims of bullet wounds, are resting in hospital following their mishaps. Little Wayne Ratte, 4, was shot through the shoulder when a playmate found his father's revolver in a drawer and fired through the wall separating their homes. Tough-guy Wayne clapped his hand over the wound and marched a few doors down the street to his aunt. When asked what happened, Wayne replied "Georgie shot me with a firecracker." A couple of beds down in the same ward another "gun-play" victim is recovering. Arnold Peppy, 12, was shot in the hand while playing on a baseball field when a rifle, another boy was playing with dropped, causing it to discharge, the bullet hit Arnold in the wrist, fracturing his forearm.

Contact With The Western World Little Effect On Formosan Life

By BILL BOSS,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TAIPEH, Formosa, April 18 — (CP)—This is one place where the Orient has held its own.

There isn't a soft-drink advertising sign on the whole island, despite the presence of some 860 United States Army officers and men, and a number of American civilians.

There isn't a stick of chewing gum for Formosans, either, which probably is why they differ from most other orientals in that they don't slouch along, hands in pockets, with the jaws doing most of the body's work.

Soft drinks and gum are just two of a long list of "luxury" items that can't be imported because of Formosa's austerity program. They apparently weren't popular before the war and their use now isn't being encouraged.

Western brands of cigarets and liquor are available only to foreigners at a government store. Purchase is by tickets bought beforehand at the Bank of Formosa with U.S. currency. The U.S. Army also operates a Post Exchange for its soldiers and a few privileged civilians. Locally-produced tobaccos and liquors are government monopolies.

The island is under Martial Law and takes its austerity program seriously.

Dancing in public places is forbidden. Private citizens may hold dances at home only if a foreigner is being entertained.

Taipeh resounds night and day to the chatter of exploding chains of firecrackers, set off by the superstitious at family celebrations or to drive away evil spirits.

Friends pledge their friendship annually in a drinking cup large enough for two to drink at a time, then drive through the streets in a procession of tricycle taxis playing traditional tunes on flutes, clarinets, drums and a kind of one-stringed fiddle.

70,000 Christians

Although Christianity has a 300-year history here it has only 70,000 adherents of all denominations among a population of 8,000,000.

Even the Aborigines, 170,000 of them inhabiting the mountainous areas along the east coast, resist change. The official government handbook says:

"Today, head-hunting is done only in isolated places and is strictly banned by the government."

Expert on the Aborigines' other customs is Johnny Wu, now employed by the Chinese-American council for rural rehabilitation. Wu, whose friend Huang Tseh-Yung is a student at the University of Toronto, was interpreter for one year with a medical mission to the natives.

He says most of the seven tribes never marry within themselves, but capture women from the other bands. Women have the right to divorce their husbands, though in the Orient it is usually the other way around. And names, translated, are like "war," "hunting" and "forest" for men and "kiss," "clouds," "rain" and "water jar" for women.

The Aborigines have their own dress, but the Formosans, who hundreds of years ago emigrated from China's Fukien province, now wear western-style clothes made from cotton worsted. The more-recent Nationalist influx from the mainland hasn't affected Formosan styles, but the mainland women themselves still retain their Chinese fashions.

LARGEST ISLAND

If Australia is reckoned as a continent, the world's largest island is Greenland, with an area of 839,000 square miles.

Need Understanding For Peace

ROSENEATH, April 18 (ENS) —"The Adventure of Understanding," was the subject of the address given by the Rev. E. C. Kelloway, pastor of Trinity United Church, Cobourg, as guest speaker at the April meeting of Roseneath Men's Club. In beginning his address, Rev. Kelloway said: "The basic problem of the world today is the understanding of the other fellow. Science has made today's speed a tremendous crisis. No matter what happens in any country of the world, it is of vital importance to us. Enemies of European countries came to Canada following the last two wars, became Canadians and learned to live together peacefully."

In conclusion the speaker said: "Peace is only had by good will, the basic foundation of good will is spiritual and is found by coming back to the church."

The speaker was introduced by the Rev. R. C. White and thanked by O. J. Robins.

The meeting was held Wednesday evening at Maple Lodge, the tourist home of Mrs. Leslie Sherwin. Mr. White said Grace. Following dinner, the first vice-president, Douglas L. Coyle, was master of ceremonies, owing to the unavoidable absence of the president, A. J. Campbell. W. I. Montgomery was pianist for community singing.

As this was the final meeting of the club for the season, plans were made to hold the next meeting on November 12. On motion it was decided to leave the funds in the treasury until then.

John Fraser, Baltimore, was guest soloist and contributed two vocal solos "Friend of Mine" and "Life's Lullaby." He was accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Fraser.

Urge Free Advice On Birth Control

LONDON —(CP)—A committee of women doctors proposes that advice on birth control should be provided free under Britain's National Health Service.

Noting that many women have nowhere to turn for such advice, the committee suggests in a report published by the British Medical Journal that special clinics should be provided for "family planning."

Doctors should be available to advise women who on medical grounds should not have children and women who want to plan their families, says the report.

The proposal comes from the family planning committee of the Medical Women's Federation. It is not considered likely to be put into effect at any early stage as the government already has expressed alarm at the burden of the State health service, now costing more than £400,000,000 a year.

Colombo Plan WI Speech Topic

BETHANY, April 18 (ENS) — The Bethany branch of the Women's Institute met in the Orange Hall on Tuesday evening, with Mrs. H. L. Challice presiding. It being the annual meeting, reports were heard from all the committees, each reporting a year of progress.

The secretary, Mrs. Harold Sanderson, made mention of 10 regular meetings and two special ones; 10 members attending the Toronto Area Convention; fruit, flowers and cards sent to ill or bereaved members; a donation to a patient in the Hospital for Sick Children; the sponsoring of the junior homemaking Club, the "Glad I Canners" whose work had been outstanding through the year; a fire fighting committee formed; also a committee to undertake remodelling the town hall basement. Funds had been raised by the presentation of a play, a euchre party, basket social and catering for a banquet. The bank balance was $116.50. Twenty six members paid their fees for the coming year. It was decided to apply for one of the extension courses available for Homemakers; first choice being "Brighten Your Home With Color" and "Make it Right" as an alternative.

Mrs. R. S. Price, Mrs. H. Sanderson and Mrs. H. L. Challice were appointed a committee to continue with the remodelling of the town hall basement. Mrs. Clarence Page and Mrs. H. L. Challice gave a brief report of the Girl's Club achievement day held at Orono recently.

Mrs. H. L. Challice gave a most interesting paper on "current events" choosing as her subject the "Progress being made in southeast Asia." "Two years ago the commonwealth countries sent their foreign ministers to Colombo in Ceylon to formulate plans that would help the Asian countries and from that meeting arose what is called 'The Colombo Plan,' which called for the raising and spending of more than $5,000,000,000 during the next six years. This year Canada is giving $25,000,000 to help bring prosperity to an area in southeast Asia, that contains nearly a quarter of all the people of the globe."

Mrs. Challice continued with comparisons of the different methods and outlined briefly three types of projects the Colombo plan will undertake that of technical co-operation, capital assistance and to supply foodstuffs. Canada is working with Australia and New Zealand to provide an experimental farm in India along the lines of our own in Ottawa. All in all this is a big project and those who have responsibilities in this work can see many difficulties to overcome."

Mrs. H. Sanderson gave a reading, "The Common Cold". An "Object Contest" was won by Mrs. Walter Rowland.

The following officers were elected for the coming year: president, Mrs. Ross N. Carr; vice-president, Mrs. T. Jennings; secretary, Mrs. H. Sanderson; treasurer, Mrs. Charles Reynolds, pianist, Mrs. T. J. Jackson; district director, Mrs. T. Jennings; visiting committee, Mrs. W. Phillips and Mrs. T. J. Jackson; gift committee, Mrs. F. W. Reynolds and Mrs. C. Armstrong; auditors, Mrs. Preston Neals and Miss L. Thompson.

Mrs. A. H. Monk moved a hearty vote of thanks to the retiring president, Mrs. H. L. Challice, for her leadership during the past four years.

Find New Pills Help Control Blood Pressure

NEW YORK, April 18—(AP)—Two pills, taken daily, can knock down high blood pressure and often keep it normal.

The two drugs offer a practical method of controlling high blood pressure, but are not a cure. They are powerful and must be used carefully. Their use has to be continued. It's too early yet to tell whether trouble may come from long-time use.

This is the substance of a report prepared by Dr. Henry A. Schroeder of Washington University, St. Louis, for the American Heart Association in Cleveland.

One drug acts on the sympathetic nervous system, the other on the central nervous system. The first is hexamethonium chloride, made by Chilcott Laboratories under the trade name Methium. The second is 1-hydrazinophthalazine, made under the trade name Apresoline by Ciba Pharmaceutical Co.

Dr. Schroeder reports tests on 40 patients for four to 16 weeks.

Results are best in high blood pressure which proceeds slowly. It is much less effective in keeping normal pressure in malignant hypertension, or high pressure which rapidly gets worse. The drugs did not help in severe cases.

Dr. Schroeder said the drugs must be used carefully to bring blood pressure down slowly, to avoid harm or death. The drugs sometimes produce headaches, dizziness or other effects.

Says Universities Have Too Many Students

TORONTO, April 18 (CP)—The Governor-General, Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey, said Thursday night modern universities will probably always have more students than can be properly taught.

Mr. Masey, Chancellor of the University of Toronto, said: "To increase the number of teachers or reduce the numbers of the taught and to find the ideal proportion between them is often a task beyond our powers."

His speech was part of the centenary celebrations of Trinity College, an affiliate of the University of Toronto. He dealt at length with the career of Bishop John Strachan, founder of Trinity College.

5,000 Homes Burned

TOKYO, April 18—(AP)—Fire that raged out of control for 12 hours today destroyed 5,000 houses in Tottori and left possibly 27,000 of the 61,000 population homeless, Kyodo News Agency reported. The fire left one-third of the city in ashes, including the heart of the business district. At least 160 Japanese were injured, but no deaths were reported.

Few Cars For Britons

LONDON, April 18 (Reuters)—Only one in every 20 Britons who want a new car will get one this year. Some would-be motorists have waited since 1946 for a new car. Only 60,000 cars will reach the home market — the lowest total for any peacetime year since 1923.

Enjoying Holiday

HAMILTON, Bermuda, April 18 (CP)—Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent of Canada, spending his Easter vacation here, is playing a lot of golf and has acquired a good tan. He plans to return to Canada Sunday.

KOREAN STYLE NOTE—Self-explanatory sign is a grim reminder to the soldier passing by that he must wear his head gear, to survive. Medical department estimates indicate that 19 per cent of casualties are head wounds, suffered by men who fail to wear their helmets.

Montreal Actor To Play Snodgrass In Dickens Film

By MURIEL NARRAWAY,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, April 18—(CP)—A peroxide - blonde shoulder - length hairdo is the price Montreal's Lionel Murton paid for the "plum" part of his acting career.

That, at least, is how Murton rates his role as Snodgrass in the film version of Charles Dickens' "Pickwick Papers", which goes before the cameras in May.

Until now, Murton has played only North American roles. So he thinks it important for his future career that his first effort to portray a typical Englishman should be in a classic of world-wide renown.

"It shows I'm getting places," he said in an interview.

The film is one of a series based on the novels of Dickens. The last was "Scrooge", a Christmas release that gave a further boost to British actor Alistair Sim as the miserly Scrooge. "Pickwick Papers" will be directed by Noel Langley, famous author and playwright who also wrote the film version.

Merton, a six-foot 36-year-old Canadian, has worked under Langley before. They met in 1943 when Langley, then in the Canadian Navy, started production of "Meet the Navy" show.

Murton, also a navy man at the time, joined the show with his future wife Anita d'Allaire, member of a well-known Montreal team of acrobats. And in 1944, the show and the Murtons came to Britain.

Strangely enough, they landed at Gourock, 28 miles from Glasgow, where Lionel's mother was born.

SCREEN SNODGRASS — Montreal's Lionel Murton, a six-foot, 36-year-old Canadian who has been on the British stage since 1946, is cast in the role of Snodgrass in the film version of Charles Dickens' "Pickwick Papers." The film goes before the cameras in May.

When the war ended Murton came back to Britain to try his luck on the stage. After the usual small parts, he got his first big chance—the lead in the stage comedy, "Little Lambs Eat Ivy," where he played an overwrought American husband worrying about his wife's impending baby.

Later he landed a lead part in "Brigadoon," and for 18 months played one of the two American servicemen who stumble across the Scots village that appears out of the mists once every 100 years or so. Murton was the Yank who yearned for a "real American bar."

His most important personal triumph in Britain, however, was in proving that a good "second" film could be made for a film director's salary—around £7,000 a picture.

With private backing, an English second-in-command and a cast of about 12, Murton wrote, directed, produced and acted in "Dangerous Assignment," a thriller based on Britain's stolen automobile racket. Filming took five weeks and Murton proved his point. Not only was the film made well within the price — it made money.

Canadian Speech Said "Bumpy"

TORONTO, April 18 (CP) — Prof. George E. Buckley of the University of Western Ontario said Thursday night Canadian speech is bumpy, flat, monotonous and slurred.

Addressing the special education section of the Ontario Educational Association, he said:

"Canada has no universal standard of what constitutes good speech. We miss the English public schools.

"Perhaps it is the tensions and pace of our modern life which leads to our sloppy speech."

The lack of well-mannered, intelligent conversations — "We're not good listeners therefore we're not good talkers"—made for poor speech habits.

Truman Does Damndest To Be Good President

WASHINGTON, April 18 (AP) —President Truman said Thursday he has "done his damnedest" to be a good president.

He told a press conference that the greatest epitaph a man can have is the one he saw on a tombstone in a cemetery at Tombstone, Ariz.

He said the epitaph read:

"Here lies Jack Williams.
He done his damnedest."

Truman said:

"That is what I have tried to do."

Most Canadians City Dwellers

OTTAWA, April 18 — (CP) — Canada is slowly but steadily becoming a country of city dwellers.

The trend from country to city and town has been going on for 50 years and is still continuing, the Bureau of Statistics reported Thursday.

The bureau said its 1951 census figures disclose that 61.6 per cent of all Canadians now live in urban localities while 38.4 per cent reside in the country.

A compilation of 1951 figures shows the urban population increased between 1941 and 1951 32.7 per cent from 6,501,326 to 8,628,253, while the rural population rose only 7.5 per cent from 5,005,329 to 5,381,176.

Even in the thinly-populated territories there have been changes. In the 10-year period, the Yukon's rural population decreased from 78.8 to 71.5 per cent and that of the Northwest Territories from 88.3 to 83 per cent.

PINT-SIZED WALKIE-TALKIE—Scarcely larger than a soda-pop bottle, the Norwegian walkie-talkie, above, is produced for use in Norway's rugged, wooded country. Earphones are worn like a cap, and the microphone may be hidden in a mitten. Five thousand sets, valued at $500,000, are being manufactured in Norway for her armed forces. Procurement of $15,000 worth of American radio tubes was made possible through Mutual Security Agency's defence support program to NATO nations. The sets would have cost 1 to 3 million dollars to import.

Brant Inquiry

ward. But I don't mean he should be in Whitby or anything like that."

She said Brant had told her this story:

He had been let out of the police car and had waited an hour for a ride to Lindsay. While he waited, his feet became very cold. That night (January 24) he spent in Lindsay jail, as a lodger. While he was there his feet began to pain him.

Next day he went to Campbellford, wearing bandages on his feet beneath his shoes. Later he returned to Peterborough. He couldn't remember any dates, his sister said.

It was just after his sister's testimony that Brant was asked to testify. Mr. Humphreys said: "Do you want to give evidence, Fred?"

Doesn't Want To Answer

"No. I don't want to answer any more of your questions," Brant answered.

Final witness for the day was Major Harry Everitt of the Salvation Army. He told how Brant had come to the Salvation Army Temple on Simcoe St. and asked for a meal ticket.

Brant was given a meal, and that evening slept in the basement of the Salvation Army apartments at Simcoe and Aylmer Sts. The major didn't know how Brant got in there.

"He didn't tell me how his feet got frozen," said Major Everitt. "But he didn't blame anybody for it happening."

Seriously Handicapped

Brant was a ward of the Children's Aid Society in Lindsay from September 1934, when he was four years old until he came of age on April 10, 1951. As early as October 1937, after he had been examined by a mental health clinic it was known that he would never be able to progress beyond kindergarten. Allan Blewitt, superintendent of the Lindsay Children's Aid Society said, that as a result of the examination, it was learned that Brant could not be expected to develop normally in mental outlook.

Testifying at the inquiry Thursday afternoon, Mr. Blewitt said that Brant was re-examined by the clinic on October 10, 1940 and he was given an intelligence quotient of 70. A normal person's I.Q. is between 110-112 and 70 is getting close to the moron class, Mr. Blewitt said.

Mr. Blewitt emphasized he did "not wish to discredit Fred, other than to relate the facts." He explained that he grew more difficult as he grew older.

Brant stayed an average stay of about one month in several foster homes, and Mr. Blewitt said he was advised in September, 1945, that Brant had been arrested in Omemee for car theft. He was convicted and sentenced to one year definite and six months indeterminate in Reformatory (he was transferred to the Guelph Boy's Training School during this time). In September 1946, Brant was arrested in Lindsay for vagrancy and was committed to the Ontario Hospital at Whitby.

Arrested In Quebec

In December 1937, Mr. Blewitt said Brant was arrested in Rimouski, Quebec, and was sent back to Lindsay. Further placements were arranged for him, Mr. Blewitt said but he continued his past practice of only staying a short time in each place. On July 10, 1948, he was arrested in Lindsay for theft of a bicycle and a car, pleaded guilty and served three months in the county jail there.

He was again placed in a foster home after he was released but ran away again. In November, 1949, he was arrested for theft at Minden, and was released after serving a sentence of a few days.

By December 28, 1949, Mr. Blewitt said it was "obvious that Brant would never be able to earn a living for himself. Mr. Blewitt said he tried to convince Brant he should permit him to apply for admission to the County Home. "This was the only institutional care available, said Mr. Blewitt, "and it was felt he would have the security of shelter, food and warmth."

At first Brant refused but later, Mr. Blewitt said he changed his mind and consented to the proposal. He was admitted to the Victoria County Home for the Aged on February 6, 1950. He left in June 1950, was apprehended in Minden and was returned to the institution. On Sunday, October 29, 1950, Mr. Blewitt said he was advised Brant had again run away and he had lost contact with him since then.

Questioned by Judge MacRae if there was any other type of institution available for such a person as Brant, Mr. Blewitt replied, "Unfortunately, no. There is the Ontario Hospital School for Children at Orillia but we hesitate to admit anyone there if there is any other alternative available."

Dr. Ralph Clark, testified he examined Brant in the county jail on January 16. He said he had frozen his right foot about three weeks before, and there was a small area of redness on one of the toes, Dr. Clark said.

Feet Much Worse

Dr. Clark said he had no doubt that Brant's feet were frozen again, between then and when he saw him again on the third or fourth of February. Dr. Clark said he was out of town when Brant was examined in the jail by his father and taken to hospital the evening of January 31. When he examined Brant's feet the second time, Dr. Clark said, "They were very much worse. All his toes on both feet and his heels were gangrenous. It was feared at first he would lose both feet but he has made an excellent recovery."

In praising the medical and surgical treatment and attention which was given Brant, Dr. Clark said he did not think he could have received better treatment, because "no expense was spared from the hospital's point of view."

Among other witnesses heard during the afternoon was Alvin Morris of Buckhorn who added nothing to the evidence other than that he had seen Brant in jail when he was serving a sentence of 15 days. Morris did not recall talking to Brant himself and could not remember when he had been jailed or when he had been released.

Herbert Lester, Lindsay police clerk produced a ledger which showed Fred Brant's name entered as a lodger at the Lindsay jail on January 24.

Lindsay Witnesses

Constable Gordon Evarts of the Lindsay police force said he had known Brant for about five years and recalled seeing him at the desk in the police station on January 24. Arthur Bates, caretaker at the Lindsay town hall said he remembered seeing Brant sleeping in the town hall that night and woke him up in the morning.

Albert Wildman, caretaker of the public rest rooms on Charlotte St., said he remembered seeing Brant in the rest rooms on three occasions since last fall. First in the early part of November, the next time sometime in January on two different occasions. The first time was in the early part of January, Mr. Wildman said, then he did not see him for a week and a half until after he got out of jail."

Truman Hints Power To Seize Radio, Press

WASHINGTON, April 18 (AP) —President Truman, asked today if he thought he had power to seize the nation's newspapers and radio as he did the steel industry, replied that the President has to do what is best for the country.

The reply, which seemed to some of those present to imply he had such power, drew protests from a number of editors who attended his weekly press conference. They said that if such power exists, the country is close to dictatorship.

This question was directed to Truman:

"If it is proper to seize the steel mills, can you in your opinion seize the newspapers and radio stations?"

Truman replied that under similar circumstances, the President of the United States has to act for whatever is for the best of the country.

Victoria Relieved Caddy Alive, Well

VICTORIA, B.C., April 18 (CP) — Relieved residents of Vancouver Island heard Thursday Caddy is alive, well and thoroughly enjoying spring in the warm waters near Victoria.

The glad tidings were spread by Fraser Stanford who said he saw her gamboling about 300 yards off shore from Finlayson Point near here.

Vancouver Islanders and the Victoria Tourist Bureau were staggered Monday when they heard that a fisherman, Simon Peter by name, had caught a 14-foot elephant seal which might be their beloved sea serpent.

Shows Appreciation

TORONTO, April 18 — (CP) — Carl J. Printz, 92, says he wants to do something for the government in appreciation for his monthly old age pension cheque. Mr. Printz, a former Norwegian Consul for Ontario, suggests that he and other pensioners offer their services as returning officers, clerks and scrutineers during Federal and Provincial elections.

Fabian Society Would Revise Divorce Laws

LONDON—(CP)—Setting up of special courts to deal with all phases of matrimonial misunderstanding and drastic revision of the nation's divorce laws, is recommended by the Fabian Society, an organization formed in the last century to further the advance of Socialism.

Submitting its proposals to the Royal Commission on Marriage and Divorce, the society's brief suggested failure of the marriage relationship should constitute the sole grounds on which divorce may be granted. Furthermore, it contended, divorce should be given only if the court is satisfied the marriage had broken down irrevocably.

The brief submitted that where adultery is proven to be the cause of a matrimonial smash-up, the co-respondent should be required to contribute towards maintenance of the mother and family. But it criticized as "an outmoded idea" the practice of extracting damages for the loss of a wife and suggested enactment of a law to abolish it.

The Society also deplored acceptance of a generally-recognized basis of marriage that the husband is superior to the wife.

Members of the Commission were told this was the wrong environment in which to rear children. The marriage bond should be one of equality and the status of the wife assured by granting recognition by law to her vital contribution to the home.

"She should no longer be just the household drudge, but a person doing a job as useful as that of her husband," the brief said.

Among other points the Society urged that husbands and wives should confide to each other details of what was recognized as the family estate. The husband should be authorized to require his wife to be assessed separately for income and other tax purposes and the wife's savings from housekeeping money should be regarded as the joint property of the spouses.

Her condition is described by hospital authorities as "just fair."

APPOINT PRINCIPAL

Joseph R. Barnard, vice principal of Grove School, has been recommended as principal of the school, effective Sept. 1, 1952. Mr. Barnard has been on the staff of the Peterborough Board of Education for 12 years. The recommendation was made by the supervision committee Thursday night on the suggestion of K. S. Wightman, superintendent of schools. Formerly Grove was only a four-room school accommodating pupils up to Grade VI. This year, with the four-room addition in use, the school has all eight grades.

Flying Saucer Fever

Two vapor streams from a pair of high-flying jets touched off a rash of flying saucer fever Thursday afternoon. As the two nearly parallel streaks traced white pencil lines across the sky, at least a half dozen residents in different parts of the city telephoned The Examiner to report that strange dots were travelling ahead of the streaks. Some of the phone calls asked if they were jets, others insisted they were not. No one mentioned the name "flying saucers," or Buck Rogers "space ships," but it was easy to detect a note of cautious belief in the voices that they might have seen a craft from another world flash across the sky.

Rose Grower W. H. Young Dies At 81

Noted Peterborough rosegrower and employee at the C.G.E. for 37 years, William Howe Young, 81, 592 Chamberlain St., died Thursday in Civic hospital following a short illness.

Mr. Young was born in Dundee, Scotland, and has lived in Peterborough since 1909. Before that time, he lived in various places in Great Britain including London and Rugby, England. He was a pattern maker with the C.G.E. from the time he arrived in Peterborough until his retirement in 1946 and was a member of the Quarter Century Club there.

Introduced Hybrids

An expert in growing roses, Mr. Young was noted for his success with these flowers and he introduced many hybrid tea roses into the city and district. This hobby led him to take a very great interest in the Peterborough Horticultural Society of which he was a past president. He was also interested in the Peterborough Exhibition, particularly the horticultural section and was a director of the Exhibition Board for several years.

He leaves two daughters, Miss Janet Young and Mrs. George MacLean (Mary) of Peterborough; four sons, Kenneth A. and William H., both of Peterborough; John A. of Detroit, Michigan, and Robert of Greenwood, N.S.; one brother, Henry of Renfrew, Ontario; and three sisters, Miss Mary Young of Dundee, Scotland, and Mrs. George Dargie (Helen) of Glasgow, and Mrs. Alex Young (Alice) of Newport, Scotland. His wife, the former Elizabeth Baker predeceased him in 1948.

The funeral will be held Saturday at 2 p.m. from his late residence. The Rev. C. G. Boyd of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church will conduct the service. Burial will be in Little Lake cemetery.

Civic Hospital Reports Surplus, Higher Revenue For First Quarter Of 1952

Treasurer Warns Against Over-Optimism, Winter Months Busiest For Hospital, Will Continue To Scrutinize Expenses

Deficits at Civic Hospital may be a headache of the past if the present trend continues. Revenue not only exceeded expenditures during the first three months of 1952, it topped the budget estimate by $16,116.40. Treasurer T. T. Rodger repeated the warnings he voiced at the January and February meetings when the March financial statement was tabled at the April Board of Governors meeting Thursday night.

The poorer months are ahead, Mr. Rodger told the board. January, February and March usually produce the highest revenue for hospitals with some slackening off in the number of patients during the summer months. However, Mr. Rodger conceded that since revenue during the first three months was above the budget estimate, "we may reasonably expect something along the same line to continue."

Gratifying To See

"It is gratifying to see again that our figures are not in the red as they used to be periodically," said Mr. Rodger in reporting an operating surplus of approximately $5,216.86 for March. The financial statement showed an excess of $9,719.86 of revenue over expenditure, but the statement only included salaries up to March 28. An estimated $4,500 in salary expenses will be needed to cover the last three days of the month, reducing the surplus to the lower figure.

Total accrued salaries for the three months are estimated to amount to $10,500, reducing the excess over expediture for the first quarter from $24,082.01 as stated in the financial statement to $13,582.01; it was stated in a note at the end of the report.

Expenses totalling $238,740.15 fell $7,971.09 below one quarter of the budget estimate of operating costs, which amounted to $246,711.24.

Mr. Rodger said that the hospital's improved financial condition is largely due to the increased amount received from the city but that while revenue was buoyant temporarily, a "change in commodity prices would nullify these balances."

The review of the financial statement prompted Alderman Doug Miller to observe that "the board should be very careful of

No Flooding Reported In Trent System

This is considered a high-water year, but the rate of run-off is satisfactory, according to engineers of the Trent Canal System.

An absence of steady spring rains to swell the normal spring flood has kept high spring waters at a minimum.

The water level in Little Lake today is 10.6 feet and gradually approaching the flood peak. Last year's high, 12.4 feet, flooded over George St. wharf but so far this season it has not been submerged.

A check on upper Kawartha lake levels on Thursday showed all water slightly above summer level. Ice has cleared from all lakes—even the large expanses such as Rice, Clear, Buckhorn and Pigeon—leaving only the east end of Stony blocked.

The new swing bridge section over the canal in Hastings village will be open to two-way traffic early next week. Since the span was assembled and pushed into place during the first week of April, only a single traffic lane has been in use.

Education Board Rejects Salary Requests

The supervision committee of the Board of Education Thursday night turned down salary adjustments as proposed by I. M. Robb, secretary of the Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Association.

As a basis for settlement Mr. Robb had proposed either

1. An across-the-board increase of $100, payable to each teacher in September, besides the present cost-of-living bonus, or

2. A further increase of $200 in the maximum salaries that teachers may get. (This would not involve any expenditure of money this year as none of the teachers are at a maximum laid down in the salary schedule).

No New Facts

The rejection came as a result of a recommendation from a three-man sub-committee under the chairmanship of Stanley R. Adamson. In their interview they found that Mr. Robb had introduced no new facts bearing on the salary problem.

However the door is not shut on salary negotiations.

Mr. Robb had asked for an opportunity to speak to the board as a whole, in committee, if his proposals were rejected. Complying with this request the Board will hear Mr. Robb and other representatives of the local S.S.T.F. later this month.

A date is now being arranged, probably April 28 or 29.

Charles Huffman said he didn't thing the Board should negotiate with Mr. Robb alone, because the negotiations are actually between the Board and the secondary school teachers.

"If the teachers want to bring Mr. Robb along, that's OK", he said.

Truck Rolls Free Hits Parked Car

Damage estimated at $100 resulted to the front end of a car parked on Queen St., Thursday evening when a truck parked on the opposite side of the street rolled down the incline and across the street.

There was no damage to the truck, driven by Ambrose Heffernan, R.R. 1, Douro, who told police he left the truck parked at the curb and in gear, while he went into a nearby cold storage plant.

The car was owned by Douglas Harris, 704 George St. Constable W. G. Scott investigated.

Cleaning Woman's Hunch Turns Up Missing Polisher

A frail Cavan woman who cleans floors in downtown stores for a living had to polish floors on her hands and knees for two weeks, because an unidentified man took her electric floor polisher from the rear of a Charlotte St. furniture store because he believed the machine had been junked.

A lucky hunch or her woman's intuition prompted Mrs. Clara Cross to phone the city sanitation department when she discovered one morning in March that the polisher was missing from the cement platform of the store where she leaves it overnight.

Mrs. Cross said today that it occurred to her that the garbage trucks often pick up garbage early in the morning and the men may have noticed if the machine was still there or not when they made their rounds.

Checked Junk Dealers

She said that sanitation department superintendent J. E. Pierce assured her he did not believe his men would have touched it. Mrs. Cross said she notified police that the machine had been taken and on her own, asked junk dealers to notify police if anyone tried to sell the machine.

The polisher was worth $385 when new a few years ago, Mrs. Cross said, and she was very anxious to get it back because it makes her work a lot easier (she comes in from Cavan every day) and she could not afford to replace it.

Marks on the ground indicated the machine had been dragged a distance of some feet from where it was left, Mrs. Cross said and a city policeman arrived to investigate, shortly after she phoned the police station.

That afternoon Mrs. Cross said she was informed by Mr. Pierce that he knew where the machine was and that it would be returned to her in good order.

Been Dismantled

It had apparently been dismantled Mrs. Cross said, as the man claimed he took it because he wanted the long extension cord attached to it.

Mrs. Cross alleges that the man whose name has not been disclosed is an employee of the sanitation department, but Mr. Pierce said today that the man was "definitely not a city employee."

Mr. Pierce described the incident "as a slight misunderstanding." He said it is part of his duties to inspect alleys and to his knowledge, the machine "had been sitting out there all winter. It could have been thrown out, as far as anyone was concerned."

"I don't want to involve the lad who took it, because I don't know whether he is in town or not," said Mr. Pierce. He said that he did not wish to reveal how he located the machine ("I got trace of it and I'm pretty good at snooping around") but he said he found the machine in the man's back lot.

Others Knew

"There was no attempt made to conceal it, as others knew he took it. I explained a theft charge might be laid if it was not returned. I told him he would have to put it back, because the lady was looking for it. The lad took it to an electrical shop and had it repaired. As far as I am concerned it was definitely not a case of theft," said Mr. Pierce and he added that he had not had any contact with the police department at any time.

As for Mrs. Cross, she insists that she was told the whole thing was a joke. That one of the city employees on the garbage truck told the man who took the machine it was junk and told him he might as well take it. "It's not much of a joke when it's your living," Mrs. Cross commented wryly today and pointed out that she had to do some repairs on the machine herself after it was returned to her.

She is glad to have the machine back, but she is very critical of Mr. Pierce's refusal to divulge the name of the man, because she believes he should be punished for taking the machine and partially dismantling it.

Mr. Pierce said that Mrs. Cross never asked him for the man's name. Alderman Norman Graham, chairman of the Sanitation Committee commented that today was "the first time" he had heard of the incident.

Korean Veterans Arrive Saturday

Four district soldiers, veterans of Korea fighting, will arrive Saturday morning in Toronto, Army headquarters announced today.

Two are from Peterborough: Sgt. Charles Johnson, 721 McKellar St., and Pte. W. Crouch, 223 Perry St. The other two are from Cobourg: Cpl. H. J. Baldwin, and Pte. F. J. Cann.

Their train will arrive in Toronto at 7 a.m. They are with a group of 131 Ontario-bound repatriates, all returning under the Army's rotation system.

PIGEON LAKE OPEN

Granulated by recent sun and warm winds, the ice at Pigeon Lake broke up and disappeared Thursday. Abrasion of the ice cakes one against another gradually reduced them until they vanished. It was all open south from Bobcaygeon today.

2 Hockey Teams Played Before 38,025

Petes and Eagles hockey teams (Senior B O.H.A.) played to 38,025 in their winter campaign, grossing $21,784.75. Junior "B" Oddfellows drew 5,807 fans and $2,747.75 at the gate.

Walter Smillie, manager of Civic Arena, quoted these immediate totals from his records which will later be applied in a complete report of the season for the Arena committee.

From Oct. 18 to April 16, the count of tickets totalled 21,535 skaters whose total contribution to the Centre treasury was $7,039.20. There were 79 skating periods, and the aggregate crowd was composed of 13,670 adults and 7,865 children.

Figure skaters were allotted 118 hours, plus Carnival which drew 3,000 spectators to the afternoon and evening performances.

Free To Schools

Mr. Smillie reports 194½ hours of free time that was kept open to the city's primary school children.

Number of children skating during school hours was 8,674.

There were also the hockey teams which were given time at the Arena. Mr. Smillie said there were 20 teams in the Public School League, and nine Separate School teams.

Public school winners were: Seniors—King Edward School.

Intermediate: Prince of Wales.

Juniors: Queen Mary School.

Sacred Heart School won both the senior and junior series in their league.

Minor Hockey

Continuing his summary, Mr. Smillie said the arena gave 77½ hours free to the teams of the Minor Hockey Association "A" series.

They had 12 teams playing every Thursday night. Winners were: Juveniles, Outboard Marines; Midgets, Martin-Hewitt.

Bantam winners, Otonabee Wolves. This team then went into the district playdowns as "B" and St. Peter's carried on as "A" runners-up.

The financial statement is not completed, Mr. Smillie's information provides a quick run down of most of the Arena activities.

Under sundry hockey there were: Trent Valley League playoffs, Marmora vs. Havelock.

Rural Bush League: Mount Pleasant vs. 4th Line of Cavan.

Empress Bantams vs. Brampton, minor playoffs.

Toronto Lyndhurst vs. Stouffville, playoff.

Lakefield Grove School, interschool hockey.

C.G.E. shop league every Saturday morning.

Prairie Farmers Burdened With Dual Job....Harvesting 1951 Crop and Seeding 1952 Grain....Junior Farmers' Dance Friday, April 25....F. C. Paterson Reports Gradations Of Spring On U.S. Trip....Hog Marketings Heavier For First Three Months.

Farmers of Alberta and Saskatchewan are facing a herculean job of harvesting their 1951 grain and sowing the 1952 crop in the usual period of seeding time. For them it is a problem of Pelion heaped on Ossa.

In the average spring there is some grain from the previous year's crop to be harvested. This year the conditions are extremely complicated. Saskatchewan has about 88,000,000 bushels of wheat in the fields, with an additional 56,000,000 bushels of oats and barley. The wheat is about one-quarter of the 329,000,000 bushel crop.

Most In Swath

About three-fifths of the unharvested wheat lies in the swath. That means it was cut before winter set in. Some is in stook,—arranged in conical piles in the fields. The rest was left standing.

Alberta has an estimated $80,000,000 worth of old crop still on the land. This includes 40,000,000 bushels of wheat, 30,000,000 bushels of oats and more than 15,000,000 bushels of barley. Manitoba has only a trifling quantity of grain to be harvested.

A Calgary report last week said the spring to that date had been dry and sunny. If that weather continues, many fields should be sufficiently dried in three weeks or so to allow farmers to tackle the spring harvest.

Trapped By Winter

The large holdover from the fall harvest, amounting to from one-quarter to one-third of the crop, was caused from the early onset of winter. A large part of the grain that was harvested in the fall was taken off so sodden it required artificial drying. Some machines for that purpose were brought in from the United States.

Agriculturists say there is likely to be little difference in the condition of the wheat, whether standing or in the swath. But the uncut grain will have been knocked down by snow, and will be much more difficult to handle.

About 42 per cent of the wheat harvested in Saskatchewan last fall graded No. 3 Northern or better. (Top grade is No. 1 Northern). Experts say the grain harvested this spring could improve by as much as two grades over the fall harvest. Main hazard is spring rain that could drive the grain into the soil and cause deterioration.

Most of Saskatchewan's unharvested crop is around Humboldt, Melfort and Hudson Bay in the northeast, and in the west central section which includes Kindersley and North Battleford.

The unthreshed area covers some 5,500,000 acres and of this 4,000,000 acres are in wheat.

Harvesting in spring will delay the new seeding. But, in many cases the unharvested fields are marked for summer fallow this year. There, the farmer will be able to get his seeding done first, and then turn to the 1951 crop.

Circumstances over a great area of the west are most extraordinary.

Imports Excluded

Permits for the importation of cattle, other ruminants and swine from England and Scotland will not be issued until further notice, as announced from Ottawa.

There have been no cases of foot and mouth disease reported since March 8, and by March 13 all infected animals and contacts had been destroyed.

Meanwhile, U.S. agriculture secretary, Charles Brannan, reported at Washington that Dr. Francis J. Mulhern, formerly with a similar eradication campaign in Mexico had just arrived in Canada.

Brannan said the Canadian government had requested this help. Mulhern was in charge of inspection of Mexican border control in the area of Yuma, Ariz.

The department also reported that it has strengthened inspection and quarantine regulations at the Canadian border. They are designed to prevent import of animals and products which might be carriers of the foot-and-mouth disease virus.

From Lake Superior to Puget Sound, roving border patrol activities are under the direction of four inspectors at Olympia, Wash., Helena, Mont., Bismarck, N.D., and St. Paul, Minn.

The department said 24 new quarantine enforcement inspectors have been employed to help in patrol work.

R. E. BELL ON RADIO

Harold Lewis, Federation fieldman, informed the Examiner today that Robert E. Bell, assistant agricultural representative, has accepted the radio broadcast period Saturday, April 26, beginning at 12.15 noon. The Examiner makes an exception in this instance to request the rural audience to remember that occasion. A significance attaches to it which may appear before that Saturday date.

More Hogs Sold

"For the first three months of 1952, the number of hogs coming to market (at a price below feed costs) has been far in excess of domestic consumption requirements," quoting the Ontario Hog Producers' bulletin of this week.

"With no market available in the United Kingdom, and with the embargo on exports to the U.S. due to the outbreak of foot and mouth disease in the Canadian west, prices have descended to the "floor price" of $26 per cwt.

This price is not all we hoped for, but had it not been for your organization, co-ordinating their efforts with producers in other provinces, and presenting to the government (through the Canadian Federation of Agriculture) a request for a floor price, we are convinced that producers might be receiving $20 or less.

This condition could prevail until such times as an export market is established, or production has been curtailed to domestic requirements The first quarter of this year showed an increase in inspected slaughterings in Canada to be 29.1 per cent over the 1951 period, or 321,924 more hogs slaughtered than in the corresponding three months of last year."

The bulletin mentions the fact that the temporary payment of premium on heavy hogs ends Saturday, April 19.

Motor Trip Glimpses

Prosperity is written in paint on the farm buildings of Pennsylvania,—paint, substantial home and farm buildings and tidiness of premises, Frank C. Paterson commented to the Examiner this week. He returned last week end from a fortnight's motor trip as far as St. Petersburgh, Fla., accompanied by Mrs. Paterson.

Holsteins are the dominant dairy breed in Pennsylvania, but south of that State they are comparatively few. Jerseys and Guernseys replace them in numbers. In that farther south the rye crop was well advanced. Seeding appeared to be about finished in Pennsylvania, but was only getting under way in New York.

Brahman crossbreds are conspicuous in Florida. They are big dun colored cattle carrying a lot of meat. Nature provided the Brahman cattle with sweat glands that enable them to thrive in a hot climate.

"Florida has had a tremendous citrus crop," Mr. Paterson said. "The juice plants are working overtime. One we saw looked as big as C.G.E. Farmers are feeding dehydrated citrus skins to the cattle. A lot of that product is selling up in the middle States along the coast."

"We saw some splendid herds of Hereford cattle toward the south, including the Shenandoah valley country, and were impressed by good tillage on New York and Pennsylvania farms. Tractors are everywhere. You see mules working on small holdings of the colored people in the south."

Club Meetings Called

Project clubs for rural boys and girls will be organized next week.

Recruits for the beef cattle and swine clubs are meeting Tuesday April 22, as arranged by Robert E. Bell, assistant agricultural representative. Lorne Pimmett is leader of the beef club, and George Shoniker is taking charge of the swine club.

West and east dairy cattle clubs are holding their first meetings Wednesday April 23. John Edmison will be leader of the west club and Keith McIntyre the east.

Mr. Bell reports that the interest of juniors in the proposed clubs has been indicated lately by the promise of even larger memberships than last year.

Parents are invited to the meetings Tuesday and Wednesday evenings. The clubs were a big success last year, and their leaders are planning another season of membership effort and education.

Week's Affairs

Some of the meetings arranged for next week are:

Monday night: Jersey Breeders Club directors.

Wednesday afternoon: Executive of Peterborough District Women's Institute.

Thursday night: Kawartha Medical Co-Operative.

Friday morning and afternoon: Training school for girls garden club.

Friday night: Junior Farmers' Formal Dance at Club Aragon.

Weekly Farm Report

North Simcoe beef producers are rather pleased with the established floor price, not so much with the actual price level of 25c a pound, but with the degree of stability it gives to the market.

That is one of the comments in the weekly report of the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

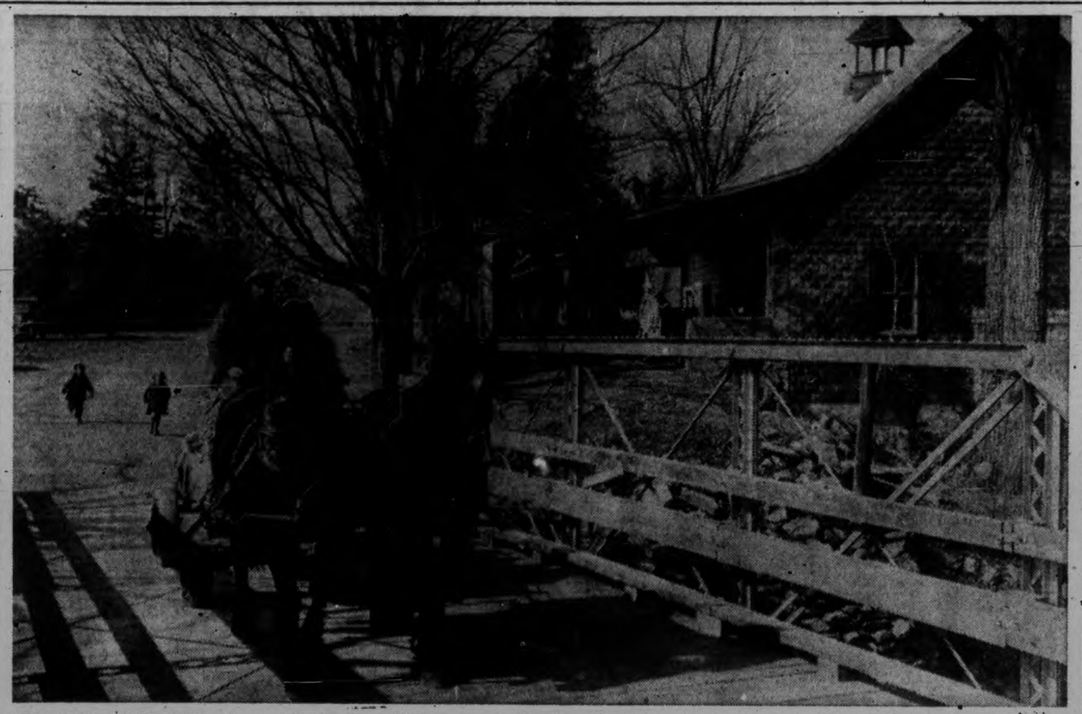
In Lambton county "farm production is going right along as scheduled", but farmers deplore the price of eggs. "Those who bought cattle last fall to feed will do well if they break even with no returns for feed and labor."

Fall wheat everywhere has come through the winter in good condition. Pastures and meadows are not showing up so well as the wheat, but present evidence is generally favorable.

Halton says: "very little killing of clovers". Middlesex: "Beef cattle sold at firm prices last week; very little field work has been done so far."

Wellington: "A few farmers in the south of the county have been on their fields preparing for spring seeding. The usual panic for farm labor is not evident; immigrant labor has been mainly responsible for this change."

Ontario county: "Numerous enquiries are being received for improved hay pasture mixtures."



WARSAW ASSOCIATES of a bygone industry are the team of horses and their dray against the background of the cheese factory which has been bought by the Warsaw branch of the Canadian Legion. Time's changes have left them both in its discarded wake. Exactly 50 years ago, Warsaw factory was one of 48 or more selling cheese on the Peterborough board. At the first auction June 4, for the season of 1902, the factory down near the bridge over the Indian River sold 90 cheese at 9½c a pound, and two weeks later 145 cheese at 9⅝c. Total offering of the factories August 20 was 6,096 cheese. Teams hauled milk to the factory every morning from the middle of May to the end of October. Most of the cheese sold on the Peterborough Board was for export to Great Britain, an established outlet for the dairy industry of this district. Today, only two or three factories remain on the east side of this county. Ontario producers built their own cold storage plant at Belleville last year, and sold the cheese themselves to Britain. This season, Britain can't afford to buy any Canadian cheese, a tragic loss to a basic industry of agriculture.

Corn Ideal Silage Cut When Grain In Dough

"Corn is the nearly ideal crop for silage making," quoting G. E. Raithby, chairman of the O.A.C. silage committee, in a pamphlet issued by the College.

"No other crop produces so much total digestible nutrients per acre as a good corn crop. It can be harvested over a relatively long period of time and still make excellent quality feed. The readily available carbohydrates in corn quickly ferment to give the proper acidity for preservation, eliminating the need for added preservative material at filling time. Finally, a poor hay year is often a good corn year, and the feed insurance role of this crop should not be overlooked.

Problem Of Soil Care

There are some liabilities. For good yields, corn must be grown on fertile, productive land. This cultivated crop does not fit well into some soil conservation programs. Corn requires heat for rapid growth, and is limited in its use to the warmer and possibly more humid areas of the province.

For good quality silage, the stage of maturity of the corn when harvested is important. Corn cut too early or when too immature makes strong smelling, high acid, cold, low feeding value silage.

Considerable loss by seepage may result from ensiling immature corn, and if this type of silage is fed it may cause excessive scouring and digestive trouble in the animals. On the other hand over ripe corn may mould at the top and throughout the silo.

Excessive heat, a characteristic of silage made from over ripe corn, causes a considerable breakdown in nutrients. Late filling usually means corn too mature, and the risk of injury from early frost, further aggravating the trouble. Observations reveal that some carelessness has developed regarding the stage of ensiling resulting in substantial and costly losses.

Ensile when the corn grain is in the dough stage; when in the milk stage it is immature; when the grain is hard and definitely dented the crop may be too mature. If severely frosted, ensile immediately, regardless of stage of maturity.

Silage Facts

Corn silage varies in weight from silo to silo and throughout the silo, being heavier per cubic foot at the bottom than at the top.

The figure of 35 pounds per cu. ft. is an accepted standard, but the weight varies considerably from this figure. A cow fed 30 pounds of silage per day for 200 days will require three tons for the winter feeding period. A larger animal fed 40 pounds per day would require four tons.

A tonnage of silage beyond the minimum estimated weight requirement should be made to compensate for losses from spoilage and fermentation.

Summary:

In areas where corn can be successfully grown this crop when preserved as silage, yields more total digestible nutrients per acre than any other crop.

Good silage can be made easily from corn providing it is harvested at the proper stage, made in a good silo, and thoroughly packed and properly sealed to reduce losses from mould, seepage and surface spoilage.

Corn silage is a carbohydrate, rich, succulent, laxative, roughage feed, particularly usedful in feeding yearlings and older beef and dairy cattle. It can be used as a subtantial portion of the ration during the winter months and has a definite place as a pasture supplement during periods of feed shortage in the summer season.

Corn, while a relatively easy crop to ensile can be spoiled through careless and indifferent management and workmanship. Give attention to harvesting and ensiling details to reduce losses.

Red Clover In Corn Field To Repair Soil Structure

The idea of planting red clover in growing corn is a new one to many farmers of Ontario, but the benefits make the practice worthwhile, according to W. W. Snow, the Field Husbandry Specialist at the Western Ontario Experimental Farm at Ridgetown.

Red clover is quite easy to sow with an hand-seeder and if planted soon after the corn is cultivated for the last time, there will be a good growth for plowing down this fall.

Mr. Snow points out corn is a crop that, by the way it is handled, becomes destructive to the soil structure. It has to be cultivated quite often to control the weeds. While this cultivation destroys weeds, it also allows air into the lower depths of soil. The frequent aeration and stirring of the soil hastens the destruction or organic matter, thus leaving the soil in worse physical shape after corn, than after almost any other crop.

Soil Maintenance

This raises the problem of restoring the fibre removed and destroyed by growing corn. Many people still depend upon the clover sown on the grain fields to cover up the trouble caused by other crops. However, Mr. Snow feels more is needed and the problem can be met if a green manure crop is sown right in the corn.

At the Western Ontario Experimental Farm, he says it has been the practice to sow red clover in corn and as yet there have been no failures to catch. Many different crops, including rye and other grasses, as well as many clovers have been tried, but so far, red clover has been the most satisfactory for general use. It has many advantages for Ontario conditions.

Where sweet clover can be grown, the results have been equally good, but, on the whole, red clover is suited to a much larger number of farms. Many of the other legumes do not catch as easily as either red or sweet and some do not produce enough growth by fall.

Better Than Grass

The grasses do not have the same ability to fix expensive nitrogen from the air for the use of other crops and usually do not leave as much root growth in the soil for fibre.

Mr. Snow says it isn't necessary to sow more than six or eight pounds of red clover per acre. At a cost of $3.00 or $4.00 an acre upwards of two or three tons of fibre can be added to improve the physical condition of the soil.

By fall plowing time the stand is usually eight inches to twelve inches high and with good luck is quite thick. This amount of green manure helps to undo the damage caused by the corn crop.

While there is some nitrogen left by the clover, it doesn't entirely eliminate the use of nitrogen on the stubble previous to plowing. However, the improved tilth helps decomposition along and pays big dividends from the succeeding crops.

Grow Bigger, Healthier, More Productive Heifers on FUL-O-PEP!

When you grow a heifer calf... You're really growing a cow!

Every day in the "growth life" of a calf is vitally important to you. Because today's heifer calf is your milk producer of tomorrow. A calf never regains lost growth through improper feeding. So start your calves on a scientific feeding program like the Ful-O-Pep Plan. The extra care you take now, will pay you many times over. Grow bigger, sturdier calves. They'll grow into Larger Cows—with capacity for sustained milk production.

Gentlemen:
I have been using Ful-O-Pep Pig Starter, Pig Grower and Sow Ration for over a year with very satisfactory results.
Of the 21 young sows, 14 have farrowed.
Birth weights are averaging 2¼ pounds and weaning weights have averaged 40 pounds.
We are very pleased with these results.

HERE IS THE LYSIMETER

Plowing across the slopes, instead of up and down, makes surface water walk off, not run off.

That is a quotation by LeRoy G. Brown, agricultural representative at Lindsay, in his report at the Ontario Plowmen's convention on his tour through Ohio, Kentucky, Tenessee and other States last year. He accompanied the four young plowmen who were awarded the trip sponsored by Salada Tea Company at the 1950 International Plowing Match.

A scientific method of measuring the amount of water used by various crops as described by Mr. Brown is of special interest in reflecting the intricacy of technical procedures in the quest for agricultural information.

"Another highlight of our visit in Ohio was the short stop we made at the Hydrological Station at Coshocton. Dr. Harold, director of this Station took time out to show us some of the work being done to ascertain the value of soil water in the production of farm crops and methods of controlling the run-off as well as controlling soil erosion. Dr. Harold explained that trash plowing on land that is fairly rugged has reduced the normal annual erosion of 25 tons of surface soil per acre to one quarter ton of surface soil per acre. They have found at the Station that turning the furrow up the hill permits a greater absorption of moisture into the soil and thereby reduces the loss of water in run-off to a minimum.

"As Dr. Harold said, "we want to make the water walk off, not run off". At this station we saw one of the most intricate pieces of equipment ever constructed to ascertain the amount of water used by various crops. The lysimeter, as it is called, is nothing more than a large block of earth, one five-hundredth of an acre in area and eight feet in depth, which is enclosed in a cement casing and then the whole block is mounted on a very sensitive scale. This block of earth weighs approximately 65 tons but the scale is so sensitive that the amount of dew falling on the block at night can be very accurately recorded and similarly in the daytime, the amount of water being used by the type of crop being grown on the land can also be accurately recorded.

"On a hot day in the summer time a crop of corn will use up to 500 tons of water per acre per day. The amount of run-off from this plot is also recorded and these figures show a marked difference in the amount when the land is in sod as compared to a season when the plot is in corn. All run-off water is analyzed to determine the loss of plant foods from the soil.

"Our last day in Ohio was spent visiting the various agricultural departments at the State University at Columbus and the head office of the Farm Bureau. The Ohio Farm Bureau handles one and three-quarter million insurance policies in 14 of the eastern states and just recently erected an new four million dollar office building at Columbus to house this one part of their business. More than three thousand girls are employed in this one building. Later in the day we visited the farm products and display rooms where we saw all the many articles of farm equipment and supplies that are sold to all of the many co-operatives in the various states. It was interesting to note that all the co-op tractors sold through Co-operatives in the United States are made by the Cockshutt Company at Brantford, Ontario."

O.A.C. GRADUATES

G. N. Hall of Peterborough and J. R. Honey of Norham were members of the graduation class in the two-year diploma course at O.A.C. April 8.

Mr. George Hall is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Hall, 481 Homewood Ave. His father has the Massey-Harris agency at Simcoe and Queen Streets.

The class of 52 included three students from Ceylon, three from Great Britain, one from South America and one from the U.S. At the graduation exercises, C. D. Graham, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, told the young men that with their formal education went serious responsibilities toward their homes, their communities and their generation. He asked them to remember that education was a life-long process.

TOP DRESSING TIME

Pastures sown last year on which there have been poor catches, or pastures showing considerable winter-killing, can be re-sown with legumes or grasses this spring. Dr. J. R. Weir, Department of Field Husbandry, O.A.C., suggests that white clover or alfalfa should be sown for legumes, and orchard grass, brome grass, or meadow fescue sown for grasses. If fertility is suspected of being low, fertilizer of the right type and amount should be applied.

Hay and pasture fields which were not top-dressed with fertilizer last fall should receive top dressing now, just before spring growth sets in, advises Dr. Weir. Top dressing in the fall is advisable, but if for any reason this operation was postponed until spring, fertilizer of the right type should be applied in the spring before growth begins.

PIG BROODERS HELP—Corner pig brooders help to prevent little pigs from getting chilled and from being crushed by the sow. Brooders must be strongly built. This one is made of 1¾ inch plank. The light or heat bulb should not come too close to the floor. A guard rail should be provided around the furrowing pen. Caution: Check with your local electrical inspector before installing or using an electric brooder for advice on wiring and fuses. Electricity can be dangerous.

Fire Hazards Of Tractors

Fire insurance figures continue to show that tractors still remain something of a "bad-man" on many farms. And there is no reason why this should be, experts point out, if a few simple precautions are observed.

Here are a few pointers to take the fire risk out of tractors:

(1) Keep the tractor well serviced. The chief fire hazards are mufflers, gasolinte lines and the ignition system.

(2) Under no circumstances do any repair work to a tractor in a building where fire could do extensive damage. Distance is the greatest protection and the cheapest. A minimum distance is 80 feet from any main building. Flaming gasoline spreads rapidly and much

(3) Combustible material on the tractor or nearby can be a serious fire risk. Chaff can accumulate on the engine, pile up on the muffler or get sufficiently in contact with heated parts to cause a flash fire. In starting the engine it may back-fire and ignite inflammable material nearby.

(4) Drive the tractor around the farm with the same care and attention given to driving a car on a crowded highway.

To sum up the experts' advice; use good judgement at all times and the farm tractor will no longer be a possible farm fire hazard. material around a farm is often dry and inflammable.

Holstein Club Dinner Big Success

Peterborough Holstein Breeders' annual dinner Thursday night again comfortably filled Club Aragon with an assembly estimated at between 500 and 600 people from the county, city and district.

It was a big, enjoyable party omitting a guest speaker and featuring entertainment.

Introduced at the head table were Mr. George W. Henry of Todmorden, president of the Canadian Holstein Association, and Mrs. Henry; Warden R. R. Stewart and Mrs. Stewart, Hon. Harold R. Scott and Mrs. Scott, Mr. Gordon K. Fraser, M.P., and Mrs. Fraser, Mayor Hugh E. Waddell and Mrs. Waddell; Mr. George Clemons, Brampton, secretary of the Canadian Holstein Association, and Mrs. Clemons, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Nelson of Brooklin; Henry Sharpe, president of Peterborough Federation of Agriculture, and Mrs. Sharpe; Keith McIntyre, president of Peterborough Junior Farmers, Miss Marilyn Barnard, Mr. Vern Campbell, president of Peterborough Holstein Breeders, and Mrs. Campbell. They were introduced by Mr. Frank C. Paterson, agricultural representative, who was accompanied by Mrs. Paterson.

Included in these felicities were Mr. James Brown of Newcastle, a director of the Canadian Holstein Association, and Mrs. Brown and Mr. John Tamblyn of Orono.

Miss Mary Wood, secretary of the Peterborough Association, was presented with a jewel box by Mr. Keith McIntyre in recognition of her contributions to junior work, and her consistent prominence in the calf club achievement day results. It was a gift from the Junior Farmers.

Mr. Henry presented the Association's Premier Breeder Banner to Mr. Norman W. McConkey of Lifloc Farms, and production certificates were received by Carman Seymour, Stewart Nelson, Elmhurst Brothers and Mr. McConkey from Jerry Nelson.

Special guests were the boys and girls of the dairy calf clubs last year who completed their projects with Holsteins.

Entertainment program featured a choral group of Peterborough Collegiate girls; George Murray, impersonator and singer, accompanied by Miss Ruby R. Rouse, Toronto; Miss Ethel Frey of Brampton in vibraharp numbers.

Kinsman's orchestra played for the concluding dancing.

Spray Half Million Cows In Warble Fly Campaign

Another big step forward in controlling Warble Fly damage is being made this year, according to R. H. Graham, Associate Livestock Commissioner for Ontario. To back up this statement, he points out that some 117 townships have passed the necessary by-law making Warble Fly control compulsory in these municipalities. This is an increase of more than 50 per cent over the number of townships which took part in this project in 1951.

As a result of this increase, Mr. Graham says that somewhere around a half million cattle will receive two treatments for Warbles by the end of May this year. The areas which have adopted the control methods are chiefly located in the beef pasture districts of Ontario. All townships in the Counties of Huron, Bruce, Grey, and Dufferin are operating under the Warble Fly by-law this year, as are most townships in Wellington, Simcoe, Ontario, Victoria and Peterborough Counties. In addition, a few townships in the Counties of Perth, Durham, Renfrew, Carleton, Leeds and Frontenac, and in the Districts of Manitoulin and Algoma, are participating. Worthy of mention in this group is Carleton County where four townships came in this year in a solid block.

District Inspectors

The Department has appointed district inspectors to assist with the administration of the Act, T. K. Henderson in the Bruce, Grey area and Everett Mark in the Counties from Simcoe to Peterborough. Their duties will include checking with the various township inspectors to see that all cattle have been treated. This serves the purpose of assuring the cattle owners, the township and the Department that everything possible is being done by way of satisfactory treatment of all cattle in the area.

If the weather turns warm, the first spray should be completed in the area by April 18th, though bad weather conditions in some districts might cause delay. The second treatment will be completed by mid-May.

In conclusion, Mr. Graham states the Warble Fly control is proving its worth to the cattle industry, and is providing a great deal more contentment to animals that formerly spent half the summer "gadding" in the fields. It is often said "the proof of the pudding is in the eating" and when a project such as the Warble Fly Control shows an increase of more than 50 per cent over the previous year's operations it must be proving worthwhile.

19-Year-Old Holstein Cow Awarded R.O.P. Certificate

Inka Model Segis, owner by Messecar and Davis of Scotland, near Brantford, is believed to be the oldest Holstein ever to qualify for a record of performance certificate in Canada. The latest of her twelve lactations on official R.O.P. test was begun as an 18 year old, and was finished when she was 19 years.

She produced in 365 days on twice-a-day milking, 12,829 lbs. milk, containing 468 lbs. fat for an average test of 3.65 bf. Her owners hope to have her complete at least one more record.

It is estimated that Inka's production would supply a family with two quarts of milk daily for 97 years.

Figuring her lifetime production of 70,140 quarts of milk at the retail price of 20 cents a quart would indicate a total yield value of $14,208. Her fourteen calves were seven heifers and seven bulls, all purebreds. Her production would have filled 2,192 eighty-pound milk cans. At the end of her recent lactation she was still milking 35 lbs. a day.

Her test record for twelve lactations was 175,350 lbs. of milk, containing 6594 lbs. fat, average test 3.76 per cent bf. She thus joins the select class of cows that have been awarded a Gold Seal certificate for a lifetime production of more than 175,000 pounds. Two of her daughters have lifetime production of more than 100,000 lbs. each.

Angry Ex-Aide Makes Charges Against Truman

WASHINGTON, April 18 (AP)—James F. Byrnes made a blistering attack on President Truman Thursday accusing him of writing history to suit himself and of playing into Russian hands with a wrong statement about the Polish-German boundary.

Byrnes, former secretary of state under Truman and now governor of South Carolina, spoke out in a Colliers Magazine article. The article was prompted by publication in the recent book, Mr. President, of a letter which the President said he had read to Brynes, criticizing him after the Moscow conference of December, 1945. The book was written by William Hillman.

"The evidence is impressive," Byrnes said, "that the document (the letter) was written by the President and formally signed by him, to record himself favorably."

Byrnes noted that the book said Truman sometimes wrote letters he never sent and declared that the letter published as being addressed to him was never "read to me or sent to me," although a presidential notation said that it was read by Truman to Byrnes.

Forced To Agree

The statement which Byrnes charges plays into Russian hands was one of those in the letter. Truman declared that he and Byrnes had been forced by circumstances during the Potsdam meeting in 1945 to agree to Russian occupation of Eastern Poland and the occupation of that part of Germany east of the Oder River by Poland.

The circumstances, according to the President, were that "we were anxious" for Russian entry into the war against Japan.

Byrnes asserted he was not anxious for this, and he thought the President shared his view.

Furthermore, Byrnes said the President "is wrong" about having agreed to the territorial changes, or boundary lines, involving Russia, Poland and Germany.

"We did not reach such an agreement," Byrnes declared. "At Stuttgart in a speech I made with the aproval of the President I told the German people there was no such agreement. It is unfortunate at this time that Mr. Truman should make this statement. The Soviets will welcome it.

"The fact is that in all negotiations with the Soviets I insisted that the unilateral action of Russia could not be recognized by us and that the occupation of that part of Germany east of the Oder was a matter that could be determined solely in a peace conference. The President approved that policy."

Bancroft Court Held Wednesday Fines Top $250

BANCROFT, April 18 (ENS) — Eleven residents of Dungannon township paid either $5 or $9 for not having dog licences in the court of Magistrate R. C. Jackson of Napanee for Bancroft and district on Wednesday afternoon. Two other dog licence charges were dismissed and one was enlarged. These fourteen charges were laid by Donald Littleproud, tax collector for Dungannon township.

During the session $15 and costs were paid by Donald Spence of Bancroft for being drunk in a public place and by Thomas O'Brien of Faraday township for the same charge. O'Brien also paid an additional $10 and costs for allowing an unlicenced driver to drive his automobile.

Thomas Clairmont of Trenton also paid $15 and costs for speeding and $5 and costs for failing to stop at a through street; $25 and costs were paid by Bernard Philips of St. Ola for failing to remain at the scene of an accident.

For not having a licence for his automobile, Gordon Evans of Bancroft paid $5 and costs. Russell Hawley of Toronto paid $10 and costs for being drunk in a public place. An assault charge brought a fine of $5 and costs for Simon Bowers of Bancroft.

The crown was represented by S. G. Robertson, Q.C., of Belleville, assistant county crown attorney for Hastings. A total of $251 was collected.

Garson Stresses Canada Needs Peace To Develop

BRANDON, Man., April 18 — (CP)—Justice Minister Garson said Thursday night "no other nation has more to lose from war than ourselves."

In a speech to the Brandon Liberal Association, Mr. Garson reviewed Canadian accomplishments of the past year.

"What we have accomplished in the internal affairs of our nation since the war represents a magnificent achievement," he said. "As more and more of our great heritage of natural resources is opened up for development all Canadians catch a vision of potentialities of our country and of the great future that lies before us.

"It is the tragedy of our times that we are not allowed to pursue the development of our resources and indeed to participate in the worldwide peaceful development of the globe's resources.

Great Responsibilities

"Events not only of our making and far beyond our power to control have cast upon us great responsibilities. They have created indeed a threat of a new and terrible war which might ruin forever our national prosopects.

"Our future is irrevocably bound up with the maintenance of world peace. No other nation has more to lose from war than ourselves."

Canadians can no longer consider only the happenings within their own borders.

"We must continually have regard for what is happening in the outside world," he said. "The reason for this is obvious. If we do not maintain the independence of our country and indeed a large portion of the free world with whom we are intimately associated, it will do us little good to talk about economic development and social reforms.

"Our first duty as a nation is to maintain our security and our independence and to adopt policies, no matter how costly, which will avert the catastrophe of war and insure the maintenance of peace."

Charge Photo Night Lottery In Test Case

OTTAWA, April 18 (CP).—In what police describe as a test case, a suburban Ottawa theatre the Linden, has been charged with operating a lottery in a contest it bills as photo night.

The case was adjourned for a week by Magistrate Glenn E. Strike in police court Thursday. Morality Inspector Ubald Sauve said if the prosecution is successful, other theatres operating photo night contests may be charged later.

The charge against the theatre is for "unlawfully conducting a . . . winners of certain property, to wit, money and merchandise." The charge was laid under a section of the criminal code banning lotteries.

In the photo night contest, theatre patrons are given registered numbers. Then an amateur contest is held and the number held by the winning amateur is the winning photo night number.

The theatre then buys the photograph of the holder of the winning number for money or merchandise.

Similar contests are held in various theatres across Canada.

LA PAZ, Bolivia, April 18 (AP) —The Foreign Office announced today that the Franco government of Spain has recognized Bolivia's new "constitutional government." In an obvious reference to some charges that the revolution of last week was Communist-tinted, the statement said Spanish recognition "is an evident denial of the insidious version that the government had links alien to its democratic position."

Property Owners In Ontario Worried About Lake Damage

TORONTO, April 18 (CP) — With Lake Ontario threatening to rise to a new high level this year, property owners along its shores who have already lost thousands of dollars in property from its surging waves are asking what can be done to prevent further loss.

The answer apparently is: "nothing this year."

The long-term solution, however, may lie with completion of the St. Lawrence Seaway and the measures it will bring to control Lake Ontario's level.

The picture this year is not reassuring. Lake Ontario's level is 1¼ inches below the record high of June, 1947, and has two months to go before the annual peak arrives. It is nearly two feet above the average of the last 10 years.

Two inches more and Toronto harbor docks will be flooded. Winds compound the menace.

Two bad storms with east winds so far this year have caused heavy damage all along the shore from Toronto to Niagara-on-the-Lake and farther along the United States shore.

Not Practical

Immediate solutions which have been proposed have been turned down as impractical or useless. Toronto's Mayor Allan Lamport suggested removal of the Gut dam, on the St. Lawrence River near Prescott, but Transport Minister Chevrier said this would provide only a slight increase in the run-off from the lake, and that too late for immediate benefit.

A suggestion that the flow of water from Lake Superior be restricted in the St. Mary's river at Sault Ste. Marie brought an outcry from property owners along the lake above the head of the river.

Experts say the question boils down to the flow of water through the whole Great Lakes chain. If you hurry it in one place, it will pile up somewhere else.

Control of lake levels is an essential part of the Seaway plan. The present outflow from Lake Ontario is mainly controlled by a natural rock weir at the head of Galop Island, seven miles east of Prescott.

This rock ledge would be removed under the Seaway plan and the water flow then controlled by power dams.

A select committee of the Ontario Legislature will meet this year to study means of controlling the lake levels.

Threaten Suits

A group of United States residents along Lake Ontario have threatened damage suits to recover losses from high water which they say is caused by Canadian obstructions in the St. Lawrence.

The Ontario Shore and Beach Protective Association, with headquarters in St. Catharines, is another group concerned with the loss of valuable fruit-farming land in the Niagara district.

Floods were not always the problem. In the 1930s the Great Lakes were well below normal and the finger of blame was pointed at Chicago, which diverted Lake Michigan water into the Mississippi river system.

Blame for present high-water levels is placed also on two Hydro diversions in northwestern Ontario which divert rivers into Lake Superior instead of James Bay. But experts say these add little more water than is taken off at Chicago.

Omemee W.A. Plans Set For April Tea

OMEMEE, April 18 (ENS). — "Christian Living in the Community" was the theme of the Trinity United Church W.A. April meeting which was held at the home of Miss Christina Connell. President Mrs. H. Deyell opened the meeting. Notes of thanks were read from Mrs. I. Connell and Mrs. C. G. Shaw for remembrances in illness, and from Dr. G. N. Earle and Mrs. Earle and Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Earle for sympathy in bereavement. The chief item of business was reports from committees on progress in arrangements for the Spring Tea to be held April 22 in the basement of the church.

The program was in charge of Mrs. T. J. Pogue in the absence of group leader Mrs. J. B. Hough. Mrs. Pogue gave a talk on "Christian living in the community" and led in prayer. Scripture relevant to the theme was read by Mrs. V. Lang, and a commentary by Miss Connell. Mrs. Harold Laidley and Mrs. T. A. McConnell sang "The Old Rugged Cross", accompanied by Miss Lillie Race.

At the end of the meeting refreshments were served by the group in charge.

Film Banned

BEIRUT, Lebanon, April 18—(AP)—Ninotchka, the 1936 Greta Garbo-Melvyn Douglas film satire on Sovietism, was banned by the government today because of reported pressure from the Russian Legation. The film has played in Lebanon's movie houses for years.

P.L. QUIP OF THE WEEK

Soon after they arrived in the theatre, the young lady asked to be excused to repair her make-up. After looking around for a while she found the place she wanted, although the dresser was of the 1900 era, which surprised her. There was no one else there except the attendant. The young lady made up her face carefully, arranged her coiffure, straightened the seams of her stockings, and returned to her escort. The play had already begun.

"What happened?" she asked in a low voice.

"You ought to know," he replied coldly. "You were right there on stage."

Buys Chicken When Meat Expensive

By KAY REX,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

When meat becomes too expensive Mrs. J. L. Halpenny of Toronto buys chicken.

Mrs. Halpenny is president of the Dominion Women's Association Council of the United Church of Canada, whose members are encouraged to practise thrift in accordance with the homespun economy program launched a few months ago by the National Council of Women.

As homemaker in a family of three adults, Mrs. Halpenny already is an expert at keeping within a housekeeping budget, particularly where it concerns food.

She has found that chicken makes an excellent substitute for more expensive kinds of meat— and it can be stretched almost indefinitely.

Here is a three-point outline of what Mrs. Halpenny usually does with a good-sized boiling fowl.

1. Rescues the fat — Removes most of the excess fat from the caviety of the fowl; washes and melts in double-boiler; strains and uses in place of lard or shortening.

2.Soup—Covers wing tips, neck, gizzard, heart, liver, with three cups of water. Adds salt, pepper, parsley, handful of pearl barley and thinly-sliced onion. Carrot and several stocks of celery also may be added.

Simmers slowly for three hours. Adds more liquid if necessary.

3. Chicken pie for dinner—Cuts up fowl, leaving breast intact; puts in large sauce-pan with tight cover (pressure-cooker without gauge is excellent). Adds celery stocks cut in two-inch pieces, salt, pepper, and enough water almost to cover. Simmers from 2½ to three hours (depending on age of the fowl.) After two hours add three large white onions or six small ones together with one small potato for each person.

To make dumplings: One cup pastry flour; one-quarter teaspoon salt; two teaspoons baking-powder; one teaspoon chicken fat or melted butter; pinch of parsley or summer savory. Adds enough milk to make a soft dough. Beats well.

(Removes the breast and 1½ to two cups of stock for next day's meal).

Drop dumplings by tablespoon on pieces of chicken. Covers tightly and cooks 20 minutes.

Then chicken, onions, dumplings are removed. The remaining broth is thickened. Some milk is added if necessary. The meal is served with green or yellow vegetables.

Same Chicken

Mrs. Halpenny says the breast from the chicken pie goes well either with waffles or as curried chicken with noodles or rice.

Cut slice from the breast — enough to make one-half cup diced chicken (this is for still another recipe).

Cut remainder in good-sized chunks. Make cream sauce using half the broth set aside previously plus one can of cream of mushroom soup as base.

Add green pepper or parsley, curry powder (optional), left-over corn or peas.

Add chicken chunks and any pieces left from the chicken pie.

Serve on waffles, hot tea-biscuits, noodles or rice.

And finally—chicken salad plate: Make an aspic with one-half envelope of gelatine and remaining broth. When beginning to set add diced chicken, diced celery and "any bit of color in the refrigerator."

Put into three or four small jelly moulds and chill. Turn out on lettuce and serve with cabbage and pineapple salad and sliced tomatoes.

One-Piece Look Is Smart

Summer's cottons, wherever they are not checked, are most likely striped. But check or stripe, they're much more covered-up than they were last year. Often, the shoulders are concealed by wide straps or brief sleeves, as opposed to the bare-shouldered look of 1951.

In direct contrast to the costume look of last summer, achieved through dusters and assembled pieces, this year's look is one-piece. Everything is organized and emphasis is placed on jackets that appear to be a part of the dress.

In fabrics, checks and stripes take naturally to black and white. And this, in turn, harmonizes with little touches of black velvet, rhinestone buttons, shining black belts.

Little puffed sleeves appear in lots of dresses and jackets. If there's a halter, a wide V or a square neckline, there's a jacket that can be used to cover it. And the jacket is likely to be a Spencer that seems to be in one piece with the dress.

Summer's daytime cotton dresses are very light and feminine. This means that the airy sheers register strongly, and that they are sometimes self-decorated — slubbed, satin-striped or shadow-checked.

Tests Show Boiling Foods Avoids Allergies

NEW YORK, April 18 (AP)—A tip for people with food allergies —boil the food.

Boiling hardens or coagulates the albumin in the food. The hardened albumin doesn't get into the bloodstream to induce the allergy, Dr. Bret Ratner, of New York Medical College, told the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology today.

He reported tests showing that proper boiling does the trick, avoiding allergies such as asthma, hives, and eczema.

Allergic people can drink milk if it's boiled or evaporated and eat eggs if they're hard boiled for half an hour, boiled meats, or well-boiled vegetables, fruits, and cereals.

Lions' Ladies' Club Celebrates 2nd Anniversary

Members of the Lions' Ladies' Club of Millbrook were guests of the Lions' Ladies' Club of Peterborough at a party in the dining room of the Empress Hotel this week, when the Peterborough Club celebrated its second birthday. Purple and gold candles decorated the tables, and while the birthday cake was being cut the Millbrook ladies joined in singing "Happy Birthday". Mrs. Jack Duncan was tail-twister for the evening and led the sing song Mrs. Vic Frederick accompanied at the piano.

Mrs. Vert Reynolds, president of Peterborough club, expressed a hearty welcome and introductions were made. Mrs. Reynolds then presented club pins to three new members, Mrs. Robert Corp, Mrs. Ernie Beattie and Mrs. Richard Baker. A cup and saucer was given to Mrs. Gordon Chown, who is moving to Toronto in the very near future.

Mrs. Ron MacGee reported that Easter hams had been sent to the children at the Children's Home and St. Vincent's Orphanage. She also stated that the nine dozen diapers given to the Children's Aid Society had been most welcome.

A new slate of officers was presented and approved, and the new executive will be Mrs. Bill Dorrington, president; Mrs. Bus Mitchell, 1st vice-president; Mrs. Bud LaBranche, 2nd vice-president; Mrs. Lynn Morrison, secretary; Mrs. Deb Gardiner, treasurer; Mrs. Bill Bennett and Mrs. Clarence Harloff, one year directors; and Mrs. Ron Teasdale and Mrs. Norm Hughes, two year directors.

An enjoyable evening was spent playing bridge and euchre, the Millbrook ladies winning the prizes. The draw prize for the evening, a cup and saucer, was won by Mrs. Norm Hughes.

Mrs. Stewart Snelgrove, president of the Millbrook Club, thanked the hostesses, and expressed the hope that they could get together more often.

Mrs. Danny Nill Cavan W.I. Head

CAVAN, April 18 (ENS)—The Cavan Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. H. Braithwaite on Wednesday afternoon. There were 12 ladies present and the roll call was answered by members paying fees for coming year.

After all reports were read the officers were elected. Mrs. A. Kennedy was in chair.

The following ladies were elected for the coming year:

President, Mrs. Danny Nill, 1st., Vice President, Mrs. Ken Syer; 2nd Vice-President, Mrs. Armitage; Secretary, Mrs. W. Howden; Treasurer, Mrs. Eldred Snider; Pianist, Mrs. Roy Ferrin; District representive Mrs. Olive Carr; Press correspondent, Mrs. H. Braithwaite. It was decided to hold monthly meetings on third Tuesday evening of each month.

A short program of two readings was given by Mrs. H. Snider and Mrs. H. Braithwaite.

A lunch was served by Mrs. Snider's group and a social time spent.

Rev. R. E. Dargan Speaks To Trinity W.M.S.

Easter thankoffering meeting of Trinity W.M.S. on Tuesday afternoon was addressed by the Rev. Robert E. Dargan. His theme was the sacrifice of the crucifixion and the meaning to Christians of the resurrection.

"The resurrection gave us this: intolerance and prejudice should be broken down. We should have more intermingling of members of the different Christian faiths and break down the religious prejudices between one another" said Mr. Dargan. He said the resurrection also showed in the examples of Paul and Peter that hatred and selfishness must be overcome to become followers and teachers of God. The women in Peterborough can have such a great power and through their lives influence others to lead better lives," he said.

In closing Mr. Dargan remarked that if everyone in Peterborough went to church there would be need of eight services in every church to accommodate them.

Mrs. Farley Drury contributed a very lovely solo selection and was accompanied by Mrs. H. A. Mitchell at the piano.

The call to worship was given by Mrs. J. N. Perry, theme being "Easter gave us the Bible." Scripture was read by Mrs. A. Hastie and a prayer offered by Mrs. J. Ridyard.

President Mrs. B. McFadden presided for the business session. Mrs. A. Wade, supply secretary, gave a report on the work of this department. Mrs. H. Martin asked for the contributions to the Training School building fund at an early date.

Mrs. H. T. Rehill expressed appreciation to the speaker and soloist.

Mrs. Perry and her group served refreshments during a social half hour following the meeting.

Edward Gladney of Toronto and Clarence Gladney of Belleville renewed acquaintances here last weekend.

Bishop M. D. Ormston of the Free Methodist Church, who resides at Spring Arbor, Mich., and Mrs. Ormston were guests of Rev. and Mrs. L. C. Ball on Wednesday night of last week.

Mrs. John Morrison and granddaughter Donna Osborne are spending Easter holidays with relatives in Orillia.

St. Joseph's Aux. Preparing For "Violet Day"

President Mrs. B. Monahan conducted the monthly meeting of St. Joseph's Hospital Auxiliary on Thursday evening in the nurses' residence. Members have been working on making violets in preparation for the violet day to be held Saturday, April 26th, and reported their progress.

The suggestion to edit a quarterly bulletin for distribution to Auxiliary members was discussed. It was decided to leave the matter in the hands of the publicity and public relations conveners to form a committee.

Mrs. S. Gilmour reported for the visiting committee and said patients showed great appreciation for the kindly visits. Miss B. Malane reported new books had been purchased for the circulating library which is gaining great popularity in the hospital.

Mrs. Grace Poole, social convener, reported that the young ladies attending the recruitment tea earlier this week seemed greatly impressed by their tour of the hospital. It is hoped the impression will be deep enough to warrant a number of entrants in the new classes.

Preparations for graduation were thoroughly discussed and committees formed to complete the arrangements. Mrs. J. J. Crowley reported tray decorations were provided by the Auxiliary for the patients at Easter. Mrs. J. Deannard, sewing convener, reported 340 articles made during the past month. "Hospital Day" activities were decided upon and progress reported. Miss Louise Flynn reported for the tuck shop and said that March had proved the busiest month since opening the shop. This accommodation has been a great convenience for patients, visitors and staff.

A substantial bank balance was reported by Mrs. D. Emery, treasurer. Annual projects of the Auxiliary are usually financed in the current year, thus leaving receipts and expenditures about even.

It was reported that the membership is greatly increased but the present drive is not yet completed.

Following adjournment, the sisters served delicious refreshments.

Detective's Wife Full Fledged Shadow Artist

MONTREAL—(CP)—Irene Martindale bears little resemblance to a private detective, Hollywood style. But the matronly woman is a full-fledged shadow artist with a Montreal detective agency.

Wife of a former policeman turned detective, Mrs. Martinale says she got tired sitting home alone while her husband was trailing suspects.

She started to accompany him on cases, walking the streets, watching houses, riding streetcars or sitting in taxis or cafes with him while he kept suspects in sight.

"It helped him to look like an ordinary citizen to have me along," she said.

She became so adept at the art of shadowing, that her husband's agency started to give her cases of her own four years ago.

"People call us snoopers," she said. "But really when you check people's activities there is a lot of satisfaction in proving suspicions wrong, and if they are doing wrong then it's right that they should be caught."

Mrs. Martindale learned all the tricks of the trade from her husband, and has added a few of her own. She always carries a kerchief, tam, spectacles and gloves of different colors in her handbag for quick changes of appearance.

A case may last a few hours or it may take up to eight weeks, and may involve suspected professional shop-lifters, pickpockets, purse-snatchers or blackmailers.

After following people for several days, a detective learns to anticipate their movements, Mrs. Martindale said.

Part of the fascination of her work is never knowing what comes next, she said. No case is like another and she never knows from one hour to the next where she will be.

Free Methodist Y.P.M.S. Meets

The Y.P.M.S. of the Free Methodist Church observed an Easter devotional service on Wednesday evening with Rita Reynolds, president, in charge. Following the opening hymn and prayer by Mr. G. Robinson, the roll wascalled by Clara Goodberry.

Paul Johnston, who attends Lorne Park College, read five portions of scripture and following each were musical numbers contributed by the congregation; Mrs. G. Robinson and Mr. S. Church and the Rev. R. E. and Mrs. Dargan. Esther Jane Robinson, who also attends Lorne Park College, favored with a lovely piano solo.

Concluding the program, J. J. Johnston gave a talk on Easter, and Mr. Dargan pronounced the benediction.

Insecure Home Usual Background Of Criminals

TORONTO, April 18 — (CP) — The three greatest crime preventatives are the home, the school and the church, J. Alex Edmison, assistant to the principal of Queen's University, told the Ontario Federation of Home and School Associations Convention last night.

"The average criminal has had a very unsatisfactory home experience and has never felt real security," said Mr. Edmison, who is also an official of the John Howard Society. "It is our responsibility to provide this security in the home."

He urged parents to raise aggressive children, but said it could not be done unless Canada ranked high in education. Parents should also show children how to be tolerant.

"I know that intolerant children have intolerant parents and that tolerant children have tolerant parents."

Life memberships in the Ontario Federation were given to the retiring president, Mrs. M. D. McLellan of Brantford and Mrs. Eva McCulley of St. Thomas.

The federation held its convention in conjunction with the 92nd annual meeting of the Ontario Education Assocaition.

DOROTHY DIX

Friendliness Above Rules In Community

DEAR MISS DIX: Recently I moved into a new community. My sister-in-law has been living here three years, and in that time we have met many of her friends in her home. Now I meet some of them at afternoon club meetings or in the evenings with their husbands. My husband says I should invite them to our home some evening (five or six couples). My sister-in-law and I feel they should make the first move. My husband claims that in the suburbs one can't, and shouldn't stand on ceremony.

M. M.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Though it is proper for the old residents to call on new members of a neighborhood, people are lax about this courtesy in many parts of the country. Your community, for instance, is largely composed of people who are themselves fairly new settlers. As such, they probably do not feel as bound by conventions as would residents of a long-established community. Waiting for people to call may keep you isolated too long; better forget the strict laws of etiquette and follow your husband's suggestion to invite the neighbors in for an evening. The important things to promote, after all, are friendliness and kindness rather than a strict adherence to rule.

Infatuated With Roue

DEAR MISS DIX: A year and a half ago, when I was 17, I met a man of 22 in whom I became quite interested. He was married at the time, so our friendship dropped. Recently I met him again, and find that he is married—but to another girl. He is not faithful to his wife anyway. We renewed our acquaintance last week and he asked me for a date. What I want to know is can a man still think of another girl while he is in love with his wife?

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: For shame! Have you so little respect for yourself that you're to be just another one of this abominable creature's conquests? Haven't you, in 18 years, acquired some vestige of self-respect? A man who, at 23, not only has had two wives, but has also managed to acquire quite a reputation for infidelity, isn't worth a decent girl's "hello". Unless you want a ruined name, stop seeing him at once, and forget about him altogether!

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 24 and going with a fellow 27. We've been going steady for 15 months now. I find him very tight with his money; he gambles, and isn't very sociable. He never mentioned marriage until I was forced by my parents to ask his intentions. He said it would be sometime this year. Do you think I can trust him?

PINKY

ANSWER: What kind of parents do you have who not only countenance your friendship with so unsuitable a man, but actually encourage it? If he had to be asked to state his intentions, that should have been your father's job, not yours. Why tie yourself down to a man who is not only reluctant to marry you, but whose stinginess is a very poor recommendation for a good husband? He is probably evading marriage because he's too cheap to pay for a license or a ring. Drop him and find a boy who'll go to the altar willingly.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 18 years of age and wish to join the armed services but my friends are discouraging me. I think the service offers a fine educational opportunity, and I'd like to take advantage of it.—JOAN M.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: To do a good job as member of our armed forces requires more incentive than merely a desire to acquire an education. While that, too, is a fine consideration, your main job is service to your country.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I have been engaged to a girl for six months and plan to be married soon, but have heard that she drinks excessively. What should I do?

MAX L.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: First, don't ever believe gossip; ascertain for yourself whether or not the girl drinks. Then find out why she does. There is always a reason for an excess in anything, and if your girl is under an emotional, or physical, strain that drives her to excesive drinking, you are in a position to help her. Take her to a doctor, then follow his advice on effecting a cure. Give the girl a chance to rehabilitate herself, and do everything you can to help.

What's Right?

A woman is entertaining several married couples at dinner in a restaurant.

WRONG; She makes no arrangement beforehand about paying the check, but takes care of it when it is presented.

RIGHT: She pays for the dinner in advance or arranges to pay for it later or she gives money for the check and tip to one of the men she knows well and asks him to take care of it for her.

FUNNY BUSINESS -- By Hershberger

"I can't take him in the car—he's got fleas again!"

Missionary's Wife Tells Of Life In Africa

LAKEFIELD, April 18 (ENS) —Mrs. J. A. Steed was the guest speaker Tuesday afternoon when the Women's Association of the United Church met for their April meeting. Mrs. Steed, who with her husband, the Rev J. A. Steed and family, spent many years in Angola, Africa, as missionaries, gave an interesting talk, following which she was thanked by Mrs. Percy Spence.

Lesson thoughts were given by Mrs. Sandy Millage and Mrs. C. S. Tanner read the Scripture. Mrs. J. R. Hull and Mrs. Harry T. Hill sang a duet, accompanied by Mrs. E. Rath. The devotional period was in charge of Mrs. P. H. Darling.

The president, Mrs. Sherman Northey, took the chair for the business and the secretary's report was read by Mrs. Millage. The manse committee reported that the kitchen and two bedrooms of the manse will be painted in the near future. Mrs. Millage was appointed delegate to the district convention to be held in May at Wesley United Church. At this convention, literature will be purchased to be sent to shut-ins and people who have been ill.

The association will sponsor the operetta, "The Sunbonnet Girl," by the choir of Millbrook United Church in Memorial Hall on May 9.

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by Mrs. E. Rath, Mrs. William Fairbairn, and Mrs. Percy Spence.

Campbellford

Miss Marian Stillman of Warkworth has moved to Campbellford.

Mr. Douglas Free has been transferred from Port Hope to Campbellford, where he will report to No. 10 power house on the Trent Canal System near this town for regular hydro duty.

L.A.C. Glenn Brunton, Mrs. Brunton and son Dennis of Rockcliffe, Ottawa, spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Harold Rowe, Front Street S., and at the home of his parents, Healey Falls.

Mr. Alex. Russell has left for Victoria, B.C., for an extended visit with his brother, Glenn, in the western city.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Jewell and family are spending the Easter vacation in Toronto and Oakville. Mr. Jewell will attend the convention of the Ontario Educational Association, as a delegate from Campbellford.

Mrs. Glenn Taylor, son Dennis and daughter Nancy, have returned from Midland where they spent a few days visiting Mrs. Taylor's mother.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Tasty Fruit Salad Dressing For Fruit Salad

QUESTION: Please print in your very interesting column tasty Fruit Salad dressing. How to go about making fruit Salads . . . am so anxious to get ice-box cookies you printed . . . one of your readers referred to it as one of your delicious recipes in the $100 group. Thanks (No name).

ANSWER:

Fruit Salad Dressing No. 1

In top of double boiler mix 3 tablespoons sugar and 2 tablespoons flour, and beat into them 2 eggs, 2 tablespoons vinegar, juice and grated rind from 1 large lemon and 1 cup juice from canned pineapple. Cook and stir over gently boiling water until thick. Chill. Just before serving fold in 1 cup heavy cream whipped. Another variation is to add also ½ cup chopped marshmallows and 1/3 cup shredded blanched almonds.

Fruit Salad Dressing No. 2

In top of double boiler mix 1/3 cup orange juice, 1½ tablespoons lemon juice, then beat in 1 egg and 1 cup sugar. Cook over boiling water until thick. Cool and fold into it 1 cup heavy cream whipped and a shake of salt.

General Directions for Fruit Salads

Of course there are "fruit salad" mixtures but these are too moist for fruit salads on lettuce.

As a rule serve your fruits in separate groups—they are more palatable than when mixed and much more attractive. You will usually have a citrus fruit in a fruit salad and the juice from this should be used to sprinkle or cover cut surface of apple or banana to prevent them browning. Choose your fruit combinations for their colour and flavour contrast.

Fruit Salad Suggestions

1. Drained canned pineapple ring on well-cupped leaf of lettuce, top this with 2 each sections of orange and grapefruit. In centre place cheese-stuffed cherry or prune or fig. Flank these with length-wise quarters of banana dipped in mayonnaise then in chopped walnuts.

2. Centre a lettuce-covered salad plate with choice Bing cherries or fresh strawberries; surround with slices from honeydew melon radiating like flower petals. When available balls of watermelon make a pretty border at outside edge. Serve with French Dressing.

$100 Cookies (Icebox cookies)

One cup shortening (butter, margarine or best quality regular shortenings), 2 cups sifted all-purpose flour, 1 teaspoon baking soda, 2 teaspoons cream of tartar, ¾ teaspoon salt, ¾ cup brown sugar, 1 egg, 1 tespoon vanilla. Cream the shortening and cream the sugar into it then beat in the egg and vanilla. Stir in remaining ingredients. Make into 2 rolls 2 inches in diameter, and roll these in chopped walnuts (it takes about 1 cup); roll up in wax paper and chill. When needed slice ⅛ inch thick and bake at 350 deg. Fahr. about 12 minutes.

6—In Memoriam

CHAMBERS—In loving memory of J. Stewart Chambers, who passed away April 18, 1947.
Sometimes it's hard to understand,
Why some things have to be
But in His wisdom God has planned
Beyond our power to see.
—Always remembered by his wife and family.

DAY—In loving memory of Carolyn Anne Day, who passed away, April 18, 1951.
God knew that she was suffering,
That the hills were hard to climb,
So he closed her weary eyelids
And whispered: "Peace be thine."
Away in the beautiful hills of God,
By the valley of rest so fair
Some time, some day, we know not when,
We will meet our loved one there.
—Lovingly remembered by Mommy, Daddy, Margaret and John.

HARRIS—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Mr. Levi Harris, who was called home April 19, 1950.
A happy home we once enjoyed,
How sweet the memory still,
But death has left a vacant chair
No one can ever fill.
—Lovingly remembered by his wife and family.

STABLER—In loving memory of my husband, Rollie Stabler, who passed away one year ago today.
At the setting of the sun, and in the morning, we remember.
—Ever remembered by wife Ethel and son Clarence.

Held Prisoners 2 AP Men Win Awards

NEW YORK, April 18—(AP)—Two Associated Press newspapermen, now prisoners behind the Iron Curtain, were named Thursday among seven winners of awards from the Overseas Press Club of America.

The club held a secret ballot among its 700 active members to determine winners at the annual award for excellence in presentation and interpretation of foreign news.

The winners:

William Oatis, AP correspondent now a prisoner in Czechoslovakia, the $500 George Polk Memorial award "for courage, integrity and enterprise above and beyond the call of duty."

Frank Noel, AP photographer, a prisoner of the Chinese Reds, for the best picture reporting from abroad, judged from its interpretative quality.

Cyrus Sulzberger, New York Times, for the best consistent press reporting from abroad.

Joseph and Stewart Alsop, New York Herald Tribune columnists, for the best press interpretation of foreign news.

Howard K. Smith, Columbia Broadcasting System, for the best consistent radio reporting from abroad.

Edward R. Murrow, CBC, for the best consistent television presentation of foreign news.

Elmer Davis, American Broadcasting Company, for best radio interpretation of foreign news.

GETS "LAMP AWARD" — Mrs. May Robinson, a member of Toronto's Board of Education for 11 years and now the city's only woman councillor, has been awarded the "Lamp of Learning," presented annually by the Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Federation. The award honors a person outside the teaching profession who has made an outstanding contribution to secondary school education in the province.

Lay Off 6 Firemen As Economy Measure

BROCKVILLE, April 18 (CP)—In what was described as an economy measure, town council Thursday night ordered that six probationary firemen be released effective May 15. This action reduced the strength of the department to 18 men for this town of slightly more than 13,000 persons.

Council also ordered a reorganization of the department with special emphasis on a training program.

Pentecostal Church Scores "Soft" Attitude To Reds

A resolution condemning the "soft" Canadian policy toward the advance of Communism in Asia has been passed at the district conference of the Pentecostal Assembles of Canada, meeting this week in Peterborough.

Another resolution asks the Ontario government to implement parts of the Hope Report on education dealing with the conservation of a non-sectarian public school system.

The annual conference is being attended by 120 ministers and lay delegates from 88 churches in the Eastern Ontario and Quebec district.

"Statements made by the Minister of External Affairs indicate that he looks for the ultimate recognition of the Communist regime as the government of China, and he has implied that he would leave the destinies of non-Communist Formosa to the.... United Nations.... even if it means turning it over to the Communists."

Oppose Reds

The resolution calls on Christians to pray for the deliverance of Asia from "Moscow-controlled terrorists", and urges the Canadian government to take a consistent stand of opposing Communism in Asia—just as vigorous a stand as it has in Europe.

The Canadian government is also urged to ally itself with other governments to "fill the vacuums upon which Communism thrives by filling it with applied Christianity, and strengthening the hands of all who give that leadership."

A copy of this resolution is to be forwarded to External Affairs Minister Lester B. Pearson and to Prime Minister St. Laurent.

The educational resolution commends the Department of Education for the provision that has been made for religious instruction, both by teachers and clergymen.

Two Attacks

It says the public school system is today being attacked from two sides: 1. By the "materialistic secularists who seek to remove the recognition of God and all moral values from our education system; and 2. By the "sectarian religious separatists who would balkanize our school system."

The resolution says in part: "That we (ask) the government of Ontario to implement the portions of the Hope Report that embody the conservation of our non-sectarian public school system with a Christian emphasis.

"That we seek to educate our Pentecostal people to the value of this heritage, and that we urge our people to support office holders at both the municipal and provincial levels, who clearly commit themselves to these principles."

Copies of this resolution are being forwarded to Premier Leslie Frost of Ontario and Education Minister Dunlop.

Special Performance

WEYBURN, Sask. — (CP). — A repairman probing into a "dead" radio set her found it full of life. Out popped a big mouse, which had chewed on various parts and put the set out of commission.

3 Honorary Degrees Given At Convocation

HAMILTON, April 18. (CP)—Three honorary Doctor of Law degrees will be conferred at spring convocation May 19 at McMaster University, it was announced today.

The convocation address will be delivered by Dr. J. G. Althouse, chief director of education for the province of Ontario.

Those receiving honorary degrees will be Dr. Althouse; Mr. T. H. Matthews, formerly secretary of the naitonal conference of Canadian universities, who is registrar of McGill University; and Mr. E. J. Zavitz, a McMaster graduate of 1903 and chief of the division of reforestation, Ontario Lands and Forests Department.

The divinity school convocation for conferring degrees in theology will be May 21.

Civic Hospital

every expense item. Just because the mony was approriated by council does not mean it was done with the intention of the board spending it," he said.

Gone Over Carefully

Hospital Board chairman Max Swanston assured Alderman Miller that every department's estimates had been gone over carefully and cut to the minimum when the budget was being prepared and that the board would continue to exercise careful scrutiny of all expenditures.

Alderman Miller replied he was satisfied that this was the case, but that he felt this "tight feeling of economy must be maintained."

"Wait till May and June," said Mr. Rodger, "then we probably won't have any money to throw away even if we had a desire to do so."

Mr. Miller then suggested that the hospital board might investigate the possibility of using Bunker "C" fuel oil to heat the hospital. "We propose to do it with the city hall and save 50 per cent in heating costs," Mr. Miller said.

J. L. Welsh commented that since heating costs now amounted to $26,000 a saving of about $10,000 as suggested by Mr. Miller could well be applied to a changeover.

New Fuel

Mr. Swanston said it might be a good idea to make inquiries and Mr. Miller added that several schools in the city were going to convert to the new heating fuel. On motion of Mr. Miller, secretary John Hornal was instructed to secure any information he can on the use of Bunker "C" oil and how it could be used in the hospital.

Mr. Miller said that Bunker "C" oil has to be transported and kept at a relatively high temperature, as it is a thick liquid similar to molasses.

During March, 755 patients were treated as compared with 671 during February and the 1951 monthly average of 690. The daily average number of patients in hospital was 194.2, slightly below the February average of 196.2 but above the 1951 monthly average of 176.5.

The number of patients receiving physiotherapy treatment shows a "surprising increase," said Dr. N. R. Chenoweth in presenting the report of the medical and surgical advisory committee.

The report showed that 666 patients received treatment during the month as compared with the monthly average of 273 in 1951. The increase is explained by the fact that the department was only set up in January 1951, and is being used much more this year than last year as doctors are referring more patients for treatment.

Star Of Democrat Show Stevenson Won't Stand

NEW YORK, April 18 (AP). — Democrats trotted out their Presidential aspirants at a $100-a-plate dinner Thursday night and found the star of their show was a man who said he could not take the nomination—Governor Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois.

This left New York organization leaders in a political swivet. They called county chairmen together today for a meeting designed to endorse W. Averell Harriman as the state's favorite son.

The expected Harriman endorsement would make the mutual security administrator a holding candidate who would keep New York's 94-vote convention delegation intact for the July Chicago convention.

Beyond that, there was little expectation that the 60-year-old scion of a wealthy railroad family would go anywhere on a national scale.

Chuckling Turndown

Confusion into which the party had been plunged by President Truman's announcement he would not seek renomination nor accept a draft may have emphasized the finesse with which Stevenson gave the Democrats a chuckling—but probably final—turndown.

In contrast with the unsuccessful attempts of Senator Estes Kefauver of Tennessee to arouse the party faithful, Stevenson had the banqueters holding their sides from the moment he began by saying he was making a fraudulent apeparance, since he was running only for governor of Illinois, and not for President.

Vice-president Alben Barkley, the 74-year-old youngster of the party, appears to be the chief dark-horse candidate in a campaign where there now is no dominant personality in preconvention speculation.

Harriman, for whom the dinner was held, teed off on the Republicans with the charge that if "the voices of hesitation prevail, they will undermine what we have built and destroy the leadership of the United States."

This was a good Democratic doctrine, but the faithful came to hear a new post-Truman political Messiah and seemed not to find him.

The upshot was talk—though mostly in whispers—that the president could be drafted to run again, even though he says he won't respond to such a move. As some Democrats put it, "Why don't we just nominate him and then see what happens."

Kefauver, the top man in the number of delegates pledged thus far and winner in five primaries, seemed somewhat unimpressive in a speech he read haltingly.

Fire Destroys Stables At Timmins Track

TIMMINS, April 18 — (CP) — Fire destroyed the stables at the Timmins race track Thursday night while a new $20,000 fire department truck stood by unable to pour water on the blaze. The truck was out of action because of a broken pump.

Owner Oscar Vaillancourt said damage to the 15-stall stables was $5,000.

A 15-year-old pumper truck was called to save more than 20,000 board feet of lumber stored at the race track.

Braves Fly Blood

BOSTON, April 18 (AP). — The Boston Braves management today made arrangements to fly a shipment of RH negative blood, a rare type, to Georgetown, S. C., where Rene Lemyre, general manager of their Quebec Canadian-American League farm club, is seriously ill. Lemyre was stricken several days ago and has been given transfusions donated by players at the Braves' minor league camp at Myrtle Beach, S.C.

Port Hope Driver Killed As Car Smashes Into Tree

SOME SEEDING IS FINISHED in the high rolling hills of Otonabee township where most farmers are able to cultivate fields with light soil. With farming mechanized everywhere these days it is an oddity to see horse-power in use. J. A. Moore of the Otonabee-Asphodel boundary, Above, still uses a four-hour hitch to harrow after seeding down ten acres to oats and barley. Last year, he says, the same field and same grain mixture yielded 500 bushels.—(Examiner Staff Photo.

Dies Shortly After Arrival Of Police At Scene; Thrown Partly Out Of Auto

Main Street Accident Occurs As Driver Sideswipes Other Car, Careens Head-on Into Tree On North Side

PORT HOPE, April 19. (ENS)—A Port Hope man was almost instantly killed when his car sideswiped a parked car and then careened across the street and crashed head-on into a tree at 1:40 a.m. today at the crest of the Walton hill in Port Hope. Police arrived about one minute after the accident and found Jack Corbett, 34, 7 Bedford St., hanging half in and half out of the car. He died as the officers started to examine him still in the car.

Police said it appeared that Corbett, the father of a teenage daughter, was travelling west up the steep main street hill and had reached the crest when he sideswiped the car parked on the south side of the street.

His car then swerved across the street and hit a tree head-on on the north side. The car was badly wrecked with damage amounting to about $1,000.

The parked car was owned by Emmett Marlow, Port Hope.

Thrown Half Out

Corbett was thrown partly out of the left side of the car with his feet still inside. His head appeared to be injured. The two policemen who arrived almost immediately after the crash were Constables Tom Fortner and Bob O'Brien.

No decision has been reached yet as to whether or not there will be an inquest.

This is Port Hope's second fatality in a week and a half. On April 9 a St. Mary's man, Charles F. Mackay, 35, was killed when the car in which he was riding crashed into the rear of a transport on the outskirts of the town.

Petawawa Thefts Touch Off Survey Of Camps

OTTAWA, April 19. (CP)—The large-scale Petawawa thefts are going to touch off a coast-to-coast check by the Defence Department to try to see whether they are being emulated in other camps of all three services. With an inquisitive parliament due to resume Monday, Defence Minister Claxton returned to his desk Friday and started bringing himself up to date on the Petawawa probe which already has brought charges against one army captain and four civilians engaged in the junk business.

The arrest of those five on charges of theft, fraud and conspiracy and their arraignment at Pembroke, Ont., yesterday means that one major phase is starting to unfold publicly. Authorities say more arrests and more phases are coming up but they now deprecate reports that the loss involved comes anywhere near $1,000,000.

Warrants were sworn out by R.C.M.P. last night for two more men said to be involved in the investigation. Their names were withheld pending their arrest and arraignment.

Authorities say, too, that an extensive check at other military camps, not only army but navy and air force bases too, is going to be made in an effort to smoke out any parallels of the incidents at Petawawa, 118 miles northwest of here.

Nature Unknown

The R.C.M.P. may be asked to participate. The initial stroke may be an order for an inventory of stocks of equipment in camps across the country but the exact nature of the probe is not yet known.

Mr. Claxton, apparently in anticipation of parliamentary clamor, has asked his department to prepare an estimate of the loss involved in the Petawawa thefts of articles said to include electric stoves and refrigerators, C.P.R. rails, scrap metals, sinks and other articles.

The probe also involves alleged collusion in the construction of buildings at Petawawa. It may eventually embrace not only Petawawa but the wartime officers training centre at Brockville, Ont., now largely unused but with a caretaker staff stationed there.

3 From Brockville

Three of the five men charged in Pembroke Friday are from Brockville. They are Jack Jacobson, about 34, who runs a junk business there, and David C. Mawhinney, about 30, and Amos Durant, 25, who work for him.

The other two are Capt. Donald W. Baldock, 28, a native of Brandon, Man., who is stationed at Petawawa with the engineers, and Maurice Eisen, a Pembroke junk dealer. All five were granted bail, Jacobson for $10,000, the others for $5,000 and they will appear again April 26.

A sixth man, an army N.C.O., was named in the charges but has not been arrested.

Several other army men are under investigation along with a number of civilians.

Negotiators Start Second Try P.O.W. Formula

MUNSAN, Korea, April 19 (AP) —Truce negotiators today began another attempt to work out a formula for exchanging prisoners of war captured in Korea.

U.N. Command spokesmen refused to say whether staff officers made progress during their first meeting with the Reds after a two-week recess in the off-the-record talks.

"We are still in executive session," was the only comment from Col. George Hickman, top U.N. staff officer.

In an adjoining tent, sub-committees of top level negotiators abandoned attempts to break the double-barrelled truce supervision deadlock.

They handed to staff officers the disputes over Communist nomination of Soviet Russia as a neutral inspector and a U.N. command demand that airfield construction be banned during an armistice.

Prisoner-exchange negotiations were recessed April 4 so both sides could explore possible solutions to the stalemate resulting from a U.N. command demand that no prisoners be repatriated against their will.
